REESE GETS SOCCER AND BASEBALL POSTS

Seniors To Romp Tonight at Gym

By JANICE SCHUSTER

The Harlem Globetrotters and The House of David basketball teams will invade the Wilkes Gymnasium tonight portrayed by the fiercest members of the senior class and the most vicious members of the faculty.

The seniors and courageous members of the faculty will be on exhibit at the annual Senior Spectacle starting at 8 p.m. for the purpose of raising funds for the senior class gift and for covering other graduation expenses. The crowd is in for a rare treat of athletics—all in a class of its own, drama—as only Wilkesmen can perform it, and a dance—according to the individual's taste.

Coaches Parker (Abe Saperstein) Petrillak and Amos Fay have been skillfully drilling their Globetrotters as only experts can. The men have been in very strict training for the past several weeks.

The probable starting line-up of the Sinister Seniors is fortunate in having such powerful players as Harry "Healthy" Ennis, John "Balduecio" Lancio, Morry "Hydromatic" Hollander, Ron "Flash" Fitzgerald, and Al "The Bull" Feld.

Dean Ralston has been seen vigorously practicing foul shots behind Butler Hall where he has set up a peach basket as a target, and Bob Moran has been seen dribbling his trombone home lately. Ralston and Moran are expected to star for the House of David team along with teammates Pot-shot Partridge, Efficient Elliot, Rampaging Reese, Flash Farrar, and Mighty Mock. The stock market has recently reported a record sell-out of Serutan (That's nature spelled backwards)—so the faculty force offers a threat to the senior boys.

In addition to the basketball game, there will be a skit on pro-wrestling as shown by professionals Killer Trosko, Bruiser Chapko, The Mauler Elias, and Crusher Arvan.

The athletic men of might will be cheered on by very special and unusual cheerleaders who have been chosen especially for the event.

Hair-pulling and shin-kicking will be ruled out by referees Art (P.I.A.A.) Hoover and Hugo (Constitution) Mailey.

1951 Penn State Graduate To Head Physical Education Department

By JACK CURTIS, Editor

John Reese, Wilkes wrestling coach, will become director of physical education as well as head soccer coach next fall, it was learned yesterday by the Beacon.

In addition, Reese will become head baseball mentor next spring, it was revealed, making him the first three-sport coach in many years at Wilkes.

He replaces Robert W. Partridge, who has been the physical education, soccer and baseball head since the opening of the gymnasium in 1950. Partridge resigned, effective in June, to accept a position on the faculty of the Kent School, Kent, Conn.

Reese will also continue as head wrestling coach at the college, a job he has held, part-time, with a good deal of success for the past two years.

Presently a member of the faculty of Kingston High School, the new appointee will resign teaching and coaching duties at the West Side school effective this June.

TDR Schedules Tea For High School Girls On St. Patrick's Day

The women of Theta Delta Rho will hold a St. Patrick's Day Tea on Thursday, March 17, at McClintock Hall from 3 to 5. The Wilkes Women will play host to students from high schools throughout the valley at this annual affair of T.D.R.

Nancy Beam, general chairman of the tea, has announced the following committee heads: Nancy Morris, refreshments; Carol Specter and Ruth Younger, house; Janet Eckell, cleanup; Irene Goliash, favors; Pearl Onacko, publicity.

John Reese

He is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University, class of 1951, where he majored in physical education, with a minor in social studies. He wrestled on the Penn State varsity under the well-known mat coach Charlie Speidel and held a Mid-Atlantic weight championship while at State College.

He attended Millersville State Teachers College in his freshman year and held the State Teachers College 123-pound title that season. He is an alumnus of Kingston High School, where he began his interest in sports and returned there in 1951 to guide two straight District 2, PIAA wrestling championship teams. He also served as baseball coach and assistant football coach at his alma mater.

Reese told the Beacon yesterday, "I am happy for such a fine opportunity to come to Wilkes. From my experiences as wrestling coach on a part-time basis, I feel sure that I will be very happy here. I feel it's a real advancement." He added, "And now I'll be back to what I like best, physical education." The director has been teaching history and social studies at Kingston.

