MIKE DYDO IS ATHLETE OF YEAR IN BEACON'S ANNUAL BALLOTING

by MORGAN DAVIS, Sports Editor

MIKE DYDO, senior all-round intercollegiate athlete was selected from a field of seventeen contestants to be 1958-59 Athlete of the Year.

For the four years that Mike has been active in school athletics he has been held in high regard by both the Coaches and BEACON staff, but his real value to both the baseball and football teams didn't appear in its proper perspective until this, his final year at Wilkes.

With the realization that "Big" Mike won't be around next year to stand the 60-minute grind in filling the holes on the line or to be pulled in from his regular fielding position to take his turn on the mound and win four games at this writing, the impressed coaches and writing staff selected Dydo to be the Beacon's outstanding athlete.

Mike was co-captain of the grid team this past season and if he didn't fill the tackle position with a lot of weight, he did fill it with a great deal of know-how, experience, and determination. He was selected a little earlier in the year to receive the Howard W. Davis Award for excellence in athletics.

His strong outfielder's arm was utilized to the maximum this year when he took on the regular role of pitcher for the Blue and Gold diamond men. He has a winning season going so far and is still more impressive at the plate when he gets his usual collection of doubles and triples.

Balloting for the honor took place earlier this week, with the Director of Athletics, Director of Sports Publicity, coaches and the Sports staff of the Beacon turning in their votes.

The official voting showed some real competition for top honors, with sophomore wrestler and gridder Marvin Antinnes giving Mike

COMPTON GETS AWARD FOR OUTSTANDING JOB

Dave Compton, senior Commerce and Finance student, received the Hamilton electric wristwatch in recognition for his outstanding work in enabling the Wilkes Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management to gain honors in the recent membership drive.

Compton, a resident of Short Hills, New Jersey, was awarded the prize by popular vote of the Society's members in a meeting last week. The local chapter's drive for membership enrolled over 100 members, enough to rank the chapter tenth in the nation's university chapters for total membership, and rated them the number one spot among the chapters in percentage gains with a whopping 64 per cent.

Retiring President

Compton is the outgoing president of the Wilkes chapter. In elections held last week, Carl Borr, currently serving as vice-president, was moved up to the presidency. Elected to serve as vice-president until December 30 was Lou Bierly, another Commerce and Finance major.

Bob Jones, junior C&F student, was elected secretary to replace graduating Charlie Butler.

S.A.M. elects its officers to serve a calendar, rather than a school year.

NOTICE!

All BEACON reporters are requested to report to the BEACON office at 1 p.m. today for an important meeting. Assignments will be given out at the meeting.

T.D.R. TO HOLD RECORD DANCE

On the last day of classes Theta Delta Rho is sponsoring a record hop in the gym. This dance will have the added attraction of two well-known disc jockeys, Bart Maldon and Harry Newman of WBAX. These boys were reported to be "far out" by the TDR members who went to inquire about their services. This dance will be slightly different from any other dance held on campus this year.

The sorority held the installation of newly elected officers last Tuesday night at McClintock Hall. Veverly Butler was installed as President, Martha Menegus as Vice-President, Moncey Miller as Treasurer, and Carol Thomas as Secretary.

Miss Mary Homan, past president of TDR, lead the ceremony assisted by Judy Richardson, former vice-president; Pat Fushek, extreasurer; and Martha Menegus, past secretary. The new officers recited the Theta Delta Rho pledge and were presented with carnations.

Results of the Fashion Show were announced at Tuesday's meeting. Enough profits were received from this showing to cover the scholarship fund which TDR uses to award a scholarship to a Wilkes co-ed.

On Wednesday night, Theta Delta Rho presented a portrait of Mrs. Doane to the college. The oil painting now graces the wall of the reception room in Chase Hall. The Junior-Senior banquet was held in honor of Mrs. Doane and for the graduating members of T.D.R. Thirteen members received bracelets for the services they have given

CROWNING OF CINDERELLA TO CLIMAX FORMAL DANCE

by Jean Shofranko

Tonight as the lights dim and soft music fills the air, eleven senior coeds will begin the long walk across the gymnasium floor to the gaily decorated bandstand. Then, at the stroke of midnight, the identity of "Cinderella 1959" will be announced.

