Town and Gown Series Presents Concert Tenor

by Leona A. Baiera

The Town and Gown will present the second program of its current series this Sunday in the gymnasium. Mr. John Patton, tenor, brings to Wilkes an impressive background of recital experience. He will be accompanied by Alan Booth.

The greater part of Mr. Patton's recital performances have been in the mid-West with the Minneapolis Pops Symphony Orchestra, at the Little Theatre of Cafe Espresso, and at the Minneapolis College of Music.

Concert tenors are always in short supply, and in his debut recital the following revue remarks were made: "His tone is even and clear . . . good range . . . consistency of timbre . . . interpretive imagination."

At the present time Mr. Patton is studying in New York City at the Manhattan School of Music, and before this year studied in Rochester, New York.

The program will cover a wide range of works from the vocal literature, including works of Moneverdi, Bach, Schubert, and Warlock. Mr. Booth will perform a group of solo piano works. The public is cordially invited to attend without charge.

Dr. Robert E. Cralle, Director, University Study Tour to Hawaii, has announced that the 1961 Summer Session Program to the University of Hawaii is now open for enrollment. Over 215 courses in 39 fields are offered in the Summer Session's curriculum, these courses lasting six weeks with rates starting from $555 for students and $569 for teachers.

Extra credits earned by undergraduate students are transferable to nearly all colleges and universities. Complete information including a twenty-page bulletin and application form is available by writing to Dr. Robert E. Cralle, Director, University Study Tour to Hawaii, 2275 Mission Street, San Francisco 10, California.

Novice Debaters Meet at Lehigh; Varsity Opens Season in December

by Bob Bomboy

The Wilkes College Debate Society will prelude this year's forensic competition by entering Lehigh University's Novice Debate Tournament at Bethlehem.

The novice debaters are: David Jaikes and Frances Olack, affirmative; James Garrahan and Robert Bomboy, negative.

Teams representing most of the colleges and universities of the eastern seaboard will participate in the tournament.

A novice debater is one who has never debated in intercollegiate forensic competition.

Dr. Arthur N. Kruger, the Society's faculty advisor and one of the top debate coaches in the United States, explained that tomorrow's debate will be for purposes of instruction; the contest will not be officially judged.

Also journeying to Bethlehem will be Frank Rioski, president of the Society, and the following varsity debaters: Jerry Krasa, a junior majoring in political science; Brent O'Connell, a sophomore science education major; and Barry O'Connell, sophomore engineering major.

President Rioski announced that the varsity team will open its campaign in December by attending the St. Joseph's Invitation Tournament at St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia.

Cat's Meow Offers Halloween Theme

by Sandy Biber

All the cats are meowing about the senior class dance which will be held in their honor Friday night at the Wilkes College gymnasium.

The felines will gather there at 9 p.m. and purr to the music of the Bill Jerome Quintet. The cats will be admitted free to the dance. All other creatures must pay fifty cents.

A Jack-o'-Lantern contest will be held at intermission. Humans attending the dance may bring a pumpkin carved as grotesquely as possible. The creator of the most frightful lantern will receive a Halloween surprise.

Cider and doughnuts will be served as a tonic to those timid souls who may be frightened by the decorations. However, if you are the type of person who thrives on horror and have your own skeleton in the hall closet, you, too, may support the senior class by buying as much cider as your ghoulish souls desire.

Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell Thomas and Mr. Welton Farrar will chaperone the dance and also supply smelling salts to the dancers.

The senior class hopes that all who wish to have a memorable haunted Halloween will shiver along to the Cat's Meow.

ATTENTION SENIORS!

A member of the "Amnicola" staff will be downstairs in the cafeteria every morning next week to make appointments for senior pictures to be taken by Ace Hoffman Studios, West Market Street. Appointments will be available from 9 through 11 o'clock daily beginning on Monday. Sitting will take approximately fifteen minutes. Please make your appointments as soon as possible.

Students to Participate in Mock Election at Next Assembly Program

by Doug Keating

The coming election will provide the theme for the next assembly program to be held in the gym on Thursday at eleven o'clock.

Tentative plans have been made for a debate on the campaign issues. Steve Robertson and Glenn Beebe, president and vice-president, respectively, of the campus Students for Nixon and Lodge organization, will present the Republican side of the issues. As of yet no one has been chosen to offer the Democratic viewpoint.

Students Raise $1154.24 Toward United Fund; Freshmen Lead Donors

Assignments are posted on the "Beacon" office door. Check this sheet before leaving school today.

