

CAMPUS CONSOLIDATI

Parrish, Chapman Halls Sold

Another round of changes to the Wilkes College campus has taken place during the summer of 1983 designed to result in a more compact, more efficiently utilized physical plant. Among those changes is the sale of Parrish Hall, Chapman Hall, and the "Parrish Parking Lot" to a private developer who plans to convert the structures into an office complex.

Parrish and Chapman Halls were constructed originally by the former Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company during the early 1900's; Parrish, in fact, still bears the name of the coal company in its cornice, and several doorknobs with the coal company insignia still remain in the building. Chapman Hall had served as a women's residence hall through the 1982-83 school year.

The administrative offices formerly housed in Parrish Hall have been moved to Sturdevant Hall on South Franklin Street, including the Business Office, Finance, the Registrar and Recorder, and the Office of Graduate Studies, Summer and Evening School. Joining those offices in Sturdevant, formerly another women's residence hall, are Financial Aid (from the lower level of Weckesser Hall and the Upward Bound Program (from Ross

The Department of Commerce and Finance, the last remaining academic department in Parrish Hall, has been relocated to Bedford Hall on the corner of River and South Streets, a former men's residence hall. In addition to housing the offices of the faculty, several rooms will be used as classrooms in the

"Moving the administrative offices to Sturdevant Hall will be a blessing to the students," remarked Dr. Andrew Shaw. Dean of Management and responsible for the physical plant of the College. "The registrar, finance office, and financial aid will be much closer to the student deans in Weckesser Hall and to the Admissions Office in Chase Hall, thus making it easier for students needing those services to walk from one building to another, he continued.

Three buildings were determined to have outlived their usefulness to the College - Gore Hall and Dana Hall, both residence halls and both on South Franklin Street - have been razed along with Conyngham Hall Annex. The Gore and Dana Hall lots will be landscaped as "green areas" to open the vistas toward Stately Parrish Hall, once the home of such departments as Commerce and Finance, Political Science, Sociology, Psychology, and Education, and a landmark to motorists crossing the Market Street Bridge into the city, is in the process of changing hands, to be developed once again into a commercial office complex, along with Chapman Hall (insert).

College Receives Bequest

President Robert S. Capin recently announced that the College has received a bequest in excess of $500,000 from the estate of the late William L. Evans of Harvey's Lake, PA. A native of Wyoming Valley, Bvans died in May, 1983, at the age of 91.

As a tribute to his generosity and philanthropic support for Wilkes and higher education, the Board of Trustees has officially renamed Founders Hall the William L. Evans Residence Hall. Located at the corner of South River and East Northampton Streets, Evans Hall is a 205-unit residence hall which was opened in September of 1982.

'We are extremely grateful to the late Mr. Evans for his generosity and vision which will assist us in maintaining the quality of education at Wilkes," said Capin in making the announcement. "Wilkes remains, and shall continue to be a strong force in the educational, cultural and social development of the students of Northeastern Penn-sylvania largely because of wise and unselfish benefactors like William L. Bvans."

A graduate of Coughlin High School, Evans began his professional career in the plastering business with his father, Daniel H. Evans, of Wilkes-Barre. Following a partnership with Builders Supply Company here in the city, Evans joined with William Sword in 1942 to originate the Petroleum Services Corporation of Wilkes-Barre. Evans served as a member of the former Franklin Club, the Westmoreland Club, and Irem Temple Country Club in Dallas.

Our New Look

The end of the 1982-83 academic year also brought with it the final issue of the Wilkes College Quarterly, the college magazine which was distributed to alumni, parents, and contributors to the College, and published jointly by the Public Relations Office and the Office of Alumni Relations. After analyzing both the costs of the publication and the reaction of its readers to last year's alumni survey, External Affairs Dean Thomas Kelly and his staff decided to change the format to what you are now reading.

The 1982 alumni survey resulted in some interesting data concerning the readership of the Quarterly. For example, of the more than 500 survey responses, 40% indicated that the Quarterly was read only by the alumnus/a; 48% discarded the magazine within two weeks after receiving it; and only 3% passed it along to someone outside the family after reading it. Based on these findings, it was decided to publish the Alumnus as a less expensive black-andwhite offering rather than the very costly four-color magazine.

In terms of content, the survey respondents indicated their highest interest in the areas of class notes, prominent alumni, and campus happenings. As you read through the pages of this issue, you will notice that we have attempted to include topics from these areas, along with other features that will appear from time to

The Alumni Christmas Shopper on page 6, for example, offers graduates and parents, especially those unable to make a personal visit to the Bookstore, the opportunity to purchase souvenir items displaying the College seal as well as a variety of articles of clothing, just in time for the holiday season. If you are interested in purchasing any items not pictured in the Shopper, just call or write Gene Manganello, manager of the Book-store, for prices and availability of articles. You will want to order quickly, however, to ensure delivery in time for your gift-giving.

Another External Affairs change became effective on June 1, when the Development Office was reorganized under the directorship of Randy Xenakis, Xenakis, who is also the Director of Public Relations and Publications, follows James Aikman, who moved into the area of Administrative Computer Services last spring. Betsy Bell Condron '79 (MSEd), Director of Planned Giving, the inner campus, especially Pickering Hall. The Conyngham Annex lot will be paved for parking to help offset the loss of spaces from the Parrish Hall lot.