Lettermen Shine Shoes In Fund-Raising Effort

by Steve Cooney

The annual Lettermen's Shoes-shine Days are here again! The Lettermen will each take their turn shining and polishing shoes until five o'clock today on Chase lawn—for only twenty-five cents.

The Shoes-shine Days are held each year by the club to help raise money for their annual scholarship to an incoming freshman. Girard Senick, 130-lb. wrestler, was recipient of the award for this present year. The rest of the money for the half-tuition scholarship comes from proceeds from the Christmas and April Showers formals and other fund-raising campaigns.

Fred Williams is in charge of this year's shoes-shine campaign. All faculty members and students are urged to visit the shoes-shine stand before closing time today.

MERGER POLL RESULTS TO BE POSTED IN LIBRARY

by Steve Cooney

Opinion polls on the consolidation proposal were taken of the student body this week by the Wilkes Chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Wilkes-Barre in conjunction with the Wilkes College Institute of Local Government.

The purpose of the survey was to determine the exact views of the student body on consolidation.

Above is a brief description of the elaborate pageantry to be expected tonight at the Student Government's Cinderella Ball. Dancing will be from 9 to 1 to the music of Jack Melton's orchestra.

Michael Bianco, program chairman, reports that his committee has planned music for dancing from 9 to 12. A few minutes before midnight Cinderella candidates and their escorts will assemble at the entrance of the gym and promenade to the bandstand. As the candidates assemble on the stage and the final stroke of midnight is heard, the results of balloting will be announced. Dr. Farley will crown "Cinderella" and present her flowers and gifts contributed by local merchants. Cinderella and her escort will lead the next waltz and dancing will resume until 1 a.m. Each of the candidates will receive an engraved sterling silver bracelet.

Cinderella will reign over a veritable "Fantasyland." Instead of the traditional painted backdrop, a huge wand sprinkled with stardust and showering stars will provide a background for the orchestra. Mary Homan, famous on campus for her ingenious set decorations, has outdone herself in designing six fairytale scenes which will be constructed and set-up in a regular pattern around the dance floor. Miss Homan has chosen scenes from Cinderella, Humpty Dumpty,

CONGRATULATIONS . . .

The Beacon extends sincere congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Schmidt on the birth of a daughter, Nina, last Thursday night at Mercy Hospital, Wilkes-Barre. Nina weighed in at 6 pounds, 6 ounces. Eddie is the fellow who sets the Beacon in type every week — and is the only person to read every word of the Beacon every week.

The Beacon staff takes pleasure in dedicating this issue to Nina Schmidt.

EDITORIAL

Observations of An Editor

With the announcement of the Beacon Athlete of the Year and the big story of Cinderella dominating the front page, we suddenly realize that there is only one more week of classes left for the '58-'59 school year; consequently there is only one more Beacon after this one. The last issue of the year usually has an editorial devoted to the thank you's and congratulations befitting the occasion of off with the old, and on with the new Editor, so with this our last chance we want to let you in on some of the feelings and experiences we have garnered through editing twenty-nine issues of the Beacon — more than any other Beacon editor can take credit — or blame — for.

Unknown to most students, we were plunked down into the Editor's chair back on May 2, 1958 when we took over unofficially in the absence of the Editor-in-Chief. Since then we have learned a lot, some of the impressions we got were good but the majority of them were, unfortunately, bad. One of the things that interested us was the fact that Wilkes students do not have the strength to stand behind their convictions or to support their ideas. We do not make this statement as an authority on the subject, we make it only through our own personal observations of the actions of students in connection with not only the Beacon, but also with other campus activities.

Our editorial policy this year has been decidedly liberal, or even a trifle on the leftist side, if you wish, but we had a purpose in mind when we started to "tee off" on a few things. We perhaps over-emphasized things that possibly could have gone by, but we did so because we wanted to make people think. We wanted to get students so annoyed that they would sit down and talk, yell or scream until they reached the point where they would realize that some things were not as they should be on campus.

