College and Community Honor Dr. Farley

"Blithe Spirit" to Open At Chase Theater For Four-Day Run

by Mary DiGiuseppe

Have you flunked a math exam lately, neighbor? Are you holding up the bottom on that bio curve? Or are those pink slips making your home a battle scene from War and Peace? If so, then break out of that rut, son! Be the first on your block to commit hara-kiri. Then you can do what all the coolest ghosts in town are doing, and float over to Cue and Curtain's newest and zaniest production, "Blithe Spirit", playing at Chase Theater from November 15 through 18.

Written by Noel Coward, that smooth man with a style, this play is guaranteed to keep you ghastly souls grinning. Described by the New York Journal-American as "—brilliantly clever and about as cockeyed as a play can be and still stay on the stage", it presents the notion of a man happily married to his second wife who is suddenly confronted by the ghost of his first wife.

The ghost calmly announces that she intends to live with the couple indefinitely and proceeds to do so. This is the starting point for a series of some of the funniest episodes ever written into a play.

Mark Hirschman, Ruth Friedlander and Sieglinde Vallot head the cast of Cue and Curtain players who are now in their final stage of rehearsals under the direction of Al Groh.

Some fanciful phantoms are passing the word that this is going to be better than the average-type play, so if you're an astute apparition you'll make the scene, dad. You'll have the time of your death if you do.

Cast in supporting roles are Dolores Amir, Elaine Adams, Joan Pitney, and Harvey Stambler. Assisting in the production will be Jerry Herman, stage manager; Romelle Gomba, costumes; Warren Harmen, sound and lighting; Robert Schecter, publicity; Barbara Gallagher, make-up; Ellen Sundel, properties and furniture.

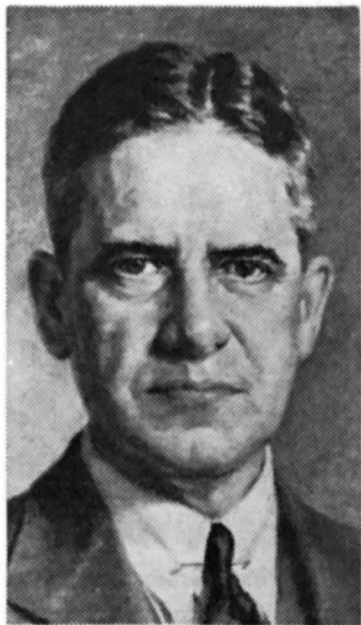

Assisting Mr. Groh is Barry Gintel, and David Fendrick is Assistant Director. Andrew Palencar is Art Director, with Jerry Herman and Emily Weinberg handling special effects. The cast and production crew would like to express their appreciation to William Jervis and the maintenance crew for their cooperation.

Admission is free and the play will open next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in Chase Theater. Other performances will be held on Thursday and Saturday of next week.

Biologists to View Autopsy at Hospital

The Biology Club ventures into the unusual as far as field trips are concerned within the near future. The membership has planned to visit the General Hospital with the specific purpose in mind of seeing an autopsy performed.

On November 11, the club's members will test the theory, "parties make the world go 'round". No other students are allowed, and none of the members will disclose the location of the party.

United Fund Campaign Falls Short of Goal; Trophy Winners Named

The United Fund campaign on campus fell short of its goal for 1961. Lou Coopey, chairman of the drive, announced that the students missed the goal by $83.58. Two-thirds of the money was donated during the last week of the campaign.

Trophies have been awarded to the winner in each of the three divisions of the campaign.

The freshman class captured the trophy for Division A by contributing the most money per member. The freshman class also contributed the proceeds of the United Fund Dance. Louis Matioli, chairman of the dance, said that the dance raised a total of $150.40 for the campus campaign.

Division B trophies were granted to men and women's dormitories which contributed the most money to the campaign. Bennett and Howarth Halls, two new dorms, are the recipients of the dormitory awards.

Organizations making up Division C pledged $230. Jerry Shilanski directed the organizational solicitations. The winner in this division has not yet been announced; the announcement will be made in a future assembly when all awards are presented.

The total contributions are as follows:

Organizations	$230.00
Seniors	89.00
Juniors	75.20
Sophomores	75.00
Dormitories	294.18
U.F. Dance	150.40
Miscellaneous	45.51
Total	$1,116.42

Assisting Lou Coopey was Gloria Lewis, who acted as assistant solicitor. Jerry Krasa, Jeanette Bucholtz, Mimi Wilson, and Mike Mostello were collectors for their respective classes.

