

C'n C To Present Mad Woman

Cinderella, SG President Elected Today

by Vicki Tatz

Elections for Student Government president and for Cinderella Queen are being held today in the cafeteria lounge from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. All students, including seniors, may participate in this election. The two candidates for Student Government president are Matt Fliess and Al Saidman. Forms for the Big Brother/Big Sister program will be available at the polls. Elections of other officers will be May 2 at the Student Government meeting.

Two constitutional amendments had their first reading at this week's Student Government meeting. One would change Article IX, Section 2, paragraph 2, regarding the election of freshman class officers, to read, "Nominations for freshman officers shall be held no earlier than the first week nor no later than the third week of the spring semester." This would enable prospective officers to know if they could obtain a 2.0 average and would enable the class to get to know its members better before elections are held. A constitution could be worked on before the election of officers by a constitutional committee.

The second proposed amendment is to Article VI, Section 5. This would change the quorum for Student Government meetings from "nine or more" to "eleven or more" members, in keeping with this year's increase in the total membership.

Student Government has decided that a harmful precedent would be set if funds were granted to clubs for trips instead of for, or in addition to, funds for conferences. Student Government recognizes the problems of clubs trying to finance such events, but administration policy prevents it from assistance in this matter.

The Collegians have complained about not being granted a calendar date for this year. This is probably due to their failure to hand in a request for a calendar date last spring, when the calendar for this year was composed. There seem to be no more dates available this year.

The constitution of the freshman class was passed by Student Government.

Cinderella Candidates Selected

by Carol Okrasinski

One of the ten senior girls pictured will reign as Cinderella at the tenth annual Cinderella Ball to be held May 6 at the Dorian Room of the Host Motel. These girls were elected by a vote of the entire student body at a recent assembly. From a list of senior girls, each student chose five; the ten girls with the largest number of votes became the finalists. Voting for Cinderella is taking place today from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the cafeteria lounge.

Ray Barno and his five-piece combo will provide music for the formal affair, which will last from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Highlight of the evening will be the crowning of Cinderella for 1966.

Tickets for the dance are $3.50 per couple and may be purchased at the Bookstore.

Sharon Daney, Joe Gatto, and Judy Simonson are general chairmen of the affair. Other committee chairmen are: publicity, Marc Levey and Joe Gatto; programs, Tom Kelly; gifts, Alice Frondutti and Mary Quinn; tickets, Paul Wender; decorations, Sharon Daney, Alicia Ramsey, and Irene Norkaitis; invitations, Jacqui Rubin; refreshments, Judy Simonson.

Cue and Curtain is currently completing preparations for its first full length production in the Theatre for the Performing Arts. Jean Giraudoux's "The Mad Woman of Chaillot" will be presented tonight and tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. A matinee performance is also scheduled for presentation tomorrow at 2:15 p.m. Tickets are available at the Bookstore or Theatre box office. Each member of the College is allotted one free ticket. Additional tickets, for family and friends, may be obtained at a cost of $1.

A special preview performance for the area high schools was presented last evening. Complementary tickets were supplied to almost fifty area high schools to enable them to send interested representatives of their student body to view the presentation and get a glimpse of theatre on the college level. A large turnout of drama-oriented students attended.

The production is under the direction of Mr. Alfred S. Groh with Stephen J. Gavala assisting as student director. Miss Myfvanwy Williams is acting in the capacity of drama coach for the play. Stage design is under the supervision of Mr. Andrew Palencar, art instructor at Coughlin High School.

Taking place in the spring of next year, the play centers about a group of Parisienne vagabonds who congregate at the Chez Francis in Chaillot, a district of Paris. The evil forces in the world led by a president (Basil Russin), a prospector (Jan Kubicki), a baron (Tom Giannini), and a broker (Jack Brooks), are intent upon destroying the section of Paris in which these vagabonds reside. Their ulterior purpose is to obtain the oil that they are sure lies below Chaillot.

Confronted with this dilemma, the street singer (Bob Sokoloski), the flower girl (Nancy Noterman), the waiter (Abdul Poonawala), the doorman (Edwin Manda), and the shoe-lace peddler (Tom Marcy), all present their sad plight and solicit the help of Countess Aurelia, the Madwoman of Chaillot (Elizabeth Slaughter). The countess summons all her wits and conceives a plot in which to trap these greedy evil men with their own greed. In concocting this plot she is aided and abetted by her cronies Gabrielle, the Madwoman of St. Sulpice (Beverly Wisloski); Constance, the Madwoman of Passy (Hazel Hulsizer); Josephine, the Madwoman of La Concorde (Margaret Klein); the deaf-mute (Carrol Cobbs); and the ragpicker (Daniel Wertz).

College Hosts Hamptonites

Yesterday twenty students from Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia, arrived on campus to complete phase two of the Hampton Exchange program. Their activities began with dinner in the Commons, followed by a presentation of the play The Mad Woman of Chaillot at the Fine Arts Center. A tour of the center and a social hour completed the day. Today, the Hamptonites will attend classes with some of the students. The afternoon will be spent visiting a coal mine at Sugar Notch. The day will end with a dance at the gym.

The students from Hampton will be entertained by Dr. Farley at his country home on Saturday. Upon their return, they will attend a dinner at the Europa Lounge. They will leave around noon Sunday after attending the religious services of their choice.

