

5 Hampton Men To Visit Campus

W. Virginia Students Arrive Today In 2nd Part of Exchange Program; Rosenbergs to Entertain at Social

Representatives of the student body at Hampton Institute will come to Wilkes today as part of the exchange student program. This exchange plan originated at the request of the West Virginia school early in the year. In correspondence with Mr. George Elliot, Wilkes' Acting Dean of Men, Hampton Institute officials expressed a desire to have members of their student body visit Wilkes, and invited Wilkes to send visiting students in return.

The first weekend in April, our four class presidents and one Student Council official, traveled to Hampton Institute. Those who represented Wilkes were: Bob Lynch, Dave Vann, Bob Thomas, George Batterson, and Larry Amdur.

The Hampton Institute people will arrive about 6:30 o'clock this evening. They will be met by their hosts at the Administration Building, Chase Hall. A scheduled program for the weekend has been arranged by three Student Council members: Larry Amdur, Sam Lowe and Chet Miller.

At 7:00 p.m., our guests will have dinner at the college cafeteria with student hosts and friends; at 8 p.m., there will be a social with Dr. and Mrs. Rosenberg. Dr. Rosenberg is Chairman of the Commerce and Finance Department.

Tomorrow, our visitors start the day off with a tour of the campus followed by a welcome by President Eugene S. Farley at his office. There will also be a coffee and doughnuts reception at 10:30 a.m. at McClintock Hall with members of the faculty and student body. The Hampton Institute people will complete a full day with an outing and picnic supper at Dr. Farley's farm at Beaumont.

Sunday morning our guests will be going to church with their hosts. Then, Sunday afternoon, after a busy three days at Wilkes-Barre, Hampton's five men will return home.

Manuscript Set For Early Distribution

Two Short Stories, "New Look" Featured In '56 Literary Mag.

The Spring, 1956 edition of the Manuscript, the College literary magazine, will be ready for distribution on campus the early part of next week, it was announced today by the Manuscript Association.

Copies will be placed in the library and all other buildings on campus.

Featured in this year's edition are short stories by Jeannette Perrins and Tom Kaska, both of whom make their debuts as Manuscript authors. "The Letter", by Jeannette Perrins, treats an anxious day in the life of a coed. "The Wall", by Tom Kaska, captures the tragedy and pathos of local mine shutdowns through the eyes of a Slavic miner.

Also featured are articles by Shirley Ray, Katherine Kescanko, John Carling, Frank Lutinski, and Barbara Boock.

Illustrations by Pat Reese and Della King, and tailpieces by Kay Noonan add vigor and freshness to the magazine as a whole.

Several innovations in design have been made to give the Manuscript a new look. The cover has been redesigned, and the quality of paper changed.

Because too few articles had been submitted to warrant a legitimate contest, the $25 savings bond will not be awarded, as was originally planned. None of the articles appearing in the magazine was submitted to competition by the author.

TDR ELECTION RESULTS

New officers were elected by Theta Delta Rho on Wednesday. The results were announced by Bernice Thomas, incumbent President of the sorority.

President: Patsy Reese.
Vice President: Peggy Stevens.
Treasurer: Naoma Kaufer.
Secretary: Pat Bedeski.

TDR to Entertain Mothers at Tea on McClintock Lawn

by Norma Jean Davis

Mothers of Theta Delta Rho members are in store for a special treat this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock when they will be entertained at the Mothers' Day Tea in McClintock Garden.

The Tea, which is an annual affair, is designed to give "Mom" a chance to relax and enjoy herself, to meet her daughter's friends, and to see the College Campus.

General chairman of the affair Connie Kamarunas announced that invitations have been sent to the mothers of all the girls. It is hoped that every member of the sorority will take this opportunity to 'treat' their 'Mom' and show her just how much she's appreciated.

The following have been named committee chairmen: Hostess, Jane Obitz, city; Entertainment, Miriam Thomson, Hershey; Clean-up, Jessie Roderick, city; Decoration, Carolyn Goeringer, Dallas; House, Gail Laines, city; Invitations, Helen Young, Berwick; Refreshments, Nancy Batchelor, city; Publicity, Audrey Radler, West Wyoming.

