"The entire English Dement worked on the design fanew writing course for freshan and this is our best thinking nit. We can't wait to see how it works out," said Heaman.

Although the logistics of the class are still being worked out with the Registrar's office, Heaman said that the class will be designed to meet two to three times per week, with one hour desigtions, the most important part of the composition classes was the individual attention and the introduction of technology in writing," said Heaman.

"The extra hour allows for more freedom and flexibility in the class-

Students agreed that the trip was beneficial.

"Congressman Kanjorski was very interesting," said Jill Roth. "He is interested in the students' views on the economic standings in Pennsylvania. He talked about bringing new industries and technology to Pennsylvania from overseas, and about different changes he would like done within Pennsylvania."

Students also met with William Raub, a Wilkes alumnus who works in the Department of Health and Sciences. Raub is the science advisor to the Secretary of Science.

"I think that the students were interested in meeting with a Wilkes student who was able to achieve a goal of working with our nations capital," said Dr. Thomas Baldino. "Raub also got some of the students interested in possible apprenticeships."

Students were scheduled to meet with Senator Arlen Spector, but due to conflicting schedules they did not. For the remainder of the day, students were able to tour the capital and go to the Smithsonian Institute Museums.

"There was just so much to see and not enough time to see it all," stated Gretchen Schlagnhaufer.

"Overall, I am pleased with the way the day went," said Dr. Patricia Siplon. "And, the students have expressed their interest in going again and maybe making it an annual event. I would like to thank Student Government for helping make this trip happen."

On Saturday, March 22, 60 students from Wilkes University bowled for "Kids' Sake" taking up six lanes at the Stanton Lanes Bowling Alley. About thirty-one students from the Wilkes International Association of Business Communicators chapter (IABC) and 29 students from Dr. Jane Elmes-Crahall's principles of communications class raised between $900 and $1000.

Those who participated in this year's Bowl-A-Thon had the opportunity to enjoy bowling with friends and watch Dr. Jane Elmes-Crahall and Dr. Bradford Kinney show off their bowling talents.

Commenting on the successful turnout of the Bowl-A-Thon, Melissa Matuszkiewicz, president of IABC said, "I was surprised how the turnout was as compared to last year. It's great to watch Wilkes students come together and raise money for a good cause."

Along with free food came the opportunity to watch peers' bowling talents that were both quite ridiculous and comical. However, there

Quite a few student's raised enough money to earn a "Bowl for Kids Sake" T-shirt. Keith Pacyna and his girlfriend raised $340 in pledges.

The Bowl-A-Thon is organized by Big Brothers/Big Sisters agencies throughout the United States and Canada. Big Brothers/Big Sisters is a private, non-profit organization that runs programs such as the Bowl-A-Thon to serve children from single parent households. Fundraisers such as this help to enhance the quality and quantity of services provided to the community.

For those who still haven't paid the people they sponsored, please get to it. These kids need your contribution, even if it's only a few dollars. All donations are due to the "Bowl for Kids" Sake office by May 1.

Senator Simon scheduled

WILKES-BARRE—Former Senator Paul Voters of Illinois' "Best Legislator Award." Simon, professor and director of the Public Policy Institute at Southern Illinois University will be the guest speaker for the 16th annual Max Rosenn Lecture. The lecture will be held at Wilkes University on Sunday, April 27, at 8 p.m., in the Dorothy Dickson Darte Center for the Performing Arts located at the corner of South and River Streets in Wilkes-Barre. The title of Simon's lecture is "Public Trust: Where Do We Go."

'We were delighted to learn that Senator Simon has accepted our invitation," said Dr. Christopher N. Breiseth, president of Wilkes University.

Senator Simon joined SIU's faculty in 1997, just weeks after retiring from the U.S. Senate. Prior to leaving the Senate, Simon ranked as Illinois' senior senator. He wrote education and job training laws such as the National Literacy Act, the School-to-Work Opportunities Act, the Job Training Partnership Act amendments, several provisions of the Goals 2000 Act and the 1994 reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. He was the leading Senate champion of the new direct college loan program, and the chief Democratic sponsor of the balanced budget amendment.

Senator Simon spearheaded a drive to curb television violence, which led to the first joint standards on violence by broadcast networks, the Parental Advisory System and the new independent monitoring program launched by the broadcast and cable networks in 1994.

He was elected to the Illinois House in 1954 and to the Illinois Senate in 1962. While in office he won the Independent and was the first in Illinois history to be elected to the post with a governor of another party. Simon was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1974 and served Illinois' 22nd and 24th Congressional Districts for 10 played a leading role in drafting and enacting for Missing and Exploited Children.

As a journalist for a Washington D.C. newspaper for 45 years and an author of 16 books (two with coauthors), Senator Simon holds 39 honorary degrees.