Vincent O'Karma, president of the Urban Development Association, will discuss the bond issue on which residents of Wilkes-Barre will vote on November 8. The bond issue, if passed, will permit the city to sell bonds in order to raise money for urban development.

The I.C.G. will conduct a mock election which will decide which presidential and vice-presidential candidates are favored by the students. Each student will find a ballot sheet on his assembly seat. The ballots will be so arranged that students will be able to vote for either of the presidential nominees and either of the vice-presidential nominees. It will be possible, therefore, for students to cross party lines in their selections. Members of the I.C.G. will tally the ballots and the results will be published in next week's Beacon.

TDR to Aid Charity Group

by Leona A. Baiera

Judy Powell, chairman of the T.D.R. Hayride, held last Saturday night at El Pocono Dude Ranch, reports that the affair was well-attended. Miss Beryl Cole, Dean of Women, was chaperon for the affair which featured a hayride, weiner roast, and dancing.

Jan Bronson, Charity Chairman, asked for volunteers to dress dolls for the Salvation Army at the last meeting. These dolls will be distributed to underprivileged children during the holiday season. The deadline for these dolls to be finished will be posted on the bulletin board.

Tentative plans for a skating party will be discussed at the next meeting. Meetings will be held the second Monday of every month in the cafeteria lounge at 7:30 p.m.

Bianca Moscata, secretary of T.D.R., reports that orders are still being taken for T.D.R. sweat shirts, sorority pins, beer mugs, and emblems. She urges that everyone get in her order as soon as possible. Plans for future money-making projects will include a performance of the Drama Guild at the Jewish Community Center.

Most C'n'C Roles Filled

by Bob Myers

The Cast for "The Matchmaker" has been completed with the exception of one or two minor women's roles which are still to be filled. Rehearsals are now in progress, and the stage crew is busy preparing the four sets to be used in the show.

The dates of production have been moved ahead to December seventh through tenth, so they will not interfere with the King's College play scheduled for mid-November.

Further information and a list of the cast will follow in next week's issue of the Beacon or will be found on the Theater Bulletin Board.

Educational Comparisons Made by Adm. Rickover at Teachers' Meeting

by Wayne Thomas

The inferiority of American schools as compared to European and Russian systems was the important theme of a talk given by Vice-Admiral Hyman G. Rickover at the ninetieth annual Education Meeting of the Luzerne County Teachers yesterday morning in Coughlin High School auditorium.

"Criticism - Why?" was the title of the admiral's message in which he stated that our country is in danger of being taken over by an adversary of a better educational both the sciences and the humanities than does the American system.

He also said that greater achievement is expected from a graduate of the Russian ten-year system than that expected from a graduate of our twelve-year schools.

Rickover also challenged the argument that many Russian school children do not complete their education by quoting the fact that in 1957, only 58 per cent of American fifth grade school children completed their high school training.

In comparing our system with European schools he said that 3/4 of the students in Europe who go on to higher education receive state support. He also said that the ability of the individual European student in foreign languages is superior to that of the American student.

Rickover also criticized our methods of school administration when he said that administrators often make decisions about such matters as school building construction and curricula without consulting the teachers who have the greatest amount of knowledge in this area. He said that Americans regard the clerical aspect and the "housekeeping" of education more highly than the actual teaching.

Admiral Rickover also commented on the status of the American teacher as compared with the teacher in Russia or in Europe. He said that the teaching profession outside the United States is respected much more than it is in our country.

Admiral Rickover graduated from the Naval Academy in 1922 and received his master's degree in electrical engineering from Columbia in 1929.

He was assigned to the Bureau of Ships for the greater part of World War II and in 1945 he was named to the staff of the Commander, Service Force, Pacific Fleet, following which he became Industrial Manager at Okinawa.

He was later assigned to the Manhattan Project at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and for his work there he system because our educators are resisting criticism. He said that the public is biased against the critic because individuals themselves do not want to be criticized. Admiral Rickover stated that all reform has always been sparked by criticism.

In comparing our school system with that of Russia, Rickover pointed out the fallacy of the belief that the Russians devote more time to the sciences in their schools and neglect the humanities. The fact is, he stated, that the Russian school system devotes more time to

Ivy-covered Walls

One of the beautiful features of a campus is that of ivy spreading itself over college buildings. We have many halls which fit in this category. The question may be asked, however, are we allowing the ivy to cover us?

