AMNICOLA: one who lives and dwells by the river

AT WORK AND PLAY

Wilkes College students have split personalities. By day, they are aggressively studious, working hard to achieve academic and career goals. By night, especially on the weekends, they release the pressure of college and work by socializing with their peers. We, the 1988-89 Amnicola staff, have tried to capture both sides of college life. We want to show you Wilkes College at "work and play."

Kathleen M. Flinsch, Co-Editor

WILKES COLLEGE AT WORK

Finding Wilkes College students at work is easy. They are all around you. They can be found in class, taking notes during lecture or in lab, dissecting frogs. They can also be found in college and area libraries doing research or in the Mac Lab typing up their work on the word processor. Wilkes students work in area shops and restaurants, as well as on campus. They are also volunteers, working hard as emergency medical technicians or firefighters. They can be found in as many different places as there are students.

WILKES COLLEGE: AT PLAY

Finding Wilkes College students at play is just as easy as finding them at work. They can be found participating in school-sponsored extra-curricular activities, such as Programming Board events and dances. They are found in their dorms or apartments socializing with a few friends. Off-campus, they are at the malls, stores, and restaurants as consumers rather than workers. In the spring, they are out on the dike working on their tans. Students manage to relieve the stresses of work any way they can. At Wilkes, they play as hard as they work.

THE NEW GYM: THE MARTS CENTER

Last year, the old gym was knocked down to make way for a new gym to meet Wilkes' expanding needs. This year, the Arnaud C. Marts Center was finished. The three-story, 75,000 square foot building's highlight is the huge gymnasium that has the seating capacity for 3,000 people. The first floor contains the coaches' offices. The second floor has the conference rooms, a kitchen and a media room. The basement has the locker rooms for both men and women's teams and their competitors, as well as sauna, training, and nautilus rooms. It also contains the wrestling room and its adjacent quarters. The Marts Center was designed by the awardwinning team of Bohlin, Powell, Larkin, and Cywinski. The Arnaud C. Marts Center is a new place for Wilkes College students, faculty, and staff to work and play.

WILKES COLLEGE: EXPANDING FOR A NEW CLASS

Over the past summer, Wilkes College was hard at work relocating departments and creating new dormitory space. The first of these relocations was the transferring of the School of Business from Bedford Hall to our newest addition, Fortinsky Hall. The Department of Art was moved from Stark Learning Center to Bedford Hall. The Education Department and the Regional Computer Resource Center (RCRC) now occupy the main floor of Stark. The Engineering Department is where the Education Department and RCRC used to be.

The second set of relocations was necessitated by the need for more dormitory space. This year's freshman class is the largest in eight years. To alleviate the problem, Ross Hall was turned into a women's dorm. The offices that had been located in Ross Hall had to be moved. The Center for Regional Development/Small Business Development Center is in the first and third floors of Hollenback Hall. The offices for Health Sciences Department and Dean Roselle are still on the second floor of Hollenback. The Cooperative Education Office is now located on the third floor of the Max Roth Center. Mr. Joseph Kanner, director of testing services, can now be found on the second floor of Chase Hall. The shift in location of the SBDC to Hollenback Hall has caused the relocation of College Health Services and Campus Counseling Service to 136 S. Franklin St. Finally, the offices of Evening, Weekend, and Summer Program and its new director, Mrs. Galli, have moved from Chase Hall to the third floor of Roth Hall.

This has been a very difficult year for the Amnicola staff. We not only had to work on this book, but we had to put out two more books from the past two years. It was trying mailing out all those books to people that had graduated two years ago. We spent many weekends up in the office stapling until our arms were about to fall off. The work was worth it, because now we can finally play. It all paid off, because here we are at the end of another book. It's been a long year, but it's been a good year.

Thank You, Kathleen M. Flinsch, Co-Editor