Ross Hall, located on South River Street, will be deactivated as the Act 101 Program is relocated in Kirby Hall, while plans call for Hollenback Hall to be used once again as a residence hall. College employees recently completed the renovations to the third floor of the Conyngham Student Center into office spaces for various student organizations and the Beacon, further consolidating the student-oriented activities on campus. The College Infirmary, formerly located in Conyngham Annex, has moved to the second floor of the Student Center.

President Capin noted that "not only will these changes result in a more efficient utilization of our physical plant, but students will also benefit by the campus consolidation. We expect to see a marked change in the traffic pattern of students since the Commerce and Finance Department is now closer to the center of campus. Only by maintaining as efficient an operation as possible can we keep the costs to our students as low as possible."

continued from page 1 Our New Look was advanced to Assistant Director of Development. Betsy will continue to write a column for the Alumnus, as will Randy and other members of the Fyternal Affairs Staff. Because the alumni play such a key role in the future progress of the College, a full page of each Alumnus will be devoted to the development function, bringing you items of interest about annual campaigns, special bequests, and ongoing needs of the institution.

While the change in format of this alumni newsletter was based on the responses to the survey conducted by the Alumni Office, we are very much interested in hearing from alumni who were not included in that survey (the survey sample was randomly selected by the computer with their reactions to the Alumnus, Whether it's praise or criticism, or even contributions of original material, we offer each reader the opportunity to share with us and the alumni association your feelings. Keep in touch!

To all members of the CLASS OF 1983, a hearty congratulations from all of us here at the College. We wish you all the best as you enter or continue on in your careers. As I indicated in my recent letter, we hope that you will continue your relationship with Wilkes in your alumni status, and become involved in the Association as time and interest permit. Keep in touch - your classmates and fellow alumni will want to know where you are and what you are doing - these Class Notes affords you a convenient way to communicate with those friends you had here. Best wishes to you ...

National Elections

National Vice-President Dr. John A. Hosage '62, Chairman of the Nominating Committee of the Alumni Association, reminds us that the time is upon us for the election of officers to the National Executive Committee for two-year terms beginning January 1, 1984 and extending through December 31, 1985.

Assuming that the Constitutional Amendments will be approved at the September 30 Annual Meeting of the Association, lohn issues the call for nominations for the offices of President, First Vice-President, Second Vice-President, Secretary, and Vice-Presidents to represent each of the 12 geographic areas of the Association

If you are willing to serve the College and the Association in any of these capacities, or if you know of a graduate who you think would do a creditable job as an officer, please write to Dr. John A. Hosage, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, Wilkes College Alumni Association, P.O. Box 111, Wilkes-Barre, PA

WINNING CROSSWORD ENTRY SELECTED

President Robert S. Capin selects the grand prize winner from among the eight correct entries in the "Wilkes Golden Anniversary Crossword Puzzle Contest," conducted by the Office of Public Relations. Looking on are Randy Xenakis (left), who created the puzzle, and Dick Raspen, Director of Alumni Relations. The Alumni Office provided a Wilkes College wristwatch as the grand prize.

Of the more than 300 entries received. only eight were deemed correct by the judges; each of these will receive a prize for their efforts. The grand prize was awarded to Joseph Sikora '54; Joe is a teacher of English with the Eastport, NY, school system, and resides in Center Moriches, NY. Also submitting correct entries were Adam Barrett, Richard Sours, Gina O'Brien Davies, Arthur Hoover, Robert Payne, David Davies, Ir., and Thomas Park.

Congratulations to Joe and the other seven - here is the correct solution:

WILKES PITCHING SIXTH BEST IN NATION

Bob Duliba's Wilkes College baseball team had found itself back in the national spotlight with a sixth-place ranking in the NCAA pitching statistics for Division III colleges and universities.

Over its 22-game schedule, the Colonel pitching staff, 13-9, recorded a 3.15 earned run average, sixth best in the nation. In 180 innings pitched, the Colonels gave up 109 runs, only 63 of which were

The Wilkes pitchers included Nick Volpetti, Coughlin; Rich Sheaffer, Central Bucks West; Rich Geffert, Coughlin Dana Colavetti, Tunkhannock; Jack Delfino, Carbondale: and Gene Nosovitch Carle Place, NI.

Excellent pitching should remain with the Colonels as Geffert is the only player lost through graduation.

UNSWORTH HAS CHOICE OF OB THIS YEAR

Entering his second year as head coach of the Wilkes Football Colonels, Bill Unsworth has recruited heavily and is looking to improve upon last year's 1-8 record. Last year's team operated under a wide-onen passing game, averaging nearly 40 passes an outing. That team established three offensive records.

Fall practice sessions were slated to get underway in late August, with 30 lettermen and one of the largest incoming freshman crops in recent history expected to assemble at Ralston Field.

One of the major areas of concern in the early going will be to find the best man to direct the offense from among the three returnees and three incoming freshmen. Lost through graduation was last year's starting quarterback Wayne Lonstein

The leading candidate is sophomore Randy Rice. The 6'1", 185-pound West Hazleton product replaced the injured Lonstein in 1982 and finished the season ranked third in passing in the Middle Atlantic Conference. He is an intelligent quarterback and has good working knowledge of the offense.

