 The Wilkes University Yearbook

When you decided in high school that college was the right choice, did you ever imagine it would be like what it is today? We see in the movies the sororities, the constant frat parties, the completely disorganized and chaotic life of a college student. If this was really true, colleges would have died out a long time ago.

By no means is college life a walk in the park. Attendance, quizzes, tests, final exams, labs, papers, research... and those are just for the fifteen credits you take on each semester.

Add on the extra curricular activities you get yourself into: writing for the Beacon, hopping on air with your very own radio show on WCLH, joining the Psych Club, the Pharmacy Club, or any club related to your major, going into politics with the student government, or perhaps forming an underground organization to fight for some student rights.

Then there are sports. Football in the fall, baseball and softball in the spring. Training year round, making it to practices, revving up for the big game.

And if that wasn't enough, then we have to worry about paying for this whole experience. Some of us are lucky enough to get a scholarship or a grant to make up some of the difference, but even so, that only provides for room, board, and class.

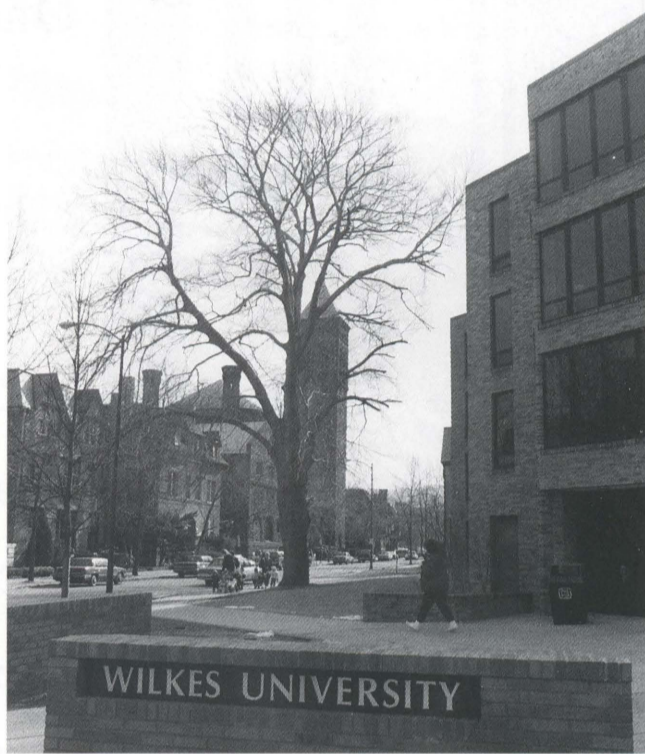

So we go out and find a part-time job, either to help pay for our education, or just so we have some cash on the weekends to pay the cover charge at the clubs.

Class, work, activities, and your personal life all get crammed into a few years where you are studying to become whatever it is you wish to accomplish.

Sometimes it seems like an endless maze that you just won't make it through, and other times you twiddle your thumbs looking and hoping for something to do. Sleep for a few hours, never getting enough, going to class, spending an evening at work, practice or on occasion out with some friends, and studying into the night, and then crashing for those few precious moments, before repeating the whole process again.

If Wilkes was only about classes and majors leading to a degree, what point would there be in coming here? Wilkes is so much more - we make friendships with our classmates, attend parties, watch our sport teams win and lose, and find ourselves as we are about to embark into the real world.

Our first taste of Wilkes is Freshman Orientation, those few days you spend in the summer learning about the campus so that it isn't a total shock when you arrive for your first semester. Exploring campus, registering your first 15 (or more) credits, and starting to make new friends you will hopefully graduate with down the road.

And of course we can all remember our first day of class, a lowly freshman in a world unlike any other. But all of that soon changes when we realize we aren't alone, and not everybody is out to get us.

Living on campus, the first battle you come upon is your new roommate, and of course the people you share your bathroom with. Some step up to make a schedule, only to realize in college life that even classes don't always run perfectly on schedule.

Those first few weeks we suddenly realize the newness of it all has begun to wear off, and college life as we have come to know it sets in.