As time and ivy move over our college, so does the need for adjustment to twentieth century progress. The administration has emphasized progress in many facets of college life. One segment of college life has gained the attention of other institutions, and might be food for thought at our college. This is the gradual equalization of regulations between men and women's dormitories.

At the University of Kansas, a Privilege Plan for senior women has been inaugurated. This plan entitles any senior woman with 80 hours and 90 grade points, and written permission from her parents, to check out a dormitory key permitting her to come in after closing hours.

The success of the plan will be reviewed after a one semester trial and the advisability of making the program a permanent one will be considered at that time.

Certainly, a program of this type involves the concord of all dormitory women with the administration. It should be based on the maturity and proven ability of the women students of the school. The success or failure of the program at Kansas will be observed by colleges and universities across the nation.—C.A.H.

It's Yours -- To Read and Share

For the past several weeks it has been noticed that a large number of copies of the Beacon have been unnecessarily going to waste because many students, after glancing briefly at the paper, discard it even before leaving the campus on Friday afternoon. It should be pointed out here that the Beacon prints 1500 copies weekly at the rate of approximately eleven cents per copy. The expense of producing a sufficient number of copies for distribution is passed along to the student through his tuition charges and therefore it is up to the individual student to make good use of his investment.

The business staff of the Beacon takes great pains to insure that there will be a sufficient number of copies for all students. It is hoped that students will share their copies of the paper with their family and friends outside the college in the future instead of carelessly discarding their copy within a few hours after the Beacon is released on campus. Education Club Visits Service Center; Plans Field Trip to Industrial School

by Pat Rossi

Members of the Education Club are planning a field trip to the Kis-Lyn Industrial School next Tuesday. About 60 students will tour the school to note the various methods of instruction and the educational set-up. The group will leave from Wilkes at 12:45 and will travel in cars to the Kis-Lyn School. Senior members of the club will receive preference.

Last Tuesday, October 25, other students from the Education Club visited the Wyoming Valley Children's Service Center on Franklin Street. They toured the building and observed the educational procedures used in training the children. This visit proved to be very informative and interesting.

Officers of the Education Club are: Bob Amey, president; Joan Leggetts, vice-president; Peggy Churchill, secretary; Sally Price, treasurer. Miss Roderick and Dr. Hammer are the club advisors.

Letters to the Editor ...

Dear Editor:

Why is the school spirit at Wilkes at such a low ebb? Why aren't the students taking an active part in supporting their teams? A justification cannot be found for the lack of enthusiasm shown by the students.

Is our college one of the many that must have championship teams before they get behind them? Remember it's much harder to support a losing team. A losing team needs the cheers and shouts of a crowd, much more than does a championship team.

You have a fine organization on campus which is trying to instill some vim and vigor into the crowds at the games. But they can't do it alone, they need your help. So as they say, "get with it," fill up those empty bleachers, and cheer our team on to victory.

The Spirit of Wilkes

Dear Mr. Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to all people who participated in the organization of Homecoming Weekend.

In my opinion, this year's Homecoming was very carefully planned and executed in all of its many phases. The car caravan and the bonfire on Friday night were very well attended. The spirit evinced at the football game on Saturday did credit to the work of the School Spirit Committee, the cheerleaders, the band, the kickline, and the newly organized twirlers.

The Undergraduate Dinner Dance on Saturday night was well attended, as was the Alumni Dance at the Country Club.

I would like to extend a special thanks to Bill Davis, Homecoming chairman, for the wonderful job he did in coordinating the various activities, and to Jay Olexy and his Beacon staff for their moral support throughout the weekend.

I was proud to be a part of the weekend, and I will remember it for many years to come.

Sincerely,
Beverly Major

Dear Mrs. Slattery:

On behalf of the Wilkes College Chemistry Club I would like to thank you for your offer of the use of your power supply for our homecoming display.

Because of your generous offer, we have been awarded first prize for the club and class division in the display judging. We could never have won without the proper lighting which came about as a result of your help.

Again I would like to extend a hearty thanks from the members of our club.

Sincerely,
David R. Edwards
President

Letter to the Editor:

I would like to express the appreciation of the Wilkes College Alumni Association to all students who participated in our 13th Annual Homecoming. Numerous favorable comments have been received which note the many excellent displays erected by dormitories, by clubs, and by classes. All of these groups did a superior job.

