WILKES-BARRE, PENNSYLVANIA

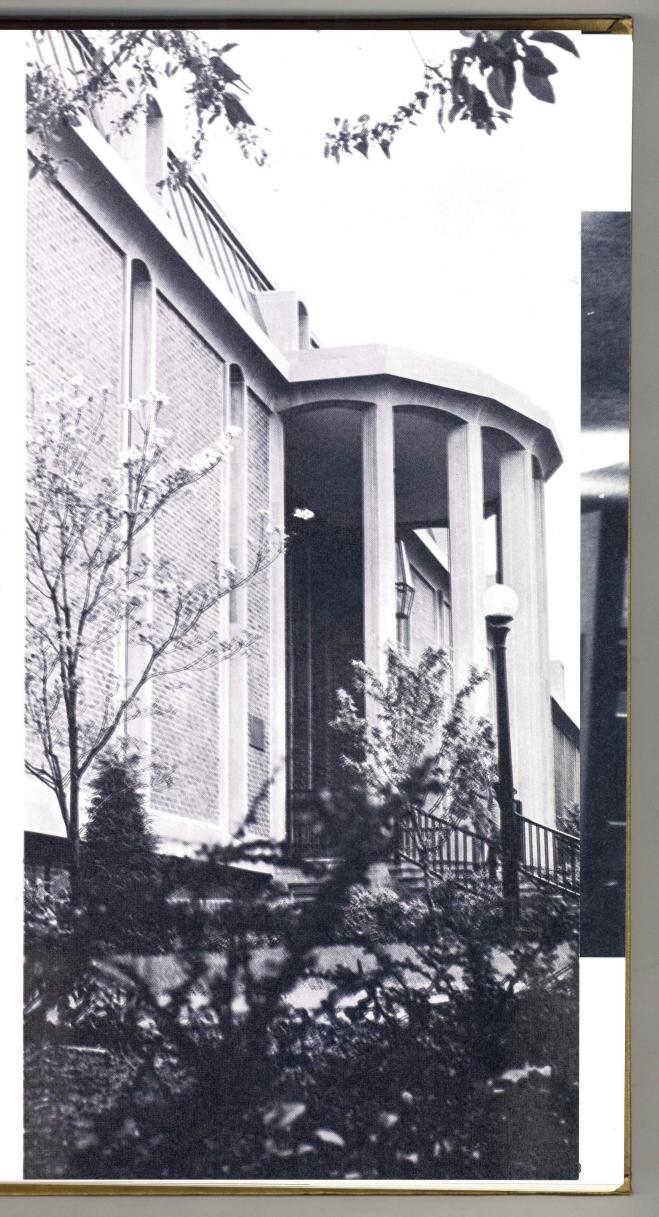

PROLOGUE

This is your 1970 Amnicola, to cherish and to keep. We on the Amnicola staff have honestly attempted to capture the few years you have spent at Wilkes College.

We trust that the Amnicola will act as a mirror, to reflect in some small way your experience at Wilkes. Hopefully it will even teach you something about yourself that you have never realized.

In this edition we have explored the attitudes of your fellow students and the moods which affect them in the environment on the campus of Wilkes College — the ecstasies, the dejections, the loves and the apathy.

DEDICATION

Every generation has its young men and women of idealism and vision with the courage to make a personal commitment. During this period of resurgence of idealism and social concern in students, it is most fitting that this AMNICOLA be dedicated to Eugene Farley.

The following letter written by Dr. Arnaud C. Marts expresses eloquently and simply the acceptance by Dr. Farley of the challenge to provide opportunity to young people for educational fulfillment:

Thank you for letting me share with the Wilkes College faculty in the gift and tribute you are preparing for Dr. Farley. He deserves our praise, our honor, our high esteem for what he is, and for what he has done for Wilkes College. I wish I could write a poem, but I am not a poet. I would like, however, to tell a favorite story about Gene, and though it may have been heard before, I believe it is an appropriate occasion for telling it again for I truly feel it reveals Dr. Farley's sterling character.

Why did Gene Farley come to Wilkes-Barre? When I was catapulted into the presidency of Bucknell University in 1935, I quickly learned that I was President also of a college, 65 miles away in Wilkes-Barre, a Bucknell Junior College. This junior college had been started by my predecessor at the earnest request of a group of high school principals of the Wyoming Valley who were saddened by the plight of their graduates, excellent college material who could not go on to college because of the deep depression and the unemployment of that period.

The junior college was thriving, overcrowded by eager students who were being given regular college work under the Bucknell charter by Bucknell professors. But a strong capable leader was needed and my seeking such a man brought me to the Dean of Education of the University of Pennsylvania, and following discussion of my problem, he told me of the ablest graduate student he had ever had—Eugene Farley, a Quaker, who was then on the staff of the Superintendent of Schools of Newark, New Jersey.

I lost no time in telephoning Eugene Farley and inviting him to meet me in Wilkes-Barre. He came vith his gracious, lovely wife, Eleanor. We visited the Junior College, discussed the situation, and I was greatly impressed with this young, animated charming couple. I offered the position of Director of Bucknell Junior College to Eugene Farley.

With good feelings and much hope, I returned to my desk at Bucknell, Lewisburg. I waited a few days, then telephoned Dr. Farley at Newark as I was eager to hear his decision. This was his reply. "After you left for Lewisburg, I stayed over in Wilkes-Barre for two more days, walked about the square, talked with several merchants, bankers and other persons. They all advised me not to take the job. This was their response to my question—why? Because Wilkes-Barre is licked, we have no future. The anthracite industry has no future. We advise our own sons to go elsewhere for their career, we advise you to do the same. Your whole career is before you, go elsewhere, this city will destroy you."

After a few minutes of listening, discouragingly I might add, I asked Farley what he had decided. Here is his reply, which reveals the whole spirit of Eugene Farley's life and career. "I will accept the position of Director of the Junior College." He added, "I am not looking for an easy job. I want a job that NEEDS TO BE DONE. This is one that will be a blessing to generations of ambitious young men and women. When shall I begin?"

It gives me pleasure to tell this story of Gene Farley on this occasion so that his friends who know very well the results of his lifetime of service to the College may also know the secret motivation of his decision 35 years ago.

May God bless Gene Farley, and may health and happiness be with him in the years ahead. With admiration and warm affection for the man I am proud and privileged to know

Sincerely,

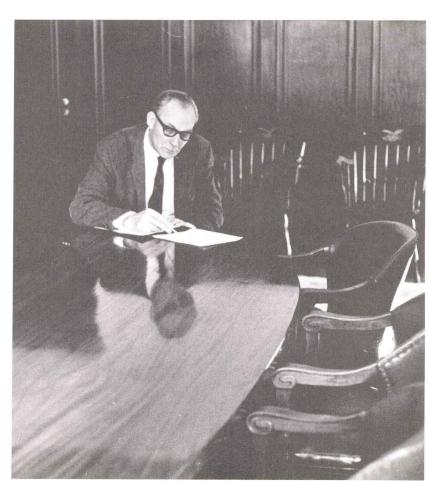

Arnaud C. Marts

If each Wilkes graduate seeks as his or her life's work, not the "easy job," but the job that "needs to be done," then truly Dr. Farley's dreams for young people will have been realized.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO THE CLASS OF 1970

You were born in revolutionary times; you have grown up in the midst of revolutionary change; and you now move into a world that is immersed in the climactic period of this continuing revolution. This is a period in which the revolution of change reaches into the hearts and minds of men causing them to examine and question long-accepted conditions and traditions.

This questioning search is the inevitable consequence of changes in our way of life wrought by science and technology. The changes of the past three decades have been so drastic that every facet of our lives has been affected. And these effects have been more widespread and deeper than most of us realize. Because of the magnitude of these changes, we are now compelled to consider their effect upon us or to risk the possible dehumanization of mankind.

Within three decades, communication has become instant, travel at the speed of sound has become commonplace, population growth has become so rapid as to jeopardize our future well-being. In the midst of these radical changes, we sometimes fail to make corresponding changes in our thinking, our values, our practices, and our institutions. Instead of recognizing the human problems resulting from material change, we cling blindly to past practices and by so doing we allow the tides of change to erode established institutions and long-accepted ideals.