Ode To Duty

We love a mob, ta la, la la. They are always so reasonable, so sound in judgment.

Is it not wonderful that so many are so confident of another's abilities that no one else thinks to challenge him? Just think: some of us have only met a mere seven months ago; and to have seen into the deep, deep depths of a fellow classman's soul is indeed an example of instant intimacy. What joy to be so confident that one has found his heroes! What a time for racing through the streets, for dancing until the joy of the morning!

Let us not cast our responsibilities to the winds ("That name sounds good,") for "the slaves run gladly to their chains." Think; do not move with the numbers; cherish the individual responsibility to vote meaningfully.

Oh freshmen, whither are you going?

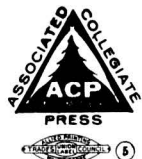

Welcome, Hamptonites!

This is the tenth year of the Wilkes-Hampton Exchange Program. This is the tenth year of a program in understanding. Though the exchange generally operates in a rarified atmosphere, its meaning and value cannot help be carried over into daily life.

To those Hampton students visiting our campus, the BEACON wishes to extend a warm, sincere welcome.

Heesch Thanks Class Members SG Member Expresses Appreciation

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to those individuals of the class of 1967 who supported me through their votes during the recent elections. In addition, I remain grateful to the other people who assisted my campaign and effort to acquaint the class with objectives I propose.

To those who were not informed as to the objectives I support, I would like to say in this brief note that I will, to the best of my ability, encourage those views of the student body that are both sound and beneficial to the class. I urge our class to aid its representatives during the coming year and to feel free to criticize and contribute toward its constructive organization.

Is DeGaulle A Political Fossil?

by Mary Kalafut

Why is everyone so annoyed by DeGaulle's attitude toward NATO? The handwriting has been on the wall since 1962 when he began to publicly doubt its effectiveness. The development of the bomb was all DeGaulle needed. As to Mr. Devlin's allusion to solidarity, my only question is, what solidarity? Roosevelt and Churchill reached a rapprochement only because Roosevelt was in Churchill's back pocket Churchill found it expedient to put up with Roosevelt's eccentricities because he had little choice in the matter twenty-five years ago with Hitler breathing down his neck. Times have changed. The Communist scare is over, as is the Nazi scare.

It must be very difficult for an egotist like DeGaulle to remember that France owes its prosperity to America's Marshall Plan and not to any of DeGaulle's efforts. His only claim to fame is a dictatorial form of government and an atomic bomb which is useless from the point of delivery and obsolete by United States, U.S.S.R., and Great Britain standards. The government might be excused as expedient, but to spend millions on a bomb for which one has neither the delivery ability nor the technical know-how to up-date is the result of extreme egotism. France has an acute housing problem accentuated by a growing population and a refugee problem. What does DeGaulle plan to do, house his excess population in bomb craters?

The average Frenchman has little to say about this turn of events. The older generation is overjoyed at seeing France become a world power especially after the defeats suffered at the hands of Hitler, the Communists in Indo-China, and the Algerian rebels.

Intellectual discontent is censored in French newspapers. The last national election, however, gave some indication that DeGaulle is no longer considered omnipotent. He had to force a run-off campaign.

As for the bomb, it is DeGaulle's key to a very exclusive club, the Nuclear Club. The membership dues are high, but the fringe benefits are encouraging. DeGaulle's flaunting of his bomb reminds one of the wife of a nouveau riche hill-billy who has just spent an enormous sum on glittery dress only to find out it went out of style years ago. She still wears it to impress the home town folks who are easily impressed by the appearance of wealth.

DeGaulle's glitter is his bomb. He combines its possession with ultra-nationalistic speeches colored with past history and so far has managed to convince the French people that they have something. Top it off with two verses of the Marseille and the French will buy it — whether or not it is useful.

Letters to the Editor

Campus Visitor Commends Miner Men For Hospitality

Dear Editor:

In past issues of your school newspaper, there have been two Letters to the Editor on the actions of a certain dormitory (Miner Hall) and the poor hospitality given to a certain individual.

I am in complete disagreement with these letters, because on various occasions I have spent weekends at Wilkes, and on the five or six weekends I visited your school, I've stayed at Miner Hall. At this dorm I've received nothing but hospitality and friendship. The students in this dorm treated me with more respect and common courtesy than any person is due. I don't want to confine all hospitality to one dorm; every one of the students at Wilkes that I had the pleasure of meeting treated me nicely, and it seems to be the general attitude of the whole student body. I'm sure that I'm not the only guest who has enjoyed staying at Wilkes. I know of five or six others who have spent weekends at Wilkes and share the same opinion.

Would you believe the Beacon is a Philistine travesty?

Would you believe the Beacon is an insipid organization, a vapid organization, an inane organization, an insult to the reasoning, the good taste, and the integrity of the rarified atmosphere of academic achievement, a personification of the miasmic outer world?

Would you believe Lover, Come Back is none of these?

Would you believe we enjoyed it?

Thank you,
Student Government

Most Sincerely,

Emily Post Neglected

I personally think this pacifist was in the wrong by bringing his pamphlets, pins, and preachings to Wilkes College. He was a guest, and I don't think he acted as a guest should.

I cannot go into my personal feelings towards pacifism, because I'm now on active duty in the United States Marine Corps, and my feelings towards these people would definitely be prejudiced. But, however, I would like to say that I back the students of Wilkes College one hundred per cent.