Recognition Given College President in Twenty-Fifth Year

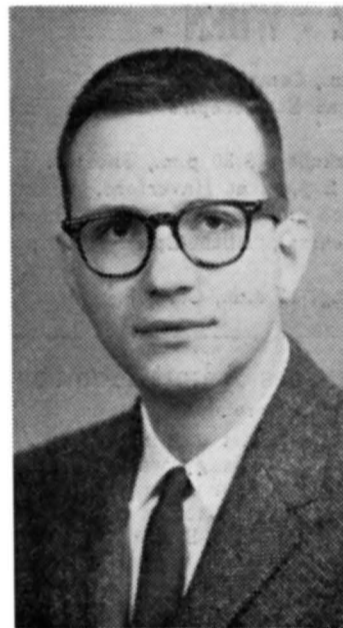

by Barbara Ann Lore

A broad variety of interests and backgrounds is the chief characteristic of the principal speakers for the testimonial dinner honoring Dr. Farley, Wilkes College President, tomorrow evening. These men represent careers ranging from financial counselor of a philanthropic institution to Norwegian educator and author of a German grammar textbook.

Jesse Choper, an alumnus of Wilkes College and present assistant professor of law at the University of Minnesota, will act as toastmaster for the affair. Choper, who garnered many honors while at Wilkes, was a member of the Wilkes debating team that won the Harvard Tournament and the Pennsylvania State Tournament in 1957. At this time he ranked third in the country. Since he left Wilkes in 1957, Choper has led an active and varied life culminating last year in his appointment as law clerk to Chief Justice Earl Warren. Besides membership in the Order of Coif — a legal honor society whose members are the top 10% of the law graduates of certain schools, he holds membership in the bars of the U.S. District Court for District of Columbia and the U.S. Court of Appeals for District of Columbia Circuit Court.

Jesse Choper

An international flavor will be given to the occasion by Dr. K. Roald Bergethon, president of Lafayette College, who is a native of Tromso, Norway. Dr. Bergethon attended grammar schools and high school in Brooklyn but returned to Tromso to complete his secondary education at the "Hoiere Almen-skole". During World War II, while working on the construction of military installations and manufacturing plants required for war efforts, he received a citation for meritorious civilian service from the U.S. Navy. In 1953, while associate dean at Brown University, he was awarded a Carnegie Corporation travel grant which enabled him to observe undergraduate educational programs at more than twenty colleges and universities throughout the nation. Author of Grammar for Reading German and a bibliography of Norwegian literature, Bergethon also contributes book reviews and articles concerning the teaching of German and education administration to professional journals.

Arnaud C. Marts has a special interest in Wilkes College. Bucknell University had fostered a junior college in Wilkes-Barre and Marts who served as president of Bucknell University from 1935 to 1945 inherited the problem of formulating permanent plans for this center of learning. Since he devoted so much time and energy to this problem, he naturally is interested in progress and development of Wilkes. Marts, financial counselor for Marts and Lundy, Inc., philanthropic institution in New York, has had experience in the fields of education, business, politics, civic service, and writing. In his capacity as an author, he has written two books, Philanthropy's Role in Civilization and Man's Concern for His Fellow Man.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Wilkes College, Admiral Harold R. Stark, USN retired, will represent that body on Saturday evening. Admiral Stark, now residing in Washington, D.C., is a former commander of the European fleet during World War II and a former chief of naval operations in the U.S. Navy. That his services were valuable is evidenced by the fact that he was kept on duty beyond retirement age at the request

Krasa Named Chairman at First Court of Appeals Meeting

The Court of Appeals held its initial meeting on Tuesday evening at which time the members organized for the coming year. The members of the Court are: faculty, Mr. Elliot and Dr. Mailey; administration, Dean Ralston; and students, Brent O'Connell and Jerome Krasa.

All members of the Court were present at the meeting except Dr. Mailey. Krasa was elected chairman of the Court and proceeded to conduct the remainder of the meeting. He took over from Al Kishel, president of the Student Government, who ran the meeting until the Court could organize.

First, the Court considered the report presented by the chairman for 1959-60 which embodied the policies of the Court at that time. Several changes were made in these policies with a view to making them more understandable.

After it decided the basic policies for the year, the Court discussed the relevant sections of the Student Government Constitution. This was with a view to making some recommendations of possible revision of the sections in the Constitution affecting the Court.

Several such recommendations were made and the Chairman was directed to submit them to the Student Government. The Court then decided that it would accept the brief submitted to it by the Chemistry Club on an appeal from a Student Government decision.

After a determination that briefs by both parties could be presented before the end of this week, the Court decided to hold its next meeting on Tuesday at the Student Government office at 3 p.m.

It was further decided that a copy of the policies for the Court for the year, along with a copy of the minutes of the meeting, would be filed with the Student Government for inspection by any interested parties.

United Fund Drive Successful

The campus United Fund campaign which concluded last Friday realized a total contribution of $1,116.25. Although the goal of $1,200 was not reached, the drive was successful. The various members of the administration, faculty, and student body who exerted a great deal of time and effort in making solicitations are to be congratulated.

The showing made by Wilkes is a credit to all connected with the college. As a community college, the impression created by Wilkes is important and each student should take a deep sense of pride in this impression.

The spirit of Wilkes students was manifested in the fact that approximately two-thirds of the goal was reached during the last week of the drive. This last-minute turnout proves the ability of Wilkes students to accomplish tasks placed before them.