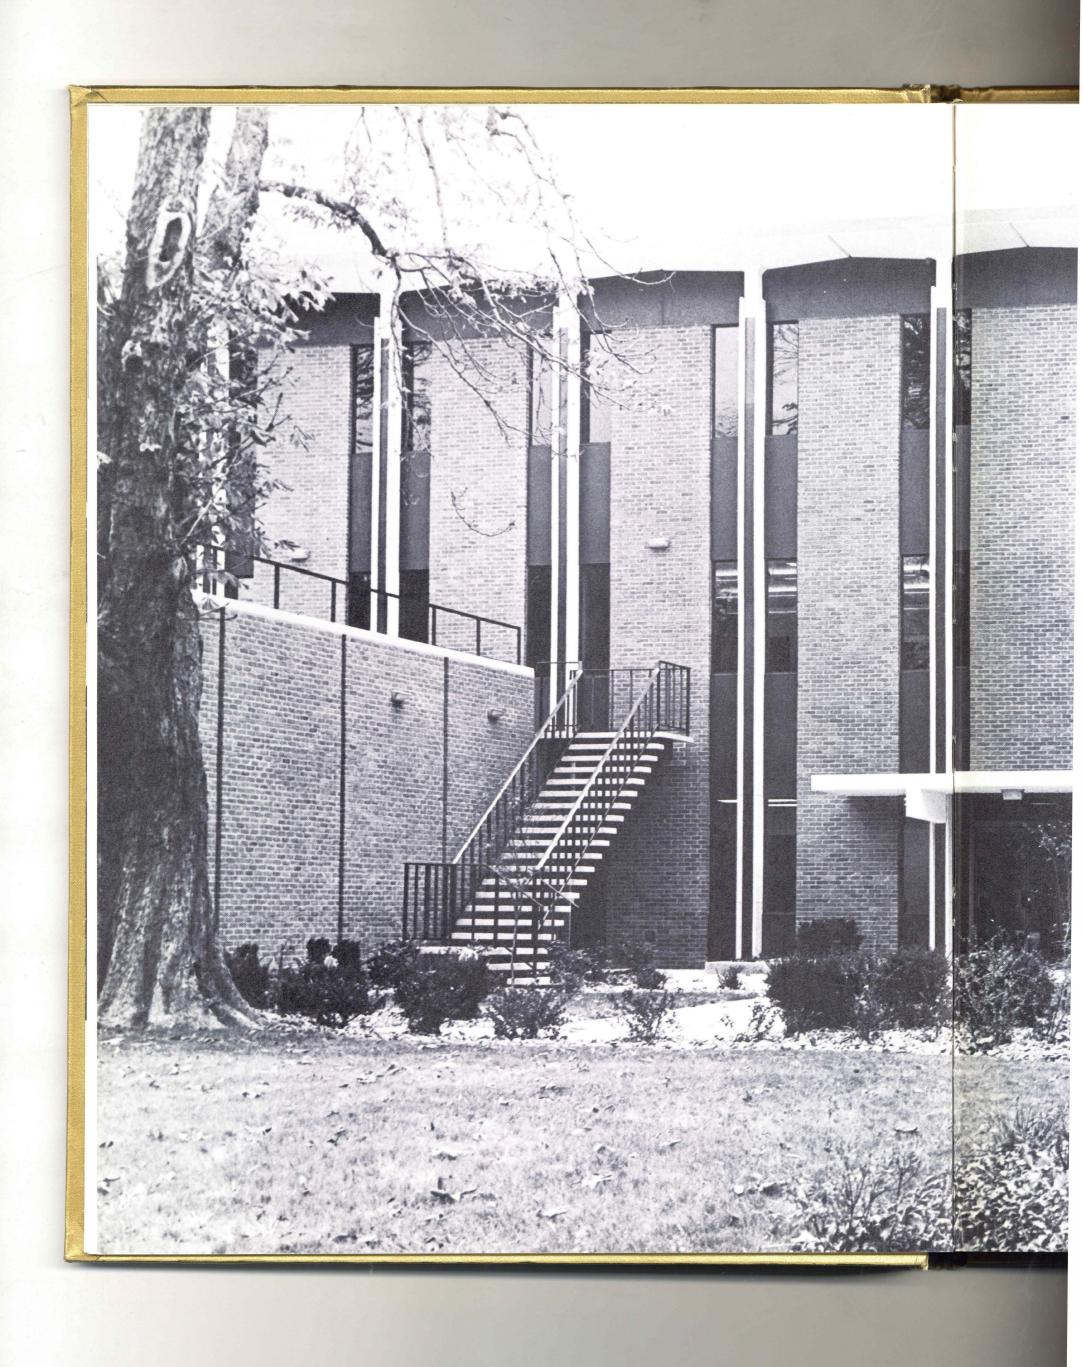

To preserve the best of our heritage, we must now evaluate all of our ideals and institutions. Failure to do so can lead to personal and social tragedy. Radicals of the left or the right are ever ready to offer rigid ideologies that will restrict or destroy the force of great ideals and the strength of great institutions. These radicals would resolve our problems and our doubts by petrifying our society. They would deny man the right to adapt his institutions to the changing needs of man in a changing society.

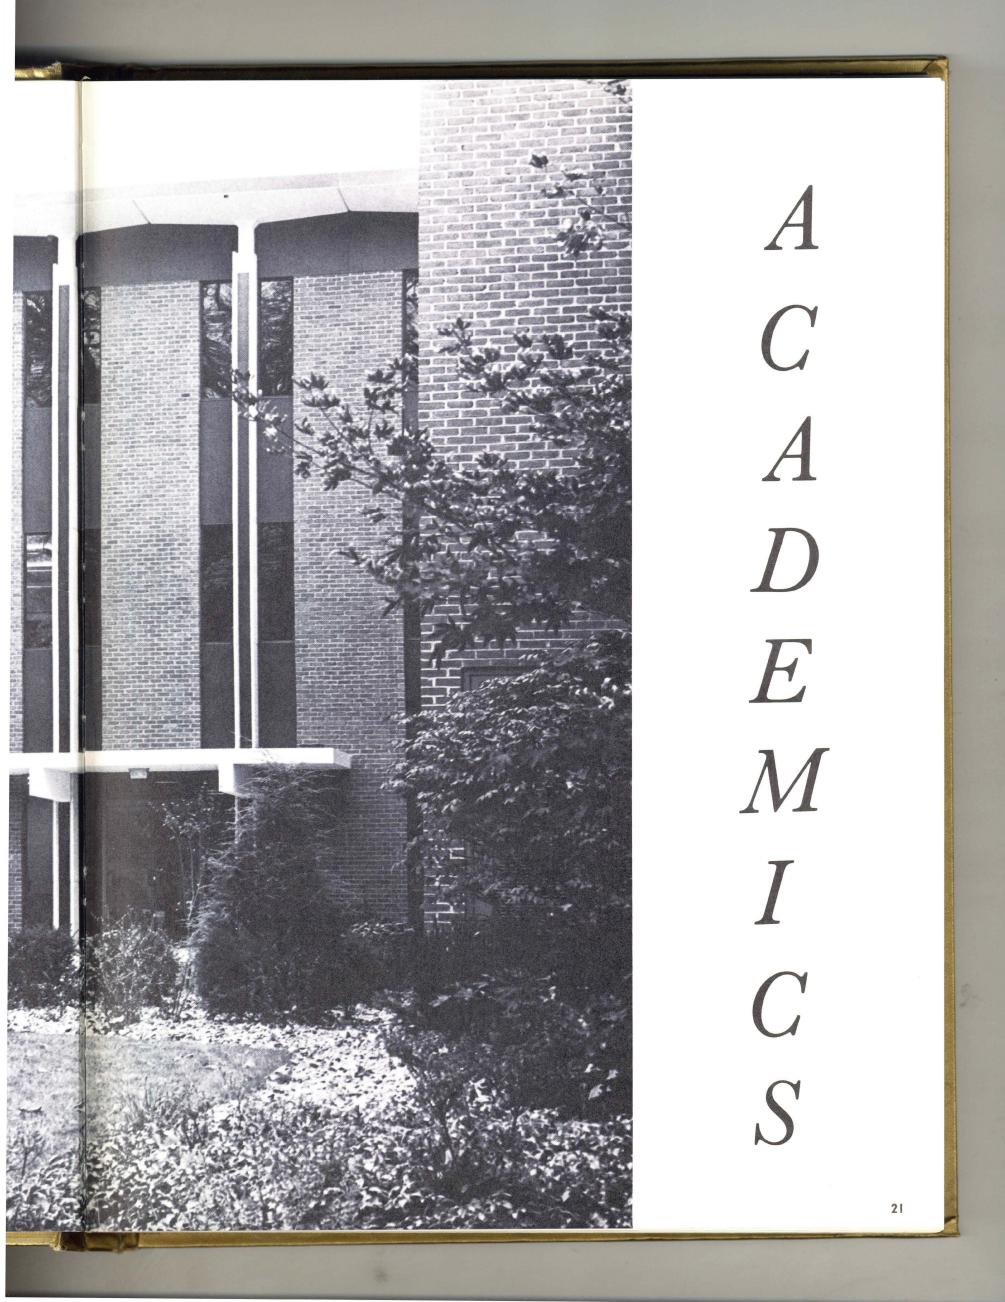

In this, my last message to a graduating class, I center attention upon the nature of the revolutionary period in which we live. I implore you to search for understanding and to avoid ready-made answers as you grapple with the problems of our modern civilization.