Mrs. Bastress Heads Faculty Coffee Hour

Wilkes faculty women will hold an All College Coffee Hour Wednesday from 3 to 5 o'clock in the College cafeteria. Chairman of the affair is Mrs. Alfred Bastress.

Assisting Mrs. Bastress will be Mesdames John Chwalek, Francis Salley, Hoh-Cheung Mui, Sheldon Curtis, Harold Thatcher, Charles Worstall, Gladys Davis, John Cabore, and Arthur Kruger.

Pouring for the Coffee Hour will be: Mesdames Eugene Farley, Hugo Mailey, Robert Werner, and Miss Margaret O'Brien.

WC TO SUPPORT RED CROSS DRIVE

Second Wilkes Blood Day Today; Reese Hopes Quota is Topped Again; Three-Fold Insurance Plan Will Hold

Wilkes students will again have the opportunity to donate a pint of blood in the second half of the semi-annual blood drive held by the Red Cross today at the blood center on South Franklin Street from eleven to five o'clock.

John Reese, Student Activities Director, is in charge of the drive. He has announced that since 1953 more than one thousand Wilkes students have donated at least one of their eleven pints of blood to this worthy cause. Reese expressed hope that the donations for the college this semester will be much greater than the 97 pints given last December.

Donors must be at least 18 to contribute; those under 21 must have the written consent of their parents.

Mr. Robert W. McDonouth, director of the blood insurance program at the center and a Wilkes graduate, stated that the same insurance program used last year will be employed this year. This three-fold plan states that the Red Cross will furnish blood to the donor, his immediate family or any member of the group (in this case all Wilkes students) when the need arises. To be eligible for these benefits of blood insurance, Wilkes must meet their quota.

Donors who give 8 pints of blood are eligible for the "Gallon Club". For the benefit of the community, Wilkes and yourself, drop over to the Red Cross Center between 11 and 5 o'clock today and give.

Seniors Complete Practice Teaching In Local Schools

Wilkes seniors in education began their eight weeks of student teaching in Wyoming Valley schools on February 27th. The initial part of the program consisted of an observation period of from one to five days, and was followed by a supervised teaching period of seven weeks.

These education majors have had their first taste of teaching after spending the past sixteen years of their lives as students.

The following completed their teaching in the area's elementary schools: State Street School, Nanticoke, Bernice Thomas, second grade; Lafayette School, Wilkes-Barre, Geraldine Kolotelo, fourth grade, and Victoria Zavatski, third grade; Hoyt School, Wilkes-Barre, Gail Laines, third grade, Jessie Roderick, first grade, Barbara Rogers, second grade, Mary Zavatski, fourth grade.

Franklin Street School, Wilkes-Barre, James Jones, fourth grade, Jeannette Perrins, second grade, Craolyn Selecky, fifth grade; Mackin School, Wilkes-Barre, Jane Obitz, first grade; Third Avenue School, Kingston, Patricia Stout, sixth grade, Warren Williams, fourth grade; Chester Street School, Kingston, Nancy Beam, second grade.

Student teaching in the secondary schools are: Coughlin High School, Wilkes-Barre, James Benson, mathematics, Clifford Brautigan, commercial, Glenn Carey, mathematics, Ivan Falk, English, Melvin McNew, mathematics, Charles Neely, commercial, Pearl Onacko, social studies and English, Samuel Shugar, science.

At G.A.R. High School, Wilkes-Barre: James Ferris, mathematics, Robert Evans, French and social studies, Joan Shoemaker, history and English, John Stein, history and social studies.

Meyers High School, Wilkes-Barre: Sylvia Bator, commercial, Henry Deible, mathematics, Leo Dombroski, history, James Coleman, commercial, Helen Krachenfels, English, Marianna Kraynack, French and social studies, Dorothy Patz, biology, Glenn Phethean, English, John Suffren, mathematics, Glenn Williams, civics.

At Kingston High School: Barbara Boock, biology, Katherine Edgerton, history, Richard Jones, English, John Kushnerick, chemistry, Donald McFadden, mathematics, Leah Jean Neuburger, commercial, June Stevens, history, Carl Van

LETTERMEN OFFER 2-BIT SHOE SHINE GI BOOTS RULED OUT

Tickets are now on sale for the annual Lettermen's Shoe Shine Days which will be held next Thursday and Friday on campus. The Lettermen are issuing tickets beforehand so students can avoid the sudden rush in the latter part of next week, it was announced by General Chairman Al Manarski.