The Kickline and the Majorettes, in their initial appearance, are to be congratulated for a fine job. The Band and the Cheerleaders carried on in their always reliable and spirited way.

Needless to say, the alumni were very proud and appreciative of all this work which was done primarily for them.

May I again express our appreciation to you, students of Wilkes, for a job well done.

Sincerely,
Gordon E. Roberts

Presenting The Issues

(REPUBLICAN)

by Steve Robertson, Glenn Beebe

The Eisenhower administration and the Republican Party in general have been accused time and time again of being against social legislation such as: Social Security, Medical care for the aged, and workmen's compensation. "Let's look at the record." Social Security was expanded to cover an additional twelve million people. Unemployment insurance was extended to an additional six million three hundred thousand people. The Administration made it possible for hundreds of thousands of mothers to deduct the cost of child care during working hours. The Federal Government allotted a total of three billion five hundred million dollars to public health. Eighteen million families now take larger medical expense deductions on their income tax. Fifty million more Americans are covered by medical and hospital insurance. All this from a Republican Administration that isn't supposed to care. As Mr. Nixon has said, "We are not going to stand on this record, we are going to build on it." (Saturday Evening Post, 10-8-60, p. 113)

American education will be no better and no worse than the individual American wants it to be. This responsibility cannot be passed by the people to Washington, it must be undertaken in the school room, in the P.T.A., and in the local school board. We need higher teachers' salaries and more classrooms desperately. No one is more aware of these problems than Richard Nixon. "Let's take a look at the record." Under the Republican Administration new classrooms have been added to our schools at the rate of sixty thousand a year—three times the rate of the previous administration. The Federal Government provided an additional $899 million to colleges and universities and federal research grants direct to schools and students totaled over $430 million dollars. The Republican Administration has done all of this without federal control, without interfering with the right of the local school boards to set the standards for the education of their children. Mr. Nixon, when elected, will initiate legislation to provide funds for the construction of urgently needed new schools. These appropriations will free the funds of local school districts so that they may be used to raise teachers' salaries.

The Democrats, on the other hand, propose legislation which would give the state the funds. The state would then allot these funds to the local school boards. The funds would then be used for either teachers' salaries or the construction of schools. Nevertheless, we must not lose sight of the fact that these funds are Federal funds. There is not a single case on record of Federal spending without Federal control. Under the Democrats' proposal, the funds would be allotted according to population. This means that concentrated areas, which invariably have the best schools and the highest teachers' salaries, would get the greatest share of the funds. The Republicans, however, will allot these funds to the areas of greatest need—rural and suburban areas where the need is great and the tax income is low. Vice-President Nixon wants higher teachers' salaries and better schools just as much, if not more, than Senator Kennedy. However, he wants this to be accomplished in the American way, without Federal control or restriction, thus preserving the right of the American people to decide how their children should be educated.

Much has been made of the fact that President Eisenhower vetoed the Democrat depressed areas bill. As would be expected, his reasons for doing this have never been mentioned by the Democrats. We feel that these reasons, based wholly on fact, completely vindicate the President's judgement in this matter.

by Frances Olack, Jerome Krasa

At this time we will present the truth concerning the following three facets of domestic policy: depressed areas legislation; federal aid to education; and medical care for the aged.

Republicans concede the need for depressed areas legislation. The Republican inconsistency between word and deed is evident when we see that twice in the past two years the Republican President has vetoed depressed areas legislation passed by a Democratic Congress. Senator Kennedy led the floor fight in the Senate in 1958 for this legislation.

When contacted earlier this week, Congressman Daniel J. Flood, co-sponsor of the depressed areas bill, had this comment to make concerning this legislation: "The Republican leadership has been against this kind of legislation and principle from the beginning. They consider it socialistic, un-American, and unnecessary. Only the violent reaction from the people in the depressed areas, Republicans and Democrats, caused them to belatedly change their minds by offering a totally inadequate substitute, in keeping with the very best Republican tradition. The Republican statement concerning the superiority of their bill is a sham and a fraud. The Republican bills are authorization bills and not appropriation bills. No allocation of funds to any area could be mentioned legally in any such bill. As a member of the Appropriations Committee, I would not be in a position to decide 'who got what!'"