Expected to battle for the spot are junior Andy Haradel and sophomore Eric Reidinger. Harakel, from Robesonia, is smaller at 5'10", 170 pounds. He played quarterback in early season relief last year but was moved to wing back where he played well Reidinger, 6'1", 195 pounds, from Danville, started last season with arm trouble. He played in the last two games and was the leading rusher against Fair-leigh-Dickinson University of Madison, NJ. He has good physical size and a strong arm. In order to beln the Colonel cause, he needs to become more accurate and better familiarize himself with the Three freshmen who will be arriving on the scene this fall are Chuck Man ganiello, Brad Scarborough and John Thomas. Manganiello, a 6'0", 180pounder from Wyoming Area, played last year at Perkiomen School in Pennsburg. Prior to this stint he was a two-year letterman at Wyoming Area High School.

Scarborough, 6'6", 190 pounds, is a Montoursville Area High School product, while John Thomas, 6"1", 190 pounds, hails from Governor Mifflin High School in Shillington.

These are some highlights of a spectacular 50th Anniversary Year!

You may have been among the hundreds and hundreds of fortunate alumni who were able to participate in various of the above events which marked our Alma Mater's Golden Anniversary. But, whether or not you took part in the festivities, you can certainly share in the pride we all feel for this fine, halfcentury-old school . . . which has had a banner year celebrating the fruitful past. continuing to provide a superior education for its students and meaningful service to our community, while planning for the future

Planning ahead - that's what we do constantly in my office and that's what you (no matter what year you graduated) should do on a regular basis. You plan your work priorities, your expenditures versus income, your family vacations and even your market list . . . whether or not you're a coupon freak like I am. And, hopefully, you've planned your will. After all, it's not part of your death, but of your life!

'You're In Our Will . . . Are We In Yours?" asks a new brochure I'll be sending out in the months ahead. (If you'd like one, send in the coupon below.) And of course, you are in our future because: "We at Wilkes bequeath to all generations the academic, cultural, social, and economic benefits and dividends resulting from a college of excellence."

In addition to explaining ways you may choose to remember Wilkes in your will, the brochure notes how easy and inexpensive will-writing can be. As the final expression ct your life's values, it tells much about its author. It speaks for you after death by protecting your name, values, and interests into the future.

What better time to consider a Wilkes bequest than the 50th Anniversary of this unique College, which you attended at some point in the last five decades! We must all plan ahead so the flags keep flying for countless generations to follow us.

*Those flags represented you . . . the states and countries from which you came to spend vitally important years at this College. As you look back over the personal gains you made and the education you gleaned here, please consider a bequest to Wilkes in your will . . . no matter the size. It's the thank-you thought that counts first. And, if you choose to memorialize your college years in this way, do let us know (see coupon).

team throughout the season. ZAWOISKI NATION'S SOFTBALL LEADER

Michelle Zawoiski, a freshman from Pocono Lake, led the nation's Division III softball players in three offensive categories in 1983: runs batted in, home runs, and triples.

ANNIVERSARY BALL A BALL!

Gala Evening Had by 600

More than 600 people from the community and from the Wilkes College Family were on hand to celebrate the College's 50th Anniversary at a ball held on May 7 at Genetti's Best Western in downtown Wilkes-Barre.

The gala affair was the grand finale for the Golden Anniversary year at Wilkes. Guests included friends from the community, visitors and alumni from across the country - literally. John Jastrem '77, an accounting manager with Arthur Andersen & Company in Los Angeles, coupled a family visit with the opportunity to attend the ball. Jerry Moffatt '63, a member of the Wilkes Board of Trustees and a partner with Arthur Andersen in New York City, also attended, giving us coast-to-coast representation of Special recognition was given to those whose efforts were instrumental during the year of celebration, including W. Carey Evans '41, a member of the Wilkes Board and Chairman of the 50th Anniversary Celebrations, and John Chwalek, campus coordinator of the anniversary activities. Also honored were Trustee Emeritus Charles H. Miner, Jr., and the late F. Ellsworth Parkhurst.

LANDI, RAUB CITED

National Alumni Association President James F. Ferris awarded citations to two prominent Wilkes graduates at Commencement exercises on Sunday, May 22, 1983. Nancylee Maskornick Landi, Class of 1975, and William S. Raub, Class of 1961, were selected for the awards by the National Executive Com-mittee of the Association at its spring meeting from a group of more than 30 nominations made by Alumni, Faculty, and Administrators of the College.

Nancylee, who graduated with a B.S. in mathematics, is a Telemetry Project Engineer for the Singer Company, working directly with the NASA Space Shuttle Mission. She has been with Singer since 1975 and works primarily with the Shuttle Mission Simulator, which provides mission training for astronauts, and also with Mission Control Center in Houston. Texas. She has specialized in the simulation of the command and telemetry communications systems. This simu covers all links of the system including the on-board equipment, the satellites, and the ground stations. Nancylee was awarded the Distinguished Young Alumna Award for best exemplifying the traditions of the College which create unity and goodwill amidst diversity.

Nancylee and her husband Wayne,

Class of 1974, reside in Houston with their son Daniel Bryce.

Dr. William Raub earned the B.S. degree in Biology, and the Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania in 1969. He is currently the Associate Director for Extramural Research and Training at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland. He is the author of numerous publications, and received the Superior Service Honor Award of the National Institutes of Health. Since he first joined the NIH in 1966, Bill has served as Health Science Administrator for the Division of Research Facilities and Resources, as Acting Chief of the Special Resources Branch, and as Chief of the Biotechnology Resources Branch.

