Mr. Cathal O'Toole, Advisor

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

To the Class of 1959:

As each year ends and another class leaves the College, a query runs through my mind, "Have we done for you all that we could have done?"

The persistence of this question does not mean that we should have done for you anything that you could have done for yourselves. This I do not believe, for I am sure that your fullest development depends upon your own efforts rather than upon ours. I do wonder, however, if we have made you aware of the great spiritual and intellectual resources that are latent in all of you.

There are other questions that persistently recur as the year ends and a few of them go as follows:

Have we helped you to develop vision that will enable you to accept and to serve the world and its people?

Have we cultivated an awareness of the many forces that influence our lives?

Have we encouraged the quest for understanding, or have we merely imparted knowledge?

Have we cultivated the ability to make decisions and to hold to honest convictions?

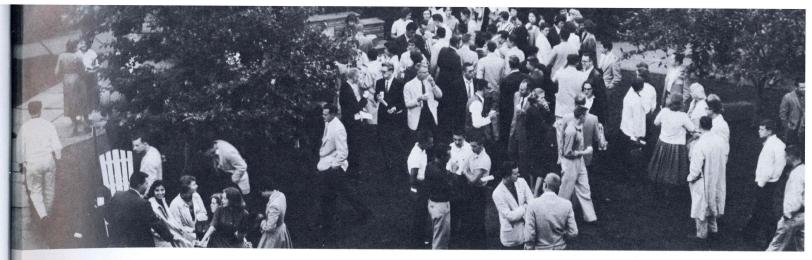

Have we helped you to develop faith and courage that are so badly needed in our tortured society?

These questions haunt me and will continue to haunt me for the rest of my active years. They relate to the heart of our educational effort, but they are the intangibles that can only be measured by the life you lead-and this requires much time and much living.

For the past four years your teachers have asked you questions that you and they could answer. As we take our separate paths, I am asking questions that none of us can answer today. I hope, however, that in the years ahead you will give many affirmative answers to these questions.

May you discover that you have awakened the spiritual and intellectual resources that are yours, and may you use these resources for the enrichment of your personal lives and for the betterment of the civilization of which we are all a part.

Faithfully yours,

FOREWORD

An individual seeks truths and searches for understandings. He tries to recognize his limitations and nourish his abilities. He wants to find his place in a somewhat confused world. There are so many concepts to conquer; so much knowledge to gain; so many values from which to choose. He needs fortitude, assurance, and guidance.

Here at Wilkes each student is encouraged to recognize himself as an individual with unique potential and personality. He is led in the directions that will enable him to acquire the confidence, skills, and ideals he requires in order to become whole.

We have endeavored to present, within the pages of this book, the story of life as we know it at Wilkes College. We have sought to portray a glimpse of the daily experiences of the student—the work, the laughs, the trials, the pleasures. We have tried to show that everyday he grows, and in some way there is ". . . life giv'n."

Each graduate of Wilkes College is indebted to those men and women who comprise the administration of their school. Through their understanding of the academic and social problems of the college student, the administration has guided them during their years at Wilkes. They have directed them in assuming responsibility and in acquiring the confidence each needs to achieve success. The administration realizes the importance of having each student think and work independently, but recognizes also the proper guidance required.

Certainly Chase Hall is the power plant of Wilkes College. Behind its doors one finds a perfected cooperation between student and administration which represents the life-blood of the school. There one finds vigor and warmth which will leave a lasting mark on the memory of each graduate.

The administration has more than done its share in contributing to the growth and development of Wilkes. Its main endeavor has been directed toward the betterment of the relationship between the student and his school. We can point with pride and admiration to its success.

An outstanding example of Wilkes' contribution to the community is the college's evening division. It serves those who, because of lack of time or due to hours of employment, cannot attend the day school.

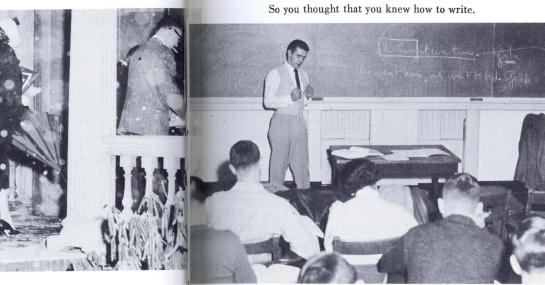

Although most of the courses in Evening School parallel those of the day school, opportunities are offered to those who are not working toward a degree but who desire to increase their skills and broaden their knowledge.

The Evening Division under the capable direction of Mr. Stanley Wasileski offers a stimulating and worthwhile academic program to 550 students.