May you involve yourselves to the full in the search for constructive answers to the pressing problems that now confront you and all that will confront you for the rest of your lives. May you never let cynicism destroy the faith that is essential to all great attainments.

In saying goodbye to you, I wish you happiness, constructive involvement, and success. You are among the long chain of students who have encouraged and sustained me, and to all of you I am grateful.

Each year, Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities recognizes students from approximately 800 institutions.

In making their selections, college nominating committees consider the student's scholarship participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship and service to the school, and future promise.

The organization awards each member a certificate of recognition and provides a placement service to assist members seeking employment, scholarships, or fellowships.

Pictured on the following pages are those from Wilkes College who have attained this honor.

Absent when the photographs were taken were: Anne Aimetti, William Bennett, Sandra Cardoni Timko, George Conway, Joanne Levandowski, and Russ Williams.

Contrary to the beliefs of many, the 240 page publication you are now reading has been created by only 15 individuals from a student body of 2,500.

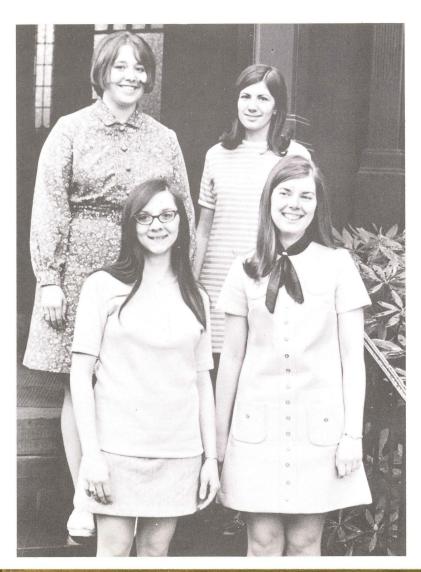

One can only imagine the work that has been done by so few to please so many.

The "AMNICOLA" wishes to apologize for the obvious lack of descriptions and accounts of the various activities of the clubs and organizations of Wilkes College. But the fault lies not in the staff's writing ability, nor the lack of competent reporters to present you with the information that usually accompanies the "AMNICOLA."

The actions, rather the total lack of such, of Wilkes College clubs this past year made the campus appear to be a dried-up vacuum. Cooperation, dedication, spirit, involvement all have disappeared from the Wilkes College vocabulary. In a revolutionary time such as now, when new ideals and idealists are fighting for recognition, when bucking the system is the normative action for the day, Wilkes activities are the first to go.

For the few of you who read this article, think about what has been done. Social, political, educational activities, in the past so meaningful and valuable, have been cast aside. But still they have not lost their characteristics, for these activities are as important to the development of the total college student as are any demonstrations on the war or open-housing or inflation. Even those events that some consider totally inane, completely wasteful, hold in them a feeling of brotherhood, of a sharing of mutually beneficial and exciting times.

No, the "AMNICOLA" should rightfully not apologize, but rather express its sympathies for the many of you that have cheated yourselves out of memories and experiences that can be had only once. But these activities are the ones a person can never forget.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

On September 8th, the members of the Class of 1973 began their orientation to Wilkes. This class, the largest in Wilkes history, spent the week becoming acquainted with the campus and its facilities. The highlight of the week's activities was the annual President's Luncheon and a welcome address given by Dr. Farley. The Freshman picnic ended the week with an introduction to cheers and hazing.

Hazing and classes started at the same time with be"dinked" and "labeled" Frosh wandering around campus.
The time-honored institution of hazing was enthusiastically supported by the upperclassmen, at times much to the despair of the poor newcomers. Despite their fears, the Class of '73 survived with the cry: "Watch out next year!"

HOMECOMING

Wilkes College Homecoming activities were kicked off by the All-College Bonfire on Friday evening, October 24th. The bonfire; which was held at Ralston Field, was preceded by a car caravan and a parade. The Homecoming Concert featured Jay and the Americans; the Classics IV also shared the billing. Both groups provided excellent entertainment.

The soccer game was held Saturday morning. Wilkes proved to be tough competition by keeping Madison F.D.U. from scoring. The game ended up 0-0.

At 1:30 that afternoon the Colonels of Wilkes College played the Dickinson Daredevils at Ralston Field. The final score for the football game was 49-0 in favor of Wilkes.

At half-time Dr. Farley crowned the Homecoming Queen and her court. Miss Donna-Su Brown reigned as Queen with her two Princesses Cynthia Wodraska and Ann Barnes. Trophies were also presented for the three best Homecoming displays on campus.

To mark the end of a victorious day, a dinner-dance was held at the Holiday Inn. Music was provided by The Aces.

The Alumni of Wilkes College also had Homecoming activities planned. They held class reunions, alumni dances, and other various events on Saturday night.

GOLDEN AGERS' PARTY

WINTER

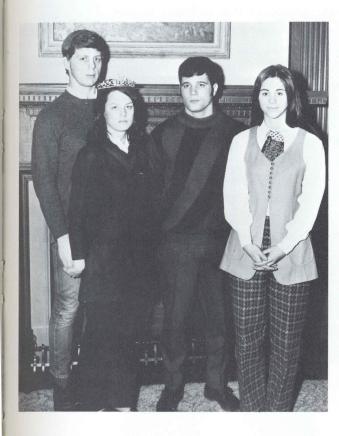

A day of skiing at Camelback Ski Lodge marked the beginning of the annual Wilkes College Winter Carnival on January 22. Following a day of outdoor sports, the students attended a party at the Brother's Four Restaurant where the "We Two" entertained. To highlight the evening, Miss Sally Donoho was crowned Winter Carnival Queen by David Hoffman, the chairman of the Social Events Committee. Miss Donoho's court included Princess Dolores Dragonchuck. Miss Dragonchuck was escorted by Dave Hoffman, while Tom Grant was Miss Donoho's escort for the mid-semester affair.

CARNIVAL

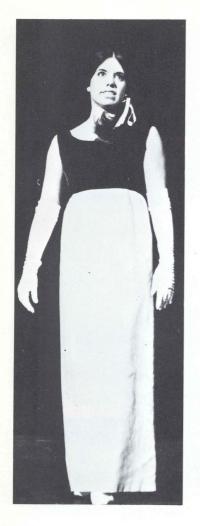

BEST DRESSED CO.

This contest, sponsored by Glamour magazine, is to choose ten national finalists from all the colleges and universities in the U.S. and Canada. The winner of the contest at Wilkes was entered in this national contest. The twelve finalists at Wilkes were chosen by a vote held in the Commons and were as follows: Ann Aimetti, Paula Cardias, Ellen Daney, Barbara Gonzales, Carol Gorstka, Lynn Levey, Wendy Roth, Charlotte Stempleski, Sandy Walters, Janice Zamos, Susan Wenning and Mary Ann Hvozda. The judges were Misses Judith Kravitz, Leota Nevil, Kathy Kopetchne, Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Lekstrom, Jay Goldstein, Dan Kopen, George Conway, Tom Grant, David Hoffman and Mr. Richard Chapline.

On Sunday, February 8, 1970, the final judging took place in the Center for Performing Arts. Miss Susan Wenning was chosen Best Dressed Co-ed and Miss Ellen Daney was chosen first runner-up, Their escorts were Denny Brew and Harry Hoover.

The qualifications for the contest were poise, general good grooming, and tastefulness in selection. The contestants modeled two outfits, a campus ensemble and an evening dress, each selected solely from their own wardrobe.