Once again, thanks and congratulations to those who conducted the drive and to all who participated.

Suggestions Needed

The deadline for suggestions for a Senior Class gift to the college is drawing near and as of this issue only a few suggestions have been received. The class has approximately $1400 in its memorial fund to be used in the purchase of a gift and all students are urged to submit any useful ideas to one of the members of the gift committee or in one of the suggestion boxes.

Gifts made by classes in recent years have enhanced the beauty of the college as well as provided useful items which the college would not ordinarily purchase. Each year, the item selected for purchase has been the result of a great deal of thought and this year should be no exception.

The expanding nature of the college provides a wealth of ideas in itself. As we look forward to greater things, the contribution which any one particular group can give to the college must not be overlooked.

Your cooperation is needed. Any suggestion which you may have will be carefully considered by the class gift committee. Help them in this endeavor and by so doing, have a part in the growth of the college.

AMNICOLA SETS
PICTURE DEADLINE

Attention underclassmen! Today is your last chance to sign for your yearbook picture. Since the yearbook is free, the $1.00 fee necessary for the picture is a worthwhile investment. Thus far only the sophomores have the required amount of people signed for the pictures. Editor Harry Collier has announced that progress on the Amnicola has been slow because of the delay concerning the insufficient number of students signing to have their pictures taken. Thanksgiving is the deadline for senior pictures, and the following week is the deadline for senior pictures, and the following week is the deadline for dormitory pictures.

Letters to the Editor . . .

To the Student Body:

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank all those who helped me in organizing and running the United Fund campaign on campus.

Everyone involved, from heads of committees to the individual workers, devoted a great deal of time to help make the campaign a success.

In addition, I would also like to thank those students who donated to the United Fund during the campaign.

Sincerely yours,
 Lou Coopey

College Board Contest
Requirements Are Set
By Fashion Magazine

by Nancy Tinklepaugh and Maryann Wilson

Stop the Show. . . Every girl is at heart a show stopper — at least to an audience of one, so if you're a girl with L.P. (Losses of Parties) on her calendar you'll be wild about those newest neons for night, Lime-light and Whitelight, the show-stopping colors of the season.

Limelight, a yellow-lit green, is aglow in mohair, chiffon and satin. Whitelight is lit with glitter in beaded overblouse dresses and in the Great White Coat, Mademoiselle's choice for wrapping up Lime-light dresses.

Part-time silhouettes come in several profiles. Some shapes fall straight, others have skirts that move out. Some waistlines skip a beat, others take their natural line. Don't be surprised to find new combinations in texture, such as a chiffon skirt fluttering out from a mohair over-blouse.

You can see all these great high voltage fashions in the November issue of Mademoiselle, and at our holiday party fashion show coming soon.

Contest

If you have considered entering the Mademoiselle College Board Contest, here are a few suggestions.

Report on some trend that you see coming in at Wilkes — in the arts, humor, clothes, attitudes, social customs, anything else (but politics — which was reported on in the August issue).

Tell how you would change Wilkes if you could (2,000 words or more).

Choose the five most interesting fabrics you can find, and design clothes to show three different ways each fabric can be used. For example: a sportswear set, cocktail dress, afternoon dress, et cetera.

Design and write an informative booklet that a national advertiser might distribute to college students. Choose any subject matter for the booklet, but relate it to the advertiser's product.

For additional suggestions, see the bulletin board by the Commons or the Mademoiselle Campus Representatives Nancy Tinklepaugh and Maryann Wilson.

STUDENT SKETCH

Peter Greenberg, IDC President,
Is Active in Campus Affairs

by Jerry Shilanski

"I believe in a well rounded education, lots of social life, plenty of bull sessions, and getting along with everyone."

With planks like this in his platform "Pete's" name should have been on every ballot in the country last Tuesday.

The men from Butler Hall, Pete's home away from home, suggested that Pete's ability to build platforms stems from a job he had a few summers ago when he was a carpenter's apprentice.

Peter Greenberg

However, it is certain that many members of the Inter-Dormitory Council, which Pete has headed for the past two years, could find much better reasons for his capabilities in leadership and organization.

In answer to what he would like to see done here on campus, Pete hopefully replied, "There needs to be more action taken by the entire student body. Too many people can criticize and talk a lot, but too few do anything productive." He suggested that there be more communication between the student leaders and the student body.

Commenting in his capacity as president of I.D.C., Pete took a stand against the proposed "Massive Dorm". "I feel that doing away with the small dormitories that we now have would take much out of college life. One can gain a great deal of knowledge by living with people of different backgrounds." He summed up his feelings by saying that "the dorms are just like fraternities. There is spirit of closeness among the fellows and everyone works together. In this atmosphere one can get an understanding of people which could not be acquired in the classroom."

Pete emphasized the fact that he did not think there was any real split between the day and dorm students, as is so often rumored. However, he did point out that the dorm students are closer to the school, which may account for their participation in extra-curricular activities. He also stated that this closeness may come from the fact that the dormitory students have a greater obligation to the college because their actions in the community reflect directly on the college; whereas the actions of the commuting students would reflect on the parents first.

