Capital Fund Campaign Moves Ahead; Three Phase Program Presented

Pledges totalling $364,578 have brought the Wilkes 25th Anniversary Development Campaign within 73% of its $500,000 goal.

The $500,000 will be used for the following purposes:

Two Outstanding Intercollegiate Events Scheduled For Campus This Spring

Wilkes College, marking its 25th anniversary this year, will be the scene of two outstanding intercollegiate events this spring.

In March, student delegations from about 50 colleges will arrive here for the 1958 Mid-Atlantic Model United Nations General Assembly. And in April, more than 80 colleges will send students to participate in the Eastern Colleges Science Conference.

MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT — An award citing her distinguished service to understanding between people of the world was presented to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt by David Vann, President of the Wilkes Chapter of the C.C.U.N., which sponsored her visit and speech to the College student body. Vann, who is also Vice-President of the National Organization of C.C.U.N., was credited by Dr. Forley with being personally responsible for Mrs. Roosevelt's visit here.

The MGA, to be held the weekend of March 28, 29 and 30, is conducted annually on the east and west coasts by the Collegiate Council of the United Nations. The Wilkes CCUN chapter, founded in 1956, follows a distinguished list of host college chapiers, including the University of Pennsylvania, 1955; Indiana State Teachers College, 1956; and Princeton University, 1957.

David Vann, Wyoming, president of the Wilkes chapter and vice-president of the national organization, will be secretary-general of the assembly, which is patterned after the UN General Assembly, with each college predesignated to represent a member nation of the UN, and each "country" naming delegates to four committees for the discussion of world problems.

In addition to the business of furthering international understanding and strengthening the UN, the 500 visitors will be entertained socially with a student-faculty tea Saturday afternoon, March 29, and a dance that evening. While the college will furnish all meals, it is hoped that housing the students will be volunteered by the friends and alumni of the college who are in the communication.

The twelfth annual Eastern Colleges Science Conference will take place April 17, 18 and 19. The program will include the presentation of student research papers, exhibits of chemical companies and tours of local industries. Social events will include a banquet and dance to be held on Saturday evening, the 18th.

Numerous speakers from the fields of physics, geometry, chemistry, biology and psychology will be featured. Scheduled thus far are: William C. H. Prentice, Dean of Swarthmore College, and Dr. Gustav Swanson, head of the conservation department of Cornell University.

Hosts for the conferences of preceding years were: Yale, 1954; Temple, 1955; and Georgetown, 1956.

Tours scheduled include the Veterans Hospital, Stegmaier Brewery, and Air Products, Incorporated. In addition, other local industries are being contacted by the Tours Committee.

Our Program for 1958

The year 1958 is of special significance to Wilkes College because it marks the 25th Anniversary of its birth. In past communiques and informational bulletins, all of us have been apprised of the extraordinary progress of the college in its physical plant and in its high academic standing.

The alumni can look back with great pride on these achievements, but it is more important that we look ahead to the task that remains undone.

Former students of Wilkes are in a strategic position to contribute to the prestige and development of the school. By the manner in which we achieve our goals in life, and by the obligations we assume and meet as responsible citizens in the community, can we reflect glory on our alma mater. The present and future fund-raising campaigns also permit us to add to the physical and cultural development of our college.

Opportunities to partake in the growth of the school are present in our own Alumni Association. This group functions actively and meets in many areas; the local general alumni group meets frequently in the College Commons and chapters meet in various cities such as Philadelphia, New York, Binghamton, and Allentown. New graduates hasten to participate in alumni activity and the "old grads" are coming to the realization that the Alumni is a large and important factor in enhancing the prestige and growth of the school.

In the past years, homecoming has taken on added meaning for then, ex-students see at first-hand the new structures and the general physical growth and class spirit that are evident on the campus.

This year, we hope to carry on and expand the scope of alumni activity. Plans have been and will be formulated for fewer, but more interesting meetings; the usual graduation affair, homecoming, and many other programs are in the process of being finalized.

If the spirit of alumni who live far away from the campus could be captured by those nearby, our organization would be super-dynamic. Those away from home yearn to partake in alumni activity. They show their interest by unhesitating contributions to the campaigns and by their frequent inquiries about Wilkes. We who have the opportunity to be active in the alumni organization can reap gratification, renew old friendships, find many enjoyable hours, not only in reminiscing, but in planning for the future growth of our school.

Why not give it a try? Come out to the meetings and bring your friends if you so desire. Attend the alumni functions throughout the year. Revisit the campus. The development that has taken place will astound you, and fill your hearts with pride.

Join in the expanding snowball whose momentum will carry Wilkes on to greater heights.

I am sure that you are equally pleased to know that your college is not standing still in the face of a nation-wide movement to expand college facilities to meet the growing demand of our young people.

Our new science building exemplifies one way in which our college is preparing to meet this great challenge. A projected new dormitory to house one hundred nonresident students will be another necessary step forward.

Until now, the Alumni of Wilkes College and Bucknell Junior College have had slight opportunity and, perhaps, ability, to make substantial contributions to the physical expansion of our college. We believe that now, with the College celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary, the Alumni can organize themselves to make a major contribution to our 25th Anniversary Development Campaign.

The members of this community, who have always been generous in their support of the college, have already raised more than 75% of the $500,000 goal. It is my very strong conviction that we Alumni should express our thanks to those who have contributed so much to our college, by adding as our share a major portion of the remaining 25%.

Let us respond to this appeal with an open heart and open purse, that the young people of tomorrow may profit from our generosity, as we have profited from that of others."

Dr. Kerr will head the Wilkes-Barre alumni group, which will consist of five divisions. Clayton Bloomburg, Donald Honeywell, Russell Williams, Gifford Cappellini, and Dr. Herbert Oliver will each be responsible for a division. Each division, in turn, will be composed of five teams, each with a captain, and five sub-organizations in charge of a lieutenant, all for a total of 156

IN THE NEXT ISSUE

A special supplement on U.S. higher education in 1958 is coming in the April issue of the ALUMNUS. Alumni magazine editors and publishers throughout the country have joined in this first cooperative effort to tell the story of American higher education in a dramatic and panoramic way. In 32 pages of pictures and text, the supplement will present the immense diversity of higher education in its variety of objectives, its problems, its restlessness, and its new approaches. The text has been written by a group of alumni editors who have been at work for more than a year. One of the country's leading photographers, Erich Hartmann of Magnum, has taken the pictures. The supplement will appear in more than 150 alumni magazines whose combined circulation is 1,300,000.