He will teach all men's gym and hygiene classes at Wilkes beginning in the fall, and will have charge of the gymnasium as did his predecessor, Bob Partridge.

While at Penn State, John studied under the famed Bill Jeffries, well-known Nittany Lion soccer coach, and participated in several phases of the game.

A veteran of two years in the Navy, Reese is married to the former Patsy Tosh, of South Wilkes-Barre. They have one child, a son.

Reese's appointment puts the accent on youth in the Wilkes coaching ranks. Two weeks ago, Russell Picton was named head football coach to replace George F. Ralston, who will study for his doctorate next year at Columbia.

FLANNERY RETAINS EXTEMPORANEOUS TITLE

Wilkes' J. Harold Flannery Jr. became the first speaker ever to win the Pennsylvania extemporaneous speaking championship two years in succession.

Flannery, a senior from West Pittston, won his second victory at the annual Debating Association of Pennsylvania Colleges debating and speaking tournament held at Allegheny College, Meadville, last weekend.

In the preliminary rounds, he spoke for ten minutes on the subject "Why Is the United States Unwilling to Compete with Foreign Competition on an Equal Basis?" In the final rounds of the speaking contest, he then spoke on changes in Russian government personnel as perhaps affecting Russian foreign policy.

Aside from defending his championship, Flannery also engaged in the tournament as a member of the negative side of the varsity debate team, which bounced back last weekend with a record somewhat improved over that of the week before, when it lost at Dartmouth. This time, talking at Allegheny they emerged eighth, winning six, and losing only four.

The debaters defeated the Penn State University men's team and were further victorious over Mt. Mercy College, Dickinson, California State Teachers College, Washington and Jefferson U., and the Westminster women's team.

The local talkers were defeated only by St. Vincent's, Seton Hall, the Westminster men, and the University of Scranton.

On the affirmative side of the question of United States recognition of Communist China were Leslie Weiner and James Neveras, while Jesse Choper and J. Harold Flannery Jr. spoke for the negative.

Neveras and Flannery each placed first in four of their debates, and will appear as a team in the Regional District Seven tournament which decides eligibility for the national tournament later in the season at West Point. The Regional meet will be held in two weeks at St. Peter's College.

In addition to debating, Wilkes was also entered in the extemporaneous speaking and oratory events at the tournament. Besides Flannery, who won speaking contest, Virginia Brehm went to fourth place in the female oratory division with a talk on "Are We Persecuting Our Teachers?"

Dr. Arthur N. Kruger, coach, accompanied the team and served on the tournament committee as well.

'Paris Bound' is Campus-bound as C'n'C Prepares

By JEROME STEIN

"Paris Bound", a sophisticated comedy by Philip Barry, will be presented by Cue 'n' Curtain on April 14, 15, 16 at the College gymnasium. It will be the second major production of the year presented by the Wilkes theatrical group.

At the present time, Chase Theater is buzzing with activity. Although no definite cast has been decided upon as yet, casting is in full progress and preparations for the production have begun.

More On Parking - A Possibility

A letter to the editor which appeared in last week's edition of the Sunday Independent pointed out a possible solution to the Wilkes parking problem, the problem which is—there just ain't enough room for all the autos.

The brief note, signed "Wilkes Students in Favor of Better Wilkes-Barre Parking (we're checking to see if it is on the subversive list) came out in favor of parking spaces on the River Common "tree lawn." The letter was well-meaning, we feel sure, and except for the weak arguments in favor of the idea, made its point.

As a matter of fact, the idea is one of a number now being considered at City Hall. Another, perhaps a little more practical, would see South River Street widened 20 feet or so on the river side of the artery. Such a project in the two blocks between the Market Street Bridge and South Street, would, according to statements from persons close to City Hall, allow for angular parking.

Angular parking has proven successful in many towns, Bloomsburg being the first to pop into our mind. The parking space would be more than doubled. And, if you're still worrying about the beautification of the area, there would be no particular eye-sore created. It sounds good to us. And according to the sources, this is a definite possibility.