In regard to actions, Pete speaks with authority. He is a member of the Philadelphia Big Brother Program, which is concerned with the actions of young people. He has worked, during a few of his summers, as a counselor and athletic instructor in a Big Brother Camp which tries to help boys who have gone astray.

Although Pete has devoted his time and energy to academic studies and extra-curricular activities here at Wilkes, he is well qualified to help direct boys in sports. He was a five-letter varsity man at Cheltenham High School, located in suburban Philadelphia.

Coming to Wilkes in 1958, as a biology major, he soon became active in campus affairs. He is at this time, president of the I.D.C., a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Biology Club.

"I'd recommend Wilkes to anyone who wants a small college," Pete said. "And I would recommend a small college rather than a big university, because the small school can bring out the qualities of the individual. You can also express yourself better in a place where you can get to know people by names and not just their numbers. This college is great for anyone who wants a situation such as this and wants to work for their grades. You just can't slide by at Wilkes — particularly in the sciences."

It is evident that Pete has worked here at the college, both in biology and extra-curricular activities. His aspirations show that he is willing to continue to work. He has as his immediate plans, the study of

AT NEXT ASSEMBLY

by David Stout

The Wilkes-Barre Ballet Theater will present the assembly program at Wilkes College next Thursday at 11. This group is very active in the Little Theater and for the past three years has been among the ten companies chosen to perform at the Northeastern United States regional ballet festival.

The dancers, under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Weisberger, will be Rosemarie Wright, Suzanne Price, Caroline Sobek, and Jozia Mieszkowski, who is a student at Wilkes.

After an explanation of the various basic positions and exercises, Mrs. Weisberger will explain how they evolve into a dance. Then the dancers will perform two original numbers, one to Bach's Variations, and the other from West Side Story. The choreography on the West Side Story was arranged by Miss Mieszkowski.

Drake Student, Faculty
Make Background Studies

"Task Groups" — six to eight students and one faculty advisor — will do "background studies" on university and student problems this year at Drake University, according to an announcement by the Student-Faculty Council.

"One of the problems facing each new Student-Faculty Council is the completion of enough adequate background studies, preliminary to intelligent Council decisions which establish new student projects or send recommendations to the University," the S-Fc news release stated.

"The establishment of task groups which involve students interested in particular problems and areas is intended to alleviate the serious lack of research, without which responsible Council decision is hampered and slowed."

These task groups are to conduct fact-finding "relevant to the solution of any important problems which might exist" and make recommendations to the S-Fc.

In addition to the task groups, the release outlined a Peace Corps Promotions Group to "promote a pro-Peace Corps attitude among students and student groups", conduct an information office, and sponsor a "publicity and study campaign."

Nineteen Students Named In "Who's Who"

June Graduates Gain Recognition In National College Publication

Members of the College Faculty and Administration have selected 19 seniors for national recognition in this year's edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The publication, originated 25 years ago, gives recognition to outstanding students by listing personal and college records in its annual edition.

The senior leaders were selected for their scholastic ability, and for the cooperation they have shown in educational and extra-curricular activities.

After nomination by a panel of administration and faculty members, the students' names and qualifications were forwarded to Who's Who. Each student will receive a certificate of recognition from the publication and will also have the use of the publication's Student Placement Service.

"Year of Crisis" Is Topic Of New York Conference

by Pauline Bostjancic

At last week's meeting of the CCUN, five people were nominated to attend a conference which will be held in New York City on November 10th and 11th. The conference, entitled "1961 U.N. Year of Crisis", will feature Prime Minister Nehru of India as the principal speaker.

Delegates from the Wilkes College Chapter of the CCUN, and the AAUN will also attend a conference being held at College Misericordia on November 15.

In addition to these off-campus activities, the members of the CCUN are planning some activities which will take place on campus. One of these plans is the initiation, with the aid of other campus organizations, of a program of monthly forums. These forums would include discussions with foreign students, guest speakers, and films concerning the United Nations.

ENGAGEMENT

Vivian Cardoni, senior elementary education major, recently became engaged to John Katsock of 91 North River Street, Plains. Katsock is a senior accounting major at King's College. Miss Cardoni is also from Plains.

Miss Ann Znaniecki, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hipolit Znaniecki, 696 East Main Street, Nanticoke, Pa., is a business education major.

Miss Znaniecki, a Dean's List student, is a member of the Economics Club and the Economic Council. In addition, she belongs to the Education Club, the Eastern Business Teachers Association, and the National Education Association.

Library Observes Education Week with Pamphlet, Book Display

by Julie Evans

On display in the Library this week is an arrangement of books and pamphlets in observance of Education Week, November 4-11.

Following is a description of a few of the new books that the library has to offer:

Lord Burghley and Queen Elizabeth by Conyers Read covers the most dramatic period of Elizabethan history, beginning with the flight of Mary Stuart into England following her career as a prisoner until her execution some 20 years later.