The Lettermen are offering the brightest and most lasting shine to Wilkes students for only twenty-five cents. In fact, they will shine anything but G.I. boots.

Three groups of bootblacks will be on campus to accommodate the demands of all shoe-conscious students. One group will be permanently located in the cafeteria and two others will move about campus.

Rags, brushes, and other shoe-shine necessities will be donated to the club by the members.

Cheerleaders Add 4; New Squad Totals 7

Four Wilkes College coeds have been added to the cheerleading squad as a result of elections held after last Tuesday's assembly. The new cheerleaders are: Gail Schaffhauser, junior, Shavertown; Alison Rubury, sophomore, Forty Fort; Marcia Elston, freshman, Lehman; and Grace Major, freshman, Lehman.

These new cheerleaders were admitted to the squad by a committee which consisted of this year's cheerleaders, together with Mr. Robert Moran, cheerleading adviser, and Mrs. Gertrude Doane, Dean of Women.

Schaffhauser, Rubury, Elston and Major will combine with returnees Phyllis Walsh, junior, city; Ann Kennedy, junior, city; and Judy Menegus, sophomore, Clifton, N.J., to bring next year's cheering squad to a total of seven girls.

Bio Society Elects Weiner '56-'57 Prexy

Last week, the members of the Biological Society of Wilkes College elected those people who will occupy the administrative positions for the forthcoming year, 1956-7. The new officers include: Leslie P. Weiner, president; Vincent Drapiewski, vice president; Gloria Dran, secretary; John Saba, treasurer; and Marvin Kurlancheek, program chairman. The election proved to be a very close one with many of the candidates winning by extremely small margins.

The newly elected officers are in charge of the club's outing which will take place this Sunday at Wolfe's Grove. The outing is an annual affair of the club and serves to give the incoming administrators a chance to exercise their powers and an opportunity to acquire experience in club affairs from the administrative level.

The program for next year's club is an extensive one and aims to duplicate, if not surpass, this year's very highly successful one.

NEW DORM COUNCIL MEMBERS ELECTED; FARLEY AT MEETING

Dr. Eugene S. Farley, Wilkes President, was guest of the Inter-Dormitory Council at its meeting Wednesday evening at the college dining hall. The college president attended as part of the policy of close co-operation between the dormitory group and the administration.

Main points of business at the meeting concerned the new members elected to the Council, and the report of the Council president, to be made at next week's final meeting of the incumbent Council.

The present Council will be succeeded by a group composed of the following newly elected members:

From Weckesser Hall: Arthur Rogovin, Ahmad Kazimi; Butler Hall: Reginald Mattioli, Max Friedlander; Warner Hall: James Moser; Ashley Hall: Robert Chase, Jerome Stein; Sterling Hall: Joan Rishkofski, Mary Eshleman, Peggy Stevens; McClintock Hall: Judy Menegus, Mary Rose Sidari.

Dyke, commercial, Dorcas Younger, English.

Nanticoke High School, Nanticoke: William Davis, commercial; Sayre Area Joint Schools, Sayre, Pa.: William Baran, history; Hazleton High School, Hazleton: Ralph Whitmer, history.

The Spring Attempt

As Milton Caniff's Air Force characters above remind our readers, the time has come for the annual spring co-operation with the local Red Cross blood bank. We suppose that many of our readers will be urged to go over to South Franklin Street to get in credit for a pint for some particular club or organization.

This may or may not be an effective manner in which to increase the amount of blood, but the ethical tone — to such method seems a bit shady. Such efforts represent an attempt to institutionalize what is, in the last analysis, a rather personal decision. Whether there is any credit given to any particular group should be immaterial in questions like this.

Welcome, Traveler

This weekend there are visitors on campus. Hampton Institute, a West Virginia college, is sending five delegates up to Wilkes as part of a student exchange program beginning this year. It has been hoped that the program might develop into an annual affair, perhaps at some future time incorporating reciprocal study plans.

For the present, however, the Hampton students are guests of the College, and thereby, of its students. Hampton chances to be an all-dormitory institution, so that when the Wilkes delegates visited the campus several weeks ago they had ample opportunity to visit with the Hampton people. It so happens that Wilkes is largely a commuter school, so that it behooves students to go a little out of their way over the weekend to assure these visitors of a reasonable view of what the college here is like.

