CC-IDC Hold First Joint Meeting

The first joint CC-IDC meeting was held Sunday night, November 18 in the library. A common agenda was drawn up for the meeting, which included topics that both organizations usually discuss at their regular meetings. Although CC and IDC work together on many events throughout the year, this was the first time that both organizations met together as one body.

At the meeting, CC and IDC presented several committee reports. IDC President Mike Stapleton stated that the Student Center Board will hire bartenders from the SCB to work at parties in the center, rather than having people from the organization sponsoring the party behind the bar. This change was decided upon since the equipment at the bar is new and expensive, and "they don't want just anyone back there," according to Stapleton. Mike Sibilia, Vice President of IDC, also reported that the Student Center Board will be working through a distributor in obtaining beer for parties. Sibilia cited several advantages to this arrangement, such as obtaining decorations like antique mirrors and signs for the basement of the center through the distributor.

A report from the Student Life Committee concerning Co-Ed Housing was also given. Stapleton stated that he and Sibilia have sent letters to various colleges with Co-Ed Housing, and have been receiving some response. Stapleton will prepare a report on the Co-Ed Housing over the Christmas break to be presented sometime next semester.

Bill Miller, CC Vice President and co-chairman of the CC-IDC Christmas Party Committee, reported that the party will be held at the Woodlands Inn (formerly the Treadway Inn) on Thursday, December 13. There will be a buffet dinner including lasagna, chicken and salad. The buffet begins at 7:30 p.m., and music will be provided by "Phoenix" from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Tickets are $6.00 and will go on sale December 10.

Stapleton reported that Anne Graham, Director of the Upward Bound Project, thanked the dorm students for their generous contribution to the collection for UNICEF taken on Halloween night in the dorms by Upward Bound students. Approximately $120 was collected.

Paul Adams, Housing Director, reminded members of the programs sponsored by the Housing Office. A ski show including films, representatives from area ski resorts and a display of ski equipment, was held Monday, November 26, at 9 p.m. in SLC 101.

New Campaign Policy Approved By SG

Regarding off-campus campaigning during elections, a proposal by Shep Willner to prohibit this was revised and read at the meeting held on Monday, November 19, and voted upon, and passed unanimously at the meeting held on Monday, November 26.

The proposal as adopted reads as follows: No off-campus campaigning will be allowed. "Off-campus" shall be defined as: the River Commons, City-owned property, other non-College-owned property, except for the tree-lawn area adjacent to College property.

In other election business, it was announced that 173 people voted in the election for officers for the Class of 1983. Dennis Hardy won the presidential election with 45 votes. There were seven candidates for president on the ballot and four students who received write-in votes. Kirk Forman won the Vice-presidential race. With 85 votes,

Forensic Unit Places Fifth In Tourney

The speech team received fifth place in the Eleventh Annual Bloomsburg Invitational Forensic Tournament, held at Bloomsburg State College recently.

Darlene Schaffer, Colleen Gries, and Jon Pliskin advanced to the finals in the category of salesmanship competition. All members of the debate union were very close to making the final rounds in all categories but fell short by one or two speaker points.

Twenty four colleges and universities were invited to the tournament. Penn State, Old Dominion College, University of Delaware, Monmouth College and Glassboro State College were among those defeated by the Wilkes forensic unit.

The union is coached and directed by Dr. Bradford L. Kinney. Anyone interested in joining the union may contact Dr. Kinney in Kirby Hall, extension 393.

No Further Threats Made To Iranian Students

It has been two weeks since the threatening phone call concerning the 10 Iranian students who attend the college was received, causing the cancellation of the International Dinner and according to George Ralston, Dean of Student Affairs, no further threats have been made to date.

On a directive from the National Immigration Service, the college held a meeting with the 10 students in which their passports and other various immigration papers were checked. According to Dean Ralston, everyone of the students in reference to immigration standards were "legal."

In other meetings held with the Iranian students, various topics were discussed ranging from public exposure to the possibility of further threats. The students commented to Ralston on the international crisis as well as their position here on campus. Ralston noted that the safety of their families in Iran and their own safety topped the students' list of concerns.

The Dean went on to add that after numerous meetings, it was decided that, "...everybody keep a low profile." It seemed that this was the best posture the students could take in dealing with international as well as local incidents.

When asked how the students were handling the added pressure, Ralston said that many of them mentioned difficulty in concentrating on their studies, with a few experiencing sleepless nights. Considering all their problems, the Dean of Student Affairs concluded, "The Iranian students are reacting in a very orderly way. I think they are handling it very well."

Condition Of CPA After Gong Show Found A Mess By Theater Dept.

Although there is a theater policy restricting drinking and eating to the upstairs lounge of the Center for the Performing Arts, numerous beer bottles, cans and other litter was found throughout the CPA after the Gong Show held Saturday, November 17.

The shop area, which is just off the stage was cluttered with much of the same debris. Charcoal stains were left in the chorus room. Also, a case of empty beer bottles was found in the downstairs hall. Toilet tissue was scattered throughout the hall and up the stairs.

The men's room of the CPA was littered with paper towels from an emptied dispenser and a great deal of force was used on one of the dividers in the room, as the metal partition was bent and the bolts were pulled from the wall.

Al Groh, Director of Cultural Affairs, surveyed the building and made plans to talk with Student Government President Dave Blumfield and contact Art Hoover. He stated that if such student disrespect for the theater facilities continued to occur, events such as the Gong Show would not be allowed in the theater. Earlier this week, Blumfield stated that he and Al Groh had talked and the matter had been settled.

WCLH Staff Controversy Found Non-existent

Recently, the Executive Staff positions at WCLH radio station have been the subject of much controversy, as evidenced by the numerous Letters to the Editor which appeared in the past two issues of THE BEACON.

A "Concerned Member of WCLH" questioned the position changes have occurred now that the one year term has been completed.

Fred Pierantoni, WCLH Station Manager, replied in the following week's BEACON stating, "There has never been a written (or unwritten) rule as to when the term for Executive Staff positions are held by a person unless he violates a Federal Communications Statute or fails to perform his duties." Several other WCLH members submitted similar letters defending Pierantoni's position.

According to Dr. Bradford Kinney, Director of WCLH-FM, "The budget begins in June and ends the following June, so it would be self-defeating to change Executive Staff positions right in the middle of a fiscal year. This way, the Staff is able to plan the budget effectively and execute it properly." Dr. Kinney also stated that the Station Manager usually holds his position until graduation, resignation, or violation of a Federal Communications Commission rule. "And none of these has happened yet," he said.

Dr. Kinney continued that after personal interviews with many WCLH members, he could find no real complaints against the Executive Staff. "If a member has a problem, I wish he would come to me or a member of the Executive Staff. This way we can sit down and try to iron out any differences. I'm willing to take the blame if something is my fault, but I can't know what's wrong if no one contacts me."

Several members of WCLH stated that the only problem they see in the studio is the failing equipment. One member stated, "I think the present Executive Staff is doing a fantastic job and whoever wrote that first letter is nothing but a trouble-maker."

Early in the spring semester, a training program will be held to prepare applicants for positions on the Executive Staff.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting for the Senior Class next Thursday, December 6, 1979, at 11 a.m. in Stark 101. All seniors are urged to attend this important meeting. Topics on the agenda include a speaker for graduation, the Jr.-Sr. Dinner-Dance, and activities planned for the spring semester.

NOTICE

The Department of Biology is sponsoring an evening lecture by Dr. Ann Boyd of The Frederick Cancer Center in Frederick, Maryland on "The Transformed Cell: A Step in Cancer Formation". Monday, December 3, 1979 at 8 p.m. in Stark Learning Center 1. Everyone is invited to attend. A reception will follow.

Wilkes Grapplers Club Boosts Wrestling Spirits

"The Grapplers Club is like a booster club for wrestling," stated John Reese, Wrestling Coach. "I've been at Wilkes for twenty-seven years, and I started what is now the club as a newsletter so I could keep in touch with old wrestlers. People who can't get back to the area enjoy reading the newsletter. Then, the local people asked me if it would be possible to form some type of club."