For Victory In Peaceful Competition With Capitalism by Nikita S. Khrushchev is a book no thinking American can ignore. This book deals with Mr. Khrushchev's "blueprint for tomorrow". Khrushchev reveals what he thinks about everything from Sputniks to the "liberation" of West Berlin.

Firsthand Report by Sherman Adams gives an insight into the Eisenhower Administration. Adams gives a vivid understanding of Eisenhower the Man and the activities of the top-level men around the President; he also describes the inner workings of the administration.

The Lady and The Vote by Marion Sanders is a political handbook for men as well as women. It is a lighthearted approach to a serious matter. One can learn the differences and connections between local and national organizations and come to appreciate party loyalty.

The World of Jean Anouilh by Leonard Cabell Pronko is a presentation of the plays of Anouilh in the form of interpretations and summaries. This book, as presented by Pronko, is not only thorough and direct but will also make lively reading.

CUE AND CURTAIN NOTICE

All committee members MUST attend ALL the functions sponsored by Cue and Curtain this weekend. They are listed in detail in the What . . . Where . . . When . . . column on page two.

Anyone interested in trying out for the one-act plays to be produced by Cue and Curtain in December should contact David Fendrick, Mr. Groh, or Robert Schechter.

Ken Young Named Swimming Coach; Physical Director at Central 'Y'

Recently John Reese, athletic director, announced that Kenneth A. Young has been appointed swimming coach at Wilkes.

Currently serving as physical educator at the Central Y.M.C.A., Young is a graduate of East Stroudsburg College and has done graduate work in physical education at Temple and Springfield.

At East Stroudsburg, he participated in football, track, and swimming while also competing for the local Y.M.C.A. Prior to joining the local Y he was affiliated with Chester Y.M.C.A. and was assistant to George Hansell at Pennsylvania Military College.

Young, a vice-president of the Pennsylvania Physical Directors Society, is married to the former L. Merle Steele and is the father of sons Damon, 11, and Bruce, 9. The family resides at 73 Lehman Ave., Dallas.

Winter Sports Begin Practice at Gymnasium

Winter sports made their initial showings of the season on the scene last week as the swimming, wrestling, and basketball teams started practice for their coming 1961-62 seasons.

Both the basketball and the wrestling squads are working out in the gym daily. The matmen are under Coach John Reese and are led by returning veterans Brooke Yeager, Harry Vogt, and Ted Toluba. The hoopsters are working under assistant coach Al Goldberg and team captain Tom Pugh.

The Central Y.M.C.A. is the setting for the swimming practices where Ken Young makes his initial "Slash" as head coach of the Colonel aquamen.

Any candidates for any of the three teams should report to the coach at the practice site.

Weak Offense Hampers Colonels As Dickinson Scores 7-6 Victory

by Dale Jones

The Colonel gridgers travel to Haverford College to tangle with the Mainliners in an MAC battle of the beatens. Both teams will be looking for their initial win of the season and the contest looms as the end of a win drought for one of the squads.

Leading the Mainliners will be the aerial team of quarterback Steve Dallolio and end Robert Jenks. The power of the team centers around the hard running of fullback Bill Shermer. The husky junior scored two touchdowns against the Wilkesmen last year as the Colonels scored a 33-12 win.

Eight lettermen return to the line for Coach Roy Randell as he begins his twenty-sixth year as head coach of the Haverford team. Bill Mervine, a 6'5", 215 pound tackle, and Roy David, a 5'10", 185 pound guard, anchor the middle of the line.

Mud and Guts

In last Saturday's game at the Athletic Field, the Blue and Gold was submerged in a sea of mud as the Red Devils of Dickinson turned in a 7-6 win in the midst of a torrential, day-long deluge.

There was plenty of courage shown on and off the field as the Colonels faced rugged playing conditions, while 500 loyal fans stood behind them and cheered them on.

The difference in the ball game came in the second period when John Harper split the uprights with a placement after the Dickinson touchdown. The TD followed the only sustained drive of the game by either team.

The rally was set up when back Jack Thomas intercepted a Travis-Bey pass on the Dickinson 48 and carried it all the way to the Wilkes 34. From here Dickinson quarterback DiOrio lugged the ball for five yards, Dick Warden got four, and DiOrio three more for a first down on the Wilkes 22. After an incomplete pass, Bob Harlowe carried to the 15 and then Reno DiOrio pulled off the neatest play of the game.

After faking a hand-off, the quarterback threw a bullet pass up the middle to end Joe Lipinski who grabbed it in the middle of the Wilkes defensive array and went straight to touchdown land untouched. The ever-important kick by Harper followed.

The Colonels got into the scoring column in the third period when Larry Turel blocked a Dickinson punt on the winners' 30. The ball rolled back to the 20 where Charlie Cherundolo picked up the wet pigskin and with the whole defensive line leading the way, mashed his way through the mud into the end zone.