I also appreciate being able to visit your campus and accepting the friendship of all the students of Wilkes College, and I am looking forward to my future visits to your school.

Yours truly,
L/Cpl. Russell J. Allaman,

Student Questions SG Film Choice

Dear Editor:

In your last issue of the Beacon, I noticed that the Student Government sponsored a movie entitled Lover, Come Back. At this time, Wilkes was also sponsoring a freshman weekend and I am sure that many of these incoming freshmen attended this viewing. Many of them, leaving the movie, were probably thinking that they were well entertained, but the true students probably wondered what educational significance this film could have for them.

If the Student Government wished just to entertain them with light comedy, then they fulfilled their objective. But if Student Government wished to give them an insight into college life and what to expect while a student at Wilkes, then they failed miserably. These incoming individuals are now under the impression that college life might be filled with Lover, Come Back.

Intellectual Neighbors

Future college freshmen should be prepared to attend lectures by prominent individuals or movies of an educational nature. The Student time in order to encourage this freedom of choice.

The formation of a Student Union is a necessary step in the creation of a close relationship between the commuter and dormitory students. Through combined socializing, an interest in school affairs should develop. This, too, will help cultivate more active participation of individuals in school affairs.

With the support of Wilkes College students and continued participation of the individual class members, I hope these and other ideas will be employed for the betterment of Wilkes College.

Thank you for advocating my re-election.

Sincerely,
Judy Simonson

MANUSCRIPT MEMBERS Preparations for the 1966 MANUSCRIPT are being made by, seated, Merry Morrow, Andrea Templar (associate editor), and Stephanie Boyle (secretary). Standing are Dr. Philip Rizzo (advisor), Hazel Hulsizer, John McGinnis, and Holly Raub.

The 1966 Manuscript will be released on May 7, 1966, one week before finals in order that student reaction to the publication may be discussed about the campus and be thus made known to the magazine's editorial staff.

This year's issue will number over seventy pages since the staff has had a heavy response from students submitting pieces to be approved for publication. More poetry than prose will probably be found in the magazine and Mark Cohen's photograph of water on leaves will be on the outside cover.

DeGaulle is a showman to the end. Give him some lights — camera — action and he will be more willing to tell an ally whose forces have been used to maintain French security that her services are no longer necessary. This is especially convenient when one knows one's ally will return at any real threat of aggression.

DeGaulle is in a most fortunate position. NATO forces are guests of the host country and can be removed on request. I'd like to see East Germany request the removal of Soviet troops under their defensive alliance.

This bomb emphasis has another purpose. It is a smoke screen to hide growing domestic problems. Housing was already mentioned; the tourist trade is dropping off; inflation is setting in. Unemployment is on the increase. The bomb is one way to take the average Frenchman's mind off the domestic situation. In the eighteenth century when France was starving her queen said: "Let them eat cake." A twentieth century version of this may be DeGaulle telling the French "Let them eat the bomb." The French would probably serve it to an unsuspecting American tourist as an aged truffle in wine sauce and collect a 20 per cent tip!

What is the prospect for France? Well, DeGaulle cannot go on forever. For the present, his disregard for his security — the removal of NATO troops — will have no immediate effect. He may not appreciate this, but he is foiling his own campaign to use the gold question as a weapon against his erstwhile allies by removing the basis which provided so

Red Cross Schedules Ten Courses

The American Red Cross has scheduled ten ten-day training courses in water safety, small craft, and first aid skills this summer for college students interested in swimming, lifesaving, rowing, canoeing, sailing, first aid, and techniques of teaching swimming to the handicapped.

The all-inclusive cost for the ten-day course is $65. Students can attend the schools at their own expense or under sponsorship of organizations such as Red Cross chapters, civic clubs, youth groups, and others interested in the teaching of safety practices.

Dates and locations of Red Cross courses are:

June 8-12: Camp Gardner Lake, Colchester, Conn.; Camp Hanover, Richmond, Va. June 12-22: Camp Kiwanee, Hanson, Mass. June 14-24: Camp Indian Trails, Milford, Pa.; Camp Mission Meadows, Jamestown, N.Y.; Camp Muskingum, Carrollton, Ohio; Dr. Johnson's camp, Raymond, Maine; The Elms Camp, Hammondsport N.Y. June 15-25: Camp Tevya, Brookline, N.H. August 16-26: The Elms Camp, Hammondsport, N.Y.

much of his dollar exchange and by creating an atmosphere in which American tourists are none too willing to come and spend.

Thus we witness a tender scene: Charles DeGaulle firmly trying to steer his somewhat antiquated ship of state over the troubled waters of nuclear competition, trying to keep it from being swamped while the United States and Great Britain look serenely on while helping to make waves.

Music Dept. To Present Eitel, Chorus

The Music Department will present two programs next week, both open to students and the public. On Sunday, May 1, at 8 p.m., James Eitel will present a voice recital with accompanist Jackson Berkey. Mr. Eitel is a senior under the direction of Richard Chapline.

On Wednesday, May 4, at 8:30 p.m., the College Chorus, also under the direction of Mr. Chapline, will sing at a program in which the Madrigal Singers will be featured. Both of these presentations will take place in the Fine Arts Center.