Letters, We Don't Get Letters

We made it a point to be around the Commons when the Beacon came out every Friday so that we could see the results of our work. Either one of two things happened; the people we criticized ran for cover or they came at us like madmen threatening all sorts of letters to the Editor. How many of those letters answering our editorials did we get? TWO. What happened to the rest? We are inclined to think that the people who were so indignant, and they probably had a gripe because we over-emphasized many things, were afraid to defend themselves, they were afraid to refute us, afraid to express their side publicly, afraid to stand behind their convictions.

Through the twenty-seven issues this year, we have received ten letters to the Editor all together (this figure excludes open letters to the student body not concerned with the Beacon or addressed to the Editor). As we mentioned above, only two of these letters criticized us for picking out the bad spots on campus and pounding them into dust. Other college newspapers are filled with letters answering editorials that are much softer than ours have been. We are of course not competing with other colleges in the Letters to the Editor department, but the fact remains that Wilkes students, as compared to other college students, will not stand up for what they think is right. It stands to reason that students do things because they think they are correct in their actions, but when we proceeded to criticize those actions, the students responsible just crawl away to sulk instead of letting us know how they feel.

Dr. Farley Wouldn't Like It?

Just as Wilkes students refuse to defend themselves, they also give up without even trying. Again, this is just our opinion based on what we have seen during our tour of duty. Many times we have seen or heard about meetings or informal gatherings where someone comes up with a brilliant idea — something that would raise school spirit and dispel some of the gloom that sometimes hangs over the campus. The idea grows, with others catching the enthusiasm until the whole thing seems wonderful. Then some dissipated, dis-illusioned and work-fearing wet blanket casually remarks that "Dr. Farley wouldn't like it" and there goes another idea out the window without even a decent burial. We frankly think that Dr. Farley would be amazed at the things he "wouldn't like," the number is overwhelming. He is reported to dislike things he never even heard of and we don't think that this is his fault. We think that the kill-joys on campus are using him as an excuse possibly to avoid work, and possible because they are afraid to try something new. Many times we have been a member of a group that was sure that the administration would stop an idea, yet we have never seen or heard of a sensible idea that, when asked, the administration has stopped.

We don't advocate the plan that everyone having an idea go rushing up to Chase Hall with a chip on his shoulder and demand that he be given his way. We merely suggest, meekly perhaps, that next year students ask before they give up an idea. You may be surprised to find that the Administration is composed of rather broad-minded and sensible people who are seeking the best for Wilkes, just as the students should be.

End of lecture.

APPEARS NEXT WEEK

A somewhat altered and extensively enlarged Manuscript will appear on the Wilkes campus next week. Once again, the literary and art magazine of the college has been constructed to contain diversified expressions of student creativity which should prove interesting to all.

The sixty-eight page edition will be prefaced with an editorial and dedication of the magazine to Wilkes, upon completion of its successful twenty-fifth anniversary.

Included in the contents is a section of art and music expression, in which will be found paintings by Michael Crush, Jim Connell, and Jim Cornelius. An original musical setting for the words of Thomas Wolfe, "Something Has Spoken to Me in the Night," has been submitted by Audrey Bartlett, senior music student and prominent pianist and organist.

A selected group of short stories, several of which were submitted by students of Dr. Philip Rizzo, occupies a major portion of the magazine. Among the short stories are the following:

"The Platonic Seedsower" by Ronald Kryznewski is, in the words of the author, "a philosophical fantasy which satirically compares Romanticism and Rationalism." The conclusion of the story "is a reaffirmation of Keatsian Negative Capability."

Clifford Brothers' "Paul Gauguin Wept" is concerned with the tragic life of the prominent French painter and his last days on the island of Tahiti.

Barbara Poris has contributed a novel short story, "The Card Game," which reveals its meaning through sharp dialogue around a card table.

Helen Klatt's "Blind Date" is a teen-age story which clearly reveals a great amount of insight into the character of two 'young at heart' at their first rendezvous.