When someone comes into your life so unexpectedly, yet so appropriately, it has the possibility of changing your life forever. They can impact you and those around you so greatly that your life can never be the same. However, it is when that person must leave, that you must be at your strongest, for it is a great blessing that you had even one day to be in the presence of an angel.

Off Campus Council

Off-Campus Council is a branch of Student Government that works directly with off-campus students. The council's goals include obtaining safe housing, working with non-student neighbors, and staying friendly with the city.

This year has been eventful for the Off-Campus Council. In the fall semester, OCC helped raise money for nine fire victims displaced from their apartments. This semester, OCC had a very successful hoagie sale fundraiser. OCC is also participating in the Bowl for Kid's Sake to support the Big Brother/Big Sisters program. The Off-Campus Council has club representatives attend each of the local Neighborhood Crime Watch meetings. The big event for Off-Campus Council was the Block Party which took place on Saturday, April 27th.

Wilkes' nationally recognized shows such as The Goo Goo Dolls, Fuel, and this year's concert, Lifehouse with The Calling and Michelle Branch are coordinated by Wilkes University's Programming Board.

Alternative Spring Break Club Roll

On site at Habitat for Humanity: Kelly Bogansky, Chrissy Rubillo, Kara Chapple (Volunteer Services), Marcie Herman (Student Activities), Piyush Sabh Arwall, Kathy Kemper, Jennifer Lastovica, Versha Versha, and Kris Fayock.

On Saturday, March 2, 2002 a group of 7 students and 2 staff advisors left Wilkes Barre for Alexandria, LA. The Alternative Spring Break crew members spent a week there working with Habitat for Humanity's College Challenge. They volunteered at two work sites. At the first site, they painted walls of a brand new, made from scratch home. While in Alexandria, they were hosted by the First United Methodist Church; Billie and Wayne Malone (members of the church) "adopted" the group, arranging dinner each night and making them feel welcome in the south. At the end of their work week, the crew drove to nearby New Orleans for a day of sight-seeing and fun. The 24-hour drive brought them home to Wilkes Barre Sunday, March 10th.

Roller Hockey Club

Building on their momentum from 1999-2000, Wilkes Roller Hockey made national waves last year with a run ending in Upland, California at the Collegiate Roller Hockey League National Championship Tournament, where Wilkes was ousted by eventual champion Eastern Michigan University in the Elite Eight, 5-2. The graduation of Chris Jarzyk and Jason Waterbury and loss of Eric Bonacci left some big shoes to fill, but Wilkes still retains most of their nucleus. The veteran talent of Captain Dave Peer and Rob Hersker around an incredible pool of underclass talent promised even greater accolades and accomplishments for the team in 2001-2002, as the Colonels looked to build on their #7 national ranking in Division II.

Wilkes remained competitive throughout the 2001-2002 season, but unfortunately had a poor showing in the regional playoffs and ended its season in 6th place in their conference. They will look to rebound in the 2002-2003 season and regain their national ranking.

President's Message

To the Classes of 2001 and 2002:

My heartiest congratulations! Graduation is a significant achievement. I hope in the intervening years you have taken time to reflect on how much you accomplished in your years at Wilkes University.

I hope you also took time to thank those who helped you achieve this significant goal. Like any major achievement, college graduation cannot be attained without help. Your parents, siblings, extended family, friends and the faculty and staff here at Wilkes helped in some way. Thank them and give them something in return.

I also hope you know much we appreciated your contributions to Wilkes University. As an institution, our job is to create communities of students who learn together with their faculty. Without you, we could not have achieved this core purpose. You added so much to the Wilkes learning experience that was important and worthy of our thanks.