In 1980, the Honorable Max Rosenn celebrated his 10th anniversary as Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit That year, in recognition of the anniversary and in appreciation for his many contributions to the field of law, to the United States Judiciary system and to the quality of life in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Rosenn's family, former law clerks and other friends initiated "The Max Rosenn Lecture Series in Law and Humanities," at Wilkes University. To the Editor:

On behalf of the Class of 1998, I would like to congratulate the Class of 1997 on their upcoming graduation. Your achievements on campus and within the community have set a strong precedent for future classes to emulate. As we look forward to our own senior year, we wish each of you the best of luck in your future endeavors. Please be sure to visit us as often as you can. It is when we learn of your success in the "real world" that we are inspired. Sincerely,

The Near Side

with Rick Tym

Well, this is it. The end of the road. It's all over but the crying. No more classes, no more books, no more teacher's dirty looks (well, I guess we're not at that point yet, but we're close). For myself and the graduating class of 1997, the end is near. For me personally, it's my last column in The Beacon. To those of you who supported me throughout this year, thank you very much. For those of you who didn't—those of you that thought I talked about things that shouldn't be talked about, those of you who think I'm too sarcastic and not funny and especially for those of you who took me too seriously—go "narrative expletive." Anyone who takes me seriously should have their head examined. I try to make my point, but I do it in a smartass way. It's just how I am—ask anybody.

Well, I don't really have anymore points to make. I still get rock salt on my front steps when it's below fifty at night, I still haven't gotten my parking spot in the back of McClintock and Charlie the parking enforcer still tickets me at least once a week for parking on the side of the church next door for more than five minutes. The sub still closes down half an hour earlier than it's supposed to, no one can tell me why there are turnstiles in the library and shipping and receiving still uses South River Street as it's loading dock to Stark Learning Center. By the way, can anybody tell me why one side of every double door in SLC is always locked? That really gets on my nerves sometimes—you're walking down the hall, talking to one of your friends, you go to open the door, and you almost pull your arm out of its socket. Of course, the group of models from France happen to be visiting Wilkes (for what reason I sure as hell don't know) and are walking down the hall as you bounce into the door (the opposite and equal reaction from almost ripping your arm out of its socket).

Anyway, there's really nothing-left for me to say. I'm sure there's stuff I could think of, but I'd rather go out on a semi-good note. I'd like to take this chance to say good-bye and good luck to someone who is very special, especially to all of us who are Residence Life staff members. If you're reading this, we're gonna miss you, Dean Lampe. Not just because of the great potatoes you make when you have us over for dinner, but because you were always around when we needed you. I have never seen anyone as dedicated to their job as Dean Lampe was during her career here at Wilkes. Whether it was two in the afternoon or three in the morning, she was always around to help out. Good luck with whatever you do when you leave us. If I was you, I'd take a long vacation—God knows you've earned it.

Well, that's all I have to say. I'd like to thank everyone who's been there for me over my past four years, faculty and friends. A special thanks to Gina Frappolli, editor-in-chief of The Beacon, who gave me the chance to speak my mind once a week this year. Trust me, if I would have known that people would have followed it the way they did (you know, my audience of seven people), I would have done it sooner. Take care everyone, and good luck in whatever you do, whether it be furthering your education, joining the work force or coming back to continue your academic career here at Wilkes. Thanks for being here with me on the near side of things, and I'll see you around.

OTC's DET. turns 25 Block Party 1997

Live music played into the night!

The cold weather didn't keep the students away from Ralston Field last Saturday. Students participated in games like the Inflatable Jump and the Velcro Walk. They also enjoyed a variety of foods and the Beer Tent, as well as live music being performed all day, with a special performance by the Pee-Pees that evening. Sponsored by Off-Campus Council, Student Government, Inter-Residence Hall Council, Programming Board and the Alumni association, the Block Party has become an event the Wilkes Community looks forward to each year.

HOROSCOPES With Carrie Nepa

Aries (March 21-April 20) Your discipline and will power are formidable, and you have focus, too. You'll do fine with your finals.

Taurus (April 21-May 21) All roads lead to romance. However, don't get caught up in love this week. You have other things to worry about.

Gemini (May 22- June 21) Your money difficulties will soon pass. A great job opportunity awaits you. Get that resume together!

Cancer (June 22- July 23) It's time to start planning that well-deserved vacation. Perhaps you will be introduced to that special someone. Good times await you!

Leo (July 24-August 23) Even a glamorous Leo like yourself needs to slow down every once in a while. Just don't slam on the brakes, take it one step at a time.

Virgo (August 24-September 23) Friends may think that you are easy to mock, but your wit will help you get back at them. Stand up for yourself.

Libra (September 24-October 23) If a relationship is the root of your problems lately, maybe you should seriously think about getting out of it. You deserve to be happy.

Scorpio (October 24-November 22) Treat yourself to a little something special, perhaps a new outfit or dinner at a favorite restaurant. Remember not to go overboard. Sagittarius (November 23 -December 21) You had a bad week, but keep your chin up! Something you have been waiting for will be here shortly.

Capricorn (December 22-January 20) Listen carefully to what your friends have to tell you. Sometimes their advice is just what you need to hear.

Aquarius (January 21-February 19) You may be questioning your goals, but don't fret. This is only natural, be confident in your ability and you will succeed.

Pisces (February 20-March 20) Travel and education will open doors for you. Be careful of your tendency to vacillate. Always stick to your instincts.