Other stories are: "A Success Story" by Jim Eidam, "The Departure" and "The Raward" by Albert Valenia, and "Soldier" by Jim Cornelius.

A theological essay, "The Old Testament and Criticism" has been contributed by Gordon Roberts, and poetry of varied nature by Pat Hemenway, Cliff Brothers, Robert Stevens, and Harvey Stambler is the remaining material in the publication.

It is significant to note that this year has been one of great expansion for the Manuscript, for the association is not only presenting a larger publication than those in the past, but it also organized a film society, expanded its editorial staff, and enlarged its exchange program with many colleges and universities.

"I can't bear a fool," said the barrister to the witness.

"Your mother could," said the witness.

Danny: "Mother, may I have a nickel for the old man who is crying?"

Mother: "Yes dear, but what is the old man crying about?"

Danny: "He's crying, 'Salty peanuts, five cents a bag.'"

Inebriated: "Shay, pardon me, officer, but where am I?"

Officer: "You're on the corner of Broadway and Forty-Second St."

Inebriated: "Cut out the details. What town am I in?"

"My sister is awfully lucky," said one little boy to another.

"Why?"

"She went to a party last night where they played a game in which the men had to either kiss a girl or pay a forfeit of a box of chocolates."

"Well, how was your sister lucky?"

"She came home with thirteen boxes of chocolates."

Little Red Riding Hood, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Alice in Wonderland, and Hansel and Gretel. Unusual lighting effects, executed by Howard Allen, will add realism to the scenes.

Another unusual feature of the dance will be the seating arrangement. Instead of conventional groupings, ten tables will be arranged in semi-circles around each fairytale scene. Centerpieces will be fairytale characters for each scene, made by the girls of McClintock Hall.

Streamers of sunburst yellow, coral, lemon yellow, and melon pink will provide a cheery ceiling for "Fantasyland." Hula hoops, decorated by the residents of Catlin Hall, will complete the effect.

Favors will be goblets embossed with the Wilkes College seal and "Cinderella 1959".

Gordon Roberts and Wayne Griffith are general chairmen of the affair. Assisting committee heads are: decorations, Robert Pitel; favors, Martha Menegus; gifts and flowers, Rhea Politis; invitations, Cynthia Dysleski; music, Robert Washburn; programs, Carl Zoolkoski; refreshments, Charles Sorber; selection, Elisabeth Schwartz; tickets, Reginald Mattioli; program, Michael Bianco; and publicity, William Davis.

Chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. John Doane, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Rosenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitel, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Mattioli, Gordon Roberts and Jean Pyatt.

Male Chorus to Provide Music
At Flood Testimonial Dinner;
Myers Re-Elected President

Two major concerts remain on the schedule for the Collegians, popular Wilkes male chorus, one of which will be at a testimonial dinner honoring Congressman Daniel J. Flood. Principal speaker for the dinner will be Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House of Representatives. The dinner will be held at the Wilkes gym on June 6. Congressman Flood expressly said that he would like to have the men provide the entertainment at the dinner.

Tomorrow night, the group will travel via chartered bus to Buck Hill Falls, Pa., where they will entertain at the annual Governor's banquet of Rotary International.

Myers Re-Elected President

In last Friday's elections, president Dick Myers was re-elected for another year. Myers is a junior majoring in English, has been a member of the chorus for three years, is student director of the co-ed intramural bowling league, and is News Editor of the Beacon.

Dick Wileman, junior Commerce and Finance major, was elected vice-president. Wileman is a native of Dallas, Pa., and is taking accelerated courses in an attempt to gain his degree in three years. He succeeds Wayne Walters in the position.

Maurry James of Kingston, a sophomore, was elected treasurer to replace Carroll Davenport, who held the position for three years.

Harry Owens, a sophomore majoring in music education, was voted secretary. Owens will fill the post held formerly by John Salva, who completed his degree work in February.