MAINTENANCE

The upkeep of Wilkes, her buildings and her grounds, is the job of our maintenance crew. It is a job requiring a capable and zealous company.

Our thanks go to Bill and his men for their worthy contribution to Wilkes College. Their constant care and hard work have made Wilkes a school in which we can all take pride and an institution that is an asset to Wyoming Valley.

John J. Chwalek, Director of Placement and Guidance.

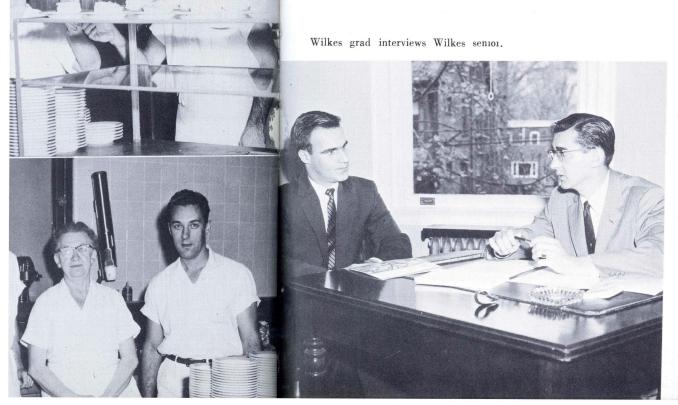

The Guidance Center, located in Hollenback Hall, does its utmost in helping each student become better adjusted to college life. Batteries of tests are available to every student so that he can best determine his aptitudes and abilities. This service represents only one of the many that the Guidance Center provides.

The Placement Office, under the direction of Mr. Chwalek, helps not only in placing graduates in their chosen field, but in seeking part-time employment for students.

Mr. Chwalek addresses seniors about employment.

Humanities

The humanities include such disciplines as English, Foreign Languages, Art, Mathematics, Music, Philosophy, and Religion. These subjects represent the core of the liberal arts program at Wilkes College.

In the humanities, a student learns to think, express, analyze, and understand. He seeks truths and the power to reason. It is through the humanities that men learn to interpret life and, herefore, conquer it's problems.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

Eugene Hammer, Ph.D. Education, Dept. Chm.

In the field of Social Sciences, one finds a broad scope of subjects. They are the subjects which bear directly on man's existence in society. They deal with the relations and institutions which he has created.

The Social Sciences have existed for hundreds of years. And as societies were born, so they grew in number.

Included within the field are education, history, sociology, nursing, merchandising, business administration, secretarial studies, and accounting.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Government of Wilkes College has had another successful year. As the central governing power of Wilkes, the Council is the co-ordinator between the administration and the student body.

Budget, school calendar, class elections, and Freshmen hazing are just a few of the problems handled by the Council.

Traditional Council activities include: Thanksgiving All-College Dance, Winter Carnival, Christmas All-College Dance, and the Cinderella Ball.

Wilkes Collegians perform for the United Fund.

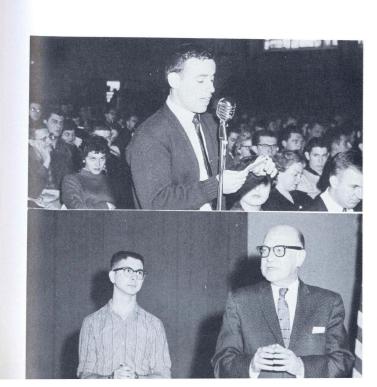

Student Council Officers: Robert Morris, Pres., Martha Menegus, Sec., Bob Pitel, V. Pres., Dick Salus, Treas.

ASSEMBLIES

Because of the efforts of the Student Assembly Committee, we at Wilkes benefit in seeing a well-planned program weekly. Prominent speakers discuss the topics of the day, the music department presents several enjoyable programs, Cue n' Curtain entertains, and other student organizations conduct interesting and worthwhile programs. The assemblies at Wilkes maintain high standards of presentation and are an integral part of our education and growth.

> The right to assemble— A liberty held dear. This is democracy; The Wilkes-way-of-life.

Now where did I put that key?

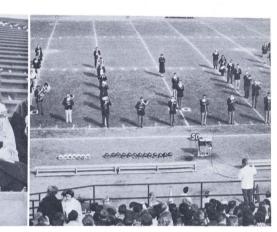

Cinderella returns for Homecoming.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming—the time of year dedicated to the alumni. Displays, parades, bonfire, football game, and a royal court—all are assembled as a salute to our alumni. After the displays have been judged and the football game is over, the traditional Homecoming dance is held—a truly glamorous ending for a most memorable weekend.