The DEAN'S CORNER

By George F. Elliot, Acting Dean of Men

The Educated Man

Every once in a while I worry whether you and I don't make the consistent mistake of becoming confused about ends and means. We build the finest buildings to house our educational plants, and we staff them with the best trained teachers available. Each year publishers spend thousands of dollars trying to improve the text-books students will use. And each September Young America ventures forth in search of that elusive generality we call, "education".

At this stage of the school year, I often wonder how many of us have any concept of what it's all about or of what education really means. How many of us delude ourselves into the false complacency that a mere piece of paper called a diploma has significant value? How many of us have confused education with a series of tests passed, with an impressive array of grades, or with an accumulation of facts and figures temporarily remembered? How many of us have forgotten that one of our primary functions in life is to live — with ourselves and with others like us?

The other day I came across Socrates' concept of education. I give it to you for your thought and for your earnest consideration.

"Whom, then, do I call educated? First, those who manage well the circumstances which they encounter day by day, and who possess a judgement which is accurate in meeting occasions as they arise; Next, those who are decent and honorable in their intercourse with all men, bearing easily and good naturedly what is unpleasant or offensive in others, and being themselves as agreeable and reasonable to their associates as it is humanly possible to be; Furthermore, those who hold their pleasures always under control, and are not unduly overcome by their misfortunes, bearing up under them bravely and in a manner worthy of our common nature; Finally, and most important of all, those who are not spoiled by their successes, and who do not desert their true selves, but hold their ground steadfastly as wise and sober-minded men, rejoicing no more in the good things which have come to them through chance than in those which through their nature and intelligence are theirs since birth. Those who have a character which is in accord, not with one of these things, but with all of them, these I maintain are educated and whole men possessed of all the virtues of a man."

Columbia Offers Hints on Hazing For Wilkes Study

The Student Council held its regular bi-monthly meeting Wednesday evening in the cafeteria. Newly elected representatives as well as incumbent members attended. President Robert Lynch announced that he had received a letter from Columbia University containing some suggestions for an effective hazing program. The letter was referred to the freshman class which has charge of hazing next year.

Final plans for the Hampton Institute weekend were made, and an itinerary planned by Sam Lowe, Larry Amdur, Chet Miller and Mr. Elliot was presented to the Council. On Saturday afternoon all Council members are invited to an outing with the men from Hampton, at Dr. Farley's farm.

Other business dealt mainly with committee reports for the Cinderella Ball. Tickets will be on sale this week. Admission is $2.00 per couple and a no corsage rule will apply as in the past.

Larry Groninger, decorations chairman for the Ball, asked for four subsidiary chairmen to work with him and handle specific areas of the decorating job. President Lynch appointed Larry Amdur, Sam Lowe, Dick Carpenter and Chet Miller.

The reorganization meeting of the Council will be held on Wednesday, May 16. At this meeting officers for 1956-7 will be elected.

Space Travel, Rockets Discussed in Assembly

by Cliff Brothers

Dr. Charles J. Worstell, Wilkes College professor of physics, spoke at last Tuesday's assembly program on the problems of space travel and the flying saucer issue. Intermingled with semi-technical language, the use of toy balloon, and with the help of a large cardboard rocket, the doctor caused the problems of space travel, and the flying saucer controversy to become more vivid in the minds of everyone.

With the toy balloon, the professor effectively demonstrated the principle of rocket locomotion. He emphasized the likelihood of celestial travel in the not too distant future. The chief problem now is discovery and utilization of the proper fuel, he pointed out.

The implications of the lecture, however, indicated that in many persons' opinions there has already been discovered not only the proper fuel, but that it has been put to use — in flying saucers.

Although many are inclined to scoff at the idea that there are such things as flying saucers, they should be cautioned to regard the massive authenticated data compiled, testifying to their existence.

JUNIOR CLASS PLANS HAYRIDE TOMORROW AT EL POCONO RANCH

By Mary Louise Onufer

The Junior Class is busily making preparations for its final big event of the year. The event is a hayride which will take place on May 5 at the El Pocono Dude Ranch, the place which will be well-remembered as the scene of the Winter Carnival.

The affair is restricted to junior class members and their guests. Admission for juniors is 75 cents, guests $1.50.