Republican inconsistency is evidenced again when we look at the record concerning federal aid to education. Despite strenuous efforts of local and state governments, we are not keeping up with the growing need for schools. As a result, there is a present shortage of 130,000 classrooms and 135,000 teachers. The Republicans pay "lip service" to a concern for this problem and promise to do all in their power to ameliorate these conditions. Their true "concern" became evident when Richard Nixon cast his tie-breaking vote this February against a Democratic bill which would have provided $1.1 billion a year for four years to be used for school construction and-or teacher pay, as each state chose. Thus, anything Nixon says must be regarded as having little relationship as to how he would act on such an issue.

Democrats propose to include health insurance — as a right — under the Social Security insurance system. Slightly higher Social Security taxes, paid during one's working years, would entitle a person to paid-up health insurance in his old age, with a free choice of hospital, nursing home, and doctor. The use of general revenues to finance health insurance for the aged would be restricted to those not covered by Social Security.

The Democrat's health insurance proposal has received impressive support from experts and independent observers. J. Douglas Brown, dean of faculty at Princeton University, said of the Democratic proposal: "No other means or mechanism can perform this necessary function with as much economy in cost or with as much respect for the needs, rights, and dignity of all concerned." (Washington Post, 4-6-60)

Political expediency finally forced the Administration, late in the 1960 session of Congress, to come up with a rival, cumbersome, costly, and probably unworkable plan. It is a charity plan requiring an "income" or "means" test — a degrading experience for the applicant, and an administrative headache because verification of eligibility would be required annually. It would shift the administrative burden and half the cost to the already overburdened states, which may be

"Matrimony was probably the first union to challenge management."

Last Saturday the gridders were defeated for the fifth consecutive time this season as they lost to Lycoming, 10-0. By allowing the Warriors only one offensive drive to speak of, they again displayed their defensive prowess, but, again displayed their ineptitude at scoring as their drives bogged down deep within the opposition's territory, losing three scoring opportunities.

In the past three contests they have won the game of statistics but have yet to register on the scoreboard, where games are won and lost. The performance of the New York Yankees against Pittsburgh can well attest to the fact that as far as sports is concerned, compiling the most impressive listings of statistics is an empty accomplishment unless you actually win the game.

Taken individually, each member of the starting team is an excellent player, four of them have received national recognition so far this season by being given honorable mention on the ECAC "Team of the Week." Marv Antinnes, Jerry Mohn, Tom Krisulevich, and Al Dobrowalski have all received this honor, with Mohn also having once been named Sophomore of the Week. However, the team has so far failed to utilize its potential and win a game.

The soccer team's prospects are not too good this weekend. Elizabethtown, perennially one of the strongest teams in the east, is now riding high with one of the most powerful teams in its soccer history. The Bluejays' line is fast and accurate, having scored an average of 11.25 goals per game in its first five games this season. Last weekend they defeated Drexel Institute of Technology, another school that annually fields exceptionally strong soccer squads.

The Hofstra game saw the backfield display fine defensive play, especially by Chuck Weiss and Bob Ontko. Both of these men can kick the ball beyond the mid-field marker with little effort, Weiss having actually set up Zwiebel's score which was the deciding margin against Hofstra. Perhaps the backfield that played so well against the Hofstra line that possessed fine passing abilities and accurate "head" ball, will be able to keep Elizabethtown from scoring and set up some goal shots for the linemen.

Alley Cats Take Lead; Sokira's League High Futile as Ebonites Lose

The Playboys, led by Bill Watkins' 226-551, registered the only 4-0 clean sweep as they downed the Boozers in Sunday night's bowling action. Dave Sokira took high game honors for the men with a smashing 231. Regina Ritzie rolled a 181-444 which was high for the female bowlers so far this year.

In the standings the Alley Cats have taken over first place, dumping the Pinbusters to fourth and the Tornados crawled out of the cellar into sixth place by virtue of their 3½-½ victory over the Pinbusters. The Boozers' 4-0 shutout loss dropped them from fourth place to the cellar.

By virtue of their 3-1 defeat of the Screwballs, the Alley Cats are now in first place. Sam Book led the winning 'Cats with a 182-459 while Pisaneschi was high for the losers with 178-467.

Alley Cats: Book 182-493, Blicsick 181-456, Zeller 166-440, Glassberg 168-409.

Despite Ebonite Dave Sokira's 231-567, the Gutterdusters displayed a well-balanced attack as they won the first two games and total pins. Three of the team's members finished with near identical scores.

Gutterdusters: Bankovitch 162-468, Nisnik 167-466, Guss 170-462, Bob Seifert 154-443, Judy Powell 130-363.