Neveras Picked for Federal Bank Post; Begins at Philly in June

James Neveras, Wilkes senior, has been named this week to the executive training program of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia. He will begin training following his graduation in June.

The position will enable him to familiarize himself with banking and to work toward an economics Master's at the University of Pennsylvania.

Upon completion of the two-year training course, he will move into a junior executive position with the Federal Reserve system, which also pays the training tuition bill.

Neveras formerly resided in Hazleton and graduated from Hazleton High School, but is now a resident of Korn Krest. He has been active in campus politics, has served as sophomore and junior class presidents.

Among other activities he has served as debater for the past four years, helped Wilkes win the Johns Hopkins trophy earlier this year. Too, he has been copy editor of the Annucola, Wilkes yearbook, and is its co-editor this year.

In March of 1952, Fred Davis, another Wilkes student was appointed to a similar position to that to which Neveras has been named.

Dr. W. Hancock Addresses Government Group

Dr. Willard R. Hancock, state official, spoke here last night on legislation concerning local governments. He addressed a meeting of the Luzerne County Boroughs Association. Dr. Hugo V. Mailey, Wilkes professor, is chairman of the organization.

Hancock, director of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs of the state Department of Internal Affairs, talked on "Legislation for Local Governments Before the Present Legislature."

In 1952, Hancock was among those who aided in the organization of the first Pennsylvania Regional Planning Conference in the anthracite region.

A former native of Plains, he received his early education in the local community.

Rozelle Teaching Classes Here and at Kingston High

Ralph Rozelle, who earned a B.S. in Chemistry here last June, is back on campus for Education study after completing one semester of graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh.

Rozelle is gaining teaching experience on the college level at Wilkes by conducting a laboratory class, as well as doing student teaching at Kingston High School.

Letter to the Editor Of 'Sunday Independent'

Editor

Sunday Independent

We are students at Wilkes College who are often blamed for cluttering up parking places with the cars we need to get to school from Scranton, Tunkhannock, Berwick, Bloomsburg and West Side points—and not just from around the block.

The mayor and other officials have been nice in giving us some help in solving our parking problems.

We want to get on record in favor of parking spaces on the River Common tree lawn.

To those persons who oppose the move on the grounds it will destroy the beauty of our fair city, let us remind that we have many more years than they (we hope) to face the horrors of cars parked on the River Common tree lawn—and we are sure our children will be able to survive the horror, too.—Wilkes Students in Favor of Better Wilkes-Barre Parking.

Parking Stickers Only For 3-Hour Lab Students

Students are reminded that only those with three-hour or longer laboratory classes are eligible for the special parking stickers obtainable from the Beacon editorial staff. Despite the clarity of the announcement in last week's Beacon, some confusion still seems to exist. We reiterate, only those students with three-hour laboratory courses or longer are eligible for these stickers.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"I better help that new student stretch his canvas—he seems pretty anxious to get started."

'Manuscript' Loses Kelly, Warmouth; Bynder, Krohle Fill Vacated Spots

By BILL DeMAYO

The staff of the Manuscript, the campus literary magazine, lost two of its veteran members with the mid-year graduation of Leo Kelly and Dale Warmouth—both men who have achieved considerable literary merit in off-campus publications and have contributed greatly to the success of the college magazine for several years.

NEW CHANGES MADE IN DISTRIBUTION OF MID-TERM GRADES

Another change has been announced in the system of distributing grades at Wilkes. This change will affect the grades received by students as a result of mid-term examinations.

Henceforth, in view of the generally diagnostic basis for mid-term examinations, grades resulting therefrom will not be registered unless they fall below the "C" required for quality credits. That is, the only mid-term grades mailed out will be those of "D" and "F".

Change was made in the grade distribution earlier in the year when semester grades were distributed to show the total grades and hours accumulated at each semester's end. Prior to this, such cumulative grade distribution was made only at the end of each school year.