Actually, the club has been established for about fifteen years, and the newsletter reaches about 275 people. Of these 275 people, between fifty and seventy-five pay dues of $25 per year. This membership dues entitles the member to a free pass to all wrestling meets and social events. The dues are used to many purposes, one of which includes contributing to a scholarship for wrestlers. The dues are also used towards printing the newsletter and programs for the meets, a bus trip to another wrestling meet, and parents day for wrestlers and their parents, which includes a buffet and social hour. Reese stated, however, that the Grapplers Club has not been financially active for the fifteen years it has been in existence.

The Grapplers Club also holds fund raising events to raise money for wrestling scholarships. One of these was the recent Old-Timers Meet held on Saturday, November 17. They also back and support the wrestling team and help uphold interest.

The Newsletter plays an important role in the Club also. It brings news of the Wilkes Wrestling Team to former members who are not presently in the area. Mr. Reese commented, "Most of them like to find out what's happening currently at Wilkes. A lot of people are interested and follow it." The newsletter comes out five times a year, three times during the season and two times in the off-season.

The Grapplers Club itself is composed of a good number of alumni, but local citizens are encouraged to join. There is a meeting held in the beginning of the year, late September - early October, and about three other meetings are scheduled throughout the year. Although only about fifteen to twenty people actually attend the meetings, Reese stressed the good interest the alumni have in the club and newsletter.

President of the Grapplers Club is Clayton Karembellas, a local businessman and 1949 graduate of Wilkes. Mike Daney, whose son is also a graduate of Wilkes, is Vice-President, and Art Hoover is Secretary-Treasurer.

An important outgrowth of the Grapplers Club is one of a recruiting nature. "When alumni hear of or see a perspective Wilkes wrestler, they inform me of him."

Colonel's Cotillion Held

Colonel's House held the first annual Cotillion in the dorm last Saturday, November 17. The dinner dance was first originated by Tom Rooney, Rick Snyder, Keith Banias, Howard Diamond, and Larry Walsh.

The event consisted of a formal candlelight dinner of Frank's Pizza and cocktail hour during which John Bohush, John Ziminski, Eric Stroyan, Ken Halpine, and Mike Karnes served as mixologists. Tom Rooney and Sue Palmer were elected as Cotillion King and Queen.

Runners-up included Keith Banias, Roya Fahmy, John Wischhusen, Donna DeBastosi, Greg Culp, Jennifer MacLoose, Tom Phillips, Gloria Kovatch, Tom Salley and Wanda Phillips. Dorm President Tom Salley and Tom Rooney, Master of Ceremonies delivered speeches.

The dorm was decorated by Keith Banias, Larry Walsh, Rick Snyder and Greg Polanchyck. Howard Diamond provided the transportation for supplies.

Commerce And Finance Dept. Limits Co-op Credits Allowed

In a recent announcement, the Commerce and Finance Department has decided to limit credit given to Business Administration or Accounting majors involved in the Cooperative Education Program.

The department has decided to grant three credits which can be used as free elective credits. Prior to this decision, Commerce and Finance majors could take up to twelve credits in the Cooperative Education program.

According to the memo distributed by Dr. Howard Williams, acting chairman of the department, the faculty's unanimous decision was based on several factors. One factor was that accounting internships are given three credits for their work which lasts from 8 to 12 weeks. Another reason given in the statement was that night courses are available to the student who has either an internship or a cooperative education job, so it is possible for these students to receive more than the three credits from their off-campus experience. Also given as a reason for the decision was the belief that some students may be using cooperative education credits as a way to avoid courses outside of the Commerce and Finance curriculum. Finally, the memo stated that at other schools with a cooperative education program, no credit is given for co-op experience.

Robert Koester, director of the Cooperative Education program, stressed, "Cooperative Education is not just a tool to get credits, the student gets valuable experience which is good for his career as well as his classroom learning." He further noted that a student involved in the program must submit weekly reports as well as a term project, similar to a research paper on his experience.

This Commerce and Finance department decision is an interim policy with a permanent policy to be decided on later. Other departments have not changed their policy in regard to cooperative education credit with advisor approval. In other departments, a student may earn six credits in his or her major as well as six elective credits, with departmental approval.

The interim policy of granting three credits will not affect students enrolled in the program this fall. It will, however, be put in to effect with the start of the spring semester.

NOTICE

There will be a meeting of all spring 1980 student teachers on Tuesday, December 4, 1979, in the Mezzanine of the Dorothy Dickson Darte Center for the Performing Arts from 11 a.m. to 12 noon. If you are planning to student teach this coming year you must attend this meeting.

Guest Column

Have you noticed that classes are getting smaller as the semester progresses? It could be because many students are changing their major in mid-semester. They are giving up their Accounting and Engineering and taking up Space Invaders 101.

As the semester goes on, the game room of the Student Union Building is gaining in popularity. It is nothing for students to skip their lunch and head upstairs for some Flash or a quick game of German Football (Foosball). It is almost as common to see someone cut class because he has a good game going on the Space Invaders machine. With the increase in popularity of this game in particular, long lines form behind the machine and you might have a ten or fifteen minute wait to get to the machine. Then, if you are good, it takes about five to ten minutes before you finally lose. Let's face it faculty, your classes interfere with our games.

However, the administration has come up with a way to make this situation profitable for the college. It hasn't been formally announced yet, but next fall, Game Room will be listed as an elective for the fall semester. The reasoning for this move is simple. The average student spends about a dollar a day in the game room. Over a semester this comes out to between seventy to one hundred dollars. However, by making it an elective and offering three credits for it, they can charge two hundred and twenty-five dollars for the semester. Get the picture, a big money maker for the school. If the course is popular enough, there is talk of making it into a major. But that is still in the future.

The only drawback to this scheme is what can you do with a degree in Space Invaders? I don't have the answer to that question but I can tell you where you might find it. Head upstairs in the S.U.B. and ask someone who seems to be spending more time there than they do in class.

Powerful Drama 'Red Ryder' First Siegfried Production

The Wilkes Theater will present "When You Comin' Back, Red Ryder?", a powerful and exciting drama directed by Jay Siegfried, on December 6th through 8th at the Dorothy Dickson Darte Center for the Performing Arts.

The play takes place in a diner in sleepy southern New Mexico, where an array of characters has gathered on a Sunday morning. Into the diner comes a cruel but charismatic character named Teddy, who proceeds to terrorize and brutalize all those who have gathered there. Teddy walks into the other character lives and becomes the catalyst who causes many confrontations and realizations among those present in the diner.

Throughout the play there are references to past American heroes including Western heroes such as Roy Rogers and baseball hero, Mickey Mantel. Teddy holds up these past heroes for everyone to see and then topples them with the realization that all the heroes are gone.

Siegfried sees the play as a true depiction of the American culture. America, like the characters in the play, has been pushed and shoved by just about every country since World War II and has continually backed off until it has been backed into a corner and must fight or give in. He believes the recent Iranian incident is one example of this. Siegfried has compared the play to Sherwood Anderson's "Petrified Forest" and Peter Bogdanovich's "The Last Picture Show" and sees the same ideas running through them.

The play is set in 1969, but was written around 1974, which makes it a very recent play. It received the Off Broadway and Circle Critics awards in 1974. The playwright Mark Meddoff is still teaching theater courses in a college in New Mexico.

Siegfried believes that college students will be able to identify with and understand the play. All the characters except one are young people and should be easily identified with by the audience. The values and conflicts dealt with in the play are modern and the situations are tense and action packed. There are no small parts and no throw away roles. Every part creates an artistic challenge and has an important function in the overall production. The play also contains such elements as action, drama, heroism and emotional conflict which combine to make the production a gripping experience.

The cast, in order of appearance, includes: Chris Lonstrup as Stephen, Adele Tavella as Angel, John Salwitz as Lyle, Mike Breakstone as Clark, Tara Buckingham as Clarisse, Bill Turcan as Richard, Paul Kerrigan as Teddy and Donna Pionpi as Cheryl. Direction is by Jay Siegfried and set design by Klaus Holm, with a building and running crew made up of Wilkes students.

'Phoenix' To Perform At Christmas Party

The Christmas Party slated for December 13 from 7:30 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. at the Treadway was the major topic of discussion at Commuter Council's short meeting Monday night. Expected to perform is the group "Phoenix" and a buffet dinner consisting of lasagna, chicken, various vegetables and desert will be served. To help defray the costs of the party both IDC and CC will be contributing $750. Tickets will be $6.00 and are expected to go on sale after December 10.