CUE 'N CURTAIN

The play culminates in the second act with a trial scene, in which the accused evil ones are represented "in absentia" by the ragpicker as an impartial defendant. The verdict handed down by the jury of vagabonds is GUILTY and the punishment is extermination for all the evil forces in the world. This is accomplished through the assistance of the king of the sewer men (David Frey), who shows the countess a unique way of ridding the world of that which it does not want. As this is accomplished the world once again becomes a free and cheerful place in which to live, and the countess continues about her busy daily routine of feeding the stray cats in the neighborhood, satisfied that she has done her part in saving humanity that afternoon. Some of the forces of evil personages that are exterminated are the presidents (Stephen J. Gavala, Basil Russin, Tom Giannini), the prospectors (Jan Kubicki, Gene Suszko, Jack Brooks), the public relations staff (Charles Petrillo, Richard Roshong, Don Conway), and the ladies' pressure group (Sheryl Napoleon, Nancy Leland, Georgia Grohol). These characters are all symbolic representations of all evil persons of their caliber. Others aiding the action of the play are Al Eddy as the juggler, Earl Orcutt as Dr. Jadin, Bill Toole as the little man, and Sheryl Napoleon as Theresa. James Gallagher and Bob Smith portray two guardians of the law who contribute to the confusion of the play. Elizabeth Brennan portrays Therese, the prostitute of that district. Lynn Mallory (Irma) and Richard Kramer (Pierre) supply the romantic element in the play.

Many new lighting and stage techniques will be employed in this full length production to utilize the various aspects that the theatre has to offer. For the first time the foot lights will come into play. The trap doors will be used to furnish a fitting conclusion to the play.

Margaret Klein is acting as production coordinator for the play. Susan Harris and Merry Morrow are chairmen of costumes; Leslie Calamari and Joanne Margolis are chairmen of make-up; Beverly Wisloski is handling publicity. Dana Voorhees is acting as lighting director and Georgia Grohol is assisting with sets.

Campus Entertains High School Seniors

Recently over 400 senior high school students slated for September entrance took part in the familiarization program which is sponsored by the College's Interdormitory Council.

The three-day familiarization program is comprised of academic and social activities designed to introduce prospective freshmen to the many and varied aspects of academic and extracurricular life at the College.

The students viewed Lover, Come Back and later attended the Accounting Club dance on Friday night. On Saturday morning Dr. Farley and Deans Ahlborn and Ralston gave addresses to the students. Dr. Rizzo, Dr. Cox, Dr. Soeder, and Mr. DeYoung conducted model classes. The annual lawn luncheon followed.

At the luncheon, which was held on Chase lawn, the students were able to acquaint themselves informally with the members of Wilkes student body, faculty, and administration. An atmosphere of blossoms, sunshine, and mild temperatures prevailed at the "Luncheon on the Lawn." Speeches on college life were given by Jay Ruckel, Liz Slaughter, and Steve Van Dyck.

School Plans Open House

The students of Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture are presenting their annual "A" days tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday from 12 noon to 5 p.m. The "A" days provide Open House for the families and friends of the students, and others interested in the progress of the college.

Various exhibits and displays will be presented in order to acquaint the public with the methods and skills taught at the college. One highlight of the days will be the showing of animals which students have tended over the semester. Student groups, such as the Photography Club, musical clubs, and fine arts majors, will also contribute to the affair.

Miller Elected State Governor By Circle K

by Mary A. Quinn

At the recent state Circle K Convention at Bloomsburg, Barry Miller, junior, won the election for the state governor's position. Barry, a commerce and finance major from Wilkes-Barre, formerly held the offices of lieutenant governor and state treasurer. Barry's opponent in the campaign for state governor hails from Penn State University and previously held the office of state secretary. The campaign consisted of sending letters to all Pennsylvania Circle K Club members, and of attending several caucuses and question-answer panels at the convention. The final decision was made by the House of Delegates assembly, in which each Circle K Club was represented by two voting delegates.

Barry Miller

Heads 30 Clubs

As Circle K's state governor, Barry assumes the duties of the active administrative leader of all thirty Pennsylvania Circle K Clubs. Barry's chief activities will consist of visiting as many state Circle K Clubs as possible during the 1966-67 school terms, and of working with the various state school officials and Kiwanis Club officers towards initiating Circle K Clubs at those colleges and universities.

Barry's immediate engagements will include his attendance at the International Circle K Convention being held in Dallas, Texas in August. Barry will also attend the Michigan State Circle K Convention, which will be held this coming weekend in Detroit, Michigan. In addition to these obligations, Barry is also planning to prepare his program as presiding official of the three state Circle K Board Meetings and Conventions scheduled for the 1966-67 school terms.

Single Service Project Award

At the recent convention at Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania, the College Circle K Club achieved the state Single Service Project Award for having the project which best served the campus or community and enabled the club members to actively serve the community. The project concerned was the "Buck-a-Cup" project which involved several Wyoming Valley restaurants and solicitations by a number of Circle K members. All receipts were given directly to the Wyoming Valley Crippled Children's Association.

Another College representative attained outstanding acclaim at the state convention. Dale Kresge, sophomore biology major from Falls, Pennsylvania, was elected lieutenant governor of Division 5, including the Circle K Clubs of the University of Scranton, Keystone Junior College, Kings, the Penn State extensions in Wilkes-Barre and Hazleton, Lehigh and Wilkes. Dale, in turn, is responsible to the state governor.