Wilkes elected to go for a tie but the one-point placement attempt never got off the ground as the wet ball caused a bad pass from center and Frank Wallace was smothered as he picked it up and tried to run it over for the two points.

For Wilkes it was a game of rough defensive line play which saw the "Fearsome Fivesome" of Ed Gavel, Jim Brunza, Len Rishkofski, Charlie Cherundolo, and Don Eller generally containing the Dickinson offense with their spirited rushes. However, Dickinson had the ball so much of the time it was virtually impossible to stop the club from scoring. Frank Wallace played an outstanding game from the defensive secondary as he broke up several passes and was in on many key tackles.

Injuries played a deciding factor in the game with Colonel fullback Tom Krisulevich suffering a strained muscle in his foot that put him on the side-line in the opening period and guard Pete Winebrake wrenching his shoulder in the second period.

Colonelettes Down Misericordia; Judy Barger Scores Lone Goal

Womanhood took a large stride ahead in its attempt to destroy the "legend of male superiority" last Friday as the Colonelette field hockey squad completed an undefeated season with an impressive 1-0 victory over the College Misericordia girls. This brought the season's record of the Wilkes coeds to a one win, two tie ending.

The opening half action was rough-and-tumble with the defensive halfbacks of both teams playing great ball with effective ball hawking and blocking. Neither team could muster an effective offense until the closing minutes when the Colonelette passing brought the ball into scoring range.

A pass from Janet Ainsworth to Judy Barger put the ball in front of the goal and Judy responded with a "bullet-like" shot at the goal. A Misericordia defender lunged at the ball with a desperation swing and got her stick in front of the ball. Instead of stopping, the ball ricocheted off the stick and into the net for the lone score of the afternoon.

Both teams threatened in the second half but the defensive secondaries were not to be crossed as the fullbacks of both squads thwarted any scoring attempts.

Carol Rhines registered her first shutout game of the season for the Colonelettes. The fullbacks, Carol Plonner and Regina Ritzie, shone with their aggressive play. The most outstanding performance of the afternoon was center-halfback Marilyn Davis. The freshman philosophy major played her usual effective game by continually stealing the ball from the Misericordia linemen as they attempted to cross into Wilkes territory.

Wing halfbacks Heather Danuiel and Fran Gallagher aided the defensive play with their timely steals and blocks. The line of Janet Ainsworth, Judy Barger, Jo Sigiorelli, Rose Hallet, and Mary Ann Vannoy looked very good with their pass patterns.

The future looks bright for the Colonelettes as all of the girls are underclassmen, and gained the experience of learning to play together as a team. Mrs. Saracino is looking forward to next year when the Colonelettes advance deeper into intercollegiate competition.

Colonel Bowlers Open Season with Victory Over Scranton Classics

The Wilkes bowling team opened its season on a successful note last Sunday afternoon at Lispi Lanes. In a thrilling match the Colonel keggers defeated the bowlers of Scranton's Junior Classic League.

Wilkes took a 43-pin lead after the first game on the strength of Jerry Zeller's 213, as the team hit 871 to Scranton's 828. Butch Garber led Scranton with a 220 in the first game. After the second game, which was a reversal of the first, the Wilkesmen found themselves 28 pins behind. Scranton hit for 994 in the second game as compared to a respectable 923 for Wilkes. Three of the Scranton bowlers dropped more than 200 pins in this game, while Dave Sokira with 203 topped that mark for Wilkes.

Wilkes continued the torrid pace in the third game to overcome the deficit and emerged a 145-pin victor. Scranton was bested 905-732 in the final game. A rematch will be scheduled for the near future.

Last Opportunity to Join Coed Life Saving Course

Attention all swimmers! Anthony Thomas, aquatic instructor at the Central YMCA, announced yesterday that there is still time for all college students over 18 years of age to sign up for the Red Cross Senior Life Saving and Swim Instructions Course at the YMCA.

Classes for the life saving certificates have already started but candidates can join the class on Monday evening at 7:30 at the Central YMCA. Twenty-two hours of teaching is required before final tests for the YMCA and Red Cross Life Saving certificates.

Thomas has set an array of exercises that are to be followed before practice and a schedule of teaching the different swimming techniques has been arranged. Among the swims that must be learned are the breast stroke, side stroke, and the crawl. Both the direct and indirect approaches will be taught in the life saving course.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Ed Gavel Snares 'Athlete' Award As He Bolsters Gridders' Line

By virtue of his outstanding performances last Saturday against Dickinson, Paul Edward Gavel has earned this issue's Athlete of the Week honors.

A senior Business Administration major, Ed played one of the finest games of his career in the game with the Red Devils. He earned nomination to the ECAC Team of the Week and also gained the praise of Tom Heffernan, Jr., a member of the Sunday Independent Sports Staff.

The 6'2", 210-pound left tackle conspired, with the remainder of the Wilkes forward wall, to hold the Dickinson backs in check for most of the game. His most notable accomplishment was his participation in a fine goal-line stand staged by the Colonels. Dickinson drove to the 2-yard line and after three downs and two crashing tackles by Gavel, the Red Devils had been pushed back to the 14.