Still under unfinished business, President Bill Lewis thanked everyone for their support of the bus trip to New York. Thirty-five of the forty-three seats were sold and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. It is hoped that another activity like the bus trip will be offered in the future.

Lewis also reported that the CC-IDC joint meeting went very well, even though attendance wasn't totally complete. Another joint meeting of the two groups is planned but no date has been set.

The meeting adjourned with reminders that there will be a Christmas Caroling Practice for all those planning to participate in the Christmas Program at Retreat, this Thursday night at 8 o'clock on the first floor of Weckesser Hall. All interested persons are invited. Also there will be a blood pressure screening program held today in the CPA from 9 to 5.

This year's annual Gong Show held Saturday, November 17, 1979 was presented to a Standing Room Only crowd in the CPA. The general reaction to the show was poor. Even the sponsors of the show, Student Government's Social Committee, feel that the idea of the show has been worn out on this campus and should be discontinued. We agree.

What bothers us, however, is the total lack of respect towards the college property exhibited by some of those who attended. In the CPA itself, many beer bottles and cans were found and trash was scattered about.

In the men's rest room a paper towel dispenser was emptied leaving a mess and a metal partition was bent pulling its bolts from the wall.

Participants in the show apparently had little respect for the theater, too. The backstage area was cluttered with beer bottles, cigarette butts, and beverage spills. The dressing rooms which are located downstairs beneath the stage were left in much the same condition.

Al Groh, Director of Cultural Affairs, seriously considered banning Student Government from sponsoring such events in the CPA again.

Last year's Gong Show was held at the Irem Temple located on North Franklin Street in the city. Due to the condition of that facility after that show SG was told that they would not be able to sponsor the show there in the future.

Due to the nature of the show we realize that a rowdy crowd is usually drawn. Let's face it, half the fun of the show is the audience reaction to the acts. However, there is a difference from being enthusiastic to going bonzo. Respect for college property comes first.

This problem simply could have been a lack of sufficient security for the CPA. Whether this was SG's responsibility or the Theater Department's is still another question to answer.

Events like the Gong Show are good alternatives to add to the social life of Wilkes but if this means destroying school property maybe other alternative should be considered.

Gooooo Wilkes!!!

It doesn't seem like it, but it has been one year since those "wild and crazy" King's College - Wilkes College men's basketball games. Last year for the first time in 25 years the two local colleges met in a regular season game and the Monarchs came away with two wins, winning at home by two and here by four.

On Wednesday, December 5, 1979, the two teams will meet again at the King's Gym on North Main Street. Like last year the game will be televised on WBRE at 8 p.m. Last year the King's Gym was packed with Monarch supporters.

We would like to see a lot of Wilkes faculty and students on hand at the game. It is the battle for the "City" championships. Win or lose, the two teams will square off again on January 23, 1980 here.

Review Prevokes Critical Response From Preformer

To the Editor,

While it is unquestionably acceptable for a critic to deem a performance "horrible", I feel that he or she also has a responsibility to the reader to justify his or her claims. It is also a critic's duty to take into account the intentions of the author and cast in their presentation as well as their subsequent dramatization. Margaret Scholl's review of the Gong Show fails on both these counts.

I refer specifically to her review of "Organized Noise", of which I was a member. It was our intention to be, musically, "horrible", thereby satirizing the current wave of junk or punk rock music. We desired, simply, to make you laugh and friends in the audience convinced me that we indeed, for the most part, served our purpose; wasn't fun and humor the basic intention of presenting the Gong Show?

Anyone who did not find himself or herself amused by our act could not be assumed to be a member of the "norm" group of college students; it was our desire to perform for our "peers." Had we known that a Junior Rex Reed was going to review us based on extracollegiate standards and values, we would not have bothered to perform at all.

To those of you who said that our act was enjoyable, "Thank you"! To those who thought our performance to be "horrible", I can only apologize that we were not more explicit in stating our central satirical intention, without which you obviously could not see through the facade. I do not question Ms. Scholl's right to criticize a performance as she sees fit; I only criticize her for judging "Organized Noise" from such a shallow perspective.

Thank you for this opportunity to express my views.

Respectfully,
Joseph J. Blizman

To the Editor:

First of all, I would like to commend you on the fine sports section you people put out each week. Eddie White, Gary Mack and Co. certainly do a super job.

Secondly, I would like to see the entire Wilkes student body at the King's Wilkes game on Wednesday. It is a fact that the Wilkes alumni outnumbered the student body at last year's televised game at King's. So what, if the game is on TV. There's nothing like seeing it in person. Come on Colonel fans, is wrestling your only sport? Let's put 3500 people in King's Gym! May the best team win.

Eddie White : A Man With Character

If one should happen to venture past Weckesser Hall after a late basketball game and see a light beaming from the third floor window, there's really no need to fear because it is most likely the diligent Eddie White, III hard at work in the for reporting sports and soon proved himself both in the P.R. office sending out story after story and on the college newspaper, THE BEACON, by contributing at least one article every week. For the school paper, Eddie was the first sports writing. At this point he feels that "I owe a lot to George Pawlusch, (P.R. Director)." Everyone says that there is one person who has affected their career and been instrumental in making things happen, well Mr. Pawlusch seems to have done this for Eddie. The senior continues, "Mr. Pawlusch has opened doors for me: when the doors were shut by other people, he found windows that were open." The well-liked student thinks that working with Mr. Pawlusch has been a valuable learning experience and a privilege. "He's answered all the questions," he adds.

Continuing on one of his best subjects, Eddie reflects on the past years and his favorite people, "I've liked ALL the coaches that I've worked with but one stands out, Gene Domzalski. He's got so much class; even if he had lost, he would have been a great guy." Once again stating that he's enjoyed working with ALL of the athletes, Kendall McNeil seems to be on the top of his list. With that "Eddie White III enthusiasm" he explains, "He's the greatest athlete. Taking into account athletic ability and excitement, he has a way of earning the hearts of the crowd."

Continuing to look fondly back on his experiences at Wilkes, Eddie recalls the three most sensational sports events, "The two Wilkes-King's basketball games were super for the area, the school and the fans. It was the first time in 25 years that they got things together! The second was the great upset of the Wilkes football team over Albright three years ago. The game was in Reading and the final score was 7-0. The third standout occurred two years ago when the wrestling team defeated Syracuse University

Another part of Eddie White III is his particular knack for meeting personalities. The warm-hearted individual has stacks of autographed pictures as well as a large amount of pictures of himself with his favorite personalities. Speaking of "favorite personalities," when asked Eddie responds zealously, "Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles is the nicest third-baseman of all time!" The Sports Information Assistant continues down the line in naming the Ice Capades star, Dorothy Hamill and the Phillies player, Greg Luzinski as "tremendous" people also.

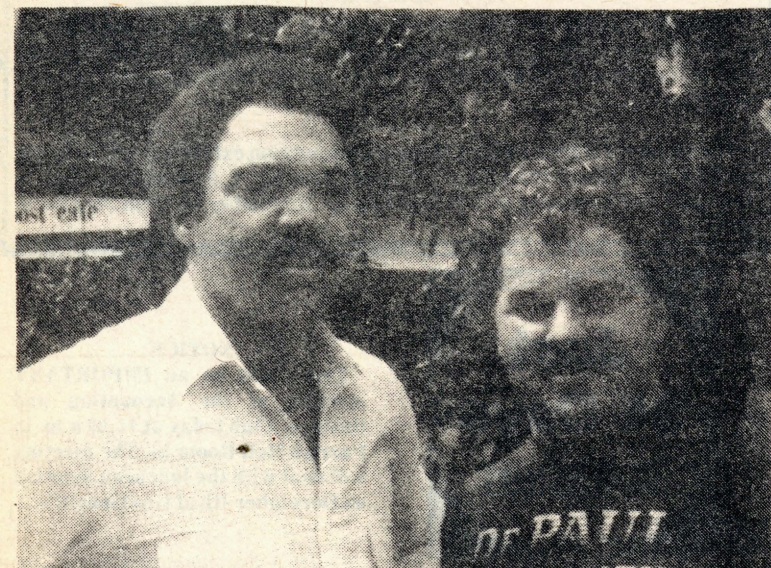

Showing much confidence as a sports writer, Eddie has ventured to enter one of his sports columns in the Sports Illustrated sports Writing Contest.