Wilkes golf team participates Colonels sweep Stevens Tech in baseball twin bill

By JEREMY GERBER Beacon Staff Writer

The Wilkes University baseball team's overall record went to 13-15 as they swept a twin bill and lost one game over the past week.

Wilkes traveled to East Stroudsburg last Thursday to play a doubleheader. Rain brought the first game to a hold in the fifth inning with East Stroudsburg in the lead 5-0. The weather did not let up and sent both teams home early.

The Colonels then journeyed to Hoboken, New Jersey to take on Stevens Tech in a doubleheader. The first game was a close one. It was tied 2-2 until Wilkes' Jim Domzalski blasted a two run homer in the sixth inning, driving in Curt Kroesen for the with the wins. Stevens Tech 4-2 game winner. Nate Lipton pitched a complete game, earing his fifth win of the year. with a .441 average while Ben Goodman of Stevens Tech picked up the loss. Brian Kaschak of Wilkes led all hitters, going three for three with a double.

The nightcap seemed to be all Wilkes University when Dan Moretski limited Stevens Tech to only two hits and no runs in the complete game. Moretski is now 1-2 on the year with a 2.52 ERA for the

Randy Yerger led the Wilkes hitting, going three for four with two RBI and two stolen bases. Augie Mitchke added a two run homer for the Colonels. Wilkes posted an 8-0 victory. The Colonels record improved to 13-15 overall dropped to 10-13 on the year.

Yerger leads the Colonels Mike Viglone is hitting .383 and Domzlski is hitting .382 for Wilkes. Viglone and Mitschke each have five home runs while Chris Tyukody has gone yard three times for the Colonels. Viglone leads the team with 28 RBI while Domzalski has 27 and Mitschke 25 for the Colonels.

The Colonels' game at Misericordia scheduled for vesterday was postponed until next Tuesday at 3 p.m. because Misericordia is involved in their conference playoffs.

The Colonels play their final home game today against Susquehanna at 3 p.m.

Tennis team drops lone match

WILKES-BARRE — The Wilkes men's tennis team dropped its only match of the week losing to FDU-Madison by a score of 7-2. Wilkes is now 2-5 on the year.

In the loss to FDU-Madison, Dave Germick picked up a win at number four singles while Aaron Sherburne earned a win at number six singles.

For the season, Sherburne leads the team with a 5-1 record while Germick is 4-3. In doubles play the team of Joe Scordino and Parimal Patel are 5-3 for the year.

Banter in the Booth with Michael Noone

As the semester quickly draws to a close, the final issue of The Beacon is upon us. During recent weeks "The Banter" has taken a backseat, as it always should, to stories about the athletes of Wilkes University.

However, I do want to take this last opportunity to thank everyone who helped make the sports pages come to life over the past year. First and foremost the pages would be pointless without you, the reader. Those of you who have read the pages have made the long hours and hard work worthwhile.

My writers, photographers, and fellow editors have been incredibly helpful during the past year. Their assistance has been invaluable and they have my deepest appreciation.

The faculty and staff of Wilkes University have made the last four years among the most rewarding anyone could ask for. Tom McGuire, Wilkes University's Sports Information Director, has been especially helpful by providing me with the material that has made the The Beacon's sports pages an accurate source for Wilkes University sports.

The athletes are the most important aspect of any sports story. They provide the heart and soul that makes it more than just a game. Their talent, hard work and dedication come together in the various arenas of competition to remind us of our fragility and our strength, our anguish and our elation, and ultimately our potential. To all the athletes of Wilkes University, on behalf of all the fans, thank you.

Wilkes softball team battling for playoff berth

By MICHAEL NOONE Beacon Sports Editor

A pair of losses against Lycoming College last weekend cost the Wilkes University softball team a chance at its first Middle Atlantic Conference Freedom chance to tie League title. Wilkes recovered from the losses to split a doubleheader with Susquehanna University on Tuesday. The Lady Colonels Fisher tripled still have a chance to earn an MAC playoff berth with a win in one of their final three Beth league games.

Lycoming handed the Lady Colonels their first MAC Freedom League losses of the year Saturday at Kirby Park. Wilkes dropped the opener 2-1 and fell 8-4 in the nightcap.

Lycoming improved to 19-3 overall and 11-1 in the MAC Freedom League and sewed up the Freedom League title. Wilkes dropped to 18-7 overall and 7-2 in the Freedom League and will have to fight their way back into the playoffs.

In the opener, Suzanne Fisher had a triple, Danielle Benson scored a run and singled while Christy Palilonis also singled for the Lady Colonels. Amy Rosengrant pitched the entire Lycoming first game for Wilkes.

The Lady Warriors took a lead after three 2-0 lead in the opener with a pair of two-out RBI singles. Sue Leuthner knocked an RBI single in the first inning and Amy Long hit an RBI single in the third inning.

Wilkes cut the Lycoming lead to one in the bottom of the third, but the Lady Warriors got a lucky break that resulted in an inningending double play killing the Wilkes rally.

With the bases loaded, Fisher hit a rocket up the middle that deflected off of Leuthner's glove at second base and bounced right to Long, the shortstop, who stepped on second base then threw to first to complete the double play.