A newly created post in the chorus, librarian-historian, went to freshman music education major Bob Eike, a graduate of Coughlin High School.

by Marilyn Krackenfels

On June 3, the final day of examinations, the Freshman Class has planned a class outing to celebrate. The outing, open to each freshman and a guest, will be held at Rummage's Grove, Hunlock Creek.

Activities will commence about 2 p.m., with a car caravan leaving from Warner Hall at 1:30. In the evening, from eight until twelve, a band will play for dancing.

Maps for those driving cars will be available, and there will be a list posted several days in advance for students wishing to purchase food at the grove.

Among the activities available are softball, swimming, roller skating, and boating.

The general chairman for the outing is Ralph Pinskey. His committee is comprised of Mike Crush, Mike Kunen, Doug Learn, and Rick Rease.

Teacher: "Who can tell me what the former ruler of Russia was called?"

Class (in unison): "Tsar."

Teacher: "Correct, and what was his wife called?"

Class: "Tsarine."

Teacher: "And what were the children called?"

Class: "Tsardines."

Members of the Wilkes Club will also perform in other productions of this year's Fiesta. On Saturday the original opera, "Prince of the Green Winds", will be presented. Bill Peters is the director of this production to be enacted next week.

Performances by Wilkes players will include a recitation of a paper by Jeannie Baird. The paper, entitled "All About Me", is a collection of original poems by Mr. Alfred Groh, and will be recited on Public Square, Wilkes-Barre.

The Wilkes-Barre Fine Arts Fiesta was started two years ago, and is now considered to be an annual affair. Miss Annette Evans, Fine Arts Chairman, was well pleased with the performances of the Cue 'n' Curtain last year, and as a result, has asked the club to repeat their sterling portrayals.

Manuscript Organizes New Exchange Program With Foreign Colleges

An extensively revised exchange program has been one of the major projects of the Manuscript Association, campus literary organization, during the past year.

When the exchange program is completed, according to Harvey Stambler, exchange editor, the Manuscript yearly publication will be sent to at least fifteen colleges and universities in several foreign countries plus a large number of American institutions of higher learning.

During the past year, the Manuscript exchange program has been broadened to include some sixty prominent American colleges. For the first time in the history of the Association, the Manuscript will be sent to Manchester University and North West University in Great Britain, the University of Western Ontario, Canada, and Sydney University of Sydney, Australia.

When the exchange program is complete, the Manuscript will be "circling the globe" with creativity of Wilkes students.

EDUCATION MAJORS TO VISIT RETREAT

by Steve Cooney

As a group project for their hygiene class, senior elementary education majors will make a trip Thursday, May 21, to Retreat State Hospital for a tour of facilities.

The visit will include a tour of the rehabilitation workshops and talks with individual patients undergoing therapy. This will give the future educators a glimpse of what is being done to help our mentally ill. The information they learn they can then pass on to their students when they become teachers.

Prior to the tour, Miss Florence Bueno, Directress of Nurses at Retreat Hospital, will visit the hygiene class and explain the procedures used at Retreat.

George Sura, Harold Klein, Martha James, and George Black are in charge of arrangements for the trip.

Awards Assembly Tuesday to Honor Accomplishments

by Jean Shofranko

Students who have attained outstanding scholastic and service records will be honored at the annual Awards Assembly to be held Tuesday. The program will begin with an address by Dr. Eugene S. Farley.

Presentation of the "Dean's Cups" will highlight the awards. Each year the senior man and woman who have achieved the highest scholastic averages for four years are awarded engraved cups by the deans.

The Assembly Award is presented to the organization who has produced the best student assembly of the year. Members of the Student Assembly Committee will choose the winner.

Sports awards, Commerce and Finance award, Education club award, Cue 'n' Curtain awards, and Beacon awards are a few of the presentations to be made.

