

BUDGETS SUBMITTED TO COUNCIL

Freshmen Sponsor Tonight's Dance

Hazing is now all over and only a few memories of the experiences of their first two weeks at Wilkes remain with the freshmen. Slowly they are becoming a part of Wilkes College.

The frosh are planning to celebrate the official end of their hazing at tonight's dance which they are sponsoring. The frosh have very appropriately named their first social endeavor of their college career, "The Freedom Frolic".

Since the class officers were not elected at the time of the dance preparations, the Student Council has been assisting the freshmen with their plans.

Barry Yocum, general chairman, announced that the Amplitones will provide music for modern dancing. The dance will be held in the gym from 9 to 12. The admission price is fifty cents.

As an added attraction, the winners of the class election will be announced at intermission.

All nominees for class officers are assisting Barry as committee heads. They are: Nancy Davis and David Kline, decorations; Morris James and Sandy Schaffer, band; Ed Pacolli and Audrey Huntzinger, tickets; Vickie Kovaks and Nick Gatto, refreshments; Pat Saunders, Dorothy Ambrose, and Ronnie Palazzi, publicity; and Ellie Lazarus, Betty Hoeschele, and Ronnie Christman, programs.

'Beacon' Urges Students To Nominate Candidates For Homecoming Queen

by Jim Eidam

Plans are being made for the annual Wilkes Alumni Homecoming weekend, which will be held this year on October 25 and 26. Saturday afternoon, October 26, Wilkes will be host to Lycoming for the homecoming game at Kingston Stadium.

Each year, the staff of the Beacon sponsors the selection of the Homecoming Queen and two princesses. The student body nominates candidates from among our co-eds, who will vie for the competition. It should be emphasized that ANY Wilkes co-ed is eligible to enter the competition, and win the honors and various prizes which are offered each year through the courtesy of local business firms, the Alumni, and the Beacon staff.

The judging of the candidates will be by members of the Beacon editorial staff. Judging is based on beauty and personality of the candidates nominated.

Nominations can be made by writing a letter to the editor and stating your choice for Homecoming Queen. All letters must be signed.

The nominations must be received by the judges before noon on Friday, October 18. The winners of the honors will be announced in the October 25 issue of the Beacon, just before the Homecoming activities commence.

Each year one of the highlights of Homecoming is the dance of Friday evening. Last year's was one of the most successful dances of the entire school year.

All students are urged to participate in the activities, and are invited to send in nominations for the Queen.

PICNIC AT 'FARLEIGH'

A picnic will be held for members of the faculty at Farleigh, Dr. Farley's farm, tomorrow beginning at 2 P.M.

All faculty members and wives are invited to attend, and they are requested to bring their own box lunches. A dessert and beverage will be furnished.

F. GALLIA ACCEPTED BY MEDICAL SCHOOLS

by Betsy Gabel

Francis Gallia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallia, 401 S. Main St., Old Forge, Pa., was notified of his acceptance to Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia, and the School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania on September 9, one month after the date he applied. After due consideration he chose to accept the position offered at the University of Pennsylvania.

Francis was graduated from Old Forge High School in 1954 as valedictorian of his class. At Wilkes he is a senior majoring in biology. Francis is an active member of the Biology and Chemistry Clubs.

Francis Gallia

He is acting as Chairman of student papers for the Eastern Colleges Science Conference. At present he is doing original research in immunology under Dr. Sheldon Cohen (in the hope of obtaining material for a research paper.)

In his freshman year, Francis received the Chemistry Award; in his junior year he received the McKane Award for having the highest average among the male students in the first and second years at Wilkes. He has been on the Dean's List every semester, and has attained a perfect average for four semesters.

During the school year he is a Red Cross water safety instructor for crippled children; during the summer he works as life guard at Promised Land Lake in the Poconos.

His sister, Rose Marie Gallia Lazarovich, was an instructor in biology and chemistry at this college from 1952 to 1955.

Students' Rates Available For Beacon Advertising

The Beacon is pleased to announce that rates are now available for student advertising. This idea was established for the purpose of benefiting campus or student functions only.

The advertising space for rent consists of one column in width, and one inch in depth. The rate for this space will be sixty cents.

The first ad of this type was used by the junior class in last week's Beacon.

Committee to Discuss Requests Of Major Student Organizations; Ruggiero Elected Vice President

by Marion J. Klawonn

The Wilkes College Student Council accepted budget requests from the campus activities at their regular meeting last Tuesday.