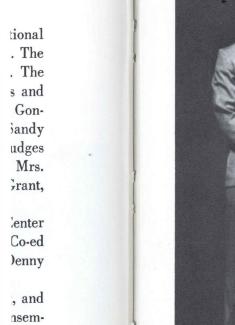

SSED

VALENTINE FORMAL

Theta Delta Rho's Valentine Formal was held at Gus Genetti's Hotel with the theme "Cupid's Capers." The highlight of the affair was the crowning of the Valentine Queen, Miss Jessica Maher. The crowning was done by Sandy Timko, who reigned as queen the previous year.

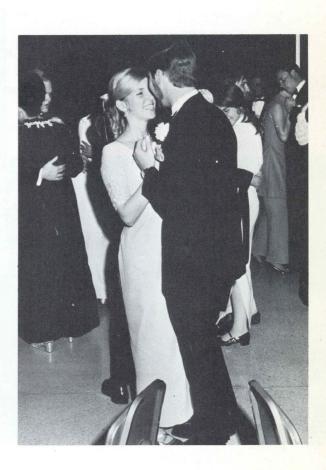

LETTERMEN'S FORMAL

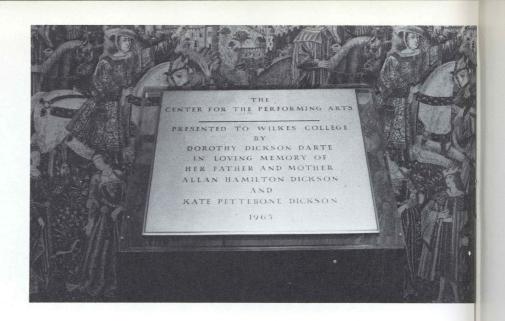

Dining, dancing, and singing set the scene for the annual dinner-dance sponsored by the Lettermen's Club. After dinner entertainment was provided by a singing barbershop group and music for dancing was provided by "The Fantastics." During the night Dean George Ralston led the Lettermen in the traditional Christmas singing. This event, held at the Holiday Inn, proved to be a festive occasion for all who attended.

MUSIC BUILDING

Friday, April 10, marked the dedication of the new music building at Wilkes College. The building, an addition to the Center for Performing Arts, was named in honor of the late Dorothy Dickson Darte, member of a pioneer Wyoming Valley family and a member of the Wilkes College Board of Trustees until her death on July 2, 1969.

Attendance at the dedication was composed of friends of Wilkes, faculty members, administration, trustees, and the student body.

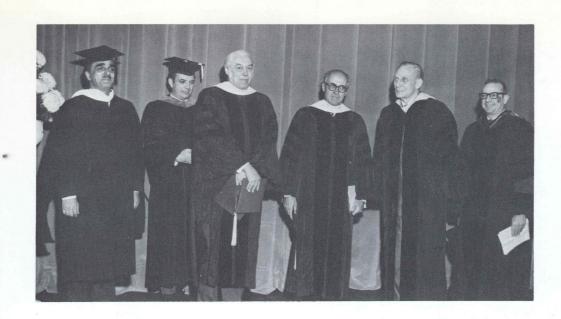

Ceremonies began in the CPA, where the principal speaker, Theodore L. Hazlett, Jr., congratulated Wilkes on its new building. Mr. Hazlett is the chairman of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Council on the Arts. Another guest speaker was Boris Sokoloff, manager of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Both Mr. Hazlett and Mr. Sokoloff were awarded honorary degrees of Doctor of Humane Letters by Dr. Francis J. Michelini, Dean of Academic Affairs. They were hooded by Dr. Ralph Rozelle, head of the graduate division, and William Gasbarro, chairman of the Department of Music.

Music presentations were rendered at the dedication by Wilkes College students.

DEDICATION

The new Dorothy Dickson Darte Hall seats 500 in its recital auditorium and also includes a band rehearsal room, 15 private studios, a music library, a practice room, a chorus room, and classrooms.

EASTERN COLLEGE

Representatives from 300 colleges and universities took part in the 24th Annual Eastern College Science Conference, held this year on the Wilkes College campus. Delegates presented scientific papers in the areas of biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics, and social science.

Highlighting the event were the lecture sessions of Dr. Gerhard Dessauer, a noted nuclear physicist, and of Dr. Ernst Stuhlinger, the Associate Director for Science of NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center.

Local industrial leaders had tours for the delegates. In addition, the ECSC Exposition provided for those in attendance to see the latest in scientific wares and services.

The Wilkes College Concert Band provided a break in the routine scheduling with musical entertainment for the guests.

HAMPTON WEEKEND

The tradition of student intervisitation between Wilkes and Hampton Colleges continued this year as twelve undergraduates from Hampton Institute, Virginia, came to Wilkes to take part in the 15th annual Wilkes-Hampton Exchange. The exchange program originated in 1955 by the cooperation of Dean Ralston of Wilkes and Dean Hawkins of Hampton with its goal as the furtherance of understanding between the individual students and the maintenance of a meaningful relationship between the colleges.

The students participated in activities which included a visit to the Stegmaier Brewery, a party at the Brothers Four, an outing at Dr. Farley's farm, a dinner at King's Inn, and optional attendance of classes.

To complete the exchange, the students from Wilkes who acted as hosts visited the Virginia campus to engage in similar activities.

"The theatre is not a state of mind, but the response of the audience." Working with such an objective, Wilkes College's Cue and Curtain Club presented its first production of the 1969-1970 year. "Five in Workshop" consisted of the following programs:

"The Wild Duck" by Ibsen, which included Michael Gallagher as Hjalmar, Marlene Augustine as Gina, Helen Lewis as Hedvig, Joseph Urban as Gregers, and Theodore Moss as Dr. Relling.

"Stage Door" by Ferber and Kaufman, which included Elaine Watson as Terry, Na Kyung Lee as Madeline, and Anne Barnes as the narrator.

"Dr. Faustus" by Christopher Marlowe, which included Dennis English as Faustus and Peter Belin as Mephistophilis.

"Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" by Williams, which included Debbie Dunleavy as Maggie, Robert Sampson as Brick, and Jeff Davidowitz as Buster.

"The Secret Life of Walter Mitty" by James Thurber, which included Joseph Vojtko as Walter Mitty, Rita Singer as Mrs. Mitty, and Felix Wawer, Ben Lodeski, Daniel Reese in the Dream Sequence.

STUDENT PLAYS

An insane asylum, a workhouse ward, and an empty stage set the scenes for three student-directed one-acts presented by Wilkes College. Each play was selected, cast, and rehearsed by a student director. This venture into experimental theatre enables students to gain experience in directing shows and gives opportunity for those involved to learn to carry out directions and suggestions.

Opening the triple-billing was the short play "Workhouse Ward" by Lady Gregory, directed by Dennis English. The plot is based on the hidden friendship of two men who have been placed in a workhouse in Ireland. Though they seemingly hate each other, their fights really cover a strong bond of friendship, which is revealed when one of the men must leave the ward. The cast, though small, was consistently strong. Debby Chandler played Mrs. Donohue, a sister to one of the men. Elliot

Rosenbaum and Joe Vojtko portrayed the two Irish paupers.

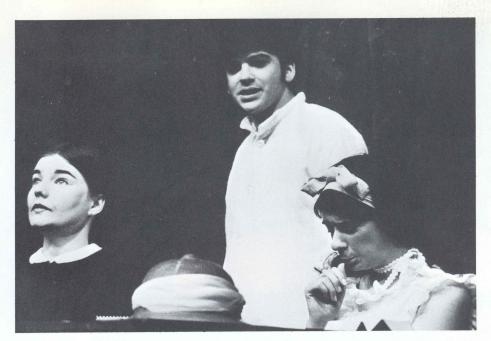

The second play, "Impromtu" by Tad Mosel, was directed by Bob Hartzel. The four characters involved are placed on an empty stage and are forced to improvise a play. Their contrasting personalities prove to invent and dissolve familiar problems. The members of the cast were Molly Jaciewicz, Eileen Rex, Bob Sampson, and Al Adolfsen.