SG Presidential Nominations

Fliss, Saidman Chosen

by Cecile Rosen

Matt Fliss is a sophomore English major who is seeking the presidency of Student Government.

Interviewer: What are your past and present activities at the College?

Fliss: I was a Student Government representative in 1964-1965, co-chairman of the spring hootenanny in 1965, and co-chairman of 1965-66 Homecoming. Presently, I am vice-president of Student Government and co-chairman of the freshman reading program.

These offices alone are no indication of ability — only of achievement. Rather, what is done in office is important. This can only be measured subjectively, that is by you.

Qualifications

Interviewer: What makes you qualified for the position of Student Government president?

Fliss: The fact is that I am not qualified and shall only be qualified if I assume the duties of president. Your judgment of my value is all important. But I have been splitting rails in my backyard lately.

Interviewer: How do you feel about Student Government?

Fliss: I very rarely feel about Student Government, rather, I think.

Interviewer: What is its purpose?

Fliss: The purpose of Student Government is twofold. It is primarily to coordinate student activities, but what activities? Is it fundamentally those social functions such as dances, movies, and activities prescribed by the calendar? Or is it those of a more significant nature, the students' role in the community, the students' potential to change and better the society he lives in, not only through thought, but by action.

Program

Interviewer: If you are elected have you thought of any type of program to follow?

Fliss: My program has six steps: (1.) The establishment of a possible lecture program above and beyond assembly . . .

Interviewer: The majority of the students do not attend assemblies which are required. How do you expect students to come to these lectures? What will attract the student body?

Fliss: The lectures will be held in the evening and will be in specific fields. The only way to find out how effective the program will be is to set it up. This program would be an intellectual outlet. This is part of helping the individual to realize his goals and in doing so realize himself. To continue I propose: (2.) The es-selves in the past few years. Student Government scholarships should be reinstated. Note of explanation: It has been the policy of Student Government in the past to distribute any profit in the form of Student Government scholarships, based on the criteria of need and academic achievement. I propose to establish (5.) a

Interviewer: To get back to your program.

Fliss: The final part of my program is helping the status of social life. By this I mean all the activities now mentioned on the calendar.

Interviewer: If you are elected president, what will be your greatest responsibility?

Fliss: My greatest responsibility is to myself. "This above all to thine own self be true. If thou be true to thy own self thou canst be false to no man."

Allan Saidman

Interviewer: What are your past and present activities at the College?

Saidman: I've been on Student Government since the end of my freshman year. In my sophomore year I was a liaison between the public relations office and Student Government and a "teacher" in last year's Freshman Reading Program. Presently, I am co-chairman of the Freshman Reading Program for 1966, and I am head of policies for Student Government. I have worked on various committees for junior class social events.

Interviewer: What makes you qualified to hold the position of Student Government president?

Saidman: I have served on Student Government freshman year and have served on various committees. I have had the experience of living in the environments of dorm and day life and feel I know both sides of the coin.

SG Purposes

Interviewer: How do you feel about Student Government? What is its purpose?

Saidman: Student Government acts as a link between the student body and the administration. Its purpose is to organize activities for the students, to the best of its ability. Its members are elected as representatives of each class with the purpose of bringing forth ideas from the people who elected them. In a broader sense, its purpose is to present the proper image of the College to the community.

Proper Image

Interviewer: What is the proper image?

Saidman: The proper image would be someone who would facilitate respect for the College and students, enabling a closer interaction between the community and the College.

Interviewer: If you are elected, have you thought of any type of program to follow, or to use as your guide?

Saidman: I can't really formulate a program until next year because there is going to be a great change on the campus with the dormitory turning the present cafeteria into a student union. The main problem will be lack of interaction between day and dormitory students. The main project of Student Government will be to minimize the gulf.

Perhaps there will be a part of the program which will involve greater interaction between the students and the community.

Interviewer: The community and college projects such as Blood Donor Day and the United Fund Drive have proved very unsuccessful due to the lack of participation on the students' and community's part. How do you expect to combat student apathy?

Saidman: Apathetic people are going to be apathetic and you can try to appeal to their sense of values, but if they have a different standard of values or different interests, you are going to run into a brick wall.

Interviewer: What about the people who are not apathetic but need a push?

Saidman: I'm going to give the students a broader variety of things to do and I will ask for suggestions from Student Government. I will be open to suggestions from the student body. (A student with a sense of social duty would be able to participate in a tutorial program.)

Russin, Ruckel, Clark Chosen As Class Heads

In the recent class elections, the students chose the following people as class officers and Student Government representatives: for the class of '67, Harry Russin was chosen president by acclamation; Robert Vanderloef, vice-

ment representatives for the class of Fliss, Alice Jean Fronduti, Joe Gatto, and Judy Simonson. As their representatives for the class of '67 are Alan Saidman, Barry Miller, Darlene Moll, Joseph Brillinger, and Joni Kirschenbaum. Representing the president; Cheryl Tarity, secretary; and Harry Heesch, treasurer. The class of '68 elected Jay Ruckel, incumbent president, for his second term of office. Fran Olexy and Basil Russin were elected by acclamation to the offices of vice-president and treasurer respectively. The office of secretary will be filled by Nancy Leland. For next year's officers, the freshmen chose Michael Clark, president; Tom Koblish, vice-president; and Linda Piccotti treasurer, all by acclamation. Florence Napoli was elected secretary.