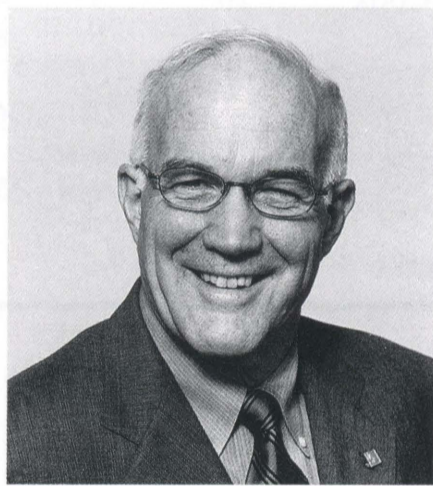

You are now on to new and exciting endeavors. We hope you are successfully in whatever you have undertaken. I truly believe we have equipped you well for this next step in your life. Work hard, work smart and care about those around you. Take a chance, make a difference, do the right thing, and laugh a lot.

And don't forget that Wilkes cares about you and what lies ahead of you. Keep in close touch through the alumni association. Come back from time to time to add knowledge on to great foundation you laid in your undergraduate career. And if you have the means, give back to the University so that future students can have the same opportunities at Wilkes you had.

Let Patty and me add our personal congratulations and best wishes to you. We know you will make Wilkes proud.

Sincerely,

Joseph E. (Tim) Gilmour
President

Facing a daunting schedule, and lacking a great deal of experience, the Wilkes University football team found the going tough during a 4-6 2001 campaign.

The Colonels opened their season with back-to-back road games against nationally-ranked opponents. The squad played at Montclair State in their opener, dropping a 28-0 decision, before falling to MAC champion Widener, 52-13, in week two.

But, then came week three. The Colonels were once again on the road, this time at MAC foe Juniata. The contest marked the much anticipated debut of freshman running back Brett Trichilo. Trichilo, a highly-touted rookie out of Dunmore High School, missed most of the early part of the season due to an injury.

Against Juniata, Trichilo showed that the wait was worth it, rushing for a school-record 254 yards on 30 carries to propel the Colonels to a 34-20 win. The game marked the first of seven consecutive games in which Trichilo would surpass the 100-yard mark.

Trichilo earned first team Freedom Conference honors after amassing 1,222 yards on 255 carries, while also scoring ten times.

Freshman quarterback Matt Kaskie enjoyed some late-season success after taking over the starting role in week eight. Kaskie played in six games, including three as the starter, and threw for 651 yards and three scores. Junior wide receiver Chris Banyas, who had 23 catches for 464 yards and two scores, and sophomore Mike Walk, who hauled in 14 receptions for 144 yards, also came on strong late in the season.

The Wilkes offensive line featured four underclassmen, including first team Freedom Conference all-star Tim Letcher. Letcher, along with Mike Liberski, Jason Holloway, and Tom Wighard, joined forces with lone senior Matt Berger, to form a unit that improved consistently throughout the season.

Junior Linebacker Mike DaRe, a first team Freedom Conference all-star, and sophomore linebacker Steve Rogers, anchored the Colonels defensive unit. DaRe had a team-leading 88 tackles, including 12 for a loss of 54 yards, and four sacks. Rogers had 79 stops and two interceptions.

Senior Demetri Tzovolos and junior Dustin Bernatovich were outstanding along the defensive front. Tzovolos was a first team Freedom Conference all-star after tallying 62 tackles and 3.5 sacks. Bernatovich was named a second team all-star after recording 43 tackles, six of which were for a loss.

The secondary was paced by senior free safety Mark Hendry. Hendry chipped in 69 tackles and two sacks. Fellow senior Brian Hostler had 41 tackles and a team-leading five interceptions.

Junior Will McLaughlin connected on 5-of-10 field attempts, while successfully converting 19-of-24 extra point attempts.