MANUSCRIPT

The Manuscript, an annual literary maga-ne, is composed of poems, short stories, and t work written by the student body and fac-ty. The Manuscript Staff under the editor-ip of George Black, selects the most out-inding work submitted throughout the year. sus, the Manuscript represents the better erary talents of Wilkes College.

The Manuscript is a valuable organization campus for it enables students to gain exrience in writing, photography, and editing.

Thus was the setting for the annual "fun" affair sponsored by the Student Council. The Winter Carnival was held again this year at Pocano Mountain Inn, a well-known Pocano resort. The college's mid-term holiday is one of the most popular events on the Wilkes social calendar.

Students engaged in such winter sports as ice skating and tobogganing. Indoor games included shuffleboard, pool, ping pong, and checkers.

When dusk fell, guests danced to the music of the All Stars. Some relaxed around the fireplace, enjoying singing and informal conversation.

Bob Washburn, chairman of the Winter Carnival Committee, found eager but tired guests departing about 10 p.m. after twelve hours of festivity.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

The School Spirit Committee is sponsored by the Student Council and includes in its membership students from every corner of the campus. It is an informal committee with its membership changing from year to year thus creating new interest and allowing new ideas to take hold.

The Committee was set up with one purpose in mind—that of developing school spirit at Wilkes College. It has sponsored many successful projects to initiate this spirit and is constantly striving to reach its goal.

One of the major undertakings of the committee was an attempt, on the basis of a questionaire answered by the student body, to register and evaluate student opinion on several pertinent questions concerning the college. Clubs, classes, organizations, administration, and faculty have considered some of the suggestions and thank the committee for their endeavors to better Wilkes College.

JUNIOR CLASS

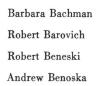

The Junior Class began their year with an attitude of sureness and determination. Now they were sure of their objectives. Now they would work toward their goals. With a background of knowledge acquired during their first two years of college, they were to prepare for their chosen field. They had tasted the fruits of a liberal education—now they were to specialize. Progressively they worked as they gained new insights and mastered their skills.

The class was strong as a unit and contributed much to the social and academic life at Wilkes. They were capably led by their Pres., John Mulhall; Vice-Pres., Carl Havira; Secretary, Moncey Miller; Treasurer, Francis Steck; and Student Government Representatives Richard Salus, Paul Kline, Bob Washburn, and Gordon Roberts.

Members of the Class engaged in conducting dances and other affairs for the enjoyment of the student body and faculty.

The Junior Class has shown through their efforts their concern for the welfare of their school and community. Theirs was a year characterized by purpose, direction, and accomplishment.

LETTERMEN

The Lettermen—a name which evokes words of praise from all who know and work with them. This club, comprised of all boys who have earned a letter in sports, is one of the strongest clubs on campus. Their morale and group work are exceeded by none.

A letterman is easily recognized in his blue and gold sweater. Each member wears his sweater proudly; it is his personal mark of distinction.

The Lettermen contribute much to college life. They are our athletes and provide us with the sports which we all enjoy. In addition to this, they sponsor some of our most outstanding activities including: the Lettermen's Raffle; Christmas Formal; April Showers Ball.

All salute the Lettermen for their practice of fellowship and honor; their sportsmanship and achievements.

APRIL SHOWERS BALL

It was a fitting evening for the April Showers Ball for the warm spring rain continuously fell. Inside, however, the weather was fine and the flowers and greens were in full bloom. A scenic backdrop, which was painted by Walt Glogowski, portrayed the famous cherry blossoms. Couples danced beneath a ceiling of pink and white and visited the realistic wishing wells. Jane Rescorla was chosen as Queen and was presented with gifts from local business men.

As always, the Lettermen successfully conducted this annual spring event.

Suspense and magic were in the air on the warm, Spring evening of the Cinderella Ball. Who, out of the lovely nominees, would be chosen Cinderella and crowned by Dr. Farley? Finally, the lucky girl was announced and the usual presentations and celebrations took place.

Though the choosing of Cinderella was the highlight of the evening, many other pleasures were had by all. Decorations were in tune with the season, and a well-known orchestra provided music for dancing.

DEBATE

... "Resolve: That the Further Development of Nuclear Weapons Should Be Prohibited by International Agreement." This was the topic of the year, and another successful year it was for the Wilkes' Debate Society. Under the guidance of Dr. Arthur Kruger, the Wilkes debaters enjoyed many victories in inter-collegiate debating competition.

One of the most outstanding achievements of the year was the winning of the Bucknell Good Neighbor Tournament. In the tournament Fred Roberts received the First Speaker Award and Cliff Brothers the Second Speaker Award.