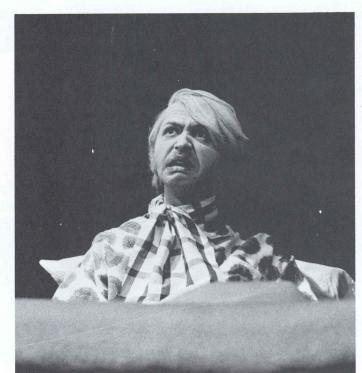

The last play, "Chamber Music" by Arthur Kopit, took place in an insane asylum. Miss Rita Singer directed this structurally complex oneact. Unusual circumstances, illusions of grandeur and insane logic, and humor brought the comedy to a tragic conclusion. The bizzare cast consisted of Judy Fried, Sandra Yucas, Nancy Haldeman, Marlene Augustine, Judith Sanger, Cynthia Lewis, Ella McNamara, Debbie Dunleavy, Elliot J. Stahler, and Joe Vojtko.

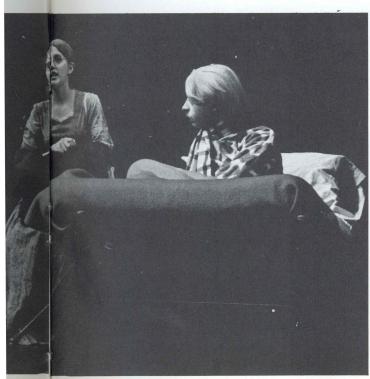

SPRING

Spring Weekend 1970 began this year with the annual Cinderella Ball, which was held at the Treadway Inn. Music was provided by the Gene Dempsey Orchestra, and beach towels were given as favors to all couples who attended. Adding excitement to the evening was the coronation of the Cinderella Queen, Miss Barbara Sullivan, at the stroke of midnight. Miss Bonnie Gill was named as runnerup to the Queen.

The music department presented "The Mighty Casey," an opera, as its contribution to the weekend.

The entire festival was closed with a concert. Among the performers were "The Canned Heat," "The Rhinoceros," and "The Citations."

For the Wilkes Colonel gridsters, the 1969 season was a campaign filled with mixed emotions. The sorrow came on October 18th when the Colonel's 32-game winning streak came to an end on a cold, barren field at Ithaca, New York. Thus ended one of the major success stories during the first one hundred years of collegiate football. From October 16, 1965 to October 18, 1969 the Wilkes College Colonels accomplished an amazing feat that only two other schools in College Division history have ever been able to better win 32 consecutive games!!!

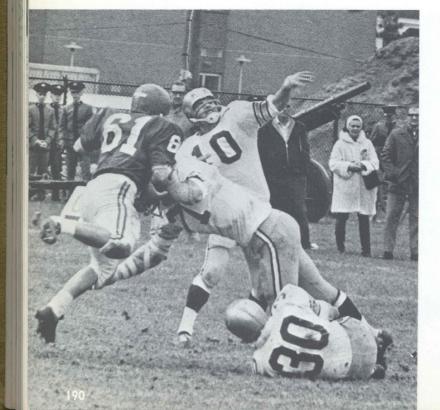

FOOTBALL

But the "Gold Machine" was even maganimous in defeat. Coach Roland Schmidt described the 1969 squad as "the greatest bunch of players that I have ever coached." Few could disagree, especially considering the two major obstacles that confronted them at the season's beginning.

The first cause for concern was the loss of 15 starters via June graduation. The defensive alignment had to be almost entirely rebuilt as only two regulars remained from the prior season. The second obstacle cropped up at the Middle Atlantic Conference meeting in June. For the first time in history the college had exceeded the maximum male population and Wilkes College freshmen would be barred from varsity competition against conference opponents during the upcoming season.

Schmidt's ability as the "Gold Machine" rambled over Lycoming College, 34-13. The next opponent was somewhat stingier, but the Colonels eked out a 6-0 win over Moravian College and their 31st victory in a row. Delaware Valley has in recent years proven to be the biggest football rival for Wilkes College, and this year gave stiff competition. The contest however, was completely in the hands of split-end Bill Lazor as he caught nine passes for 158 yards and broke two single-game reception marks. At the final gun, the Golden Horde had its 32nd win and a 27-10 victory.

Doomsday came one week later when a determined Ithaca team shocked the Schmidtmen with two quick scores and turned in a strong defensive showing to derail the Colonel's victory train. It was a frustrating afternoon as the Blue and Gold had several golden opportunities but were repeatedly thwarted by Father Luck. It was a dismal 13-7 score that faced the Colonel's as they left the field in the wake of their first loss in 33 games.

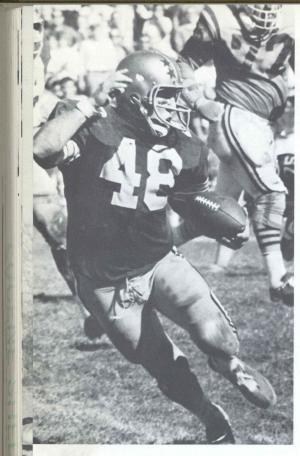

The reality of the defeat sunk in quickly, and everyone realized that the mighty "Gold Machine" was still that. The University of Vermont came to Ralston Field the next week, and on the strength of scoring over 100 points in their past three outings, expected to make easy work of the "defeated" Colonels. But the Colonels spirit rose to the occasion, forced the "Catamonts" into numerous errors, and utimately won the game, 17-7. As Coach Schmidt had told his troops, "If you won't be beaten, you can't be beaten."

Joe Zakowski, senior quarterback, was the star in the Homecoming victory over Dickinson, 49-0. The stellar signal-caller became the first player in Wilkes history to ever crack the 2,000-yard mark, as he rolled up 2,126 offensive yards.

The agony of defeat

Dave Kaschak in one of his thrilling punt returns.

PMC was the next Colonel victim, in a stunning 34-0 victory. The win gave the Colonels their unprecedented fifth Middle Atlantic Conference football championship, and "mini-back" Ted Yeager recorded a major milestone in only his second year of a probable four year career. The littlest Colonel extended his career rushtotal to 1,276 yards, bettering the old four-year record of 1,286 yards set by Paul Purta between 1963-1966.

With the approaching end of the season came the Colonels biggest challenge, Indiana State University, Indiana, Pa. The school of 9,000 students of late had one of the most impressive college records in the country, and the battle of the state's Eastern and Western giants was set.

In victory, in defeat, the Colonels are still loved.

The 1969 soccer Colonels were faced with a monumental rebuilding program with the loss of many starters through graduation. Coming off a highly successful season, Coach Jim Nedoff was forced to go with inexperienced newcomers, but the obstacle turned into a blessing in disguise as the team recorded a 7-4-1 log. The only loss of the season by more than two goals was a 6-1 defeat at the hands of a powerful Philadelphia Textile squad in the early part of the campaign.

BASKETBALL

The 1969-1970 Colonel basketball team completed the year with a 14-8 record—their best since the 1957-1958 season and one of the best in Wilkes College basketball history. Led by senior Captain Herb Kemp, the Wilkesmen of Coach Ron Rainey provided their many fans with a well-played, exciting brand of ball that complimented their training in the fundamentals of quick and speedy play.

The Colonels opened the season with four straight road games, winning the opening two at Madison FDU and Ithaca and then dropping their next games to both Susquehanna and Philadelphia Pharmacy. After losing the home opener to Elizabethtown, Coach Ron Rainey's charges hit the rebound trail with victories over Drew, Lycoming, and a rematch with Susquehanna. Following a loss to Scranton, the Colonels broke off for the Christmas holiday. Their record at this point stood at 5-4 overall and 3-3 in the MAC.

Upon returning from the Christmas vacation, the Colonels were upset by Albright and then met a strong Philadelphia Textile. The game was never in doubt as Textile, this year's small College NCAA champs took an early lead and breezed to an 82-51 victory.

BEST SEASON SINCE 1957

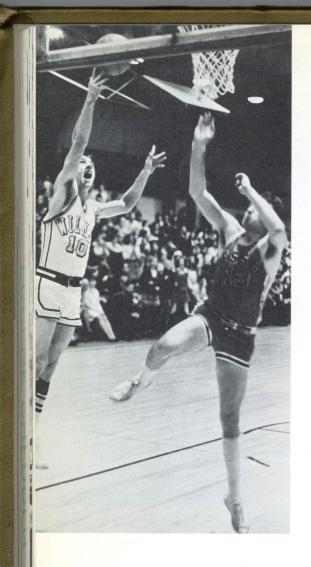

The Colonels opened the second semester with a loss at Delaware Valley, marking the low point of the season for the Wilkesmen as their record stood at 5-7 overall and 3-6 in the MAC. It was at this point that some Colonel basketball fans resigned themselves to another losing season. But as Coach Rainey later pointed out "Fortune and the schedule were with us." What ensued was one of the biggest success stories in Wilkes College basketball history.