Larry Amdur, Junior Class president, appointed Jerry Stein chairman of the affair. He is assisted by Gloria Dran, Phyllis Walsh, Bill Farish, Neil Dadurka, Publicity; Marilyn Williams, Barbara Tanski, Bill Rinkin, Entertainment; John Coates, Audrey Cragle, Natalie Barone, Larry Cohen, Frank Cucila, Refreshments; Jesse Choper, Seymour Holtzman, Bill Jacobson, Don Straub, Transportation.

A caravan to the El Pocono will form at 7:45 in front of Warner Hall. The event begins at 8:30.

Soph Banquet Tomorrow Honors Terminal Students

Invitations have been issued to members of the sophomore class and guests for the banquet which will be held tomorrow evening in the college cafeteria. The affair will be held to honor the terminal students who started out with the Class of 1958.

The terminal students who will be graduated in June began campus life with the present sophomore class as a single unit of freshmen, sharing the hazing pranks of upper-classesmen. Many of them have been active in class affairs, holding offices in the class and being members of the class council.

After a buffet-style dinner in the college cafeteria, a dance will be held in the college gymnasium for the sophomores and their guests. A band has been obtained to provide music for the affair.

Flowers will be given to all of the ladies present at the dinner, it was announced by General Chairman Leonard Mulcahy. Mulcahy also announced that a program has been arranged, with Sam Lowe being the master of ceremonies.

Committee chairmen working for the banquet are Ted Jones, entertainment; John Morenko, refreshments; Janice Schuster, publicity; Carol Goeringer, decorations; Margo Malko, invitations; Sam Puma, clean-up; Cliff Brothers, flowers; Dave Vann, receiving line.

The sophomores expect to have six exchange students from Hampton Institute of West Virginia as special guests.

CORRECTION — In last week's Beacon it was erroneously reported that the Colonels' Queen at the recent April Showers Ball was presented with a watch donated by Meyer's Jewelers. The correct donor was Morris Jewelers.

Will Aid U. of Penna. In Chemical Research; Studies for Doctorate

Sheldon H. Isaac, senior chemistry major at Wilkes, has received an appointment to the staff of the University of Pennsylvania where he will work under a Research Assistantship as he continues his studies for an advanced degree.

Isaac was informed of his acceptance into the University graduate school last week. This news was followed by a letter from Dr. E. Charles Evers, research chemist, that he had been appointed as assistant in Dr. Evers' research projects. The position will allow Isaac to work on to his ultimate goal, a doctorate in Chemistry, while he investigates inorganic materials by physico-chemical methods. He will begin his work and studies this July.

Commenting on the appointment Isaac stated, "I certainly am thankful for getting an opportunity to do research work while I study for further degrees. I realize I have not applied myself as I should have — but my four years at Wilkes have not been easy. I am determined to apply myself more and leave a favorable impression of Wilkes with the people at U. of P. Wilkes has given me many pleasant memories and dear friends."

Now in his last semester at Wilkes, Isaac has been active in the college Chemistry Club, the Beacon, and intramural sports. He was a member of the dean's list for the third time last semester.

Isaac is the son of Rabbi and Mrs. David Isaac, Luzerne. He graduated from Luzerne High School with honors in 1952.

Press Club Tours Phila. Inquirer Plant

by Janice Schuster

Eight members of the College Press Club and club advisor John D. Curtis visited the publishing plant of the Philadelphia Inquirer yesterday morning. The club members also were guided through the television studios of Station WCAU-TV in the afternoon.

The purpose of the trip was to acquaint the club members with the operation of a big city newspaper. An issue of the paper was being published and the students were able to see both the news-writing and mechanical aspects of producing the paper.

The trip was made by car. The students left the campus at 6:30 a.m. and returned late last evening. During the day a tour was made to the interesting points in the city.

Members of the club who went on the trip are Carol Breznay, Thomas Myers, Thomas Price, Janice Schuster, Audrey Radler, Cliff Kobland, Mary Louise Onufer, and Richard Davis.

Colonels Open Active Week At E. Stroudsburg Tomorrow

Golfers to Compete In MAC Tourney Play Tomorrow

The newly formed Wilkes College golf team will compete in the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference golf championships tomorrow at the American Legion Country Club near Mount Union, Pa.