Bill recieved the prestigious Eugene S. Farley Memorial Alumni Award, presented for "outstanding contributions to the social, economic, cultural, and political life of the community." He resides in Rockville, Maryland, with his wife Joyce and their three children Jennifer, Janice, and Brian

MARKETING STUDY UNDERWAY

What is Wilkes College! What are the strengths of the institution? The weaknesses? What kind of image do we profess . . and project to the community! What characteristics of the college appeal to current and prospective students? Where will Wilkes College be five years from now? Ten years from now?

If these questions seem obvious — as they must to anyone involved in any way with the field of marketing, it is just as apparent that the answers to them are not so obvious. Such has been the feeling of senior administrators at the College for the past several years, during which time the prospect of a marketing study has been under consideration.

As a result of the deliberation, the Long-Range Planning Committee listed the market analysis as one of the institutional priorities for the 1983-84 academic year, and requested President's Staff to make a decision if the study would be performed by College personnel or by an outside consultant. Two professional consulting firms, each experienced in the marketing of institutions of higher education, were invited to the campus to make a presentation and a proposal.

Although both presentations were impressive, with critical and constructive comments along with some insightful suggestions, the approximate $35,000 price tag on the first year of consulting hastened the decision to use the expertise already assembled on campus by asking a cross-section of faculty and administrators to serve on a Marketing Study task force.

Dr. Thomas F. Kelly, Dean of External Affairs, was named by President Capin to head the marketing study. Subsequently, six task forces were established to deal with the areas of Admissions, Publications-Communications, Student Retention, Financial Aid, Research, and Outcomes And Environment; chairs for the task forces include Dr. Walter Karplnich, Dr. William Sterling, Dr. Lester Turoczi, Dr. Virginia Nehring, Dr. Joseph Bellucci, and Dr. James Rodech, OrD. Thomas Kaska, respectively.

Much has already been accomplished by the various task forces. Since early October, the groups have been meeting to identify the kinds of data needed to accomplish their goals. Ms. Cheryl Scalese and the Office of Institutional Research provided chairpersons with a listing of the types of information already gathered along with recommendations for additional data-gathering devices. In this regard, it is interesting to (Continued on page 2)

Tough To Head '84 Appeal

GILBERT D. TOUGH

Mr. Gilbert D. Tough, C.A.M., president and chief executive officer of Blue Cross of Northeastern Pennsylvania, has been named chairman of the 1984 Wilkes College Alumni Fund Drive. Tough will assist the college in raising funds which will help Wilkes "Maintain Excellence Through Scholarships."

À 1956 graduate of Wilkes, Tough is a native of Lehman and graduated from Lehman High School, the Wyoming Seminary Dean School of Business, and the Penn State Extension Evening School, where he received an associate certificate in Surveying and Coal Mining in 1945. In 1973 Tough was designated a Certified Administrative Manager (C.A.M.) by the Professional Accreditation Commission of the Administrative Management Society. Tough was among the first one hundred executives in the United States and Canada to be designated a C.A.M.

Tough has held several positions at Blue Cross, including supervisor of the accounting department, coordinating director, director of services, and vice president of operations. In August, 1983, he was named president and chief executive officer.

"I am very proud of my Wilkes degree in Accounting," Tough stated, "and also proud of the fact that I earned the degree in the Evening College while holding a full-time work position. My own experience tells me how important it is that the College be able to attract and retain capable and deserving students by offering scholarships and other financial support to ease the burden of their educational costs." "And we will rely upon the backbone of this Institution, the alumni, to provide an increasing share of the financial resources that the College must have to continue to serve its students with a program of excellence."

Active in numerous community organizations, Gil is an associate member of the American Management Association and the Administrative Management Society. He serves as a member of the United Way's Finance Committee and is a member of PEG, Pennsylvanians for Effective Government. He resides in Lehman with his wife Vera. They are the parents of two children, Linda, and Gary who completed his B.S. In Business Administration or Willing in Mar. 1003

In Business Administration at Wilkes in May, 1983.

Other principals in the 1984 Campaign include Atty. Eugene Roth '57, Chairman of the Development Committee of the Board of Trustees, Harold "Jake" Trethaway, Chairman of the Community Campaign, and Beverly Hiscox '58, Vice chairman of the campaign and head of the Corporate Phase.

The '84 Alumni Fund Appeal will consist of several letters and other direct mailings as well as the annual Alumni Phonothon scheduled for early 1984. The alumni goal for Campaign '84 has been set at $140,000.

note that the 1982-83 Alumni Survey conducted by the alumni office was helpful to several task forces. Ms. Scalese is currently in the process of design-ing another questionnaire which will be sent to recent alumni members during December. If you are one of those surveyed, we hope you have already completed and returned the instrument to the Research Office. In addition to input from alumni, students, commun ity residents, and members of the College Family will also be asked to provide information to the marketing study

It will be the responsibility of the Research Office to perform the necessary analyses of the data, and to furnish each task force chair with that interpretation and findings of significance, at which time the task forces will reassemble to develop recommendations in the various areas.