A graduate of Coughlin, Ed compiled a number of letters during his high school days, and he was named to the Air Force All-Hawaii Team during his term in the service. At Wilkes he has lettered in swimming and football and has participated in intramural basketball and softball.

The Beacon Sports Staff salutes Ed Gavel as a skilled and determined player and a valuable asset to the Wilkes team.

Foul Lines Take Lead; Clause's League High Futile as Rebels Lose

The Foul Lines took over undisputed possession of first place in the Wilkes Intramural Bowling League as they won three points from the Rebels in the last league competition. The consistent bowling of the Foul Lines overcame a 196-550 series by Ed Clause.

The Faculty team took four points from the Alley Cats by forfeit as the Cats failed to field the required three bowlers. The Playboys led by Bill Watkins' 188-479 dropped the Gutterdusters from first place by winning three points. The Playboys now trail the league leaders by one game. Sunday the Playboys meet the Foul Lines in a clash for first place.

Jerry Walters and his teammates of the M-M Slammers defeated the Strikers three games to one.

BOOTERS END SEASON WITH LOSS TO STEVENS

Last Saturday the soccermen of Coach Ferris closed the 1961 season with a 2-1 loss to Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N.J.

The Engineers scored their initial goal in the second period as Lew Spiridellis headed the ball into the net after a shot glanced off the goal post. Their second goal came early in the third quarter on an 18-yard shot by Ed Nidaasby.

A pass by Frank Lepore and a left-footed boot by Clyde Roberts accounted for the only Colonel tally in the fourth period. Wilkes threatened again late in the final period on shots by Walt Prusakowski and Roberts. At the end of the game, Wilkes was hammering at the Stevens goal.

A generally well-played match was marred only by the fact that both of the Stevens goals resulted from mixups in the injury-ridden Wilkes backfield. Dick Morgan and Bill Flynn, and the team as a unit, performed quite well against an experienced team which was comprised entirely of Europeans.

Coach Ferris' soccer squad finished the season with a 3-7 log and were 3-5 in MAC competition.

Solons Debate Money Matters, Policy Issues on Crowded Agenda

by Leona A. Baiera

At the Student Government meeting Monday night vital issues were debated. Activity forms that were submitted to the Student Government by the Biology Club for a closed affair and the Economics Club for a field trip were not accepted. The Student Government felt that they had no jurisdiction over these affairs because of existing policies from last year.

Under reports of the standing committees, the Budget committee report was given on the "Near Bier Brawl," sponsored by the Catlin-Gore dormitories tonight. A motion was passed to give these dormitories $20 each from the Dormitory Activity Fund so that this affair would be free to all attending. In the future policies of this nature will be considered by the Policy committee.

A motion proposed by Buddy Menaker and passed by the Student Government stated that the number of votes received by each candidate in each election will be posted on the bulletin board as soon as they are known. This is a new policy instituted by the Student Government since past policies determined that only winners should be listed with no numerical results being shown.

Under a special committee report on parking lots by Jeff Gallet, problems concerning Gies Hall parking lot were discussed. The Student Government resolved that the following be enacted: (1) that a system be set up in Gies Hall parking lot to park cars in set spaces; (2) that curbs will be lowered to eliminate the barriers; (3) that trees obstructing the movement of cars be removed; (4) that new parking lot stickers be issued on a rotating basis for car pools; and (5) that a new type of parking sticker that can be more easily removed be issued.

Ed Rogalski, chairman of Dr. Farley's Day, reported that the presentation of the book containing the signatures of the students will be presented to him on Saturday, November 11, at 10:30 a.m. in front of his home at 146 South River Street. The program will have local television coverage, and the band and chorus will greet him.

Thatcher to Discuss Education for Women At AWS Breakfast

Dr. Harold Thatcher, chairman of the History Department of Wilkes College, will be the guest speaker at the breakfast in honor of Dr. Eugene S. Farley to be held tomorrow at 9 in the Adams Room of the Hotel Sterling. The topic of Dr. Thatcher's speech will be education for women.

Special guests for the occasion will include Dr. and Dean Doane, and Dean and Mrs. Ralston.

Co-chairmen of the breakfast, sponsored by Associated Women Students of Wilkes, are Estelle Manos and Myrna Fischman, who wish to extend an invitation to all office personnel, faculty, and students to attend the breakfast.

Tickets may be purchased today, but all returns must be handed in by 5 p.m. to Miss Manos.

Six Exchange Students to Address Kiwanis Meeting

Six foreign exchange students will be guests at a special Kiwanis Club program at 12:15 p.m. next Thursday in the Hotel Sterling's Crystal Ballroom.

Each student, as a member of a panel discussion, will voice his opinion on American education and will describe the needs of his native country.

The program, entitled "Building Bridges for Friendship", will feature: Chinghee Chae of Seoul, Korea, majoring in Commerce and Finance; Eliud Kabungo, a Commerce and Finance major from Nyevi, Kenya; also majoring in Commerce and Finance is Christian Leydolt from Austria.