Perenially tough East Stroudsburg was the next opponent, and they felt the brunt of the "miraculous" revival of the Colonel quintet. The Colonel's displayed quick and accurate ball handling and excellent shooting that led them to a 77-67 victory. But the pleasure of the victory was infinitesimal compared to the next game with Wagner College.

The "Seahawks" of Wagner came to the Franklin Street gym two nights later, bringing with them their superstar Ray Hoge, the leading scorer in the MAC. Never before had the Colonels beaten Wagner, and at the half, the "Hawks" led by 17 points.

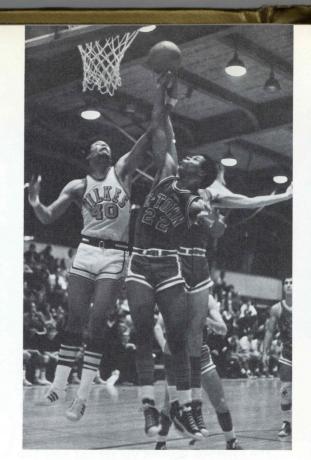

Kneeling: Captain Herb Kemp; Coach Ron Rainey. Standing: Frank Januzzi, Terry Jones, Bruce Brier, Charles Wetzel, Robert Ockenfuss, James Hanak, Richard Davis, David Kurosky, Walter Umbach, Jay Reimel.

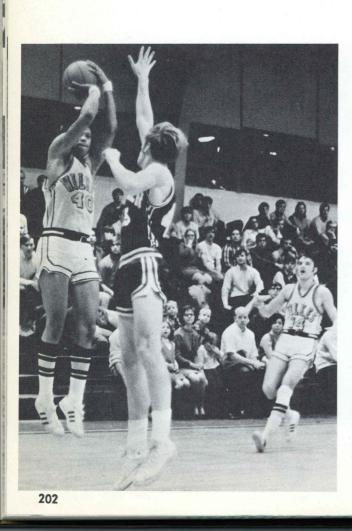

But Wilkes was not to be denied, and the Colonels went on to play the most exciting game ever played by a Wilkes basketball squad. Down by as much as 30 points with only 17 minutes remaining, the Colonels staged a fantastic comeback to tie the game with 10 minutes left.

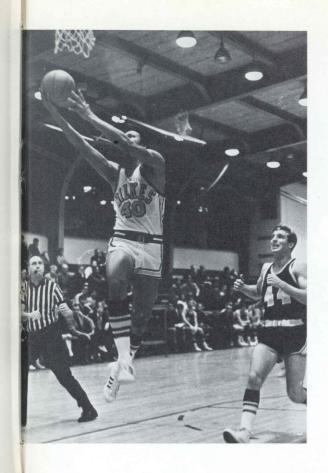

The game ended in an 82-82 dead-lock; the first overtime was also tied at 88-88. With 17 seconds remaining in the second overtime, Hoge lost the ball, the Colonels regained possession with the score knotted at 90-90. Wally Umbach then took the ball downcourt and made a goal with 3 seconds left and was fouled in the act of shooting. With Coach Rainey on his knees and the crowd wild with excitement, Wally sank both shots and the Colonels ended the game with their first victory over Wagner, 94-90.