In describing the charges of the task forces, Dr. Kelly noted "Each task force has been charged with responsibilities to investigate a specific area of concern. In addition, the Outcomes and Environment Task Force, which is for the most part, philosophical in nature, will also look at those aspects of College life which influence enrollment management and which may not fall within the specific purview of other task forces. including image, morale, curricular requirements, student life, communication, parking, and physical facilities. Kelly also noted that the results of the marketing study will be shared with all elements of the College family, including alumni. While the current market study is scheduled for competition in Spring, 1984, with the final written report being presented to President Capin, it is recognized that ongoing studies to engage in continuous market research will undoubtedly continue in the future to enable the College to more effectively manage its enrollment.

Hello! I think the change in the format of the Alumni Newsletter is good. However, the print is too small. This makes reading it very frustrating and straining to the eye.

Hope you can adjust this for future issues - keep up the good work.

I received my copy of the ALUM-NUS this past weekend and noted with sadness the sale of Chapman Hall and Parrish Hall to a private investor.

I spent all four years at Wilkes in Chapman Hall, and as a Sociology major, was lucky to have many 8 a.m. classes right next door in Parrish. Of course living in Chapman also gave its residents the distinct honor of walking the greatest distance to the cafeteria, especially on long, cold, windy winter

Being a campus "outpost" never inhibited its residents from campus participation and we did what we could to be noted academically, politically and socially. I'm certainly glad I had the experience of living in that intimate lifestyle with a unique array of rooms and a charm that was reminiscent of the great coal mining days. I hope the building will be preserved.

I'm sure all former women of Chapman Hall share my feelings in the loss of another legend, yet welcome the growth and expansion of the campus in other directions. It will always remain a part of the Wilkes Campus in my mind.

An update on my whereabouts: My husband Patrick and I relocated to the Sarasota, Florida area a little over a year ago. I am presently Admissions Director for Heritage Healthcare Center, a long-term care facility. We love Florida and enjoy the year-round sailing in the Gulf in our sailboat "Puffin."

I was delighted to read the recent Volume 3. Number 1 of the Alumnus and to learn the whereabouts and achievements of so many of our bright, illustrious alumni. It is heartening to note the tremendous accomplishments of our graduates . . . especially our recent graduates which indicates the quality of our academic program and caliber of our vounger generation students.

You asked for comments on the new format. I am pleased to inform you that I found the smaller size edition much easier to carry around and read at my leisure. With much enjoyment, I read the new Alumnus and found the content excellent. The newsworthy articles coupled with the notes on the achievements of our alumni made for an interesting and informative quarterly.

Presidential Search Narrows

"The process through which a College or University selects a new chief executive officer is necessarily an elaborate, time-consuming exercise,' according to Mrs. Patricia Davies, chairperson of the Presidential Search Committee charged with the awesome responsibility of recommending to the Board of Trustees that person who will succeed Robert S. Capin as president of Wilkes College.

And if time and energy expended are any indication of the quality of that exercise here at Wilkes, we can rest comfortably knowing that Davies' com mittee has devoted many, many hours following through their charge. The Committee consists of Davies fellow Board of Trustees members Frank Henry, Arnold Rifkin, Mary Rhoades, and Richard Ross; Faculty representatives Robert Heaman and Donald Henson; national alumni president James Ferris; and student David Fife. The Committee has been guided in its procedures by a representative of Presidential Search Consultants, an affiliate of the non-profit Association of Governing Boards of Colleges and Universities, of Washington, DC.

And rather than taking the passive stance of simply receiving applications from interested individuals, this committee functioned as a true "search" group by actively seeking individuals and encouraging them to participate in the application process. As a result, the committee reviewed credentials of approximately 200 individuals during a series of some 10 to 12 meetings, and succeeded in narrowing the pool of applicants to about 20 persons. A further series of steps in the process resulted in the paring of that list to a group of "ten eminently qualified people." all of whom are from outside the Wyoming Valley area.

Those individuals will be brought to the campus, where they will have the opportunity to meet with various groups and individuals, including departmental chairpersons, committee representatives, and the entire faculty, and at the same time see, feel, and otherwise get to know Wilkes College, It is anticipated that the Board of Trustees will ultimately select the next president of Wilkes College during the Spring

The work of the search committee has been conducted thus far with a very high degree of secrecy, so that only a minimal amount of information has been released by its members. In much the same way, President Capin has decided to withhold release of his plans until sometime after his successor is named, although he has indicated that he will not be with the College in any capacity during the first year of the new president's tenure.

Whoever is selected to fill the role of president of our institution, we know that person will be the best one qualified to lead the College through a most crucial period in its development, and the Search Committee certainly merits our thanks for their diligence in meeting their responsibilities.

Help "America's Team" Through The Colonel Wrestling Club

by Chuck Tharp '60

Wrestling coach John Reese has been trying to do the impossible - compete on the Division I level with a Division III budget. Amazingly, he has been successful against the megabuck schools like Penn State, Lehigh, Syracuse and Oregon State. He deserves an equal opportunity to recruit the blue chip athletes as his competition does. How ever, to offer the same scholarships as other Division I schools require a large amount of money.

To help satisfy this financial need, the Colonel Wrestling Club has been formed as an independent non-profit corporation whose main goal is to provide scholarships. Although the purpose of the club is to raise money, the members receive many benefits for their donations.