Ron Tremayne, chairman of the budget committee, read the requests to the Council. Tremayne announced that the total to be divided among all the campus activities this year is $12,360.

ELECTION RESULTS

Seniors:

President - Ron Tremayne
Vice-Pres. - Larry Groninger
Secretary - Mary West
Treasurer - Len Mulcahy

Juniors:

President - Reginald Mattioli
Vice-Pres. - Bill Simonowicz
Secretary - Francine Bishop
Treasurer - Mary Ellen Connell
Student Council - Bob Morris

Sophomores:

President - John Mulhall
Vice-Pres. - Dick Salus
Secretary - Moncey Miller
Treasurer - Carl Havira

The Council's budget committee will discuss the requests and prepare a balanced budget to present to the entire Council for discussion at the next meeting.

Although requests from all of the activities have not yet been received, the total amount requested to date is $11,080, leaving only $1,280 to be given to The Manuscript, Intercollegiate Conferences and the social activities.

The following is a table showing each activity's request, as compared with the amount received by that activity last year.

Activity	1956-57	1957-58
Beacon	$2,125	$2,900
Cue 'n' Curtain	850	2,080
Debating Society	950	1,200
Dormitories	200	300
Yearbook	4,000	4,500
Male Chorus	100	75
Girls' Chorus	—	75

The Male Chorus is the only organization on campus that has reduced its budget request from that of last year.

Tom Myers, speaking for the students, advised the Council to ask for a bigger appropriation. Myers stated that with the increased number of students and rising prices, more money will be needed to carry on campus activities for this year. Since this is the twenty-fifth anniversary year at Wilkes, all the clubs, publications and activities on campus are trying to out-do themselves, thus expenses will be bound to go up and the budgets will naturally be higher.

Vice-President Elected

Junior Tom Ruggiero was elected Student Council vice-president at the Tuesday meeting. Tom is a secondary education major with history as his major field. He is the chairman of the Council committee for the United Fund.

JUNIORS CONTINUE CLUB OASIS PLANS

In response to the many complaints of the students about the lack of exciting events on the weekend, the Junior Class is offering something new and exotic, the "Club Oasis". The feature attraction is Phyllis Ruby, the Arco recording star whose rendition of "Hey There, Baby" was received with much applause.

In the eastern-flavored atmosphere of the "Club Oasis", one is reminded of the intrigue and suspense of the Barbary Coast. The many new and surprising features of the night spot will be revealed in the near future.

Here is an opportunity to pass an interesting and unusual evening with the date of your choice. It is suggested that all the boys hustle and get their reservations in soon, if they desire a ringside table.

Manuscript Staff Names J. Carling and J. Luft To Editorial Positions

by Ruth Younger

The Manuscript staff has elected two senior men to its staff. Jack Carling, a Business Administration major from Scranton, has accepted the position of Photography Editor and Jerry Luft, an English major from Kingston, has accepted the position of the second Associate Editor.

The other members on the staff are: Editor, Ed Milowicki; Associate Editor, Ruth Younger; Secretary, Elena Dovidynas; Business Manager, George Black; 2nd Art Editor, Pat Hemenway.

As the Manuscript has expanded its scope to include varied types of expression, it has seen a need for a larger staff. The Photography Editor will photograph any said art work and will edit the contributions of photography. The second Associate Editor will plan the monthly programs which the Manuscript sponsors.

At the staff meeting last Thursday the staff unanimously adopted a new policy of expansion: to accept faculty contributions as well as student contributions. The Manuscript staff hopes that this policy will contribute to their goal for this year's publication which is to raise standards of the work which they publish.

To begin the Manuscript's activities in connection with its new policy, at the first evening program there will be a reading and discussion of the writings of several faculty members.

STAGE PRESENTATIONS

Next Tuesday's assembly promises to be a special treat. Helena Carroll and Dermot McNamara, two brilliant Irish actors of stage, screen, and television, will present scenes from The Importance of Being Earnest by Wilde and Pygmalion by Shaw.

Miss Carroll is currently appearing in Separate Table on Broadway, and Mr. McNamara is with the Irish Players at Theater East, New York City.

EDITORIALS

Publicity Directors

The Beacon is willing to cooperate with all campus organizations by giving them as much publicity as possible. However, we need help from individual clubs in order to be informed of their respective activities. We suggest that every class and club elect a publicity director to represent them on our staff or else send a list of their coming activities to the Beacon office.