Those serving as Student Government representatives for the class of '68 are Sharon Daney, Matt representatives for next year, the freshmen chose Paul Wender, Carl Siracuse, Tom Kelly, Marc Levey, and Jean Marie Chapasko.

Math Club

There will be a meeting of the Math Club on Tuesday, May 3 at 11 a.m. in Conyngham 203. Plans will be made for next year's program at the meeting. New members are welcome.

social work program such as the tutorial program at the Y.M.C.A. or to establish such programs which will not only help the community (in this case, cutting down the drop-out rate) but more essentially help individuals. The student will be gaining experience in his field while helping others. (These programs can often be financed by Ford, Rockefeller or other foundations.)

Apathy

Interviewer: The attitude shown by the student body in community college activities is that of apathy. These events are not total failures but are certainly deteriorating. How do you propose to combat apathy?

Fliss: I am going to offer the old self-profit motive, that is by doing something for others they will be helping themselves. To a certain extent I believe there will always be those who are bored with the calamities and awe-inspiring experiences of life and who lack the fiber to muster up enough courage to live life. I would rather enhance interest in a few than propagate interest in many.

Art Students Plan Fair

by Florence Greskiewicz

Art students, under the supervision of Mr. Anthony Evangelista, are preparing for the annual art fair. This year's fair, titled "Perspective '66," will be held at Conyngham Annex May 6 and 7. The exhibits will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday.

The fair will include art objects by art majors and students in advanced art courses, done in all media — painting, ceramics, jewelry, and graphics. A special show of the works of area public school children has been arranged by student teachers.

Entries for the fair should be submitted to Marta Auchmuty or Susan Baker at Conyngham Annex on May 2 and 3 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Entry blanks are available on the bulletin board in Conyngham Annex.

FLISS, SAIDMAN CHOSEN

Interviewer: What about the students who complain about the inefficiency of Student Government?

Saidman: I am sure that Student Government is trying to do the best job it can do right now. The members who ran for Student Government ran for it because they wanted to do something for the school and their fellow classmates. Anyone who has any complaints can come to Student Government meetings and voice their opinions.

Interviewer: If you are elected president, what will your greatest responsibility be?

Saidman: To do a good job and be able to say after a year in office that I did not fail myself and the students I represent.

ROOMMATES REVISITED

This morning's mail brought a letter from a student at a prominent Western university (Princeton). "Dear Sir," he writes. "In a recent column you said it was possible to get along with your roommate if you try hard enough. Well, I'd like to see anyone get along with my roommate! Mervis Trunz (for that is his name) practices the ocarina all night long, keeps an alligator, wears knee-cymbals, and collects airplane tires. I have tried everything I can with Mervis Trunz, but nothing works. I am desperate. (signed) Desperate."

Have you, dear Desperate, really tried everything? Have you, for example, tried a measure so simple, so obvious, that it is easy to overlook? I mean, of course, have you offered to share your Personna® Super Stainless Steel Blades with Mervis Trunz?

To have a friend, dear Desperate, you must be a friend. And what could be more friendly than sharing the bounty of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades? Who, upon enjoying the luxury of Personna, the nickless, scrapeless, tugless, hackless, scratchless, matchless comfort of Personna, the ease and breeze, the power and glory, the truth and beauty of Personna—who, I say, after such jollies could harden his heart against his neighbor? Nobody, that's who—not even Mervis Trunz—especially not today with the new Personna Super Blade bringing us new highs in speed, comfort, and durability. And here is still a further bonus: Personna is available both in Double Edge style and Injector style.

No, dear Desperate, your problem with Mervis Trunz is far from insoluble. In fact, as roommate problems go, it is pretty small potatoes. Compare it, for example, to the classic case of Basil Metabolism and E. Pluribus Ewbank.

Basil and E. Pluribus, roommates at a prominent Eastern university (Oregon) were at an impassable impasse. Basil could study only late at night, and E. Pluribus could not stay awake past nine p.m. If Basil kept the lights on, the room was too bright for E. Pluribus to sleep. If E. Pluribus turned the lights off, the room was too dark for Basil to study. What to do?

Well sir, these two intelligent American kids found an answer. They got a miner's cap for Basil! Thus, he had enough light to study by, and still the room was dark enough for E. Pluribus to sleep.

It must be admitted, however, that this ingenious solution had some unexpected sequelae. Basil got so enchanted with his miner's cap that he switched his major from 18th Century poetry to mining and metallurgy. Shortly after graduation he had what appeared to be a great stroke of luck: while out prospecting, he discovered what is without question the world's largest feldspar mine. This might have made Basil very rich except that nobody, alas, has yet discovered a use for feldspar. Today Basil, a broken man, squeezes out a meagre living as a stalagmite in Ausable Chasm.

Nor has E. Pluribus fared conspicuously better. Once Basil got the miner's cap, E. Pluribus was able to catch up on his long-lost sleep. He woke after nine days, refreshed and vigorous—more vigorous, alas, than he realized. It was the afternoon of the Dean's tea. E. Pluribus stood in line with his classmates, waiting to shake the Dean's hand. At last his turn came, and E. Pluribus, full of strength and health, gave the Dean a firm handshake—so firm, indeed, that all five of the Dean's knuckles were permanently fused.