Currently, with a $25 annual donation - which is fully tax-deductible each member receives a free pass for himself and a guest for every home meet. Members have access to block seats for major away meets and the Easterns. Coach Reese mails a newsletter several times a year to keep all members informed of team results. The Colonel Wrestling Club has several meetings - at least one social and a team dinner each year. This is a great opportunity to meet new members of the club and also the team. One of the intangible benefits for the members is the opportunity to become a part of Wilkes team's success on a personal level. It is exciting for Wilkes, the smallest school in the nation to compete on a Division I level, to challenge larger and more heavily endowed schools, and WIN!

If "America's Team" is chosen because it is an underdog faced with unbeatable competition, then Wilkes certainly deserves that title. If you would like to help, please contact Coach Reese at the Wilkes Athletic Office to learn how you can become a member of the Colonel Wrestling Club. Won't you give him a call today, or drop him a note for full information

Outlooks

First-year head basketball coach Bart Bellairs optimistically looks toward the 1983-84 season with five lettermen returning and a large, talented group of freshmen aboard . . . the Colonels have missed the MAC Championships the past two seasons, losing in a playoff tiebreaker game.

Bellairs welcomes back three year letterman, 6-5 senior co-captain Rick Sheaffer. Joining Sheaffer in the frontcourt are 6-5 sophomore Ken Yakobitis, 6-3 forward sophomore Dave Zapatocky and 64 sophomore Tom Allardyce. Providing depth at the forward and guard position are 6-4 sophomore Dave Piavis and 5-8 sophomore Mark

The backcourt must be rebuilt due to the graduation of Greg Hychko and the transfer of Jim Rodway. Among the newcomers expected to play prominent backcourt roles are senior transfer John Duesler (Duquesne) and freshmen standouts 6-0 Eric Jacobs (Easton H.S.) and 6-0 Bobby Collins (Wilkes-Barre G.A.R.).

Expected to battle for starting frontcourt positions are freshmen 6-6 John Bracken (Allentown Allen H.S.) and 6-5 John Buis (Easton Notre Dame H.S.), an All-State honorable mention.

The Colonels will tackle a 23-game schedule that includes 14 away contests. The team is involved in a tournament on January 6-7 at Washington & Jefferson College. Wikes will visit 20-game winner Moravian College, a NCAA regional qualifier last season . . . the abbreviated home schedule is highlighted by games with East Stroudsburg, Bloomsburg, inter-city rival King's, and 1983's NCAA Division III national champion Scranton University.

If Bellairs can blent the talented freshman class with the seven returnees, look for the Colonels to improve last year's 8-15 record.

On the wrestling scene, head coach John Reese enters his 31st season at the helm of the program with a team laden with talent but lacking in depth. "The key to a successful season will be keeping starters healthy and getting the lower weights in the correct weight class," commented Reese.

It will not take the Colonels long to get an indication of what they can do as their first three matches are against Oregon State, Navy, and Lehigh . . . the team's top returnees include seniors Kurt Rowlette (14-4), Mark Correll (18-8-1), and sophomore Marc Sodano (41-8-2). The return of Gene Clemens (3rd place EIWA in 1979) has given the team a big boost in attitude. Top recruits include Glenn Whiteman (2nd PIAA State Tourney, at 145), Tony Troyan (5th PIAA State Tourney at Hwt.), John Cherry (3rd PIAA at 132), John Pauley (4th NY State Tourney at 105), Gary Lee (3 time District II, PIAA champ at 155), and Brandon Serratore (Region champ in PA at 119), who recorded a 39-1 season in his senior year.

A very tough schedule lies ahead for the grapplers . . . top home matches include Oregon State, Navy, Temple, Penn State and Indiana State. Road matches are at Lehigh, Harvard, Princeton, Army-Rutgers, and the Virginia Duals (LSU, Wisconsin, Missouri, Ohio State, and North Carolina).

If the Colonels perform up to ability and avoid key injuries, look for them to be back in the top 20 after a disappointing 12-7 dual record last year.

Fall Recap

SOCCER . . . The Colonels booters finished their best season since 1976 with a record of 8-8-2, which included a 1-0 loss to Division I power

CROSS COUNTRY... The harriers recently placed 11th in the Middle Atlantic Conference championships at Fort Indiantown Gap, PA. Leading the way for the colonels was freshman Mike Keohane, of Livingston, NJ.

FOOTBALL . . . Coach Unsworth's charges continue to improve, posting a 2-7 slate for the 1983 season. Ed Kennelly, Allan Roberts, Gerry O'Neill, Don Sparks, Mike Slepian, Rich Murray, and Tony Popple all played their last game as Colonels. Highlight of the season had to be the FDU-Madison game, which the Colonels won 30-26 after trailing 20-6 at halftime.

FIELD HOCKEY . . . Congratulations to Yvonne Pierman, Debi Cometa and Allysse Croft on their selection to be United States Field Hockey Association National Tournament as representatives of the Mideast Section.

A Way To Create A Living Legacy

by Dr. Thomas F. Kelly '60 Dean of External Affairs

During my senior year at Wilkes College (1968-69), I was fortunate to benefit from the Dr. Arnaud Cartwright Marts Scholarship. At that time I rned that friends and colleagues of Dr. Marts had endowed a scholarshin in honor of his outstanding contributions to Wilkes College and American higher education. Since that time I have come to know in greater detail about the many other memorial and named scholarships which have been established by friends and alumni of Wilkes over the years. Such endowments have enabled friends and alumni to honor or memorialize their loved ones in a way which will not only perpetuate their memory, but will assist capable and deserving students to complete their education at

Over the years, although I was not obligated to do so, I have repaid my scholarship grant many times through my annual contributions to the Wilkes College Scholarship Fund. And during these years. I have been honored to work with individuals who have elected to establish similar endowed scholarships at the College, I also have had great satisfaction in seeing those who annual luncheon with the students who benefit from their generosity. This experience is a joy to both the giver and the recipient.