The Chemistry and Biology Clubs and the senior class each have a representative writing for this publication so their publicity has been a great deal better than most organizations'. Yours can be the same. We're willing to cooperate. Are you?

Parking Manners

The college received a phone call from a Terrace Street resident earlier this week. A Wilkes student had parked in front of his driveway, and consequently the man could not move his car without going over his neighbor's lawn and a high curbstone. This person did some Wilkes student a big favor, he could have had the car towed away but he was nice enough not to. The next time something like this happens the student may not be so fortunate.

Anyone old enough to be in college should, by this time, have learned enough common sense to know some simple rules called courtesy. Unfortunately, only selfishness seems to guide some of the drivers on campus.

CUE 'N' CURTAIN PRODUCTION
SPONSORED BY KIWANIS CLUB

by Peggy Kratz

For the first time in the history of Wilkes College the Kiwanis of Wilkes-Barre is sponsoring the productions of Cue 'n' Curtain. Paint Your Wagon is no longer a campus production; it is a community affair. Written by Lerner and Loewe, who also wrote Brigadoon and My Fair Lady, Paint Your Wagon was a big hit on Broadway in 1951.

As the cast is busy learning lines for Paint Your Wagon, Cathal O'Toole and his art department are completing set designs, Paul Abrams and his crew are constructing sets, and Mr. John Detroy and his orchestra are rehearsing the musical score. Therefore the activity isn't confined to Chase Theater alone.

With the co-operation being shown by the theatre, the art and music departments, Theta Delta Rho, and the Administration, Paint Your Wagon is expected to be nothing but a smash hit in 1957. This is just another example of the part Wilkes plays in the community.

Mr. Al Groh announced that the speaking and singing roles for Cue 'n' Curtain's forthcoming musical have been filled. The cast is as follows: Ben Rumson - portrayed by Jerry Luft; Jennifer Rumson by Marilyn Carl; Julio by Wayne Walters; Salem Trumbull by Fred Malkemes; Jake Whippany by Sam Lowe; Steve Bullnack by Stanley Yurkowski; Reuben Sloane by Carroll Davenport; Elizabeth Woodling by Phyllis Judge; Jacob Woodling by George Richards, Jr.; Sarah Woodling by Marion Laines; Cherry Jourdel by Neshama Rosenbaum; Edgar Crocker by Peter Gale; Ray Janney by Mike Kendall; Stanley Twist by Gene Stickler; "Doc" Newcomb by Steve Poleski; Mike Mooney by Richard Myers; Pete Billings by Jay Miller; Jasper by Joe Oliver; and Dutchie by Donald Henry.

NOTICE

There will be a BEACON meeting today at noon on the third floor of 159 South Franklin Street.

ROOMER'S RUMORS

by Marion J. Klawonn

The Inter-Dorm Council sponsored its annual Freshman Skit Night last Wednesday in Chase Theater. The frosh form each dormitory put on various types of entertainment for the assembled upperclassmen. The affair is a part of dorm hazing.

The final part of dorm hazing was held last night with the traditional "hell night" march downtown. Frosh were dressed in costumes ranging from long underwear to pillow-stuffed dresses for their walk through the stores. The "hell night" march was started at Weckesser Hall and ended in Public Square.

Catlin Hall was responsible for the little pennants and the crepe paper decorated goal posts at Saturday night's game with Lebanon Valley. The Student Council appointed Dick Salus to contact the girls and plan for similar activities for the future games.

Butler Hall held their dorm elections early in the semester. The following were elected: President, Reginald Mattioli; secretary, Dave Roebuck; house officers, Jay Keller and John Schade.

Cliff Kobland reports that Gore Hall's intramural football team may very well win the title this year even though this is Gore's first year of play.

PERSONALS

Janet Cornell is recuperating in McClintock dorm after spending a few days in the General Hospital. Janet, a sophomore music education major, was hospitalized after being taken ill in the dorm.

Tom Walsh, sophomore English student, was struck by a car last Sunday afternoon on North Pennsylvania Avenue and Beaumont Street. Tom received only minor injuries and was back on campus by Tuesday.

Carol Breznay, senior sociology major, is beginning her sixth year at the Swoyerville Community Center. Carol began her work in her junior year of high school as a volunteer aide. Since then she had received several promotions until last year when she was made full-time social director. Carol will continue her work in this capacity this year.

She also works at the center during her summer vacations, and this summer her activities included coaching one of the area's Little League baseball teams.

Herr Disque, head of the modern language department, was honored at a birthday party last Friday afternoon. The party given by members of his German 206 class was held in his office preceding the Stark Dedication ceremonies.