Men's Basketball

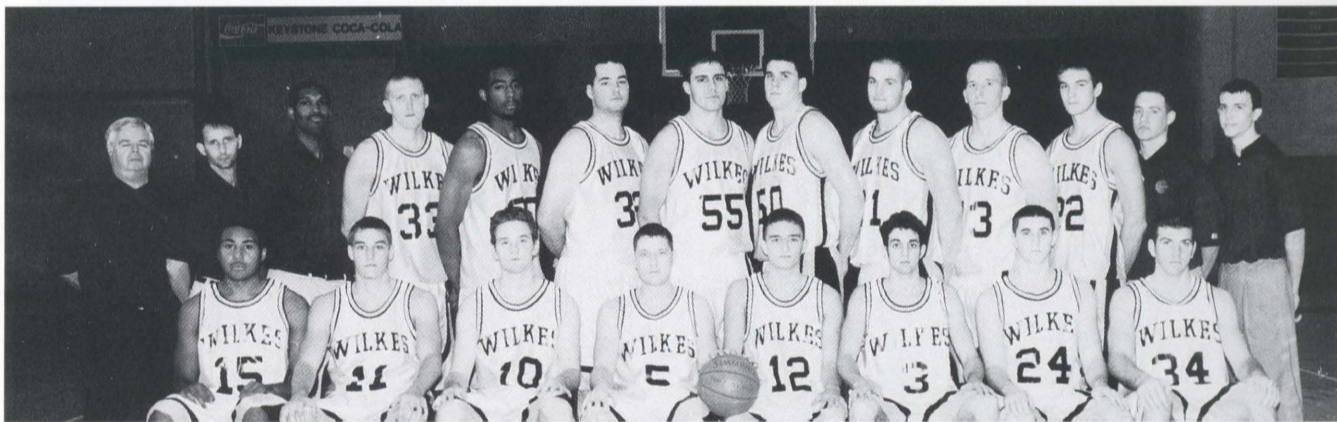

The Wilkes University men's basketball team had its share of ups and downs during the 2001-2002 campaign. The Colonels finished the season with an overall record of 15-11 and posted a 7-7 mark in the Freedom Conference. The Blue and Gold qualified for the Freedom Conference playoffs, where they dropped an 89-84 decision to cross-town rival King's College in the semi-final round.

The Colonels got off to a tough start, splitting their first eight games of the season. But, a four-game winning skein with victories over St. Mary's (MD), Baptist Bible, Susquehanna and DeSales improved the team's record to 8-4 overall, and 2-1 in the conference play.

Following the winning streak, Wilkes fell on hard times, dropping four of their next five contests to see their overall record move to 9-8 and their conference record move to 3-5. But, the Colonels responded by winning six of their final eight regular season games, including four of six contests in the conference, to qualify for the playoffs.

Sophomore guard Dave Plisko led the Colonels averaging 12.3 points, 3.7 rebounds and 2.8 assists per game. Senior Ron McIntyre, who earned a first team Freedom Conference all-star berth, contributed 11.4 points, and 6.2 rebounds, while shooting an impressive 69.9 percent from the field. Senior Tom Stambaugh rounded out the Colonels three doublefigure scorers. Stambaugh ended the season averaging 10.5 points and 3.4 rebounds per game.

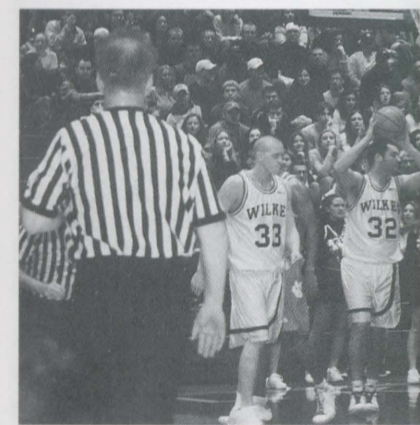

Several newcomers also made key contributions, including sophomore transfers Mike Morgan and Phil Bonczewski. Morgan, who transferred from Division I Lafayette prior to the start of the second semester, played in 14 games and averaged 9.3 points and 1.9 rebounds. Bonczewski transferred from Division I Marist at mid-semester and played in 16 games. He averaged 8.4 points and 4.6 rebounds. Freshman John Yanniello also saw plenty of playing time a season ago. Yanniello played in all 25 games and averaged 4 points and 1.4 rebounds per game.