The Colonels linksmen will compete against 12 other MAC squads in the one-day, 36-hole medalist play.

Lehigh University will defend its title, won last year, against the wide-open field which includes several past champions.

Juniata College, a three-time winner, and Haverford, last year's runner-up, both are expected to make strong bids to capture the championship from Lehigh.

Other contenders for team and individual championships will include Hofstra, Bucknell, and Franklin and Marshall.

Coach Jack Curtis was undecided about the makeup of his four-man squad for the tournament, but it appeared that Felix Serafin, Jr., Bernie Danckes, Dave Polley and Bill Llewellyn might make the trip. Neil Dadurka was the other possibility.

While the Colonels do not appear strong enough to capture any titles in this, their first time Curtis was confident that the experience would be invaluable to his underclass team.

Leslie Norbury, a junior at Lehigh, will defend his medalist title, won last year with a 75-78-153 over the tough Lehigh course.

Dutchmen and Colonels To Play in Bologna Bowl

A Wilkes College football team will appear in a bowl game for the first time this fall, according to a schedule released by Lebanon Valley College.

The Colonels gridders will meet the Flying Dutchmen at Lebanon on September 29 in the traditional Bologna Bowl game, which is sponsored by the Lebanon Kiwanis Club every year.

The tilt will be the opening game for Lebanon Valley, but the Colonels open with Hofstra the week before.

Reese Sends Milliman To Mound in Attempt To Avenge Previous Loss

The Colonel baseball team will swing back into action tomorrow afternoon at East Stroudsburg after being idled all week due to a light schedule and rain.

The only other game scheduled this week, with Scranton, was postponed Wednesday due to rain. The game has been rescheduled as a night tilt at Schantz Field, Scranton, on the night of May 14.

John Reese will probably send John Milliman to the hill tomorrow against East Stroudsburg for the big righthander's seventh start of the year. After throwing a shutout at Cortland last Saturday, Milliman now has a 3-3 record.

With Milliman on the hill, Reese will be able to use Mel McNew in the outfield. McNew has been hitting well when used in the garden.

The Colonels now have a 4-5 record and appear to be over the hump in the schedule. Tomorrow's tilt with Stroudsburg will be a return engagement and the Blue and Gold clouters will be out to avenge an early season loss to the Mountaineers. Milliman lost that one as his mates couldn't get him any runs.

The Colonels will return home Tuesday to meet a strong Lebanon Valley team at Artillery Park. Depending on the outcome of tomorrow's tilt, Mel McNew will pitch against the Dutchmen. McNew and Milliman have been virtually an iron-man combination to date.

The club will take a trip down to Selinsgrove Thursday to play Susquehanna, and then return home next Saturday for the traditional game against the Alumni.

Colonel Netmen Make First Start At Wyoming Sem

by Tom Myers

Another milestone will be marked tomorrow at 10 A.M., when the first Wilkes College tennis team takes to the courts of Wyoming Seminary for their initial match.

Fred Boote, senior, has been named player-coach of our newest intercollegiate sport, and will choose the men to face the Sem team tomorrow. The choice had not been made at press time. The candidates are: William Savitsky, ophomore; Ronald Krupinski, junior; George Weaver, junior; Francis Gallia, sophomore; Leroy Fiergang, sophomore; and freshmen Max Friedlander and Robert Koser.

Four tilts are on the card for the netmen so far, with two sets to be played against the University of Scranton and a second meeting with the Sem squad.

After the match with Sem, the Wilkesmen will have a nine-day layoff before tackling Scranton in another away meeting, on Monday, May 14.

The remaining two matches on the schedule will be on the Colonels' home grounds, the municipal courts in Kirby Park. The same two clubs will furnish the opposition: Scranton will invade on Saturday, May 19; with the season finale pitting the Wilkes netmen against Sem on Friday, May 25.

McNEW WINS "ATHLETE" AWARD FOR SEASON'S PITCHING, HITTING

Mel McNew has been selected as athlete of the week on the basis of his pitching and hitting performances with this year's baseball Colonels. He has been hitting consistently, playing right field when not pitching. Mel's pitching has been good all season, although he has suffered two losses without getting into the win column.