May 12th Assembly

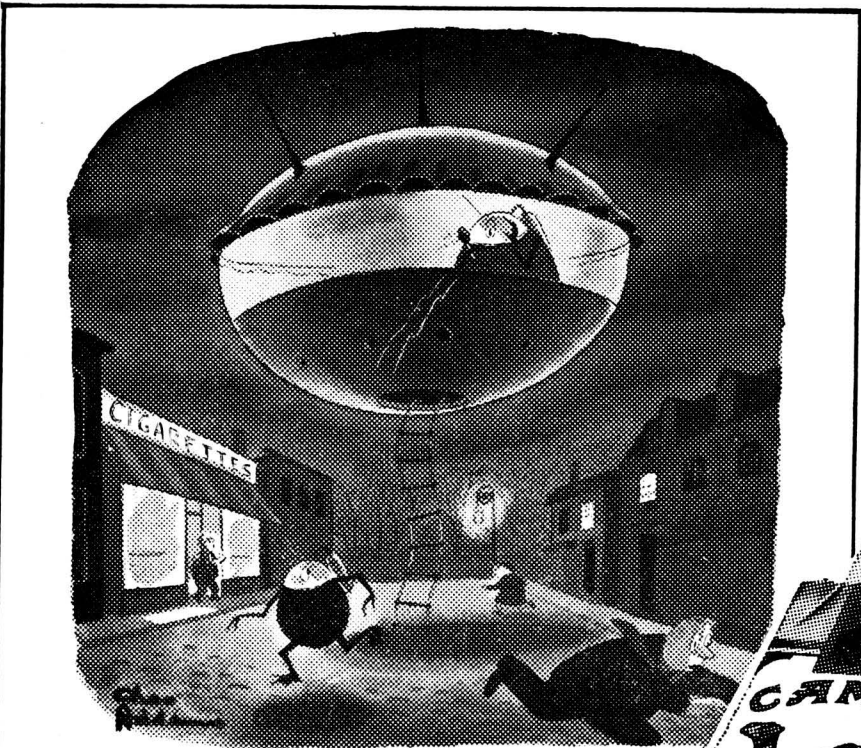

John C. Metcalfe, White House correspondent, spoke on the Big Four foreign ministers' conference at last Tuesday's Assembly.

Metcalfe considered a wide open conference as the best general approach for the United States, in regard to summit meetings. Both the United States and Russia would agree to let each party discuss what they wish.

The only danger of the Berlin situation, according to Mr. Metcalfe, is that a trigger happy incident might occur which would be extremely dangerous, for if a conflict started, war would not be confined to one area.

Mr. Metcalfe also commented on the high rate of migration from East to West Germany. He said that if ever an unfortunate conflict between East and West Germany occurred, East Germany would crumble overnight.

In conclusion Mr. Metcalfe said that we cannot let down our front line in Germany, for if we do, there will be a stampede of governments running to Moscow for cover. "Our life is at stake," he said, "and appeasement is only the road to destruction."

Selody, Williams Lead Recruits to Victories; Gavenus Notches No. 6

Ray's Recruits, National League intramural softball champions, won the College championship on Tuesday with a 14-9 win over the Blivets, American League winners.

Tuesday's game was the second of the three-game playoff and gave the Recruits the flag after they soundly whipped the Blivets last Friday by a lopsided 21-4 margin.

Ken Selody was the big gun in the series for the Recruits, with a total of eight hits in nine trips to the plate, including three home runs and a double in Friday's game, good for eight runs batted in.

In Tuesday's contest he went four-for-five. Fred Williams blasted a three-run homer in Friday's game and had three-for-four in the title contest.

Dan Lewis had a perfect day at the plate for the Recruits on Tuesday in the clincher with three hits in three at-bats, to lead the 17-hit barrage by the Recruits. Scoring fast, the champs rang up six fast runs in the first inning and added four more in the second to ice the win quickly.

For added measure, they tallied two runs in the third and two more in the fifth.

The Recruits thus concluded a most successful season, in which they romped to six straight wins for an undefeated performance. The closets threat came from their National League rivals, the Snafus, who lost a close 5-4 decision in the third contest of the season. Clem Gavenus pitched each of the Recruits' games for a perfect 6-0 season's record.