The associate editorship left vacant by Kelly's departure passed to Herbert Bynder by a unanimous vote of the Manuscript's staff. Bynder's former position as business manager is now filled by Frederick Krohle.

Sandy Furey, associate editor of the Manuscript staff, reports that they have been working steadily and that the magazine is shaping up nicely with a good variety of poems, short stories, and articles. But he added that the Manuscript desires to publish the very best, and stands ready to welcome new material for consideration. A box is provided for the reception of such material at the rear exit of the library.

Students are reminded that the Manuscript is a copy-righted magazine and is distributed to several hundred colleges throughout the United States.

REESE VIEWS MAT SEASON AS SUCCESS; PREDICTS WC POWERHOUSE IN FUTURE

(Third in a series of articles by Wilkes coaches reviewing their seasons.)

By JOHN REESE, Head Wrestling Coach

I must admit that this year when I was asked to write this article, I felt much better about it than I did last year. Actually our won and lost record was not as good this year, but our team was really much better. If you recall last year we had trouble getting enough boys to make a full team, whereas this year there was only one occasion when we had to forfeit a bout, and that was because of a bad injury. The interest the boys showed was wonderful.

Everyone worked hard and was more conscientious about practice. It will still take a couple of years before we become a wrestling power, but I have the feeling that we are ready to blossom very soon. Five of our eight boys are freshmen or sophomores, so you can see the possibilities the future holds.

Looking back over the season it was odd in a way. The team seemed to wrestle very well against the good teams and poorly against the weak teams. Lafayette, Ithaca and Hofstra were three of our toughest opponents and the boys looked great against them. Then against East Stroudsburg, Swarthmore and Kings Point, three of the weaker ones, the team looked poor.

We have a very attractive schedule again next year and I'm looking forward to a very successful season. As far as the boys go we have everyone back. The only loss we have will be Jerry Elias and, perhaps, Stan Abrams after the first semester of next year. That heavyweight spot will be tough to fill because the big boys are few and far between.

I hesitate to single out any one boy for recognition because they all worked so hard and did a fine job. Bob Morgan, Sam Shugar, Don Reynolds, Don McFadden, Neil Dadurka, and Jerry Elias were all returning veterans from last year and were the backbone of the team. Ahmed Kazimi, Stan Abrams, and Seymour Holzman were all first year men who helped us greatly. Dave Thomas, a freshman, did a wonderful job and had a winning year.

All in all it was a good year and it did a lot in the way of building wrestling at Wilkes. We still need to be strengthened in a few spots but the nucleus of a good team for next year is here. I am looking forward to next year and I am very optimistic about the season.

BRESNAHAN STARS AGAINST MANSFIELD; REGAINS TITLE

Lanky John Bresnahan adds his name to repeat performers this week by again winning Player of the Week honors. Bresnahan was the first basketball player of the season to walk off with the title.

Even though the Colonels fought a losing battle against the towering Mansfield crew he was a standout throughout the game.

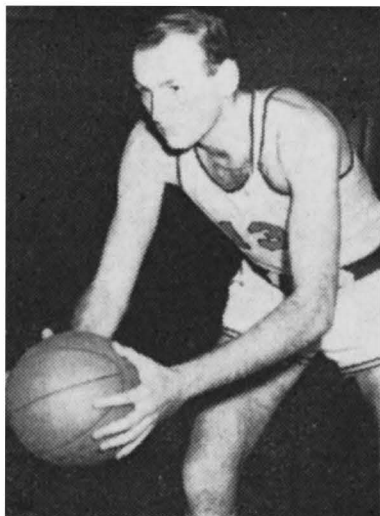

Coach George Ralston had predicted a few days before that the teachers were in the middle of a hot spell and they showed it. Although Wilkes lost, the Plymouth dead-eye came through.

He collected over 20 rebounds during the game which held the Mansfield man down no end, and scored in the double figures himself to lead the losing cause.

The corner-shot expert has been consistent in his play through the season. He started as one of the question marks that could make or break the rebuilding season for the Blue and Gold forces.

His play has shown that he was a definite 'make' factor, many times being the steadiest ball player on the court. He came into his own in the scoring and defensive play departments early in the season and stayed there.