When commenting on Wilkes, Eddie is very glad that he came here. "I have absolutely no regrets. My education has worked out perfectly. You need a liberal arts background in today's world," Eddie concludes.

If there are still people who don't know what the word "dedication" means, it can be found in travelling up the steps of Weckesser Hall to the Public Relations office and gazing through the huge sports scrap books that Eddie White III has practically filled singlehandedly throughout his four years at the office.

Eddie, a senior English-Journalism major, holds the title of Sports Information Assistant which makes him responsible for most athletic events. He has worked in the Department of Public Relations everyday for the past four years. It is up to Eddie to publicize an upcoming event as well as do the wrap-up which includes calling the area radio and TV stations and writing releases for publication in the next day's local papers.

The sports enthusiast came to the college showing a particular knack

Assistant Sports Editor ever; the position was more or less created for Eddie because he possessed so much talent.

The three major sports that Eddie covers are football, baseball and basketball with other sporting events scattered between those three. A picture of true dedication, Eddie is sure to publicize events, along with writing features on particular athletes, making sure that the statistics are kept up to date and designing brochures.

This is no SPOOF

Well now that Thanksgiving is over with everyone will hopefully realize that we're in the home stretch of this semester.

By the way did everyone enjoy their bird? Wasn't the special holiday dinners hard on the mighty wrestlers' diet? Or did Pope John (Reese) take real good care of them?

A poll's being taken as to whether Mom's or Freddie's turkey was "tastier"?

Ahhh Hah! Deer season opened earlier this week! Rumor has it that yummy venison is on the menu in the cafeteria for next week!!! Hopefully it will be fresher than the Warner House deer!!!

Registration time is just about ending. Don't you feel sorry for the freshmen from S-Z? No sympathy here! Better luck next time. Did everyone else register at the proper time or did you fake it as a senior?? Hopefully those Biology majors found their way down to Parrish Hall and were greeted by the cleaning man, Moe. If not, you're really missing out on a treat! How does everyone like eating lunch at 10 o'clock or 2 o'clock? Seniors! You may not be graduating if you don't bribe someone into letting you into that coveted bowling class! The girls working in the halls during registration were really good-looking. HUH?

The much awaited event is very near! FINALS!!!! Freshmen don't be to nervous because it's your first time around! If you don't get it right the first time — there's still seven more semesters to get it right!!! Upperclassmen already know that THREE finals in one day aren't all THAT bad! It's also a known fact that DORM students take classes so that they can stay around to the very last day and check out the action on the square!! GOOD LUCK to everyone.

Has everyone finished their Christmas shopping yet?? If you're in the majority, you haven't even started yet!!

Some people received their presents a little early. ... CONGRATULATIONS Linda!

In less than a month from now we will all be hearing the pitter-patter of hooves on our housetops! That's if Mom spices the eggnog good enough!! Have you all been good little boys and girls? Remember that Santa's makin' a list and checkin' it twice!

Tis' the season to be jolly so keep those spirits up through finals! HO! HO! HO!

Editor's Note: The column "News About You's" will no longer appear in The Beacon. This new humor-gossip will appear in every other issue, alternating with the column "Outer Limits By Flash Gordon."

Album Review

With this Christmas season here, there are so many new albums the buyer has to choose from that instead of one album review, five reviews might be a help in selecting presents for those people "who have everything."

THE OUTLAWS — "EYE OF THE STORM"

America's "Guitar Army" is back better than ever. "Eye of the Storm" contains some of the best guitar work you will hear anywhere by anyone. Gone from the Outlaws is the country flavored sound of earlier albums. Replacing it is some of the finest rock and roll around.

Some of the highpoints of the album include "Miracle Man", a song written by Elvis Costello, "It's All Right" and "Come on and Dance."

Throughout the entire album, the intensity never wavers. Great music for parties and other evening activities.

MOLLY HATCHET—"FLIRTIN' WITH DISASTER"

After an enormously successful debut LP, Molly Hatchet is back with an album even better than the first. This album contains some of the best rock to come out of Florida since the Outlaws. Some have compared their sound to Lynard Skynard, but Molly Hatchet has a sound all their own. It can best be classified as some of the best rock you have ever heard. The guitar work is incredible.

Best cuts are the title cut, which if released might be a successful single, and "One Man's Pleasure", and "Jukin' City", two cuts which really show what Molly Hatchet is all about.

Watch for them at the John Long Center, in Scranton, on December 2. Tickets may still be available.

TOTO — "HYDRA"

This, the band's second album, although less commercial than the first, continues the style Toto has become famous for. "All Us Boys" is a typical Toto rocker along the same vein as "Hold the Line" and "I'll Supply the Love". The rest of the album is a little different. The group is taking new and different directions with the rest of the album. There are rhythm and blues styled songs, something Toto has never attempted. The album is an original effort, and is very well done. If you liked Toto's first album, you might be a little disappointed with "Hydra", but don't use it as a frisbee right away. Listen to the album first. It is really excellent.

FOGHAT — "BOOGIE MOTEL"

From the opening bars of "Somebody's Been Sleepin' in My Bed", the listener knows he has picked up a Foghat classic. The album may be their best effort since "Fool For the City." It contains some really good rock in the Foghat Tradition of slide guitar and scorching vocals.

My favorite cut is "Somebody's Been Sleepin' in My Bed." There are, however, many other excellent cuts, including the title and the single "Third Time Lucky", which may help otherwise disappointing sales of a very good album.

TOM PETTY & THE HEARTBREAKERS "DAMN THE TORPEDOES"

This album should finally establish Tom Petty as one of the premier acts in today's music. The album contains some very fine hard rock. Along with Petty's unique vocals, some fine writing is made evident throughout the album. Petty should be recognized as a leading force as we approach the eighties. This album should once and for all make him a headline attraction.

Listen to the cut "Refuge". It could be considered one of the classics of progressive music, because it is that good. The rest of the album is also excellent, and will definitely sell well.

If someone you know really likes progressive music, tell him or her to give this album a shot. They won't be sorry!

Design Contest On Display At Sordoni

The Second National Design Marker Competition exhibition will be in the Wilkes College Sordoni Art Gallery from December 1, through January 7. A reception, open to campus and community, will be held on Friday, November 30, from 7-9 p.m., in the Gallery.

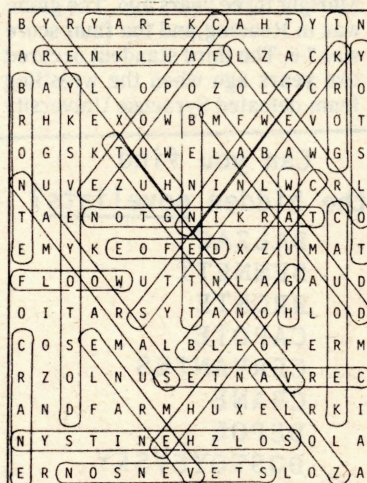

This competition is sponsored by Eberhard Faber, Inc., producers of writing and graphic arts materials, headquartered in Mountaintop. The first of these competitions, held four years ago, was open to only students from colleges, universities and art schools, this year, it was opened to professionals, as well.

The versatility of the marking pen as a drawing and painting medium is beautifully demonstrated in the show. A broad range of media and subjects are covered, including: posters, advertising layout, architectural renderings, illustrations, drawings and paintings. All artists used markers as the primary medium, however, some augmented the markers with other media to produce varied effects.

There are approximately thirty-one entries, including the ten $1,000 prize-winning pieces. Gallery hours for the show are Sundays through Fridays 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and hours on Thursday are extended to evenings 6-9 p.m.

The Sordoni Gallery is open to campus and community on a year round basis. All exhibits are offered free of charge.

ATTENTION SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING MAJORS!

The Air Force has openings for young men and women majoring in selected science and engineering fields. Like Aeronautical, Aerospace, General and Electrical Engineering, Mathematics, Physics and Computer Technology.

To help prepare for one of these, Air Force ROTC offers two and four-year programs of study which will defray some of your college costs.

After completion of the AFROTC requirement, and upon your graduation, you'll be commissioned an officer in the Air Force. Then comes responsibility, experience in your specialty with some of the best people and facilities in the world, and a mission with a purpose. You'll get excellent starting salary, medical and dental care, 30 days of paid vacation beginning your first year, and more.