John Steve Wyda, senior journalism student, has been getting some practical experience in journalism by working at the "morgue" of the Wilkes-Barre Publishing Company.

Freshman Hope Evans, who is Mr. Reese's student secretary, will be the new attendance checker in assembly. Hope succeeds senior Jackie Oliver who had resigned her job to continue working in the alumni office where she had worked all summer.

Connie Kamarunas, Homecoming princess in 1956, and Mrs. George McMahon nee Isabelle Ecker, Cinderella of 1952, were on campus last Friday for the Stark Science Hall dedication.

Bill Farish and Kirho Bai, two Ashley alumni, returned to visit their former dorm mates last Saturday.

Junior German major Margaret Galle spent last weekend in Atlantic City visiting summer co-workers. Margaret worked this past summer at the shore in the Columbus Hotel.

questionnaire designed to approximate the number of faculty members interested in the scheme. Unofficial response has been quite encouraging.

The first recreational night is to be held next week, the exact date and time depending upon the availability of the gym.

PARKING

The Administration has expanded parking facilities for both the students and faculty during the past summer, but space is still at a premium. However, there are still some students who have not recognized this fact. One still finds cars locked and left in spaces which block others from getting their vehicles out of the lots.

We suggest a more courteous approach to the situation. Let's co-operate with the lot attendants and follow their directions. Careful parking will enable more cars to park in the limited space available. And most important: if your car is blocking another car's exist, PLEASE LEAVE YOUR KEYS INSIDE!

While we're on the topic, we would like to enlighten those members of the student body who feel that they've been "bit" by the new schedule of parking fees. Actually, the precise figures are not available, but it boils down to the fact that the parking fees pay no more than five per cent of the costs of providing the facilities. The money received does not cover the cost of the time of the lot attendants.

That does not even consider buying the properties, razing buildings, leveling, grading, paving, and the costs of the stickers. If students were charged for parking at a rate that would cover the costs of providing the space, it would be much cheaper to take the bus.

Around the Campi

The following bit comes from the Maryland Diamondback via the Bloomsburg Maroon & Gold: "Sophomores want their women to be like cigarettes, slender and trim, all in a row, to be selected at will, aflame and when the flame has subsided, discarded only to select another.

"A junior wants his women to be like a cigar. They're more expensive, make a better appearance and last longer.

"A senior wants his girl to be like his pipe . . . something he becomes attached to, knocks gently but lovingly around and takes great care of at all times.

"A man will give you a cigarette, offer you a cigar, but will never share his pipe.

"P.S.—Freshmen are too young to smoke!"

Faculty Notes

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Hotson on their blessed event. Eleanor Elisabeth, weighing in at eight pounds, nine ounces, was born September 29. Hotson is an instructor in the Economics Department.

To Herr Elwood Disque, Dean of Men George F. Ralston and Music Department Boss John G. Detroy, belated birthday greetings. To keep ahead of the game, some more of the same best wishes to Mrs. Margaret Connolly, Comptroller. The day is Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gittins will celebrate their 52nd wedding anniversary on Monday. Sam has worked on campus as a painter for the past 13 years. Their daughter, Millie, is known to all as the manager of the Bookstore. The couple has one other son, John. Best wishes and may you have many more happy years.

Jack Curtis and Jim Atherton are both teaching in Ellitsburg, down near New Bloomfield, Pa. Jim, in his second year at Perry High School, helped Jack get settled for his first shot at teaching in the nearby Green Park High. The pair live close together and have managed to keep each other out of trouble . . . so far.

Dedication Sidelights

CHEM CLUB BEGINS
MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

by Sal Valenti

Approximately fifty members of the Chemistry Club attended the annual Welcome Freshmen Party on September 25.

President Mary Matthey held a short business meeting outlining the tentative club activities for the year preceding the party.

The activity calendar will be increased to accommodate the Eastern Colleges Science Conference and the Intercollegiate Chemical Society Banquet. Wilkes has been chosen as host school for both of these functions.

In addition, the club will continue its lecture series inaugurated last year, present science films of general interest, and hold several field trips. The first field trip scheduled is a tour of the J. T. Baker Company in Phillipsburg, New Jersey.

The Chem Club also will renew its membership in the American Chemical Society. A drive for new members is now in progress, and any chemistry student interested in joining, please see Mary Matthey or Sal Valenti.