At the present time, Wilkes College lists 58 named, endowed, and/or memorial scholarships. Several recent additions include memorial scholarships created for the late Dr. Samuel Rosenberg, long-time chairman of the Commerce and Finance Department, and the late Miss Mildred Gittins, who managed the Wilkes College bookstore for many years. These two individuals have touched the lives of many alumni, and for that reason, we want to present the opportunity for you to help enlarge these funds in their initial stages

Last year also witnessed the establishment of scholarships to honor President Robert S. Capin and Dr. CHarles B. Reif. In both cases these were created by alumni who benefitted from interaction in the classroom with Bob and Chuck. The endowed scholarships will provide annual support for students in accounting and biology, respectively.

Toward the end of this article, I am listing the named scholarships at Wilkes College. It is our hope that alumni will provide gifts to these funds during the 1984 Annual Campaign. We also encourage you to think of these funds on those occasions when you consider sending a gift to a charitable

A SMART

INVESTMENT

A week before this article's deadline came around. I was still in a swiver. trying to choose among all the wonderful goodies I have in my pack to write about . . . planned giving programs that are so enticing you couldn't fail to be charmed into at least one of them!

Should I emphasize our truly secure source of life income, the Wilkes College Pooled Income Fund, which has been earning in the 12% - 13% range? or perhaps, I should stress the tax advantages of setting up one of our trust plans that could be just perfect for you? Maybe it's time to tell about the medley of ways life insurance can benefit both you and your alma mater? I've talked so much about wills lately that I had better not get on that bandwagon again or lessica Mitford will add me to another chapter in her book about the American way of dying. And then I keep wondering whether everybody out there knows that their real estate, securities, and collections might become even more valuable if tied into a Wilkes planned gift?

On the last day I could write this column my problem solved itself. because some interesting figures crossed my desk. (Why do figures always "cross" desks without ever seeming to stop there!) I decided you'd really be more interested in them (the here and now) than in details of the above programs (the tomorrows of your life). But don't fret - if you can't wait to hear specifics about the abovenamed options, please send in the coupons below. You'll hear propro!

Well, back to those figures I managed to halt on my desk. They reveal that our annual fund-raising campaign netted 79 new members to our major donor clubs. Alumni giving at Wilkes (in terms of money and donors) has been climbing steadily each year, but a jump of the size indicated in the large gift categories, is especially exciting. Many alumni represented in the Gene Farley or Founders Clubs ($100 to $499 and $500 to $999 annually, respectively) are graduates of classes from the 1970's. The baker's dozen new donors to the John Wilkes or President's Associates Clubs ($1000 to $2499 and $2500 or above annually) are for the most part, graduates from earlier years.

By stressing this high number of new major donors, I don't mean to lessen the tremendous value to Wilkes of the hundreds of alumni who have belonged to these clubs on a regular basis for many years. Without them this College might not be in existence today.

Nor do I wish to take away from the huge number of loyal graduates who support Wilkes every year . . . by gifts they work hard to create. As Dartmouth College's Vice president said, "Every gift is a major gift to the person who gives it." Alumni who think enough of their college to support it annually, to the best of their ability, form the very base of our survival. And of course, as our statistics show, many of them will eventually grow into the larger gift categories so essential to privare higher education

Notre Dame's renowned Father Hesburgh reminds us that people give because they want to be a part of our enterprise . . . to be associated with our endeavor . . . especially if it reinforces values they hold dear. It would seem that an increasing number of you see Wilkes as a smart investment for the College president Robert Capin spoke to this point in his 50th Anniversary Convocation address . . . "The strength of this institution has come from the faith of people who supported its purpose; to provide educational opportunities for young people of ability with the desire for personal betterment, and to assist the community which it serves."

A mayen I am not However 79 brand new alumni donors of gifts in sizable amounts tells me Wilkes will not only continue to grow in excellence and stability, but with an ever-healthier root system to sustain itself. As director of planned giving. I needn't add that those figures also tell me that there are 79 more alumni who may someday wish to create a deferred gift plan here, and who will certainly consider adding their alma mater to the bequests in their willmaking . . . if only on a contingent basis. (You know, when it comes to giving some people stop at nothing. It's nice to know that's one "club" this esteemed new group will never join at Wilkes.)

Now let's see . . . what'll I talk about in the next Alumnus?

Recently I have had the pleasure of working with an alumna, who, together with her family, is planning to memorialize her mother who was a long-time employee at the College. In short, I see our named and memor-

We invite you to persue the following list and be part of establishing a fund or funds which represent something meaningful in yur life. We especially encourage you to contact us in the event you are interested in initiating an endowed scholarship.

The issue of your new paper sent to my daughter, Elizabeth M. Kilduff, Class of 1980 was received the other day. Before passing it along to her I enjoyed reading it myself. In so doing, I noticed the little item asking for any address changes for your alumni Therefore, I am writing this letter to give you an update on Elizabeth (Pez as she was called by many of her classmates.)