Look into the Air Force ROTC program right away. See what's in it for you. See how you can serve your country in return. You'll be glad you put your major to work on a job that really counts.

Self-Study Report Prepared For Evaluation

"We found Wilkes College better than the self-study portrayed it to be" is what Dr. Robert Ackerman, Chairman of the Middle States Association evaluation team, said after the reaccreditation committee reviewed the self-study report prepared by the college and toured the campus during their visit, November 4-7.

The report contains a brief history of the college before preceeding into eight chapters including: Institutional Goals and Objectives, The Student Body, Instructional Programs, The Faculty, Governance at Wilkes, Institutional Facilities, Educational Resources and Financial Resources.

Concerning the Institutional Goals and Objectives of the college, seven specific objectives were announced which ranged from maintaining the character of a small college, to strengthening the concept of community service, leadership and interaction.

One of the objectives, to reduce attrition and help students complete their college work, deals with the decline in the verbal skills of entering freshmen, and at least some graduating seniors. According to the self study report introduction of remedial courses and the Act 101 programs are attempts by the college to "... provide academic opportunity for students who show promise despite deficiencies in their academic or cultural background and/or for those who have serious financial problems."

In dealing with The Student Body, the self-study report has noted that the number of commuting students who attend the college has decreased. According to the report, "... this is a result of the successful development and expansion of the Luzerne county Community College and the fact that three Catholic colleges in the area, King's, Misericordia, and Scranton University, have become co-educational institutions within the past decade."

Within the last three years, resident enrollment has increased greatly. Because of this, the report stated that, "... about half the student body now represents more distant areas of Pennsylvania and the northeastern United States."

In an attempt to get extended feedback from the student body, the college initiated a "Student Opinion Survey" which was developed by the American College Testing Service. After contacting about 25 percent of the college population, the two areas of greatest concern to the students were the quality of food service, and availability of off-street parking. According to the study, "These topics have been of concern to the administration for some time and gradual improvements have been implemented over a long time period."

The chapter in the report entitled Instructional Programs deals with pre-professional programs, departmental influences, diversity in student preparation, relationship to the community and financial impact upon program development.

"In spite of the various issues and difficulties that tend to beset pro-

Governance at the college involves the Board of Trustees, faculty, students and administration.

Students may participate in college governance through involvement in faculty committees and various student ifying the significance of such instruments as the radio station, WCLH and the Manuscript.

In addition, this section deals with residence halls, conditions of the facilities are discussed, food service, health service, and custodial, maintenance and security services.

Educational Resources of the college were determined to be involved with eight sub-topics including: Library, Computer Center, Curriculum Innovation, Academic Skills Center, Career Planning and Placement, Financial Aid, and Athletics and Physical Education.

The report noted that the library exceeds the requirements suggested by the Association of College and Research Libraries. It also pointed out the need for more financial aid, a bigger staff, and better equipment in order for the Academic Skills Center to excel. Concluding this section, the report stressed the need for an analysis "... to determine whether or not the College can afford or should support the many separate activities in intercollegiate competition."

Concluding the self-study is a chapter on Financial Resources. It describes in detail the budget cycle of the college which extends from June 1 through May 31. The section ends with a discussion of the Management of the Endowment Fund, as well as the attraction of New Resources which the Board of Trustees has urged the college to expand alumni relations.

The final part of the self-study contains numerous graphs and tables which correlate with the preceeding chapters. The self-study report totals 106 pages plus an appendix. Anyone wishing to take an indepth look at the study may do so at the library where a copy is available for reference.

gram development, there is nevertheless a consensus among faculty members that existing programs give strong evidence of institutional quality," reported the study.

In the section of the report dealing with The Faculty, it was noted that out of the 155 full-time Faculty, 84 are tenured, with 32 holding the rank of full professor. There are 44 associate professors, 68 assistant professors and 11 members maintaining the rank of instructor.

A December 1978 survey of 133 faculty members revealed that the highest percentage of tenured personnel were in the fine arts program, and that, 35 percent of the faculty responding were involved in scholarly activity and the same percent published in the past three years."

The Board of Trustees, which is legally responsible for the college, works with various committees and the president to establish policy, provide financial resources to maintain educational programs and evaluate the effectiveness of the institution.

The Institutional Facilities section of the self-study describes various aspects of the many buildings on campus. It mentions cultural facilities such as the Dorothy Dickson Darte Center for the Performing Arts and the Sorboni Art Gallery, as well as identi-

Question: How do you feel about the international situation between Iran and the United States. Asked by Bob Gaetano.

Daria Morris--The Iranian government should be more willing to negotiate with the United States and less rigid in their demands.

Mike McCarrie--The economical freeze that President Carter put on Iran's capital investments here in the United States was the most strategic move he could have made next to inciting war. If the hostages were not going to be released his next step would be to cut off food exports to Iran. This might cripple the Iranian nation.

Gino Dylewski--It's about time our government officials took a stand and said the heck with pleasing the whole world and worried more about restoring dignity to the greatest country in the world. Just the fact that a country as small and un-powerful as Iran has caused such great embarrassment to us is bad enough. We must now set a precedence for the rest of the world by making an example and bring Iran to its knees. Right now, it seem that the proposed economic war is perhaps the best solution. However, if we had a man in the oval office with some guts rather than a mouthful of teeth, he would have seized the opportunity at the beginning and invaded Iran with a show of face the likes of which the world has never seen and now it would be up to us who would be giving the orders rather than some band of militant gypsies.

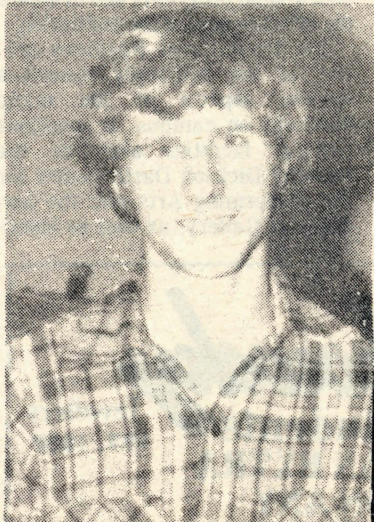

Tom "Doc" Urosevice--The situation in Iran is one which should have never been allowed to progress to its current point. At first notification of the siege, this government should have allowed a contingent of daring enthusiasts to immediately embark upon a rescue mission. Valuable time was lost, which prevented such an action, since we had been previously assured of diplomatic safety by the Iranian government.

If our main concern is the safety of the remaining hostages, diplomacy is our only course of action. Force will only serve to cause their deaths. If they should be harmed, though Iran will suffer greatly under the military might of the United States.

Gina White--I feel the Iranian people are going about the situation the wrong way. They should use more diplomatic procedures than result to terrorism.

John Moffatt--The Iranians should stop resorting to terrorism as a means of achieving their demands.

Murphy's Law

If anything can go wrong, it will.

Corollaries:

1. Nothing is as easy as it looks.
2. Everything takes longer than you think.
3. If there is a possibility of several things going wrong, the one that will cause the most damage will be the one to go wrong.
4. If you perceive that there are four possible ways in which a procedure can go wrong, and circumvent these, then a fifth way will promptly develop.
5. Left to themselves, things tend to go from bad to worse.
6. Whenever you set out to do something, something else must be done first.
7. Every solution breeds new problems.
8. It is impossible to make anything foolproof because fools are so ingenious.
9. Nature always sides with the hidden flaw.
10. Mother nature is a bitch.

THE MURPHY PHILOSOPHY: Smile . . . tomorrow will be worse.

MURPHY'S CONSTANT: MATTER WILL BE DAMAGED IN DIRECT PROPORTION TO ITS VALUE.

QUANTIZATION REVISION OF MURPHY'S LAW: Everything goes wrong all at once.

HILL'S COMMENTARIES ON MURPHY'S LAW:

1. If we lose much by having things go wrong, take all possible care.
2. If we have nothing to lose by change, relax.
3. If we have everything to gain by change, relax.
4. If it doesn't matter, it doesn't matter.

O'TOOLE'S COMMENTARY ON MURPHY'S LAW: Murphy was an optimist.

ZYMURGY'S SEVENTH EXCEPTION TO MURPHY'S LAW: When it rains, it pours.

BOLONG'S POSTULATE: If you're feeling good, don't worry. You'll get over it.

Schulman Receives Joint Appointment In English And Communications

With a joint appointment in Communications and English, Dr. Norma Schulman is the newest addition to the Department of Language and Literature.