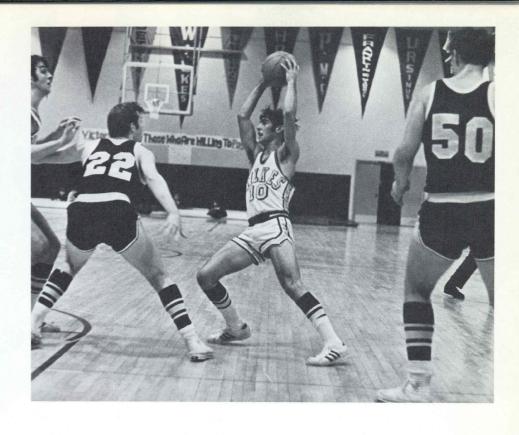

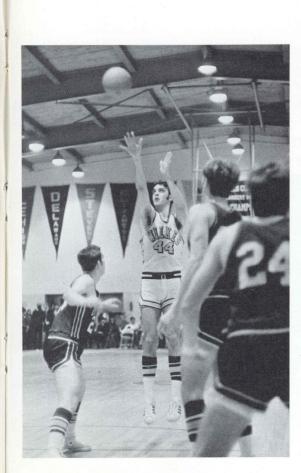

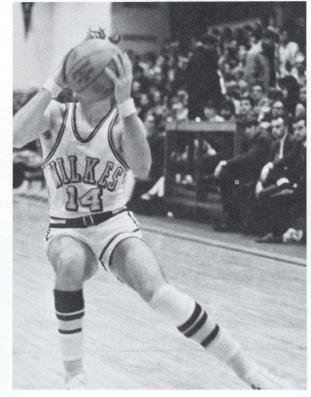

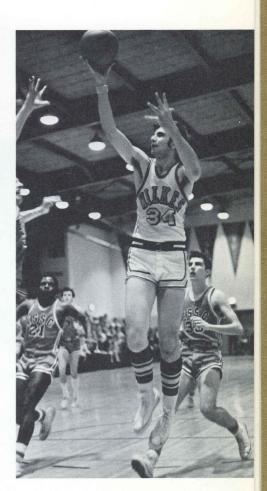

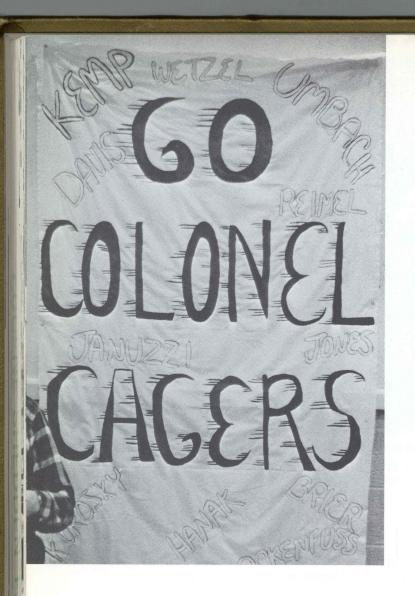

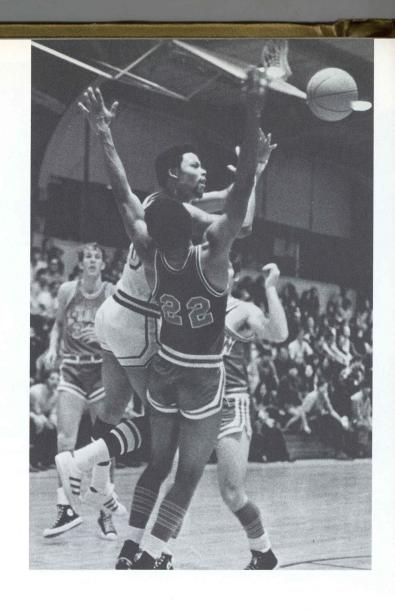

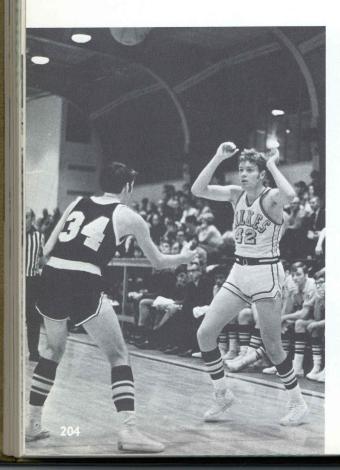

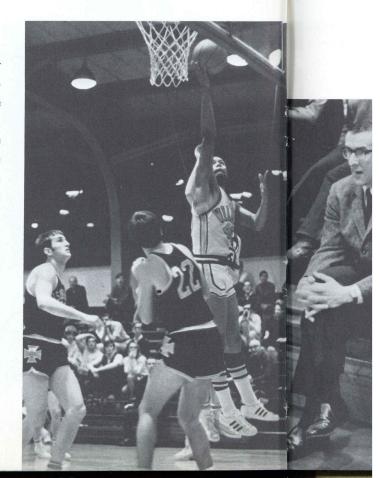

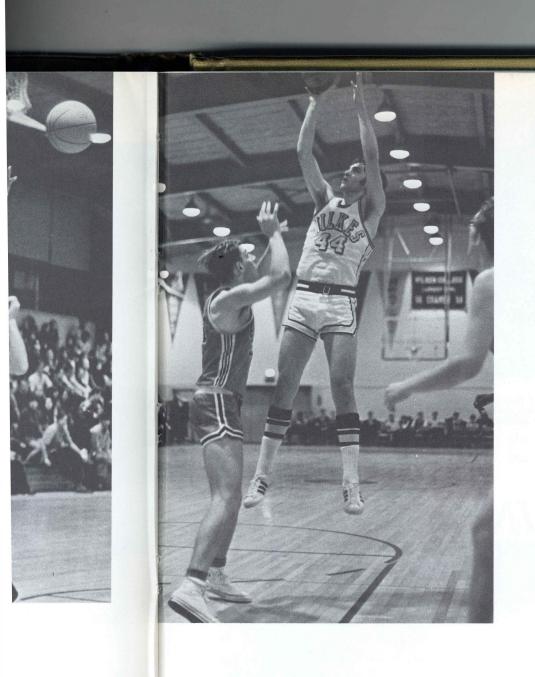

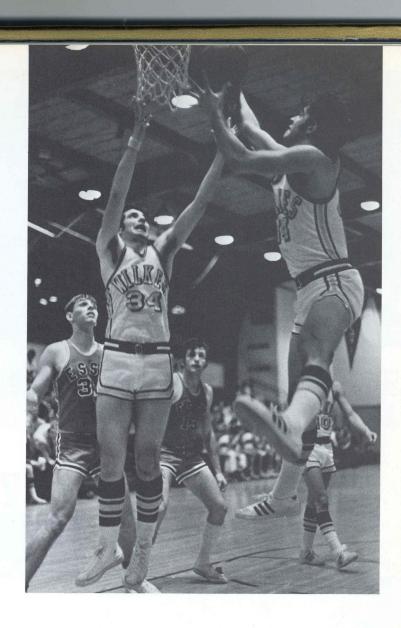

The momentum of the Wagner victory was broken temporarily with the Raineymen receiving a sound thrashing at the hands of Juniata, but the team rebounded with seven straight victories to finish the season at 14-8 overall and 9-7 in the MAC. Included in the streak were wins over Lycoming, Upsala, Harper, Moravian, Rutgers SJ, Lebanon Valley, and arch rival Scranton.

Wally Umbach, Rich Davis, and Herb Kemp were the top scorers on the squad with 18.5, 17.4, and 16.5 averages respectively.

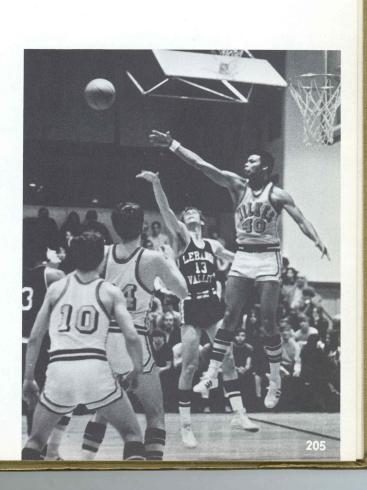

Highlights of the season were Kemp's 1000th career rebound and his 1000th career point, Wally Umbach's emergence into the 400 point club, and Jay Reimel's record shattering 216 assists.

WRESTLING

A ninth place finish in the NCAA College Division National Wrestling Tournament, total domination of the MAC Wrestling Tournament, a second and a third place champion in the Nationals, an individual record of 17 wins and one loss (with 14 of those wins by fall), the closing of the careers of two of the finest wrestlers ever to attend Wilkes College—this was the 1969-1970 Colonel Wrestling season, one of the most brilliant and totally satisfying campaigns for Head Coach John Reese.

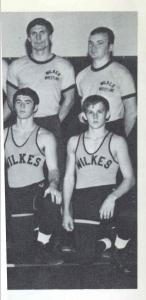

But the accomplishments of this year should be far outweighed by next year's squad, since the team will only lose four seniors. And the highly successful season record of 12-2 should also benefit next year with the return of an experienced and well-balanced squad.

The two combined hold such accomplishments as second, third, fourth, and fifth place finishes in the NCAA national tournament, Champions in the Wilkes Open, MAC tournament champs, nomination to the All-American Wrestling Team, and Outstanding Wrestler Award in this year's MAC Tournament. Andy's lifetime record was 42-5, while John finished with a 42-7-1 record, ample proof of the effectiveness and capability of both members of the dynamic duo, possibly the greatest wrestling team not only in Wilkes history, but throughout the entire MAC.

After pinning his first opponent in the National tournament, in which he suffered a wrist injury, Al suffered his first loss of the season in his final bout.

The 1970 MAC Wrestling Tournament was held at Wilkes College this year and the Colonels dominated the tourney like no team has ever done in the past. The division of the tournament into college and university sections reduced not only the amount of participating teams and individual wrestlers, but allowed the Reesemen to completely control the outcome of the tourney. The Colonels did so in fine style, accumulating 100 points as compared to second-place finisher Elizabethtown, with a total of only 64 points.

Wilkes had six individual champions; Andy Matviak (118), John Marfia (126), Steve Kaschenbach (150), Al Zellner (158), Rich Ceccoli (177), and Ron Fritts (190). John Marfia also was awarded the Outstanding Wrestler Award, by virtue of pinning his way to the championship. Co-captains Marfia and Matviak must again be complimented with the team's outstanding showing. As Coach Reese pointed out "the boys were ready and they were great." The two chief reasons why they were so prepared have to be their captains, for their services to both the team and the school were almost indescribable because of their fierce dedication to the team, the coach, and to Wilkes.

Although lack of depth is continually plaguing the mermen, it is hoped the return of experienced swimmers will lead the Colonels to one of their best seasons in a long time.

GOLF

One of the pleasant surprises of Wilkes College's 1969-1970 athletic season was provided by the Colonel Golf squad as the duffers posted a brilliant 8-3 record under first year mentor Roland Schmidt.

After opening the season with losses to Susquehanna and Bloomsburg in a triangular match, the Wilkesmen reeled off six straight triumphs before bowing to a strong Scranton squad late in the season.

The duffers finished sixth among a 23 field in the Middle Atlantic College Division Championships, their best showing in recent history.

The individual most responsible for the Wilkes surge was a 5-8, 128-lb. senior from Forty-Fort, Marty Monaghan. Chosen as the squad captain by his teammates, Monaghan came out of nowhere to card a 9-1-1 dual record. His only defeat came at the hands of Scranton's highly touted Andy Panko. Monaghan was the most consistent player on the team with his eleven 18 hole scores all ranging between 69 and 79. He tied for second place in the MAC tourney.

Coach Schmidt's further delight stems from the fact that only Monaghan will be lost via the graduation route.

The Wilkes College Tennis squad ended their season with a 5-5 record for an even .500 average. Led by Captain Bill Tarbart the Colonels opened the season with 6-3 victory over Scranton but then were defeated by Moravian and Ursinus in the next two matches. The Netmen then came back with wins over Bloomsburg, Susquehanna, Moravian and Albright while being defeated by Muhlenberg, Lycoming and Scranton.

Juniors Doug Valenteen and Jon Schiffman paced the Colonels by both compiling 7-3 records. Captain Bill Tarbart, a senior, ended the season with a respectable 5-5 record. The squad will lose three members via graduation, Dave Findora, Bruce Rankins and Bill Tarbart.

"Four yards and a cloud of dust," the battle cry of the 1970 version of the Wilkes baseball nine as they stole a record 72 bases in 17 games. This wholesale larceny greatly exceeded last year's talley, when the Wilkesmen led the nation with an average of 3.5 per game.

First year Coach Gene Domzalski made his initial season a highly successful one, posting an 11-6 mark. Up until the last week of the campaign the Colonels were once again in contention for the MAC crown, but for the second year in a row lost out to Upsala College.

This year's top batter was senior Rick Wetzel, his first and last season as a varsity outfielder. Even though sidelined part of the season with a leg injury, he managed to collect 13 hits in 32 official at bats, for a .406 average. Sophomore Ted Yeager found himself at season's end the fourth most successful base stealer in the nation in the College Division with 22 stolen bases, breaking the old Wilkes record by nine.