Backfield Excels as Team's Defense Halts Fast, Accurate Line

Tomorrow afternoon the Wilkes soccer team plays host to a strong Elizabethtown team in a match scheduled to get underway at 2:00 p.m. in Kirby Park. The Bluejays sport one of the finest teams in their history and are undefeated so far this season.

In a highly defensive MAC contest, the booters won their second match of the season last Saturday by defeating the Flying Dutchmen of Hofstra College, 1-0. The game was hard fought throughout, but the Colonels played flawless defensive ball to keep the Hofstra booters out of scoring range.

Lou Zwiebel got the only score of the afternoon early in the third period after Chuck Weiss had set up the play with a booming kick from deep in Wilkes' territory. Zwiebel missed his first shot at the goal as it bounded off the Hofstra goalie's knee but Lou quickly retrieved the ball in the scramble around the net and shot it in.

Outstanding for the Wilkes legmen were the fullbacks Chuck Weiss and Erwin Guetig and goalie Bob Ontko. Ontko registered 25 saves in chalking up his first shut-out of the season. Insides Frank Lepore, George Tensa and Changee Chae played good defensive ball.

Bob Ontko Earns "Athlete" Award; Goalie Makes 25 Saves in Shutout

Laurels as this week's 'Beacon' "Athlete of the Week" go to Bob Ontko, the stellar goalie of the Colonel soccer team. The goal-defender registered his initial shut-out of the season as the Blue and Gold soccermen downed Hofstra, 1-0. He made 25 saves and made his best showing of the season as he thwarted the many Hofstra scoring threats.

Although this is his first season as net-tender for the booters, he is not a stranger to sports at Wilkes, having held down the "hot corner" at third base for Coach Pinkowski's baseball team for the past two seasons. Last year he led the team in home runs and runs-batted-in.

A 1957 graduate of Kingston High School where he earned letters in baseball and basketball, Bob is a senior at Wilkes and is majoring in secondary education and social studies. He is active in the Lettermen's Club, the Education Club and in intramural basketball.

Former Wilkes Athlete Returns to Coach '60-'61 Swimming Team

John Reese, director of athletics, has announced the appointment of Carl Havira as coach of the Wilkes swimming team for the 1960-'61 season. A 1960 graduate of Wilkes, having majored in secondary education and social studies, he is currently assistant athletic director at the Wilkes-Barre Catholic Youth Center.

While at Wilkes, he set records in swimming and achieved inter-collegiate recognition in both soccer and swimming. He was named to Who's Who in American colleges and universities in his senior year. In his sophomore and junior years he was given honorable mention at outside left on the All-MAC soccer teams and as a junior was second in goals scored by the Colonel booters with eight and led the team with eleven assists. As a senior, he was co-captain of the soccer squad.

In swimming, which he was instrumental in re-establishing as an intercollegiate sport on campus in 1958, he holds five records: in the 200 yard butterfly, 200 yard breaststroke, 200 yard individual medley, and the 220 and 440 yard freestyle events. He captained the swimming team in his senior year and went undefeated as he accounted for 70 points.

In his sophomore year he placed fourth in the All-MAC swimming tournament in the 200 yard butterfly and as a senior placed fourth in the 100 yard breaststroke. He was vice-president of the Lettermen's Club and was treasurer of his class as a sophomore and vice-president during his junior year.

Colonels' Drives Bog Down In 10-0 Loss To Lycoming

Tomorrow the Colonel football team hosts the Crusaders of Susquehanna University at 2 p.m. in Kingston High School Stadium in an effort to pick up their first victory of the season against five consecutive defeats. Last year the gridders spoiled the Crusaders' Homecoming game by defeating them, 12-7, in one of the most surprising upsets of the season. The game saw Wilkes come from behind to score two touchdowns in five minutes during the third quarter after Susquehanna had led at halftime, 7-0.

Susquehanna dumped Muhlenberg College last Saturday, 13-9, and ranks fifth in the Northern College Division of the Middle Atlantic Conference, which is currently headed by Lebanon Valley.

Last Saturday saw the team lose its fifth straight of the season as it was defeated by Lycoming College, 10-0, on Bowman Field in Williamsport. The Warriors' scoring came on a seven-yard field goal and a plunge from the three. Wilkes threatened three times during the game but could not muster enough offensive push to score.

The Colonels threatened early in the game after Nick Alesandro recovered a Lycoming fumble on the Warriors' 27. Lycoming's defense held and Wilkes lost the ball on downs after netting only nine yards in four plays.