STARK OFFICIALLY DEDICATED

Eisenhower, Churchill Send Congratulations To Admiral H. R. Stark

by Jim Eidam

Under a bright autumn sky, an audience of over 900 persons gathered on Stark Lawn last Friday afternoon for the ceremonies which officially dedicated the new Admiral Harold R. Stark Science Hall. Admiral Ben Moreell, USN (ret.), was the principal speaker.

The program commenced at 4:30 o'clock with an academic procession of honored guests, trustees, and faculty members. The program followed the order which was published in last week's issue of the Beacon.

Dr. Farley, prior to introducing Admiral Moreell, stated how indebted the college was for this most generous gift. Stark Hall is an assurance that the first twenty-five years of Wilkes College will bear fruit in all of the years which shall follow them. Dr. Farley added that Wilkes must not only perpetuate the name of Admiral Stark, but also the high ideals for which he stood.

Admiral Moreell's address began with an outline of the highlights of Admiral Stark's forty-seven-year naval career, which was marked with four distinguished service medals. Moreell praised Admiral Stark for "endeavor and achievement far above and beyond the normal requirements of duty."

In further praise of his long-time friend, Admiral Moreell declared: "His tireless energy, his sympathetic understanding of the foibles of human nature, his patience and quiet persistence in time of great stress . . . have set standards of personal conduct in the Naval Service which will never be exceeded and rarely equalled."

The theme of Admiral Moreell's address was Science, Industry and Education. Declaring that science, education, and religion are the three major cultural forces in the American society, he added that these three, to become effective, have to be sustained by a fourth element, which is industry, or the economic factor.

Economic activity of America supplies the means for all our ends, and an intimate relationship between science, industry, and education is necessary for our achievement of social progress, which is necessary for our survival as a free nation.

Admiral Moreell traced the recent change in the concept of science. He stated that Karl Marx interpreted science as the only avenue to truth, and up to the present day the world has been deceived by Marx's followers who seek to mold society according to a master scientific plan.

However, our interpretation of science is that it is decidedly limited in its outreach and its methods. Our concept is that of the universe ruled by God. The American philosophy emphasizes the individual and individual freedom.

Admiral Moreell continued by tracing the pattern of American political and social progress. He stated that "before the individual can attain the maximum development of which he is capable at any given time he must be free to direct his own creative energy." The American society tries to minimize the forces which tend to inhibit social progress.

Admiral Moreell stressed the fact that too often the American businessmen have no convictions about their responsibility to society. Business and education must also share an intimate relationship to be most effective. In this reciprocal movement, we can see how each will benefit the other.

Admiral Moreell's concluding statements dealt with the importance of the spiritual needs in a society. He stated that no society can long endure if it frustrates the spiritual needs of its people. "The custody of man's spiritual nature . . . is largely in the hands of our educators and our clergy."

Following Admiral Moreell's address, Dr. Farley read two messages which had been sent by former close associates of Admiral Stark. The large audience was delighted to hear words of congratulations from Sir Winston Churchill and President Eisenhower.

Admiral Stark was called upon for remarks following an ovation from the audience. He praised many of the past accomplishments of Admiral Moreell, and stated how proud and impressed he felt at the dedication.

Music for the ceremonies was provided by a brass ensemble under the leadership of Bob Moran, of the music department.

Arnie Mrozinski: "Let's go for a ride."

Tom Barnick: "All right, I have nothing to do but homework."

PARENTS RECEPTION SUNDAY AFTERNOON

by Dorothy Ford

Parents will have the opportunity to show their interest in the educational facilities offered to the students of Wilkes College Sunday afternoon. A Parents Reception is scheduled to which students as well as parents are cordially invited.

Guided tours will leave Chase Hall between three and three-thirty. The tour will enable the parents to see the many buildings used for various classes.

At four o'clock a reception will be held on Chase Hall Lawn, and Dr. Farley will speak to the parents. Refreshments will be served.

In case of rain, the reception will be held in the College Gymnasium.

Biology Club Receives Ciba Research Grant; Five Projects Outlined

by Frank Gallia

Barry Miller, president of the Biology Club, has announced that the club has received a $300 research grant from Ciba Chemicals. The money will be used to perform original research on topics of current interest. The club has set up five different projects.

The first project is concerned with the preparation and maintenance of cultures and measurement of their growth. Those working on this project are John Maylock, Martin Tansy, Jerry Killian, and Gary de Hope.