The debating society has brought national acclaim to Wilkes College.

Music and its attributes are held in high esteem at Wilkes. Three groups, the Wilkes College Chorus, The Male Chorus, and the Girls' Chorus entertain at school and throughout the community. Their fine musicianship is acclaimed by everyone.

The choruses merge their talents once a year in presenting a Christmas program in assembly. Theirs is one of the most outstanding assemblies of the year. Truly, "there is something marvelous in music."

THETA DELTA RHO

The Theta Delta Rho Sorority is opened to all women at Wilkes College. Through this type of sorority, friendships are made, understandings fostered, and unity developed among the women at Wilkes.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Doane, Dean of Women of Wilkes College, T.D.R. is one of most active organizations on campus. It is primarily a service organization. The sorority has on its annual program The Olds Folks' Christmas Party, the Sweetheart Dance, and numerous teas, punch parties, and buffets.

Theta Delta Rho enjoyed another successful year. The proceeds from the various affairs were put into a scholarship fund.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Having been fully initiated to college life, the Sophomore Class began their accomplishment and growth. A sophomore has the advantage of a more mature outlook for a year of experience has molded his values, collected his assets, and sharpened his interests. His future seems more clearly patterned. His work acquires more purpose and direction.

During the sophomore year a student possesses more assurance in his academic and social life. Since his strengths and weaknesses are known, he can mentally construct a starting place from which he can travel. He is prepared to nourish his abilities and broaden his interests.

FOOTBALL

Every school owes a great deal of admiration to its football team. These are the boys who add spirit, sportsmanship, and unity to a student body.

Here at Wilkes we are fortunate in having a team that places high value on such ideals. Their morale and perseverance are surpassed by none.

... and the crowd roars

NO! NO! NO!

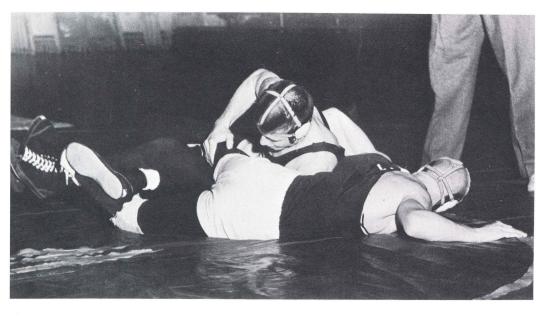

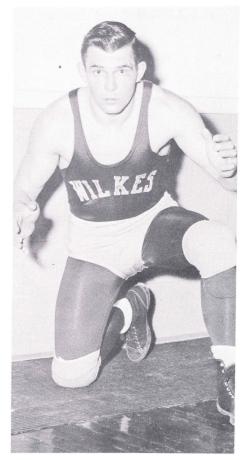

WRESTLING

The wrestling team, coached by John Reese, had an undefeated season this year. The wrestling team has brought much recognition to Wilkes because of it's successful team play during the last several years.

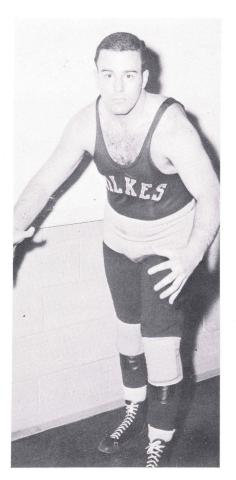

Walt Glogowski, captain of the team, was also chosen as the outstanding wrestler of 1959.

BASEBALL

PLAY BALL!

PLAY BALL!

In the spring of every year thousands become "diamond happy" as the biggest sport of the season gets under way. And when baseball comes to town, Wilkes is "right in the groove."

The baseball team, with it's captain, Mike Dydo and coach, Francis Pinkowski, is a well-knit group of ball players. The team hase met all the standards of the American ideal of fair play and is an asset to the Wilkes sports program.

GOLF

GIRLS' BASKETBA

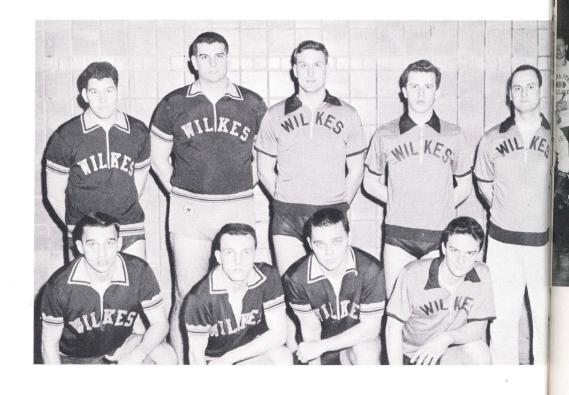

The Wilkes College golf team was first organized on the intercollegiate level in 1956. It has since come a long way in being recognized as an exceptionally active sport.