Fellow freshman Danielle Kresock assumed the starting point guard job late in the season and responded well. The 2001 season began in Atlanta, Georgia in the NFCA Leadoff Classic. With numerous nationally ranked teams present, Wilkes went 2-3. Wilkes defeated nationally ranked Corland State and N.C. Methodist while losing to College of New Jersey, N.C. Wesleyan, and national runners-up Wisconsin-Eau Claire.

That tournament was followed up with another tournament in Salisbury, Maryland. Wilkes went 2-2, defeating Bates College and nationally ranked Salisbury State, while losing to Cabrini and Moravian, who both were also ranked at the time.

Returning to the MAC Freedom conference playoffs as the second seed. On the first day of the playoffs Wilkes defeated Scranton and King's to enter the second day of the tournament undefeated. However, the Colonels lost two close one run games to King's to finish the Freedom Conference runners-up.

Individually the Colonels had several noteworthy achievements. Robyn Mendygral, Sandy Mullen, and Lisa Hartman were named the first team all conference, with Mendygral taking home the MVP award. Second team honors went to Brooke Sheaves and Erin Priestman.

Robyn Mendygral left Wilkes with every career offensive school record and Alice Frank left with numerous pitching records. In addition Mendygral and Hartman were both named to the Regional All American teams during their Wilkes careers. On March 30, 2000 Hartman pitched a no hitter against King's and on April 1, 2000 she bettered that with a perfect game against FDU.

The team ended the year with a 21-16 record.

Dorms

Life On Campus

Here at Wilkes there are three different types of housing a student can choose from. Besides the typical dorm, Wilkes also offers on-campus apartments and mansion style dorming. The only typical dorm on-campus is a co-ed dorm style building, Evans Hall, which is co-ed by suites. The next type of housing on campus is the mansion style housing. The mansions that are on our campus were donated to Wilkes University by the wealthy families that lived around our university. Instead of tearing them down and building a more modern and typical dorm styled buildings, Wilkes kept these beautiful buildings and converted them dorms for the students to live. There are currently twelve mansions on campus which are single sex dorms. There is one co-ed mansion on campus, Barre Hall which is co-ed by floor. Ross Hall is our multicultural dorm on campus and most of the residents are members of the Multicultural Society. The last style of housing a student can get is an on-campus apartment. There are ten on-campus apartments. Two of which are co-ed by apartment, Fortinsky Hall and Rifkin Hall. All the rest of the apartments are on South River Street.

Above: The main entrance to Evans Hall on the corner of Northampton and South River Streets. This dorm houses the majority of freshmen students every year in its four floors.

Left: Sterling Hall, one of the numerous mansions converted to a dorm, sits on South River Street. On the north end of campus, Sterling faces the Susquehanna River.

Above: The North side of Waller Hall was acquired in 1964, and the South side in 1983. The two adjoining dorms are on West River Street at the south end of campus.

Dorm life enables students to meet a wide variety of people and create a wealth of friendships. Hall socials and group activities allow these students to get out of the dorms, forget their studies for a while, and just kick back with their friends. Besides fun, there is the academic side of dorming. Rarely can you walk through a dorm, especially Evans Hall, without seeing a group of students studying in the lounge together. Dorm life has allowed students to get help with their work and to study together. Whether it's hanging out in the dorms and eating pizza or studying with a group of kids in your class, dorm life allows students to live together as a "family" unit.

Below: Ross Hall, located on South River Street, was designated the Multicultural Dorm beginning in the Fall of 2001.

Left: Slocum Hall, on South River Street, is not only a dorm, but also the home for the university's ROTC unit.

Right: The Market Street Bridge is a familiar sight to those who dorm along River Street. The impressive structure was built in the early 1930's, and has withstood two major floods.

Wilkes University Alma Mater

Wilkes, our Alma Mater,
We pledge our hearts to thee,
Honor, faith and courage,
Truth and loyalty,
In our work and in our
pleasure,
Guide us as a friend;
We shall always love thee,
Loyal to the end.
Thou shalt lead us onward
In search of finer things.
May we find the wisdom
That the spirit brings.
May our deeds of love and service
Ever swell thy fame -
Wilkes we stand to greet thee!
Glory to thy name.