Since June 1980 she has been working at Middlesex General-University Hospital, the primary teaching hospital for the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, Rutgers Medical School, on a surgical floor. She has recently transferred to the recovery room, and in light of this change, has just completed a critical care course Needless to say, she has taken and passed her boards. So much for her

Now on to her personal life. Elizabeth will be getting married in eight days, October 29, 1983. Her fiance is Stephen Musial. That is the reason that I am writing to let you know of her change of address. Any future correspondence should be addressed to her in Somerset, NI.

I just wanted to tell you about the birth of our new daughter! She arrived on March 25, 1983. Her name is Kristen Irene.

Kristen has an older sister Erin, who is now 41/2. My husband David is doing well. He works for a manufacturer of hotel and restaurant equipment and is their technical service representative for the western United States, and also Mexico and parts of Canada

I keep busy with the two children and am on the school board at Erin's school. Our favorite pasttime is lying on the beach. Southern California definitely agrees with us! Thanks for the wonderful updates on former classmates. It makes being so far away a bit easier. Please give my best to the folks in financial aid. I worked there during my years at Wilkes. Thanks again.

Alumni Help Needed For Corporate Entreé

Marilyn Krackenfels Snyder '62

Every institutional development officer worth his salt knows the "big three" of alumni involvement: recommending the College to prospective students through the Alumni Referral Process; assisting the Office of Career Services by identifying job opportunities for recent graduates; and supporting the institution financially by participating in the Annual Alumni Fund. These three avenues have certainly been well-traveled by Wilkes Alumni, and we are justifiably proud of the interest shown by our graduates in each of the areas.

A fourth major opportunity for alumni awareness was recently unveiled by President Robert Capin and Dean of External Affairs Thomas Kelly: the identification of corporate foundations which might be approached by Wilkes through a formal proposal. It was recognized that many business organizations had such charitable gift offices or commirrees, and if entree to these offices or committees could be obtained, the College could then present its case for Copin and Kelly then drafted a letter targeted at alumni employed by organizations with "matching gift programs," that is, any gift made to the College by an alumnus would be matched dollarfor-dollar with a corporate gift, and asking those alumni for advice. In Capin's words, "... you may also be able to help the College in another important way. You may be able to provide entree for us to present a proposal to your corporation's charitable gift committee.'

Kelly reports that the responses to the inquiry letter have been most encouraging. "We have already heard from alumni with information on more than 20 organizations, each of which has some form of charitable giving. We are now analyzing the recommendations of our alumni and deciding on the best way to present our request for assistance," he commented.

One of the problems with the target group of the letter, however, is the realization that there are other organizations which do not participate in an alumni matching gift program but which do support either a foundation or a program of charitable giving. It was felt that the most effective way to reach such alumni would be through the pages of the Alumnus. Consequently, your help is now being sought: Does the organization you work for provide such support? If the answer is yes, and if you know - or can identify - an individual in your company responsible for this area, you are encouraged to contact Tom Kelly in the External Affairs Office Tom can be reached at 824-4651 from the local area, at 342-5617 roll-free from the Scranton area, or by using the College's toll-free WATS numbers -(800) 572-4444 from within Pennsylvania or (800) 537-4444 outside of Pennsylvania

Tom also extends thanks to the following individuals who have responded to the original request for help: Carol J. Allen '72, Andrew J. Gubanich '71, Philip E. Howe '69, and Stephen I. Lear '78, with Air Products & Chemicals. Inc.; Theodore M. Levitsky, with Alexander & Alexander; Colleen Gries '81 with Arthur Andersen & Co.; Larry P. THE LOCAL SCENE ...

Wyoming Valley Chapter members will want to jot down some dates of future activities planned here on campus, including a Fabulous Fifties Night on January 27, featuring the James Dean film "Rebel Without A Cause;" a repeat of last year's overwhelmingly successful dinner-theatre on February 24 and 25 in conjunction with the Theatre Department's presentation of "Three Penny Opera;" and a Music Alumni Reunion on March 17, the date of the Spring concert of the College Wind Ensemble. Complete details will be provided on these activities as the dates approach. And, of course, local and regional alumni are encouraged to suggest other ideas for group activities of graduates in the various areas.

ATTENTION, PARENTS!

If this newsletter is addressed to your son or daughter who no longer maintains a permanent ad-dress at your home, please elip off the address label below and return it with the correct address to the Alumni Office at Wilkes College. Thank you for helping us update our records

AROUND THE REGIONS ...

Thank you to those alumni who gathered with us for receptions and dinners in October and November. Special thanks to the following individuals who acted as local contacts and advisors: George Pawlush in Hartford. CT; Harry Heesch in Boston, MA: Larry Chase in New York City; and Chris Sulat in Philadelphia . In each instance, the accommodations were lovely and the foods were excellent. The success of each evening was evident in the fellowship that we all enjoyed.

IN THE FUTURE ...

A Spring 1984 round of dinners and receptions is now being planned for the Washington, DC area, Pittsburgh, PA, Richmond, VA, and the triple cities area of Binghampton, NY. Alumni in those areas are urged to watch for mailers about the events, and to make every effort to attend. We promise an evening filled with "fun, food, and fellowship" at a reasonable price, and we also promise that you will meet the nicest people there.