Coached by Mr. Welton Farrar and captained by Ed Mikolaitis the team has experienced a successful season.

Under the direction of coach Helen Bu the girl's basketball team has become an a extra-curricular activity at Wilkes. The W Colonelettes displayed excellent teamwork surpassed zeal in every game.

TENNIS

Although fairly new on campus, tennis has become a popular sport. Much of this popularity is due to the efforts of Dean Ralston, Coach, and the team's captain, Ira Himmel. It is expected that there will be many new participants in the coming years.

SWIMMING

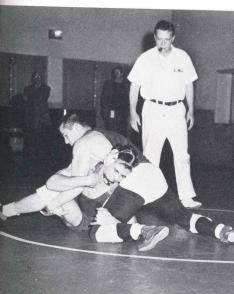

The swimming team, coached by Russ Picton, is one of the newest intercollegiate sports on campus. More eyes are turning toward their efforts due to the team's many successful meets.

OPEN WRESTLING TOURNAMENT

The Annual Open Wrestling Tournament is open to all colleges and association amateur wrestlers. The team championship was won for the third time by the Pitt Panthers. Finishing second was the University of Michigan.

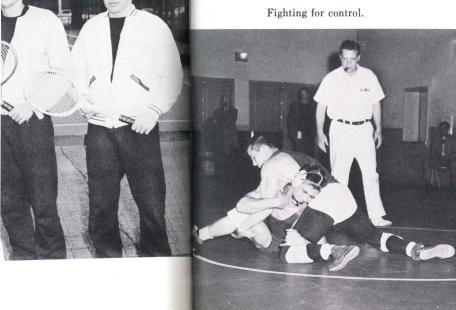

This year found a record-breaking number of schools enrolled for the tournament, often called the "Rose Bowl of Wrestling."

The outstanding wrestler of the year was Dave Blubough, a former Oklahoma State grappler who has taken national titles.

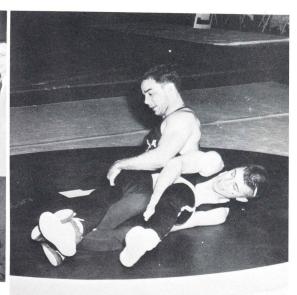

The tournament, under the guidance of Dean Ralston and John Chwalek, is the largest of its kind in the country.

INTRAMURALS

Intramural sports have become one of the most popular activities at Wilkes College. An active program has been maintained in such sports as basketball, baseball, and bowling. In the bowling division, the women have their own league.

In no other campus activity is team work more exemplified than in Wilkes' Intramural Sports Program.

years or growtn and maturity.

Gradually, the freshman becomes integrated into the life of his school. He overcomes obstacles, both academic and social while striving to attain a healthy balance between the two. He adjusts his time accordingly, realizing that education is the summation of a well-rounded program of activities. He sees where his responsibilities lie, both to himself and to his school as a whole. He must make decisions, acquire independence, and evaluate his progress. Such a task requires work and experience.

As his first year progresses, the freshman ventures ahead enduring the disappointments and regrets. His goals become clearer. He realizes his aims in school and in life.

And so he grows . . . intellectually, emotionally, and socially. New truths become known; new ideas are born; new character is developed.

With zeal and purpose They undertook their task.

The Wilkes College Chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is composed of junior and senior men who are interested in the welfare of their community. Organized in 1956, the Chapter is the only one of its kind. Its main efforts being directed toward community developments, members receive training in leadership, citizenship, and civic duty.

The Jaycees have taken an active part in such community projects as the Wilkes-Barre Parade of Progress, the City Parking Project, the Orphans' Shopping Tour, the Retreat State Hospital Gift Campaign, and the Jaycee State Convention.

WHY YOUNG MEN and WOMEN SHOULD CONSIDER RETAILING BEFORE CHOOSING A CAREER

Every year at this time, young men and women get serious about this question: what next?

Yes, after four years of school, after texts and theories, bull-sessions and books: what next?

Where to find the job which will be good enough for a life-time?

Out of all the phases of American life, which is the right one for me? Where can I find this blend of ingredients: freedom to express thoughts and ideas; a chance to learn and grow; an opportunity to work with people in a vital, ever-changing basic industry?

LOOK TO RETAILING . . . LOOK TO DEPARTMENT STORES!

Proud products of the American System, they believe that profits are created through service and that community service is the result of the activities of many people, working together, thinking together, building together.