Golfers Finish Fourth at Harpur, Finale Tomorrow

by Dan Lewis

Last Saturday a four-man squad of golfers journeyed to the Enjoie Country Club in Endicott, New York, to participate in the Harpur College Invitational Tournament.

The Colonels got off to a good start and were in second place at the end of the first nine holes, but ran into tough luck in the back nine and finished fourth in a field of twelve.

The Colonels were led by Bob Januszko with an 83 and Pete Perog with an 84. The four-man squad totaled 341 for the round.

Lemoyne College retained their championship with a winning total of 324.

The results: Lemoyne 324, Union 335, Rochester 338, Wilkes 341, Alfred 344, Harpur 350, Oswego STC 350, Cortland STC 353, Brockport STC 353, Canisius 355, and Hartwick 375. The Ithaca score was not turned in.

Last Sunday and Monday saw the same four-man squad in action at the DuPont Louviers Country Club, the scene of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference golf tournament.

The Linksman had a tough time of it finishing 16th in the 19-team field with a team score of 735.

The best individual score for the Colonels was Bob Januszko's 168 followed by Al Stralka's 181. Par for the 36-hole play was 140.

First place was captured by Bucknell University with a score of 640 while defending champion Lehigh University finished second with a score of 656.

First in the individual scoring was Bucknell's Bob Etzweiler with a 154 score. Teammate Bob Schad carded 159, good for fifth place.

Tomorrow the golfers will end the season with a regular team match with Moravian College.

Jerry Lawrence

Red Hot Bat and Glove Big Factor in Attack And on Team Defense

by Fred Jacoby

Shortstop Jerry Lawrence has been chosen to receive the "Athlete of the Week" award. Hustling Jerry was selected not only for his masterful glove work, which has taken many a hit from the opposing nines, but also for his steady hitting ability.

Jerry's bat has caused many of the opposing pitchers to be very careful about making mistakes when he is at bat. During the last three games, against Rider, Lycoming, and Ithaca, Jerry stroked two hits from each of the pitchers and was responsible for scoring one run in each game. His batting average has been well over .400 since early in the season and the percentage of his glove work has been much higher.

His single against Rider brought in two of his teammates and made the Colonels' win possible. Even though the Colonels were beaten by Ithaca, 10-2, Jerry smashed two singles and was responsible for one of the two runs.

This excellent play is unusual, considering the fact that Jerry is just a freshman. During the next three years, he should develop into an even brighter star on the Colonels' team and appear under this heading.

Jerry starred in baseball for his high school at Nanticoke. While at Wilkes he is majoring in Physics. He currently resides in Nanticoke.

Tennis Team Home Tomorrow, Drops 6-3 Match

by David Kline

Tomorrow the Wilkes College tennis team will meet the Juniata Indians in their first home meet. A youthful Wilkes team will attempt to overpower the experienced squad of Juniata courtmen at 2 p.m. in Kirby Park. The Colonels are confident of a win because of valuable experience gained through six games played on foreign courts this year.

Last Thursday the Colonels played the over-rated Susquehanna Crusaders, but lost, 6-3. Led by Dirk Dunlap and Paul Bleifer, the team showed their potential power but dropped the match, 6-3. In the singles Jim Swaback showed his best form of the season but dropped the set, 7-5, 6-4. Ira Himmel then lost a close set, 6-4, 10-8.

Paul Bleifer turned the tables on the Crusaders when he defeated his man by the score of 6-4, 7-5. Dunlap followed with another win, 6-0, 4-6, 7-5. Bill Woll then lost a tight set, 4-6, 6-4, 9-7. Jack Thomas was outscored, 8-6, 6-4.

In the doubles, the combination of Dunlap and Bleifer proved decisive over their opponents, 6-2, 4-6, 9-7. The combinations of Himmel-Swaback and Thomas-Halperin were then edged in closely contested matches.

On Tuesday the team was overpowered by the Ursinus Bears, 7-0. The doubles match of Himmel and Bleifer was rained out when the combination was winning, 4-3. The team got off to a poor start when Jim Swaback lost, 6-0, 6-0, to the Grizzlies' number one man.