Dr. Schulman feels that theory and content are important in any communications curriculum. She sees the program here as good training for students planning to enter the communications field.

She continued that the requirements in computer science is very practical, especially in this age of advanced technology. Literature courses also help involve a communications students in a broader understanding of message production and its effect on the attitudes of the public. In fact, Dr. Schulman sees the fields of literature and communications as related and she hopes courses that span both disciplines will be offered in the future.

Although a good education is important, Dr. Schulman believes that the purpose of college is to supplement experience and not supplant it. Not everything can be done in college and some training should be left for after graduation. This technical experience can only be realistically learned on the job, stated Dr. Schulman.

Writing is also a very vital tool and Dr. Schulman feels the Communications Studies curriculum allows a student extensive practice in writing while at the same time provides intensive training in the skill.

When asked why she came to Wilkes College, Dr. Schulman stated that she is partial to a broad program for liberal arts education, such as the one offered here.

Because of her joint appointment, Dr. Schulman will be teaching English and Communications courses in the future. Presently she is teaching several sections of composition only because she became part of the faculty after scheduling had been completed. There was also a need for a composition teacher this semester.

One of the courses Dr. Schulman will teach in the spring is Introduction to Broadcasting. She will also be part of a faculty team which will teach the senior seminar, Communications in an Open Society, next fall.

Dr. Schulman's credentials include a Bachelor of Arts degree in English Literature and a Master of Science degree in Broadcasting from Boston University. She has also earned her Ph.D. from Tufts University in English and American Literature.

Her areas of specialization are Creative Writing, Communications, Twentieth Century English and American Literature, and Shakespearean Drama. She has also had several critical works published.

Dr. Schulman sees communications as a growing field with many opportunities for college graduates in a variety of areas of specialization. She hopes more students will also see the value of the program.

Grapplers Travel To Lehigh Saturday

Met York Last Night: Open Oregon St. Dec. 6

The Wilkes College wrestling team was scheduled to open its 1979-80 schedule last night with York College and will be preparing for its two toughest meets of the season the next few days.

The varsity won eight of 15 bouts to dump an upset-minded alumni team 34-24 in the annual classic held in the Wilkes Gym before Thanksgiving break. There were many close and exciting bouts as well as acts put on by the opposing alumni squad. While wives and families cheered "Come on Dad", it just wasn't enough for the old-time favorites who appeared "slightly out of shape". All had a memorable time but a deeper seriousness will be in the air as Wilkes will face a highly-competitive schedule.

The Colonels are considered to have a better team than last season, but their schedule is also tougher. If the Wilkes wrestlers can stay injury-free during December they might duplicate or surpass last year's accomplishments. The Blue and Gold compiled a 17-4 record last season, garnered its fourth consecutive Binghamton Invitational Crown, placed second in the prestigious Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association event and carry a 13-match win-skein into this year's schedule. Since entering the strong EIWA competition in 1975, Wilkes shows a 57-19 slate against Division I and III teams.

The Blue and Gold is expected to face 6th-ranked Lehigh University and 9th-ranked Oregon St. back to back on Dec. 1 and Dec. 6th respectively. The Colonels will help christen the Engineer's new Gymnasium this Saturday at 1 p.m. at Bethlehem. Last year the Wilkesmen lost a 29-10 bout to Lehigh and it will be a task to avenge that loss this season. Thad Turner's team is favored to beat our Colonels, but Wilkes was also the underdog two years ago and turned in a 25-18 upset victory. The Engineers lost "Mr. Everything"

Mark Lieberman, but return Steve Bastianelli (118), Peter Schuyler (126), Darryl Burley (134) and Mike Brown (190).

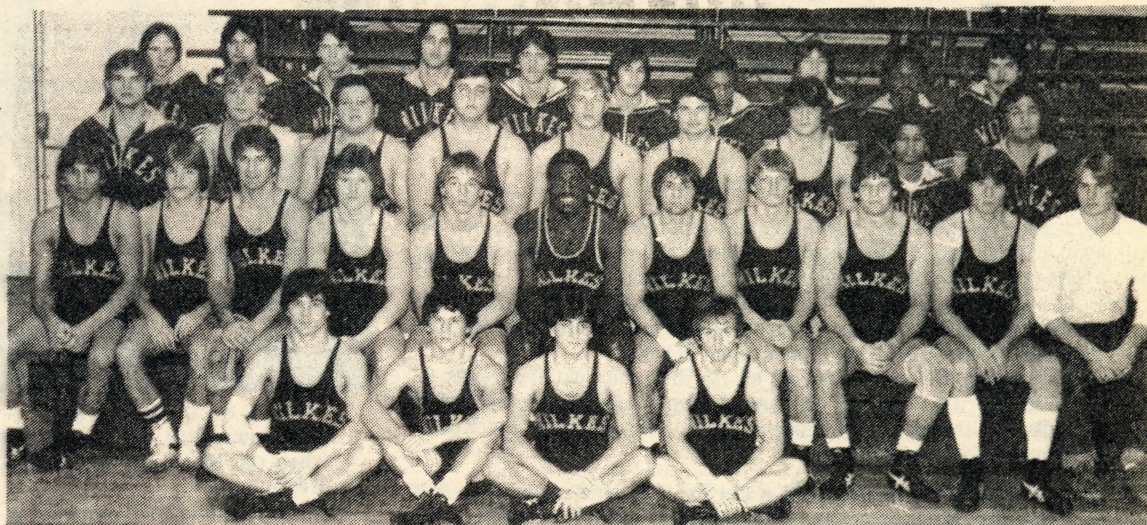

There could be rematches at 118 with Ed Johnson, a Sr. from Chelmsford, Mass. and Bryan Billig, Jr. from New Tripoli. Last year Bastianelli turned back Johnson by a slim 11-9 dec. and Billig prevailed over Schuyler 6-2. If Billig stays at 134 pounds he will be hooking heels with NCAACHamp Burley. Soph. Pete Poggi, Randolph, N.J. is jr 118 pounder. Junior Billy Dodge, Arlington, Va. won in eliminations at 126, while frosh Mark Popple, Wilkes-Barre will be Sampson, Westfield, NJ and Sr. Perry Lichtinger, Laurel, MD wait in the wings". Both Lichtinger and Gaetano have varsity experience and will also add depth in the 177 range while Sampson shows alot of promise. Bart "Slick" Cook, sr. co-capt from Neptune N.J. will handle things at 177 and frosh Pete Creamer, Bellmore, N.Y. will be JV. At 190, the "Bull" Rich Smith, Walden, Vt. will down the varsity stripes and Dana Sutliff, Shickshinny is JV.

Big Fog Matzelle, Lindenhurst, NY will provide the grand finale at hwt with Steve Dyjak, a frosh from Collingswood, N.J. adding depth. Coach John Reese pointed out the closeness of bouts in eliminations and all the jayvees have enough talent to wrestle for the varsity. Do to alot of depth, Reese will be free to juggle almost every weight this year so watch for new faces.

The same line-up for Lehigh will probable be used for Oregon, which is slated for Tuesday Dec. 6 at 7:30. Top grapplers for Oregon are Mike Bauer, at 126 and Howard Harris at heavyweight. Looking ahead, Wilkes plays host to Navy Wednesday, Dec. 7. Last annum, Wilkes beat the Midshipmen 21-19 and two years ago the Blue and Gold was clobbered by Oregon 38-3.

New Look For Swimmers: Open Sat. With Ursinus

The Wilkes College swim team will hit the water this Saturday night at 6 at King's against Ursinus in 79-80 season opener.

The Colonels have many new faces. Leading those new faces are head coach Bob Greenwald and diving coach Bob Lewis.

Greenwald is a graduate of Pittsburgh where he competed in the NCAA Swimming Championships four years in a row. Lewis graduated from Lycoming and is now seeking his master's here.

If anything will hurt the Colonels this year it will be inexperience. Only three lettermen return from last year's squad: co-captains Jim Edwards and Alan Shaw and junior John Moffatt. Frank Gardner also returns from last year's squad.

Newcomers to the swim team are freshman Peggy Butchkavitz, the women's captain; Freshmen Dave Gergan and Kim Bush; Junior, Joe Milazzo, Pat Slowey, former wrestler, Rick Ratti, and Reed Bello.