Early in the second period, Tom Krisulevich recovered a Lycoming fumble on the Warriors' 37. Again the Colonel ground attack bogged down as they managed to gain only eight yards on four plays and had to hand the ball over on downs. Lycoming managed to put some points on the scoreboard late in the second period as end Al Bouvier blocked a Colonel punt which was picked up by end Don Dyke who got all the way to the Wilkes seven before being brought down from behind. The Colonel defense held and after three plays had gained nothing for the Warriors, Stan Okotkewitz came in and booted a field goal, giving Lycoming a 3-0 lead.

The only good complete drive of the game was made by Lycoming halfway through the third period, when, after taking possession of the ball on their own 44, they went 56 yards on the ground in ten plays for a touchdown. Halfback Burt Richardson scored on the plunge from the three. Okotkewitz kicked the extra point and ended the scoring for the day.

For the Colonels Marv Antinnes was top ground-gainer of the game with 62 yards. Frank Spudis was one of the top men on defense, highlighting his performance with a pass interception in the fourth period on the Lycoming 42 and carrying it to the 28 before being brought down. Wilkes, however, could not advance any further. The game came to a close with Wilkes on the offense again, this time on the Lycoming 18 following a blocked punt.

Fluke Shot Provides 1-0 Margin as Soccer Team Loses to Muhlenberg

The soccer team was defeated for the sixth time this season on Wednesday as they lost a close match to Muhlenberg College, 1-0, on the Mules' field in Allentown. The two teams fought a scoreless ballgame until late in the fourth period when a shot by Muhlenberg lineman Kindred bounced off Colonel fullback Erwin Guetig's knee into the net.

The score came during a mix-up in the Wilkes backfield and Kindred's boot looked like an easy save for goalie Bob Ontko until the fluke bounce off Guetig's knee. Such freak goals happen rarely and marked the second time this season that the Mules have been on the receiving end of such a "gift".

Outstanding for Wilkes were goalie Bob Ontko, who made 25 saves, fullbacks Chuck Weiss and Erwing Guetig. Despite the bad bounce off his knee, Guetig continued the fine defensive play that he displayed against Hofstra. Halfbacks Ted Toluba, Bob Chew, and Jim Neddoff aided the Colonel defense and added offensive support to the line of Roberts, Zwiebel, Prusakowski, Tensa, and Lepore throughout the game.

The team's record now stands at two wins and six losses with the Colonels at home tomorrow against the Bluejays of Elizabethtown in Kirby Park at 2 p.m.

Squash Racket Team Planned; Reese Calls For Interested Students

John Reese, director of athletics, has announced that because of an interest expressed by several students in forming a squash rackets team at Wilkes, the college will add the sport to its list of inter-collegiate athletics for the 1961-'62 season provided that enough members can be attracted to form a team.

Any student, with or without previous experience, particularly freshmen and sophomores, who are interested in learning the sport and in forming a team have been requested to contact Mr. Reese or Bill Klein. Klein may be reached by phone at VA 3-2002 after 7 p.m.

The facilities of the YMCA will be used and will be sponsored by Wilkes, not of any cost to the students. Squash rackets is an indoor sport similar in many respects to handball except that a racket is used. Those who have any ability in tennis will find it easy to learn.

Kickline Faced With Pre-Game Kicklines

Did the Kickline look a little less than perfect at the Wilkes-Ursinus game? If so, there was a reason other than wayward bears and football players.

The twenty-eight members of the "Line" had been practicing faithfully the past two weeks in anticipation of their first appearance of the year, the Homecoming Game. By Thursday preceding the game, the girls had all their costume accessories, but the eagerly awaited outfits hadn't been completed.

However, the dressmaker who had been hired to sew the costumes assured Jan Bronson, captain of the "Line" that all costumes would be finished by early Saturday morning.

Members of the "Line" were told they would be able to pick up their costumes by 11:00 a.m. at Chapman Hall, but when the girls arrived at the dorm they discovered that half of the costumes had not been delivered!!

Peggy Churchill, co-captain of the "Line" had gone for the costumes and discovered they had not been finished. She then called the dorm and told the girls to meet her at the Kingston Stadium. The Kicklin was scheduled to appear at 3:00 p.m., but five minutes before the scheduled performance Peggy still had not arrived with the costumes.