The Dean sued for a million dollars and, of course, won. Today E. Pluribus, a broken man, is paying off his debt by walking the Dean's cat every afternoon for ten cents an hour.

We, the makers of Personna Blades and the sponsors of this column, will not attempt to expertize about roommates. But we will tell you about a great shaving-mate to Personna—Burma Shave®! It soaks rings around any other lather; it comes in regular and menthol.

Tours Campus
With YD Club

Andrea Gallet, Stephen Gavala, and Verni Shiposh of the College's chapter of the Young Democrats played host to Senator Robert Casey. As part of Senator Casey's campaign tour of the Northeast region, the students conducted him around the campus and discussed with him his views on vital issues.

Under the leadership of Andrea Gallet, the club is currently concluding a book drive. As part of President Johnson's War on Poverty program, these books will be distributed in Appalachia to those who can utilize them. This book drive is being conducted in conjunction with the Young Democrats of King's College. The minimum goal for the drive is set at 2000 books.

Any and all contributors of books, from paperbacks and children's story books to textbooks, will be greatly appreciated by both the club and the recipients.

Anyone who has any books in fairly good condition, for which they no longer have use is asked by the Young Democrats to bring them to McClintock Hall on South River Street. The drive is scheduled to conclude Friday, May 13.

On May 17, the club has tentatively scheduled the film, 1000 Days, a biographical film of John F. Kennedy's term in the White House. This film is going to be jointly sponsored by the College's Junius Society, IRC, Young Democrats, and the Young Democrats chapter at King's College.

Student Questions

Government should have borrowed a higher caliber picture from one of the neighboring institutions which featured such classics as Bridge on the River Kwai, The Cardinal, Barabbas, etc.

However, I think the Student Government should put their talents to obtaining prominent speakers for lectures, also accomplished at other colleges and universities in the area. For example, W. S. Snodgrass, the prominent poet who published Meart's Needle, which gained the Nobel Prize for literature, will be appearing at a neighboring college.

The Student Government should try to raise the cultural and intellectual standard at Wilkes rather than lower it with such films.

ON SCORING TENNIS

Although the tennis team has thus far this season logged a disheartening 1-4 record, there are still six remaining contests, and the men have displayed an outstanding effort to win. We feel that the student body has failed to contribute to the team's efforts by a lack of attendance at the matches. The team's home meets are held at the Wilkes courts in Kirby Park, easily within walking and riding distance. One reason for the students' lack of attendance may be an inadequate knowledge of the rules of the game. We are presenting then a brief outline of the rules of play and the method of scoring in an attempt to boost attendance at the meets.

Starting the game — Each game is started with one player acting as server. The server stands behind the right side of the base line to deliver the serve. When served, the ball must fall within the bounds of the receiving court diagonally opposite the server. A second serve is allowed if the first fails to land in the designated area. A point is gained by the receiver if both serves are faults — that is, if both fail to land in the receiving court.

Return of the service and rules of play — The serve must be returned on the first bounce, but other balls may be returned either on the first bounce or before touching the ground. The ball is hit back and forth between the players until one fails to return the ball across the net, or hits the ball out of bounds. The server makes a new serve when the ball is not returned.

The second service — The second service is from the left side of the base line. The serve continues to alternate from side to side until the end of the game. At the end of the game, the receiver becomes the server and vice-versa. The winner of six games, by a two game margin, wins a "set" and the winner of the best out of three sets wins the "match." In college play, there are six single matches and three doubles matches.

Scoring — Each ball not returned gives the opponent a point. The points are designated as follows:

- 1st point — 15
- 2nd point — 30
- 3rd point — 40
- 4th point — 60 — one game

In order to win a game, the margin of victory must be at least two points. If both sides reach 40, the situation is called a deuce, and one side or the other must gain a two point margin to win. A score of 0 is called love.

Heard from the Herd

Wouldn't it be great to pilot a plane yourself anywhere in the country? Xavier University students think so. They have a flying club instructed by one of their professors. Students can accumulate their air hours toward a license. They have formed a corporation and purchased their own plane.

Bloomsburg State College will sponsor their Fourth Annual European Culture Tour. The students will visit England, Scotland, Switzerland and East Germany among other countries.

Bloomsburg State College is now on the air — station WCNR. Every other Sunday a different view of the college is presented.

Bloomsburg State College also seems to have a problem with the removal of books from the library. A group has suggested that an authorized person be stationed at the door to make sure no unchecked material is taken from the library.

At Juniata College the highest enrollment is in biology with history running a close second.

Students at the College are not the only ones that complain about the cafeteria food. Students at Moravian are also complaining about their menus.

Scranton University will break ground in June for a Physical Education Building. The level structure will be used for everything from class assemblies to basketball games.

At Shippensburg State College four year ID cards will be used beginning next year. Funds were allocated for a camera which will be used to take pictures of the incoming freshmen.

At Shippensburg forty-seven students and three house mothers spent twenty-four hours in a basement bomb shelter in a simulated atomic attack. The entire process was under the direction of two civil defense instructors and was a thorough and realistic enactment.

Temple University will initiate a College of Allied Health Professions. Courses in medical technology, nursing, occupational therapy, physical therapy and medical records library science will be offered. It is expected to expand baccalaureate courses in dental hygiene, X-ray technology, and others. A graduate program will probably be instituted in the future.