Captain Jim Edwards stated, "we have good spirit. We have been practicing every week night at King's and

Cagers Home Tonight: Meet Del Val at 9:00

"The beard has been shaved super-man has flown away.
All that is left,
is to go the Righter way."

Tonight at 9:00 at the Wilkes Gymnasium on South Franklin Street, a new era will begin in Colonel-land. Ron Righter will begin his tenure at Wilkes as head men's basketball coach, succeeding Rodger Bearde and Joe Super.

The Colonels will play host to the Aggies of Delaware Valley College and Coach Les Lombardi in a MAC battle this evening before meeting FDU Madison in another MAC game on Saturday, also at home, at 8:00.

Expected to be in the starting line-up for the Blue and Gold are: center 6-7 sophomore Kevin "J.J." Walker; forwards 6-4 senior captain Kendall McNeil and 6-4 sophomore transfer Tony Madden; guards- 5-10 point-guard Pat McCue, a soph and junior 6-5 Mike McCarrie.

Last season Wilkes opened the year at Del Val and came away with a 90-83 over-time loss. Ken Mitchell, the Aggies' excellent 6-3 senior from Philly, had 24 points in that game to lead his team. Last season, he earned All-MAC and All-ECAC honors. A Kendall McNeil-Ken Mitchell matchup should be fun to watch.

Later last year, Wilkes got revenge and downed the Aggies 87-74 at home behind McNeil's 32 tallies. The Aggies finished last season 11-14 overall and should be better in 1979-80.

Taking a look at the 1979-80 schedule, after meeting Del Val and FDU in LEAGUE games this week, the Blue and Gold will travel for an away game December 3 with Philadelphia Pharmacy. Pharmacy surprised a lot of people with its showing in last year's "Colonel Classic" and Coach Bobby Morgan's unit went on to be in the NAIA playoffs. Then next Wednesday, all eyes will be on the Scandon Fieldhouse on North Main Street, when the Blue and Gold travel to meet arch-rival King's College at 8:00. For those of you who are dumb enough to not go see that game, the tilt will be carried live over WBRE-TV. That is a league game as well as the following encounter, Dec. 11 with Lycoming College away. In their first five games, Wilkes has to play four LEAGUE opponents. We'll know early how far this team is going to go. Wilkes will be home Dec. 14 with East Stroudsburg State before the classic.

Dismal Grid Season Finally Over; Luby, LoPresto Have Fine Years

So the football season is finally over. What started as a "this could be the year" season with high hopes, ended on a downer as the Colonel gridders dropped their last two outings (21-7 to Juniata and 8-7 blunder to Susquehanna) to finish the campaign with 4-4 slate.

Well it wasn't a losing year, but it wasn't a winning one either. It was as the record indicates a .500 year. You win some, you lose some. Here we were four up and four down.

The Colonels of Rollie Schmidt will lose a lot via graduation as almost the whole defense moves on to better things. Two of the defensive bright spots of 1979, which will be back next year include junior defensive end Ed Mollahan and sophomore safety Rob Luby. Luby set a school record this season with nine interceptions.

Another school record was set defensively, this one for the most quarterback sacks in a season. Rick Krawetz and Paul Schramm both had half a dozen for the school mark in 1979.

Carmen LoPresto, almost a sure-bet to repeat as MAC Northern Division all-star, set three Colonel records this season. His 24 points against FDU Madison tied the mark held by Leo Castle and Ted Yeager; his four touchdowns in that game tied the record for most scores held jointly by Yeager and Castle and then he made real history.

"Homer's" 210 yards on the ground against FDU became a school record smashing the previous total of 172 held by Paul Purta and Yeager. LoPresto will be one of the bright offensive stars returning in 1980.

Coach Schmidt has to recruit some linemen (offensive and defensive) for Wilkes to better this season's 4-4 slate next year.

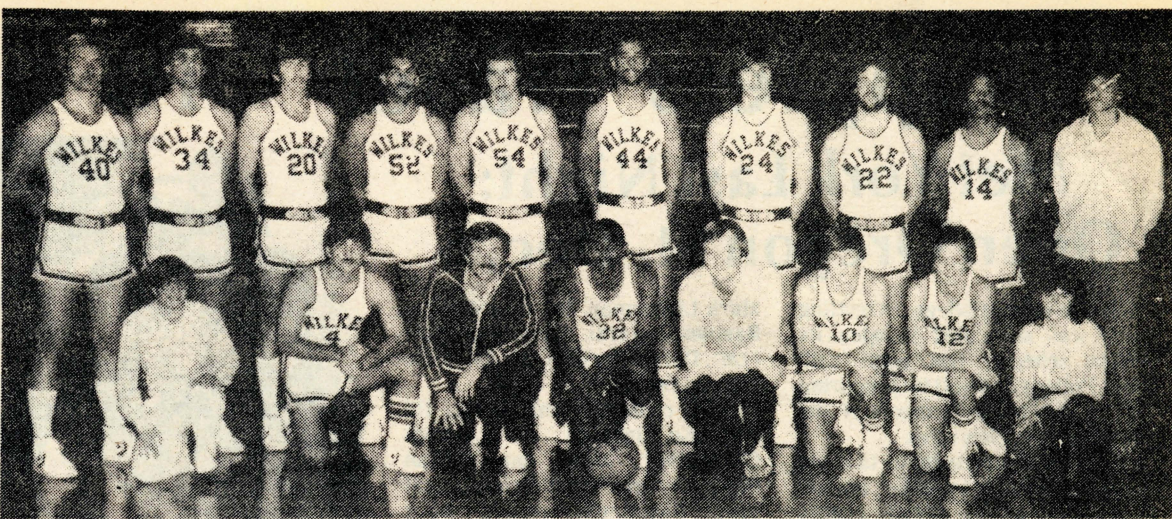

Mike Wilson, the main quarterback the past few seasons, graduates this year and many feel Tom Cywinski will be number one next season. He will be challenged by Wayne Lonstein and Tony Vlahovic. A top-notch freshman recruit could come in handy here.

Final stats are out for the 1979 season. Wilson hit on 20 of 64 for 364 yards and three scores, while Cywinski was 23 of 61 for 279 yards and a score. Rob Irwin led all receivers with 20 catches for 347 yards and two touchdowns. Bob Rushworth and Bill Molnar added six each.

LoPresto was the top ball carrier with 662 yards on 146 carries for a 4.5 average and seven touchdowns. Rich Chapman followed with 315 yards along with Sean O'Dea (216); Wilson (201) and Paul Kotulak (135 yards). Bob Luby was the top yardage man in punt returns with 135 yards and a 11.2 average. Scott Davenport added a 24.0 average on three returns.

Mark "MOLO" Hmelak was top man in kickoff returns with ten for 191 yards and a 19.1 average. Luby was close behind with 184 yards on eight returns for a 23.0 average. Tom Casey punted 52 times for 1766 yards and a 33.9 average.

LoPresto topped the team in scoring with seven touchdowns for 42 points ahead of Chapman's 18 tallies and Irwin's 12 points.

OPEN SEASON TONIGHT — The Wilkes men's cage squad will open its 1979-80 campaign tonight when the Blue and Gold host Delaware Valley at 9:00 at home.

Marshall and trainer Diane Rickard.

Ladies Start Campaign Tonight: Kendig Needs 29 Points for 1,000

Tonight will mark the opening of the 1979-80 Wilkes College women's basketball season. It will also open the career of coach Nancy Roberts, who just last season played basketball for the University of Pittsburgh Panthers. Roberts succeeds Sandy Bloomberg as head coach and will be assisted this campaign by another former cage standout

Robin Fry.

"I'm optimistic about the season," says Roberts. "We have a few weaknesses, but we'll try to get them straightened out by the Lafayette game. The girls have to learn our system, and it will take time."

This year's squad will be led by junior captain Diane Kendig, a former Wyoming Valley West standout, who many feel is the finest player in the MAC. Kendig, already the all-time leading women's scorer in Wilkes history, needs only 29 points going into tonight's action to hit the coveted 1,000th career mark. She averaged 25.5 points a game last season to lead the team and finished second in rebounding and assists.

Also back from last year's 12-10 squad are top rebounder Lynn (Bishop Hoban) Yedlock, assist leader Mary Jo (Meyers) Frail, and offensive threat Mary Jean (Meyers) Farrell. Newcomers who are expected to see action are: sophomore transger Joanne Grismond, freshman Stacey Keely from Mt. Holly, N.J., and Ellen Van Riper from Denville, N.J.