Just when the girls had given up hope of performing, Peggy made her appearance. Upon hurriedly changing into the costumes, the girls made some startling discoveries. None of the costumes fitted well, the workmanship was poor, and all the outfits were lacking hems. However, the show had to go on.

Once off the field further confusion was caused by the rambling Ursinus Bear and members of both football teams, but in spite of all obstacles the girls proved that the "Line" has the fortitude to perform even under the most unfavorable conditions.

Moo-Moos to Act At Home Games

by Neil Castagnaro

This past weekend was the debut of the newest branch of the School Spirit Committee (S.S.C.) in its performance at the Homecoming game. The Moo-Moos, under the capable leadership of Jeff Gallet, are a group of freshmen who are dedicated to increasing school spirit at all athletic functions.

At the Homecoming game they were active in leading cheers and getting the "Home" fans seated in the reserved sections. They continued their spirit-raising antics with the aid of water pistols and clown makeup throughout the entire game and were successful in this endeavor.

The Moo-Moos will continue to function throughout this semester and next. Their captain plans activities and antics for all future athletic events at home. The Moo-Moos are seven in number. Their captain expressed a desire that more people join. Membership is open to all male freshmen. See Jeff Gallet of Ashley Hall if you are interested in membership.

The charter members of the Moo-Moos are Jeff Gallet, captain; Boyd Manzer, Walt Dexter, Bill Schmidt, Gary Einhorn, Harry Tobias, Mike Landesman.

Presenting the Issues

The Democrat bill, as Vice-President Nixon has said, was a "scatter-shot" bill. It dispersed the money of the bill so thinly that the effectiveness of the legislation was greatly reduced.

This bill did not restrict itself to dealing with chronically depressed areas, but also covered areas which were only temporarily depressed. For example, two areas which were covered under the stipulations of the bill when it was first written, no longer were eligible for aid when the bill came to a vote. This showed a complete lack of understanding concerning the problem at hand.

For the information of the people in this area, the Administration bill would have guaranteed twice as much money to this area as would the Democrat bill. This is not a debatable opinion; it is a fact and has been proved.

The truth of the matter is simply this: the Democrats are using this as a political issue, and are showing no concern for the depressed areas in question. If they cared they would have passed suitable legislation on this problem. This should be evident to anyone with the slightest amount of intelligence.

unable or unwilling to participate. The plan would place the financial burden upon the low-income years of the participants. In addition to paying an annual contribution of $24, the participant would be required to meet the first $250 of his yearly medical costs and to pay another $20 for each $100 of additional medical expenses. Governor Rockefeller stated that the Administration's approach calling for state administration and heavy payments could mean a "very serious fiscal situation, very high costs, and a cumbersome administration." (Washington Post, 5-6-60)

Richard Nixon clearly has no compunction about verbally taking any position on any subject which he thinks may win him a few votes. Agnes E. Meyer summed up Nixon's inconsistency in this way: "The American people will not be fooled by Mr. Nixon's public relations staff. . . . The carefully poised Richard Nixon of 1960 is still the same calculating political operator who bet his future on the contemptible proposition that most of the people can be fooled most of the time." (Washington Post, 6-1-60)

BARTLETT'S QUOTATIONS

Wise men through the ages have had some pointed things to say about education and study. As we face the new semester with high hopes and some trepidation, perhaps some words from the wise might offer solace.

Below are listed quotations all having to do with academic life. How many can you correctly identify?

1. The learned are seldom pretty fellows, and in many cases their appearance tends to discourage a love of study in the young.
2. Note too that a faithful study of the liberal arts humanizes character and permits it not to be cruel.
3. Of making many books there is no end; and much studying is a weariness of the flesh.
4. Educational relations make the strongest tie.
5. For the student there is, in its season, no better place than the saddle, and no better companion than the rifle or the oar.
6. Order and simplification are the first steps toward the mastery of a subject — the actual enemy is the unknown.
7. No profit grows where is no pleasure ta'en; In brief, sire, study what you most affect.

ANSWERS:

1. H. L. Mencken, "The New Webster International Dictionary, 1934."
2. Ovid, "Epistulae ex Ponto, Book II, Ch. 3, line 14."
3. Ecclesiastes, XII, 11.
4. Cecil John Rhodes, "Willing to Tablshing the Rhodes Scholarships."
5. Francis Parkman, "Autobiography, 1834."
6. Thomas Mann, "The Magic Mountain, Ch. 5."
7. Shakespeare, "The Taming of the Shrew, Act I, Sc. I, line 39."