Bresnahan is a perfectionist who never stops practicing. He is always at work trying to improve, which is well illustrated by the 'impossible to stop' shots that he has mastered.

More than one rival coach has been heard to remark this year that they would more than welcome the big fellow on their team. The Beacon believes he would be an asset to anyone's squad.

KEG CHAMPIONSHIP IN N.Y.

The Fifth Annual Eastern Intercollegiate Individual Match Game Bowling Championship will be held the weekends of March 26, 27 and April 23 at City Hall Lanes, 23 Park Row, New York City.

Last year's matches attracted 100 bowlers representing 25 colleges and was won by Pete O'Toole of Iona College.

Any student interested in competing should contact the athletic office for entry blanks.

Over 200 schools in the east have received invitations.

Intramural Keglers Round into Top Form

By JONNI FALK

With two weeks of competition under its belt, it looks like the new mixed bowling league is destined to be the most successful intramural venture in the history of the college.

Rolling on the Jewish Community Center alleys on Sunday nights, the coed league has shown the type of keen competition which comes from the interest and attendance of its participants.

League "B" opened the kegling season two Sundays ago. The Walloping Wags whacked the Rampaging Five for four points. Hawkie Gross, high average holder with 169, and Joe Trosko paced the Wags. Trosko's 198 game is high for the season thus far. R. F. Price led the Rampagers with a 415 series.

Ralston's Raiders, with Mickey Weinberger, Moe Batterson and Mickey Perlmut all averaging over 150, mowed down the Kingpins. Llewellyn and Larish sparked the Kingpins.

Despite the handicap of having only three men present, the Deadly Strikers salvaged one point in their duel with the Rambling Six. Karl Blight's 458 series for the Strikers was almost a one-man effort.

College Terrors High

In League "A", the College Terrors rolled up the season's high three game series as their top four men shattered the maples for a fancy 1806 while sweeping the Flying Terrors. Neil McHugh's 181-477, Ivan Falk's 184-467, and Skinny Ennis' 456 led the Collegians. Bob Helmbold had 423 for the losers.

The Ghost Riders showed plenty of power in taking four from the Weckesser Warriors. Rydzewski, Smith and Kolessar received help from Margaret Luty, high girl with a 130 average. Dick Murray's 191 game for Weckesser was wasted.

Wilkes Best took three from the Spare Boys with Havar and Stocker doing the heavy work. Dick Kachinosky helped the Spare Boys to their one point. This match was featured by George Elliot's successful 7-9 split shot.

Second round games are scheduled for this Sunday. All members of League "B" are urged to be present at the JCC by 6:30 p.m.

Winning Season Vision Smashed By Mansfield and East Stroudsburg In All-Important Last Two Games

By RODGER LEWIS

Coach George Ralston's basketball crew mised a winning season by dropping their last two games of the season to Mansfield and East Stroudsburg by 89-81 and 80-64 scores respectively. The Colonels were forced to settle for a seasonal record of 10 wins against 10 losses. Their inability to win on opponents' Susquehanna in two overtime periods. At home the Wilkesmen had a 9-4 record.

Last Saturday the cagers journeyed to Mansfield and the teachers revenged a loss of two weeks earlier by staving off a last minute Wilkes spurt. The netmen were behind most of the way, but managed to go ahead for a short time in the first half, 32-30. Then the host club regained the lead and held a 40-36 edge at half-time.

In the second stanza, the teachers secured their biggest lead of the game and forged ahead, 70-56. The Blue and Gold countered and began to put the pressure on, only to have time run out.

John Bresnahan was high man in the losing cause with 21 markers. John Linkoski paced the victors by setting a new single high for Mansfield with 42 tallies.

Dropped in Finale

On Wednesday, the Ralstonmen travelled to Stroudsburg where the teachers ended hopes for a winning campaign for the Colonels.

The Pocono boys jumped into a commanding 27-10 lead early in the game. With the score 30-16, Ralston put in his "second platoon" and they narrowed the margin to 36-28. However they were unable to check the teachers' scoring and fell behind at halftime, 52-34.