End Home Season Tues. with Bears; Lose to Rider

by Ray Yanchus

Tomorrow the Colonels will meet the Lebanon Valley Dutchmen at Annville, Pa. The down-staters are coached by Frank Etchberger and center their attack around returning lettermen Art Ford and Doug Ross, pitchers; Karl Weslawski and William Glazer, outfielders; and Darryl Myers, second base.

Bill DeLiberty, the team captain, who harassed Wilkes on the football field and the basketball court, will be missing from the Dutchmen's lineup. DeLiberty is not playing this season on doctor's advice.

Wilkes defeated Lebanon Valley last year, 4-2.

Monday the diamondmen open their final home stand against Albright College and close out the home season with Ursinus the following day. Albright boasts a 5-1 record as of last week, with victories over Gettysburg and Ursinus. Fireballer Fred Dietzel is responsible for a majority of the Lions' wins and has struck out 15 batters in one game and 12 in another.

The Lions pack plenty of wallop in their lineup with all stickers capable of hitting the long ball. Last campaign the Colonels trimmed Albright by the score of 6-2.

Tuesday the team completes the home season against the Ursinus Bears at Artillery Park. Game time is 4 p.m. The Colonels will be out to make it two in a row over the Bears, having won, 3-2, last season.

Rider Nips Colonels

Last Saturday Wilkes came close to upsetting a highly confident Rider outfit but finally succumbed to the Broncs, 6-5. Rider jumped off to a three-run lead in the second inning on a walk, two singles and a base-clearing triple by second baseman Bob Heist. Wilkes came back with two runs in the third when Don Goobic singled, and scored on John Harvey's ground-out.

Rider scored two more runs in the fourth and the Colonels matched them in their half of the inning. Ralph Hendershot led off with a single and Bobby Ontko reached base on an error, both men advanced on a throwing error and Jerry Lawrence slashed a single to bring home both runners.

In the sixth, Hendershot hit a 430-foot double, advanced to third on an infield hit by Ontko, and scored on a hit by Sam Zgarski.

Wilkes threatened in the seventh, loading the bases with two out, but a runner was out at home attempting to score on a wild pitch.

Goobic, Hendershot, Ontko, and Lawrence had two hits apiece for the Colonels.

Monday the team went down to defeat at the hands of a powerful Ithaca nine in an abbreviated contest, 10-2. The game was called at the end of 4½ innings because of rain.

The Bombers unloaded 13 hits to put the game out of the Colonels' reach. Jerry Lawrence once again came through with two base hits. He has accomplished this feat in the last five games, as did Paul Aquilino. One of Aquilino's hits was a double to drive in a run.

John Harvey and Sam Zgarski collected the only other Wilkes hits.

BOB MORAN VICTIM OF SURPRISE PARTY, ENDS NIGHT BY 'BLOWING HIS OWN HORN'

Students, friends, and associates of Band director Bob Moran recently held a surprise farewell party in his honor at the Kingston American Legion Home.

The popular bandleader, under the impression that he was to appear at the Legion to play for a private party, walked in on over 100 people already assembled and waiting, with flashbulbs, brass ensemble to play a fanfare, and a gaily decorated banquet table.

One of the key figures in planning the party, Miss Phyllis Clark, was also surprised to discover that she, too, had a seat of honor at the table and was honored with a going-away gift of a portable radio.

Mr. John Detroy acted as toastmaster and devoted his remarks to reminiscences of his association with Mr. Moran. Then Wayne Walters and Bill Peters presented an original work of music in honor of the guest.

Bob Olivia and the music department's student body presented a skit and played a brass ensemble piece entitled "Salute to Robert E. Moran."

Georgianna Sebolka spoke on behalf of the cheerleaders, Dick Myers for the Collegians, and Carroll

Davenport for the band.

Davenport then presented Mr. Moran with a gift from the entire assemblage, a gleaming bass trumpet. Following the formalities, the musicians in the crowd took turns playing for the dancers and Mr. Moran tried out his new horn with some old-time band members, who managed to work up a jam session which set the crowd into howls of delight.