The Carcinogenic properties of tobacco and food dyes are the concern of the second project. Al D'Anca, Mat Kessman, Betty Lou Mazer, and Marion Christopher will work with tobacco. Those working with food dyes are Jim Thomas, Linda Passarella, Lee Humphry, and Rita Matiskella.

Ronald Olshefski and Frank Gallia will work with Dr. Sheldon Cohen on the third project which is concerned with the immunological properties of various organisms.

The effects of plant and animal hormones will be studied by Cleith Miller, Harold Jenkins, John Schade, Bob Henderson, Bill Francis, and Nick Giordano.

The last project is concerned with vital dyes and temperature effects. John Saba, Lois Betner, and Tony Puma are working on this project.

This research will be supervised by the members of the Biology Department which includes: Dr. Charles B. Reif, Dr. Francis Michelini, Dr. Sheldon Cohen, and Mrs. Edith Namisniak.

The students working on these projects hope to obtain material for research papers to be presented at the Eastern College's Science Conference which this year is to be held at Wilkes.

RESCIGNO NAMED WEEK'S ATHLETE FOR SUPERIOR BACKFIELD PLAY

Gains Over 100 Yards Against Heavier Line Of Down-State Team

by Cliff Kobland

Ronnie Rescigno, who missed "Athlete of the Week" honors all last year, has gained that award this week for the second time in a row.

There is no doubt that the 5:07 tailback was the most outstanding Colonel on the field as well as one of the best backs that trod onto the bright green gridiron Saturday night at the new Kingston Stadium.

Wilkes took it on the chin, 21-0, from Lebanon Valley College, but Rescigno's play gave the partisan crowd plenty to cheer about.

Ronnie, who is now in his fourth year of intercollegiate ball, carried the pigskin an amazing total of 25 times for 109 yards, better than four yards per carry. He was also involved in eleven pass plays.

But more important was the "Runt's" never-say-die attitude. When the final gun sounded the Colonels were deep in Valley territory, with their little signal caller leading the way.

Ronnie Rescigno

Rescigno was tired and he had reason to be. He was getting hit hard as the Lebanon linebackers knew he was the man to stop. But he never gave up. He blocked like an All-American guard on reverses, tackled with authority, was all over the field shouting encouraging words to his teammates. As in the Hofstra tilt, and in the previous three years, he has been the force that has kept the fighting spirit alive in all of the Wilkes football squads.

Fans of the college have wondered how the diminutive senior can keep going against overwhelming odds. The answer is simple. Rescigno loves the game of football and gives it all he has. And that, in the case of Rescigno, is plenty.

COLONELS SHOT DOWN BY FLYING DUTCHMEN

The Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley gave the Wilkes Colonels a football lesson on Saturday night at Kingston Stadium. Led by T-quarterback Bill DeLiberty, the Dutchmen found the Colonels' line no puzzle, scoring three times to register their first win of the season by a 21-0 count.

DeLiberty was just a little less than superb with his canny calls, pitchouts, and passing. He hit for a total of five completed passes out of ten attempts. His backfield men, Ed Slezosky, Bob Longenecker, and Len Holstein played their parts beautifully in Coach McCracken's well-oiled machine. DeLiberty converted all three extra point attempts.

The Colonels, on the other hand, found their defense just not up to stopping the slashing charges of the Lebanon squad, their own offense lacking in nearly every department, but certainly not through any fault of any particular individual. The Wilkes squad was playing its usual hard-fought brand of football; it was simply a case of one team out-classing another.

That the defense of the Colonels' has improved since 1956 is evident in the manner in which the team has suffered its two defeats. Last year, the Lebanon squad took the measure of the Colonels, 39-6, and in the Hofstra tilt, the Blue and Gold reduced last year's 40-0 score to a respectable 14-0.

The thing that sent the Colonel fans home happy was the brilliant display put on by senior tailback Ron Rescigno (see "Athlete of the Week" story). Rescigno has made such play a pleasant habit to ob-

New Policies Listed in Bowling; Shoot for Average Sunday Night

In the interest of fairness and equality, several important changes have been made in this year's bowling arrangements. In order to have a well-balanced league, it has been decided that all bowling this Sunday evening will be for the sole purpose of establishing an official league average. With the averages thus recorded, teams will be drawn up in an effort to provide each team with an equal number of high- and low-average bowlers.

There have been fifty-nine people who have shown a desire to participate in this year's program. These people will be divided into two groups for Sunday's action. The first group will begin bowling at 6:00 P.M. promptly, the second group will follow immediately.

It is hoped that everyone interested will make a sincere effort to be punctual in order that all may have a chance to establish an average.