Rudolf Schoenfeld of Bolivia is pursuing an A.B. degree in German; from Auch, Nigeria is Sanjo Shoyinka majoring in Commerce and Finance; Pericles Skyropoulos from Greece is a psychology major.

Dean Ralston will introduce the panel members at the program.

INTERVIEWS ANNOUNCED

Atty. Andrew Hourigan, Jr., senior partner of Hourigan, Kluger, and Spohrer, and president of the Greater Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce, will be present to honor Dr. Farley as a representative of the community. A graduate of Wyoming Seminary, Princeton University, and University of Pennsylvania Law School, he is actively engaged in many facets of community life. Among the numerous associations with which he is associated are: Blue Cross of Northeastern Penna., Penna. and Wyoming Valley United Fund, Council for Mentally Retarded, Mercy Hospital, Miners National Bank, Committee of 100, and the Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Frank Slattery will welcome the group assembled to honor Dr. Farley.

Highlight of the events planned for this day is the dinner scheduled for tomorrow evening at 6:30 p.m. in the gymnasium on S. Franklin St. at which these men will appear. An Honorary Breakfast, sponsored by the Associated Women Students of Wilkes will commence the activities at 9 a.m. in the Adams Room of the Hotel Sterling. To continue the festivities, the Wilkes College Band will render a medley of songs in front of Dr. Farley's home later in the morning. At this time, Ed Rogalski will present Dr. Farley with a scroll containing the signatures of students on campus. The Band will also play outside the gym tomorrow evening to entertain guests arriving for the testimonial dinner.

Senior Deadline Is Dec. 1

by Jim Allen

Mary Ann Foley, chairman of the Senior Class Gift Committee, has announced that the deadline for suggestions for the class gift is December 1. Suggestion boxes have been placed in most of the buildings on campus for the convenience of everyone concerned.

The selection of the gift will be made at a Senior Class meeting on December 7. The class memorial fund will contain approximately $1400 which will be available for this gift. Because of our rapidly expanding facilities, Dr. Farley recommended that the gift be movable.

Political Science Major Explains Illegal Drinking Consequences

by Jerome Krasa

Certain elements in any group always are determined to break the law. For some reason, these people get a thrill from doing something wrong in order to see if they can avoid being caught.

People such as this encourage a general disrespect for law and law enforcement. They can constitute a danger to society. More important, however, are the people who break the law and either don't realize they are doing so or what the consequences of their action can be.

The latter group can be just as dangerous as the first. People in it can be prosecuted just as vigorously for violation of the law as a person who has full knowledge of the consequences of his act.

Today, it seems to be fashionable among a number of Wilkes students, especially those under 21, to violate the Pennsylvania Liquor Code. Such action seems to indicate a poor understanding of the effect such a violation can have on the individual.

However, ignorance of the law or its effect can not be claimed as a valid defense in court. The clarity of the state law leaves no doubt as to its intent and purpose.

A fine and/or imprisonment is provided for those minors who either purchase, have purchased for them, or consume alcoholic beverages on premises licensed by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board for the sale of alcoholic beverages.

Not only can these violators be prosecuted under the state law, they can also be punished under the various ordinances passed in the local communities. Wilkes-Barre has a model ordinance of this type providing for punishment in case of violation of their liquor law. This is in addition to the state law.

Furthermore, the official college policy concerning the consumption of alcoholic beverages by students is clear. Drinking is prohibited on campus and at all school-sponsored affairs. Violation of this policy can result in expulsion from school.

In addition, drinking is discouraged off campus. As a community college, taking an active part in community affairs, the school has a reputation to uphold. This reputation can be done serious damage by continued violations of the law on the part of our students.

Students who drink to show off or feel big should therefore realize that they have three strikes against them if they are minors.

First, the state prohibits the sale or service of alcoholic beverages or consumption of alcoholic beverages by minors and provides certain penalties. Second, many local communities have ordinances in addition to the state Code which can be used to prosecute violations.

Finally, the official college policy must, of necessity, be one that discourages, as strongly as possible, the public consumption of alcoholic beverages by students, particularly minors.

A revision of the Pennsylvania Liquor Code, made in the last session of the state legislature, indicates the interest in the problem held by the state.

This revision provides that the state Liquor Control Board will issue upon application, an identification card to any citizen who has reached the age of 21.

Although such cards are not a necessity, they will be asked for to prove the age of a person attempting to purchase any alcoholic beverages. Even though a person is over 21, if he doesn't have such a card, he will not be served.

The change in the law was necessary to enable sellers of such beverages to ensure that they were complying with the state law in order to avoid prosecution. Transference of this identification card can also result in a fine and/or imprisonment.

Thus, from all angles the individual is being prohibited from violating the law in this respect. The standard answer is that laws were made to be broken.

Any reasonable person realizes that this is not the case. Laws are written to discourage certain undesired activities and to provide punishment when they are broken.