He lost one game to Albright and was tagged with his second loss by a powerful Ithaca squad, 10-0, last Friday, after pitching three innings of good ball against Cortland the day before. He was taken out of that game after three innings in order to be able to pitch the next day, with Birnbaum getting the win in relief.

One of the better hitters on the club, he thumped two singles in three official trips to the plate last Saturday, helping to spark the Colonel swatters in their victory over Stroudsburg.

In the earned run department, Mel shows up to good advantage with a 2.96. This puts him hot on the trail of John Milliman, who has been leading the earned run average parade so far this season.

His thirteen strikeouts in a losing cause against Ithaca impressed major league scouts in attendance. They said that he could be an effective big league pitcher if he develops an overhand curve ball to go with his sidearm fast ball.

The Ashley Hall resident, who hails from Baltimore, has recently completed student teaching at Coughlin High School under Bernie Cobb, former major league star. Mel will graduate next February.

BOOTER PROSPECTS ASKED TO MEET KAZIMI, GIORDANO

Coach John Reese has requested all students who are interested in playing soccer next year to meet with Ahmad Kazimi and Nickie Giordano at Kirby Park Monday after school.

CATRINO ON BRIDGE

How to estimate partnership trick taking capacity after you have opened the bidding and your partner as responder has—

A. Raised your suit bid of one to two.

Since this expresses a holding of not more than ten points maximum - and since you have already expressed thirteen by opening the bidding - Now if you do not hold any more than your original commitment then your maximum is only twenty-three points (13 plus 10 max.) and since it takes approximately twenty-six points to bid a game in no trump or a major suit it follows then that you must pass with only thirteen or so points. Should you hold an additional three or four points you express that by bidding for one trick more, and if partner has a maximum raise (ten points and not six or seven) then he will bid the game since he then is in a position to assess the holdings in a much clearer perspective after you have expressed additional values by rebidding.

B. Bid another suit - such as one spade - two hearts.

Since this bid (2H) shows from ten points upward it behooves you to show your power now - If only 13 points then you rebid your suit at the same level (1S - 2H - 2S). This sequence tells partner that you have a minimum opening bid and little else. Partner is now charged with the ultimate fate and limit of the contract, inasmuch as you have had an opportunity to show more power but didn't, then it follows that your maximum is 13 to 15 points only.

Should you have a king and/or queen better than an opening then you show this by raising partner's called suit to three or by calling two no trump (15 - 17/18 points). If you have 19 to 20 points then you bid three no trump.

C. Bid two no trump - since the bid shows from 13 - 15 points.

This combined with your already committed 13 points assures you that you have game. If your hand has no short suits you bid three no trump. If your hand does have a singleton then either bid another suit or rebid your original suit. Then ask partner to bid game in your suit or carry on for game at no trump. This is his discretion only. You are not to disturb his final decision.

D. Bid three no trump.

Since this shows 16-18 points and you have already shown 13 - You may pass if you have little else. You bid again only when you hold 4 points more than your opening.

E. Partner has bid one in a suit of higher rank than yours.

Treat this cautiously. This is an indefinite call. Partner may have as little as 5 points or as much as 20 points. Be careful if you have only 13-15, then bid no trump. This tells partner you have a minimum opening only. Now he can judge the hand the way his hand dictates. If you cannot bid 1 no trump because your distribution is awkward then simply rebid your suit. This tells partner you have only a simple opening.

Wilkes Psych-Soc. Club Visits Mental Hospital

by Jerome Stein

The Psych-Soc. Club, as part of their annual program, journeyed yesterday to Retreat Mental Hospital. The members left from Chase Hall at 8:00 a.m. and returned at noon the same day.

The mental institution is located near Shickshinny, Pa. and the officials in charge of the institution, who have been very cooperative in the past to Wilkes students, continued to extend their hospitality to them as evidenced by yesterday's tour.

Each year, this experience has afforded the participating members with an insight into the so-called "inside world" and has given them a better understanding of the behavior of maladjusted individuals. Furthermore, the tour enabled the students to get an idea of the mechanics of administering such an institution.

The participants included the following:

S. Lisman, V. Brehm, M. Harlan, M. Eshleman, B. Boock, G. Phillips, H. Carini, A. Martin, T. Gushman, D. Fisch, M. Laines, W. Kaenich, R. Sutherland, B. Nielsen, G. Evans, C. Brothers, M. Friedlander, and J. Walsh.