The Jewish Community Center is taking Sunday night away from its members who would like to bowl then, in order to give the college an opportunity to further its intramural recreational activities. Because of the concession the Center makes, it is necessary for the bowlers to shoulder a few responsibilities in return.

There will be two leagues bowling on the same night, one beginning at 6:00 P.M., the other as soon as possible after the first is finished. Each team will carry six members on its roster, but only five will bowl each time, giving some break for the pocketbook of each player. However, each team will be responsible for five bowlers each week, and will be penalized for absent bowlers by paying the cost of the missing man's games. The Center expects to have two leagues of six teams, each with five players every Sunday night; a total of sixty three-game fees, and the College must live up to that figure out of courtesy for the hospitality offered.

The first group, to meet at 6:00 P.M., Sunday night, will be the following:

Alley 7: Stan Yurkowski, Joseph Ackamey, Ray Litman, Dick Myers, Jim Judge.

Alley 8: Fran Bishop, Jean Broody, Emil Petrask, Larry Choper, Ivan Pappanicholas.

Alley 6: Hillard Hoffman, Dan Lewis, Dick Salus, John Sapiago, Mim Thomson.

Alley 5: Audrey Radler, Skip Gladstone, Charles Kirchner, Sam Weinstein, Ed Duncan.

Alley 4: Joseph Savitzky, Ray Hayward, Mary Lou Spinelli, Tom Jones, Sandy Ungar.

Alley 3: Don Wilkenson, Al Ullman, John Macri, Bill Duffy.

The second group will begin bowling as soon as the first has finished, around 8:00 P.M. Those in the second group are:

Alley 3: Marion Klawonn, Doug Kistler, Carolyn Goeringer, Peter Maholik, Clete Miller.

SOCCER SLATE OPENS TOMORROW; BOOTERS TO MEET ELIZABETHTOWN

by Jim Hennighan

The Wilkes Colonels have added a new team to their soccer schedule. Rider College is the newest addition for this season. The Colonels journey to the Rider campus for a night game on October 9.

After the addition of soccer to the varsity sports program here at Wilkes, and a lengthy losing streak, Rider was the first school the Wilkes booters beat. They lost to Rider the last two years by close scores.

The Rider contest is the second game on the Colonels' slate, for they open the season Saturday, October 5th, at Elizabethtown. Wilkes was one of the few teams that beat a very good Elizabethtown team last year. They did it by a 5-3 score. Since both squads are returning almost intact a thrilling game is expected.

The Colonels appear to be in excellent physical shape, with no apparent injuries. The injured Bill Lloyd will make the trip and, depending upon the doctor's approval, may even get to play.

The tentative starting lineup for the Elizabethtown game as given by Coach Jim Ferris follows:

 or Pete Perog
Center Forward ... Nick Giordano
Inside Right Tim Jenkins
Outside Right Carl Havira
Center Half ... Co-capt. Ed Masonis Right Half Maurice Hurley
 or Ray Ozehoski
Right Fullback Joe Morgan or Clarence Michael Goalie Bob Payne

MARINES TO HOLD STUDENT INTERVIEWS

Officer Procurement representatives of the Marine Corps will conduct student interviews at Wilkes on Wednesday, October 16. Applications will be considered for the Marines' Platoon Leaders Class and for the Officers Candidate Course. The Platoon Leaders Class is offered to male freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, who want to serve as a Marine officer after graduation. Commissions are earned through summer training at Quantico, Virginia.

A new man in the backfield, that of Ron Palazzi, has shown some promise. Many fans remarked following the game that this freshman has the potential for becoming one of the best backs to hit the campus.

Word has reached this department via the sports grapevine that Cliff Brautigan, former Wilkes football standout, is keeping his hand in the sport. His present employment in New Jersey has enabled him to try for a spot on the Jersey Sharks professional football team. The Sharks, an independent venture sponsored by a shore-area stock-car race promoter, will play their eight-game home schedule in the stadium at Belmar, New Jersey. They are aiming for formal minor-league affiliations in the future.

'IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE' DEPARTMENT

Following his team's upset victory, the B.M.O.C. quarterback decided to celebrate with a few brews in a quiet night-spot off-campus. To his great dismay, he glanced at the opening door in time to spot his coach entering the pub. Hoping to avoid detection, he beat a rapid retreat to the only sanctuary in sight, as the coach sat at the bar. The bartender asked what would the gentleman have and the coach replied, "A Manhattan, please . . . and see what the back in the boys' room will have."