At the beginning of the second half the varsity held the entertainers to six points while cutting the lead to 58-52. It was a short-lived respite as the teachers again took a comfortable 77-57 lead. The margin was enough to assure them of victory.

Harry "Skinny" Ennis and Parker "the old pro" Petrila concluded their playing days for the Blue and Gold in this contest.

Yap Stresses Importance of Asia In Security of U.S. and Free World

The security of the United States today rests upon that of southeast Asia, Dr. Diosado M. Yap, of the Philippines, emphasized Tuesday at assembly. When the greatest struggles of the epoch occur, it may well be this area which will save the world for which America strives.

For centuries beneath the exploitation of the colonizing European nations the Asian peoples suffered in teeming millions. On the other hand, America has taken an opposite attitude toward the region, and the Communists cannot point accusing fingers at the United States for its interest in the Far East.

When the United States did go into the area, it went to aid the people of the area, as in the Philippines, where the standard of living was raised to the region's highest, and to which independence was recently granted.

Because of the kindness and benefits of America, the Philippines stood by it during the war, while other Asian nations revolted or collaborated against their mother countries. It is that loyalty and friendship which now occasions American interest in southeast Asia. Both the United States and the Philippines desire to preserve the peace bought with the blood of their men.

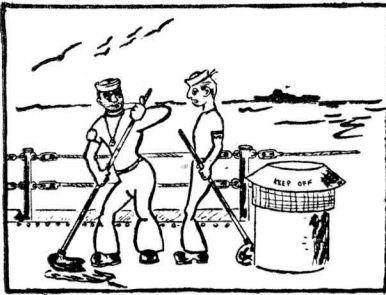

In the area, three main objectives of the Communists are its tremendous manpower, its industrial potential, with emphasis on Japan, and its multitudinous natural resources.

We stand today in Formosa to deny these objectives, and have stood in Indo-China and Korea, but we must continue in our efforts, remembering that for the Communists the road to London and Paris lies through the Far East.

It is because of this that the United States has taken upon itself the union of the free nations of the area, as it has the leadership of the free world.

The East turns to America today because, unlike the nations of Europe, America is willing to do more than grant political independence or economic aid; America recognizes the dignity of Asians as human beings.

"You see, Joe, they had what they called quality credits. Now, I got just a few behind, so..."

'Little Stone House' Best of One-Acts; Remley, Miller Take Players' Palm

By T. R. PRICE

Well, "Little Stone House" came off fairly well. Indeed, almost as well, one might say as last year's "Master Builder". Otherwise, Cue 'n' Curtain's three one-act plays last night and the two prior didn't impress us overmuch.

"Madretta", the first on the program has been done before (as summer stock, we believe), and turned out much the same way—somewhat mediocre, though a considerable bit more human.

"Carrie of the Carnival" was in last place on the program, about what it seemed to deserve. "Carrie" was another of those rather pallid plays about a play, one of the kind involving a group of bungling amateurs, herded by a director who is a worse ham than most of his players.

As we said, "Little Stone House" came off well. It was a work along the lines of the familiar Russian short story, concerning a humble, inoffensive old lady—who gets kicked in the teeth by life. Ruth Remley played the little woman, Praskowyo, and we can find absolutely no fault with her. Overcoming the perennial difficulty C'n'C seems to have in appearing natural, she gave a performance for which the only word is "nice". An overworked and weary word, perhaps, but the right one.

Almost as good was James Miller as Astuga, the calm, strong player of Patience, a man whose will and ideals have become deadened by the daily tediums, a gentle soul for all his strength, and a kindly one.

Jane Obitz lent some sympathetic touches to "Madretta", and Larry Amdur managed to do a deathbed scene that was decently restrained. Oddly, the thing that impressed us most here was the swirling currents than before.

ees to surround Madretta and her husband seemed much more like improvement in sound effects since the last time we saw "Madretta". This time the rush of floodwaters pouring through the ruptured lev-