Carl Cook, another senior outfielder, closed out his four year career in explosive style, posting a .385 batting average and pacing his teammates in runs (18), hits (25), and triples (3). The latter two outputs established new individual records.

Senior Joe Zakowski ended his athletic career at Wilkes in fine style. The mighty southpaw hurled a 5-2 stint to bring his baseball career mark to 21 wins against only 7 losses, while striking out 135 batters in 226 innings.

Charlie Fick, senior first baseman also ended his career at Wilkes. The converted pitcher produced one of the top team batting averages, stroking the ball for a .311 season.

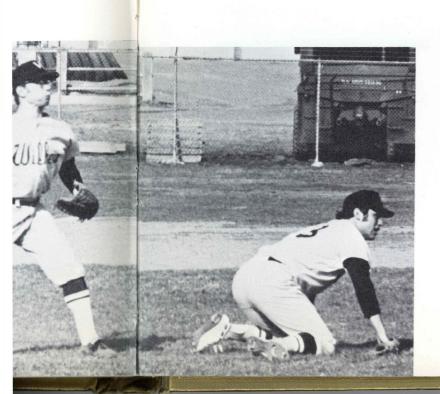

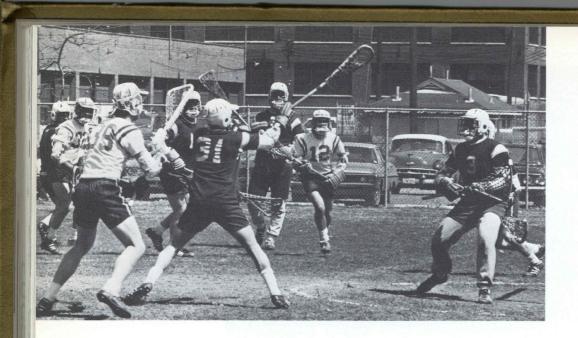

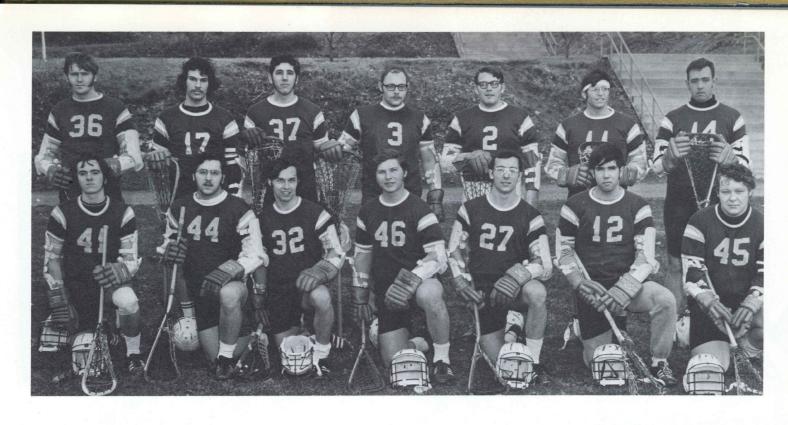

LACROSSE

1970 found the Wilkes College Lacrosse team entering its second season of inter-collegiate competition. The schedule, a far cry from the 1969 schedule of only three games, found the Colonels crossmen facing a season of six games.

With an exceptional turnout of candidates this year, Coach Jon Hobrock had 38 willing men with which to fill his roster. Fourteen seniors returned from last season along with several underclassmen to give the team some needed experience.

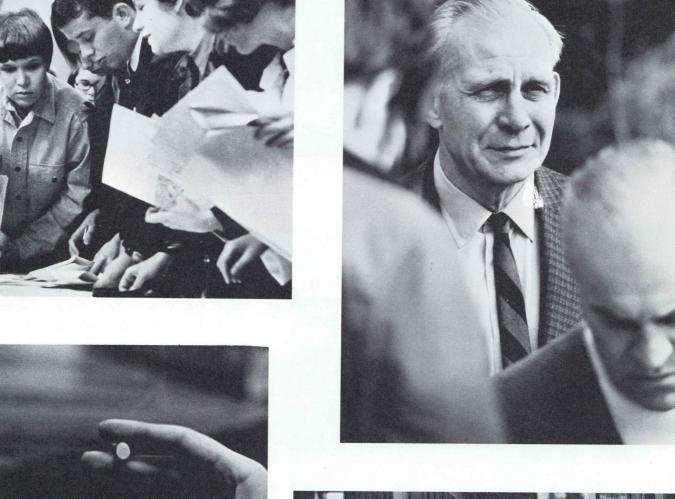

The first game found the team traveling to Kutztown where they defeated the Bears 7-5, in an exciting, hard-hitting match. The next game found the Colonels at their home field where an experienced Muhlenburg team handed them their first defeat of the season by a score of 11-2. Stevens was the next opponent and after a hard fought battle that saw the Wilkes crossmen coming from behind found them the losers by a score of 9-7. The Bears again came to Ralston Field for the fourth time in two seasons and went home defeated for the fourth time by a score of 10-2. Traveling to Franklin and Marshall for the fifth game, the Colonels crossmen found an experienced and tough Lacrosse team. The Colonels, after going all out the whole game, came out on the short side of the 24-4 score. The sixth game of the season was with Dickenson but due to the strike at the Dickenson campus, the game was cancelled.

The season for the crossmen, although not overly successful, provided them with much valuable experience which will be put to full use in the coming season.

Head Photographer, Jack Strinkoski

This page has been reserved to make special mention of those individuals who have been responsible for the photographic work in this edition of the AMNICOLA.

Thank you, Jack and Charlie, for a job "well-done."

Assistant Photographer, Charlie Abate

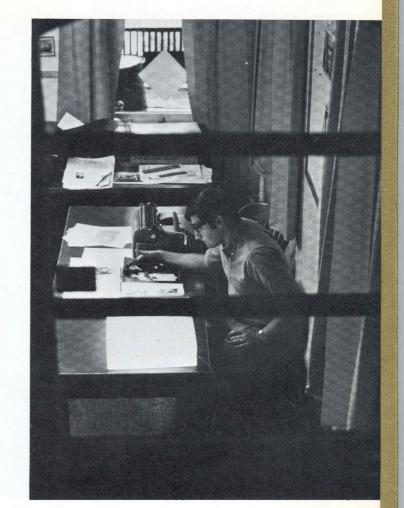

In the fall of 1969 when I was notified that I would be Editor of the 1970 Amnicola I was more than honored to accept that position for it was my job to produce an annual for a graduating class of over 525. Throughout the year problem after problem arose, but with the competent staff I had, everyone of those problems were overcome.

At this time I wish to make public those individuals for whose help I am so grateful.

I thank my wife Mary, ever so much for the long hours of work you devoted to this edition. I am most grateful for your patience and the assurance you have directed towards me.

Thank you Bill and Ron, for joining the staff during your ever-so-busy senior year and doing a fantastic job on the sports section.

Thank you Janice, for donating your valuable time in organizing and completing our new administration and faculty section.

Winning this year's award for the most difficult section to complete is the club section. Despite the problems given to us by the so-called "organizations" on campus, our club editor, Sue, came through it all and put together a fine-looking section of the yearbook. Thank you Sue.

In acknowledging thanks I must not forget Rita and Bobbie for compiling the long senior directory as well as your other work throughout the year. Also special thanks go out to a few newcomers to the staff who for the most part gave an all out effort throughout the year and did a fine job: Julie, Linda, Sylvia, Diana, and Paula. Good Luck next year to all of you!

Thank you Evelyn, Gail, and Faith from the Lazarus Portrait Studio for your fine cooperation throughout the year. I must thank both Mr. Lynott and Grace from Taylor Publishing Company for their most-appreciated assistance.

Special thanks to our new President, Dr. Michelini, for your services throughout the entire year, particularly in providing the 1970 AMNICOLA with a splendid dedication for a most deserving man.

And of course, Mr. Colson, for whom I will never forget your supreme efforts and outstanding service to the 1970 AMNICOLA. Thank you.

Thomas J. Cardillo

Editor-in-chief, AMNICOLA '70

EPILOGUE

The problems of campus unrest, the war in Southeast Asia, the draft, an inflationary economy, and pollution exist in the present, but the year 1970 as known to those of Wilkes College has become a thing of the past.

All that remains is memories — memories contained within Volume 24 of the Amnicola.

The preceding pages purport to act as a catalyst to activate one's personal recollections of Wilkes as it appeared in 1970.