Rejoining the team this season from a year's absence is Gloria Pasternick from Wilkes-Barre. Pasternick could be the key to a great season as she enjoyed a super freshman year two seasons ago.

She hails from Bishop Hoban.

The only three letterwomen not returning are graduates Debbie Yedlock and Nancy Johnson, and senior Sue Freda, who elected not to play this year after suffering an injury last season.

"We're beginning to gell. We're very small and will have to rely on the running game and quickness. The pre-season scrimmages told us a lot. I just hope we can overcome our lack of height against the bigger clubs with our speed. That's the key," said Roberts.

Tonight the ladies will kickoff the season with Division II power Lafayette University, a team which boats a front line 6-2, 6-3, 6-1, and 5-11. Wilkes tallest player stands at only 5-10 so let's hope the speedsters have the burners hot tonight.

Attention All SKIERS: Save Money on Slopes

If you are in college, graduate school, high school or technical school, don't go skiing until you read this. The Student Ski Association had a unique program that will save you from $1 to $15 a day on lift tickets, lessons and equipment rentals at 150 ski resorts nationwide.

Now in its tenth season, the Student Ski Association boasts over 40,000 members who save money on lift tickets, lessons, rentals, ski equipment purchases and lodging. Participating ski areas include Stowe and Mount Snow plus 11 other ski areas in Vermont, Boyne Mountain and Indianhead in Michigan, Aspen Highlands in Colorado, Squaw Valley in California plus many other well-known ski areas across the country. Dozens of ski shops offer 10 percent to 15 percent discounts on skis, boots, poles and bindings.

SSA was founded in 1969 by Kim Chaffee, older brother of Freestyle Ski Star Suzy Chaffee and two-time Olympic skier Rick Chaffee. According to Kim, who was once captain of the Harvard Ski Team, students on budgets often find it difficult to come up with $15 for a lift ticket and $200 for a pair of skis. Accordingly he has spent the past ten years perfecting a program to making skiing more economical and more fun for students.

The Student Ski Association now operates over 40 trips to major ski areas in the East, Midwest and Rockies each season along with beach vacations to Bermuda, Florida and Texas. 10,000 students attended these low cost ski and beach vacations last season.

For more information or a $9 full season membership, write the Student Ski Association, 1200 Post Road East, Westport, Conn. 06880 or 2256 N. Clark St., Chicago, IL 60614. The Student Ski Association is sponsored by Schlitz Beer.

tournament last week. Both girls also earned All-MAC first team honors with Smith being named Most Valuable Player. (PHOTO BY MILLER)

Smith Elected MAC MVP; Frail, Snyder Also Picked

The 1979 field hockey team of Coach Gay Meyers completed its season recently with a 11-3-3 overall slate. The Colonelettes were 9-2-3 in the regular season, 6-0-1 in the MAC, 2-0-1 in the MAC north and 2-0-1 in the NPWIAA. In addition, the team won their division in the MAC, finished second overall in the conference and placed first in the NPWIAA.

For Coach Meyers' squad, it was the best season ever also in teams of individual honors. Three girls were named to the MAC all-star team: Jerry Ann Smith was first team and the league's MVP, Pam Snyder earned first team honors and Mary Jo Frail was selected on the second team. It was the league's first all-star team.

In addition, Pam and Jerry Ann represented the Mideast section in the National Tournament in New Jersey. Their section had two current U.S. team players and six former U.S. team players and finished second in the country.

This year marked the final campaign for three girls. Terri Burak had a great year on defense while this year's co-captains-Frail and Smith, closed their outstanding careers with super seasons. Frail ended her career with ten goals and 38 assists while Smith scored 24 times and had 38 assists.

Also closing out their season was the jayvee team. The "unsung heroes" really had a good year. Those junior varsity members included: Mary Beth Holiday, Sharon Martenson, Diane McGovern, Kathy Reynolds, and Betsy Ward. Those that played both varsity and jayvee include Michele Weiss, Megan Ward, Gerri McAfee and Nancy Cole.

It was a season that will be hard to match or forget for that matter, but with quality people involved in the program, we may see more of the same in the future.

Bowling Results

The Vets Club and The Pack were the big winners as the Wilkes College Mixed League moved towards the end of the first half regular season. Jim Caulson's 224-531 was all that the Vets needed to humiliate Bud's, sweeping them 3-0 and all but knocking that team out of the American Conference play-off picture. The 752 Crew, meanwhile, were taking their 3-0 bye and moving into third place—where three wins will guarantee them a play-off spot. The ABC leaders, Poky's, led by John Yudichak's 231+523, took two of three from the Mother Brothers, chopping their division clinching magic number to one in the process.

The National Conference's Pack, as mentioned, showed themselves as real contenders by sweeping the Avengers. They now trail the Assorted Nuts (1-2 vs. the BS'ers) by only one game. The Nuts and the Pack are scheduled to square-off this Friday with the NBC title on the line. Also, Good News, losers of three to the EE's (Joe Rauschmayer 187-526) were all but officially eliminated as far as the play-offs go for this semester.

Others: Karl Blight 215-631, Martha Lasco 174-473, Norm Rickles 201-575, and Jim Edwards 159-454.

Wilkes vs. King's 3 Times?

The pairings have been announced for the second annual "Colonel Classic" basketball tourney slated for January 4 and 5 at the Wilkes College Gymnasium. The cage tourney, will be co-hosted this year by Wilkes and the area Kiwanis organization.

Heading up the Kiwanis interests is John Anstett, while George Pawlusch will serve as tournament director.

Division II power Bridgeport University will square off with King's College in the opening game at 7:00 on January 4 while host Wilkes meets Merrimack College.

The losers of the opening games will meet in a consolation game at 7:00 the following evening, with the championship tilt set for 9:00 that night.

Last season Hartwick took the first tourney title with a 88-76 win over Wilkes College. Hartwick's Larry Carpenter was named as the tourney's MVP and joined five others on the All-Tourney Team: Hartwick's Jerry Fulmer and Don McAllister, Bob Gibbs of Pharmacy and John Zapko and Mike McCarrie of Wilkes.

Hartwick advanced to the finals with an 89-54 win over Slippery Rock State, while Wilkes downed Philadelphia Pharmacy 76-68 in the opening round. Pharmacy got by the Rock for third place in the consolation game.

The Purple Knights of Bridgeport are coming off the best season ever in the school's history when they went 24-8 and moved to the final four of Division II. Merrimack, which was in the Division II NCAA Regional Tourney two seasons ago, comes off a 3-21 slate, but Coach Frank Monahan's team should have a fine season in 1979-80.

The Monarchs of King's College were 18-8 last year including two wins over Wilkes. Ed Donohue's team will be tough this year, led by captain Joe Hand, a sharp-shooter from Philadelphia. Donohue has some top-notch New York freshmen in camp ready to show their stuff. Don't underestimate King's this year. And there is a good shot Wilkes can meet King's THREE times this season.

There are already two regularly scheduled battles set (there on Dec. 5 and here on January 23.) But, both teams could possibly meet in the classic's title game. Wow, three barn-burners like last year's would really create some local college basketball interest in this area.

We had a chance to catch our two cage rivals (King's and Scranton) this past week. The Monarchs held an open scrimmage under game situations and looked good, as we noted above. Scranton opened up its season on Saturday at home with a one-point win over Lock Haven. They looked sluggish, but Irv Johnson came on to lead all scorers with 21 tallies.

We just can't believe a writer for a local paper said in his column that the pro basketball in the area — Pennsylvania Barons — is more exciting than as he said, "Division III Wilkes and King's." He is no where right, as last season's Wilkes-King's games were the most exciting sporting events of the year.

Wilkes wrestling expert Bob Gaetano tells us the Colonel wrestling team is tougher this season than last year's impressive unit. But he also adds that the schedule is also tougher. No one can ever criticize John Reese for ducking anyone. He meets the powers, and sometimes pulls off some mighty upsets.

Slated to meet Wilkes this year, for example are: Lehigh, Oregon State, Navy, East Stroudsburg State, Tennessee, Syracuse, Rutgers, Penn State, Old Dominion, and Bucknell. Get the idea?