The new college will accept students who have completed two years of liberal arts at any accredited school, beginning in 1967. The establishment of the college will help fill the need in the health science fields for such skills.

MORE LETTERS

Dear Editor:

Thank you for expressing the attitude of those who feel that films offered by the College should live up to the intellectual standards formulated by this institution.

If the argument advanced is that this film was entertaining, it seems that an insult is implied.

The form of entertainment a person enjoys reflects his intellectual capacities. Is Student Government sure that the intellectual level is so low that it must be satisfied by low-level entertainment?

The fact of mass attendance is not an indication of the enjoyment since much of the audience was captive. The incoming freshmen, prepared to bask in the atmosphere of college life and the pleasures of an informed mind, found no more than the pleasures to be obtained at their neighborhood theaters.

We know that various colleges and organizations in the area are providing the type of films that are intellectually satisfying art. It was the responsibility of Student Government to represent this atmosphere, and they failed.

Netmen, Duffers Flunk

The Colonels' Dan Klem serves to his Susquehanna opponent in last Saturday's match at Kirby Park. The Colonels were edged 5-4 to put their log at 1-4.

Rich Klick, who blanked Scranton in his last start, scored a 5-2 win over East Stroudsburg State College last Thursday to balance the Colonels' season record at 3-3. The victory brought Klick's record to 2-0.

East Stroudsburg out hit the Colonels five to three, but eight errors helped the Colonels to come out on top. Klick fanned seven and walked six, while Ed Hanner picked up the loss for East Stroudsburg.

The Colonels got two quick runs in the top of the first when Wiendl opened the game with a double Tiras then got on with an error. Joe Skvarla grounded to short, but the play was made on Wiendl at the plate. The ball got away from the catcher and both Wiendl and Tiras scored.

East Stroudsburg came back to tie the game with two in the third inning, but the Colonels went ahead for keeps in the sixth. They added two more in the seventh to put the game on ice.

The Colonels had two double plays to give Klick steady support and continue their outstanding defensive work.

Results:
Singles — Rokita, W, defeated Fisher, 6-1, 6-1; Bent, W, lost to Ludwig 6-4, 2-6, 6-3; Klem, W, defeated McElhenny, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4; Solomon, W, lost to Vanderorf, 6-1, 6-2; Magagna, W, lost to Hough, 6-1, 6-2; Sheldon, W, lost to Larsen, 6-2, 7-5.

Doubles — Rokita and Klem, W, defeated Ludwig and Wrege, 6-4, 6-3; Bent and Myers, W, defeated Fisher and Ross, 13-11, 3-6, 6-4; Magagan and Piorski, W, lost to McElhenny and Larsen, 6-1, 6-3.

Last Thursday the Wilkes duffers dropped two decisions at the Irem Temple Country Club. The Colonels bowed to Dickinson, 13-5, and to Lycoming 13½-4½. It marked the first time that the Colonels suffered two defeats in one day. Bob Brown was the only Colonel to win a match.

This past Tuesday the Colonels' golfers suffered a setback to Susquehanna University at the Susquehanna Valley Country Club. The 16½ — 1½ defeat was the duffers' fourth loss in a row. Although he lost the match, Bob Brown managed to score one point against John Frutchy of Susquehanna. It was the first point anyone has managed to score on Frutchy in two years.

Results of the Susquehanna meet: Perrego, W, lost to MacCoursh, 3-0; Brown, W, lost to Frutchy, 2-1; Murray, W, lost to Runyan, 2½-1½; Vinvorski, W, lost to Rittshauser, 3-0; Burnside, W, lost to Brosius, 3-0; Kaylor, W, lost to Patterson, 3-0.

Stults Receives Award

By virtue of his performance thus far this season, baseballer George Stults has earned this week's "Athlete of the Week" honors.

Despite a height disadvantage, Stults has shown tremendous potential as a first sacker this season. The five foot, six inch freshman from Parsippany, New Jersey, has been a pleasant surprise to coach Rollie Schmidt. Currently batting .270, he had his best day of this season at the plate two weeks ago against Lycoming College. He cracked the Lycoming hurlers for three hits and saved the day for the Colonels several times with his outstanding glove work.

A graduate of Parsippany High School, Stults was a tri-letterman, earning letters in football, wrestling and baseball. With his drive and determination he should go far in college athletics.

Day, Dorm Divisions

Vie In IM Competition

The 1966 intramural baseball season commenced last Monday.

On Monday the Dorm League opened their season with an ambulance escort. A Barre Hall slugger hit himself on the knee with a baseball bat. Despite this loss, Barre was never really contested in their game with Butler. The game was called midway through the fourth with a Barre monopoly on runs. The score: Barre — 23, Butler — 8. Miner Hall was bombed in the sixth inning with four runs, thus losing their opener with Hainna, 9-4. Ashley trounced the Y.M.C.A., 8-2, while Warner humbled Gore Hall,

The Independent League opened Tuesday with only two of the scheduled four games being played. The Straps and the Good Guys registered wins over the Leftovers and Audit Balls, respectively, because of forfeits. The Ricky V's emerged triumphant over the Hustlers, 12-8. In the other game, the Trojans horsewhipped the Weasels to the tune of 21-10.

Any questions concerning the intramural softball program can be directed to Dick Cook, program director.