LET'S GET SERIOUS
On Saturday, the Wilkes booters travel to Elizabethtown to take on the improved Blue Jays. Last year's wild and woolly contest at Kirby Park ended in a 5-3 win for the Colonels.

This, of course, cannot be mistaken for a plea to have a large representation of fans attending that game. We are interested in calling to the reader's attention, however, the fact that there are only two games listed for Kirby Park on this year's soccer schedule. It would be a shame if the only two home games of the season were as poorly attended as were some of the great contests held here in 1956. Both of the home games are in the same week. The first, with Philadelphia Textile College will be on Thursday, October 24 at 3:00 P.M. The final home game will be at 10:30 in the morning on Saturday, October 26, the day of the annual Homecoming game. It would be a fine thing if the hard-working squad and its new head coach, Jim Ferris, were greeted with a lot of fans making a lot of noise during their limited home stand.

FOOTBALL, ANYONE?
One thing was apparent in Saturday night's loss to Lebanon Valley; the team's major defect is lack of a dependable passer. Ron Rescigno was the whole show, but there is a limit to what one man can be expected to accomplish. These pages have more than once lamented the fact there is talent around the campus capable of fulfilling the team's needs, yet refusing to do so for varied real or fancied reasons.

Losing to teams like Lebanon Valley and Hofstra is no disgrace, and there are rougher opponents around the corner. The Colonels have a well-coached, well-trained, determined squad, but the limits placed on them by lack of reserves are the cause of the lapses which allow large gains to set up scoring plays by opponents.

The addition of a man who can pass a football with a high degree of accuracy will not, obviously, be the cure-all for the Wilkes woes on the gridiron, but it will take a lot of pressure away from a man who is only human—and as such, has human limits of endurance. It is too bad that a man who would be able to make headlines on any college team in the nation is forced to play the impossible role of a one-man gang.

There are, it is true, other good men on the team. These men are in the same boat, though. Simply because they do not stand out as spectacularly as one of their mates does not mean that they fail to give every ounce of effort. Every one of them is as hard a worker and each gets tired, too. The answer is simple: there must be more men who have selfless interest in the playing of the game; men who are willing to give a little more of themselves to help the guys who put in the same school hours, then go out on the field and give something extra. Looking for school spirit, Student Council? Twenty-eight men in football uniforms have it. There ought to be more.

Colonels Hopeful of Repeating Sole Triumph of Previous Year, Face Improved Bombers' Squad

by Bob Sutherland

Tonight the Colonels of Wilkes journey to Ithaca, New York, to play the Ithaca Bombers. Ithaca is coached by Art Orlaske and last season sported a one win and five loss season. The Bombers opened their season with a win over Alfred College which had been unbeaten in fifteen straight games. In their second game they lost to a powerful East Stroudsburg eleven, 26-0. Ithaca, boasting a 200-pound line and a heavy backfield, is mostly a sophomore-junior aggregation which apparently is considerably stronger than the team which Wilkes beat 12-0 last season.

The Bombers work out of a T-formation and have an exceptional passing attack. With fifteen returning lettermen and a thirty-six man squad the Blue and Gold of Ithaca will be a tough nut for the Colonels to crack.

The Colonels, smarting under the sting of two straight defeats at the hands of teams which they equaled or bettered in all the statistics but score, are win-hungry. Their last victory was against the same Bomber squad.

Wilkes will be without the services of their starting center, Bob Yokavonus, who suffered a dislocated shoulder in the first quarter of the Lebanon Valley game and will be lost to the Colonels for several weeks. The Wilkes single-wing attack will be led by co-captain Ron Rescigno who averaged 4.36 yards per carry in the Lebanon Valley game and was a standout throughout the game.

In the last two games the team has shown that the potential for a winning season is there. It has shown the ability to drive against and run around heavier lines; however, it lacked the final scoring punch. The coaches are working hard with the team and hope to have the rough spots polished up for tonight's game.

The team has a fighting spirit even in defeat. Tonight may be just the night when their fighting spirit and the breaks of the game, which so far this season have gone against them, will come through and give Wilkes its first win of the 1957 season.

The host college is located in Ithaca, New York. For those students interested in going to the game, take route 309 to Waverly, New York. From Waverly, proceed on route 34 to Van Etten, where 34 goes right to Spencer. In Spencer, 34 joins route 96 and goes straight into Ithaca where directions to the field can be obtained.

The game starts at 8 P.M. and Ithaca is a good three-hour drive.
