he great problems that confront the people of the world today are the joint products of man's genius and his weakness. By his genius he has reduced both distance and time and has brought men closer to one another; by his weakness he maintains and builds psychological barriers that separate men from their fellow men.

As the barriers of space and time have yielded to man's slow and patient conquest of his physical environment, so must the barriers between men yield to the painstaking search of enlightened minds. As man's control of his physical surroundings has awaited the release and development of his intelligence, so must man's control of himself await the release and nurturing of his spiritual powers. With an adequate measure of faith in one's self and one's neighbor, the barriers of prejudice and fear can slowly be disintegrated.

If the racial, religious and national divisions of our time are to be resolved the individual must assume greater responsibility for his acts and must be ever conscious that man responds in kind. Man reaps as he sows and good ultimately produces good.

It is my hope that in your years at Wilkes you have gained a staunch faith that men of intelligence and good will can resolve the seemingly insurmountable problems of our times.

FOREWORD

his has been a year crowded with memories, centered around desires, marked by significant events, smattered with confusion, designed to challenge the intellect. The mind is the "masterpiece of God" in which all thought and activities revolve. To lose it, the individual becomes the most destitute of creatures, to attempt to reach its potential is an impossibility.

Within this framework, truth, knowledge, attitude, character are formed at Wilkes. Studies, Sports, Clubs, Drama, Teas, Dances, all enter in the making of the mature individual. From the moment the freshman walks through the portals of Chase Hall, till the time he walks across the platform at the Gymnasium for his diploma, he is faced with conflicts, decisions, disillusionments, hopes, and fears.

Despite all these opposing forces, the individual with intellectual deliberateness conquers his fears, compromises his conflicts, stands firm by his decisions, and succeeds in dispelling his disillusionments.

The 1957 Amnicola hopes to recall to you the faces and happenings of the past year. It has been conceived as a mirror of the everydayness of college life. We hope you enjoy our presentation and return to it again and again as time progresses.

his is the era that will be known in history as the Atomic Age. Greatness and power are synonymous of the time. Man's attempt to conquer the elements of nature is rapidly becoming a reality.

The educated man has become the very breath of life to all ideologies, plans, and projects. Dreams and Ideals have materialized because of his desire to learn more and more about each minute detail which surrounds his everyday living. The thirst for knowledge has become a driving force. Yet this very same knowledge has done more to destroy that which it has taken centuries to build.

Here at Wilkes, the ultimate aim is also knowl-

When the student recognizes that the means do not justify the end, that those who know everything—know nothing, that individuality is more important than conformity—does he find himself on the path to knowledge.

The student achieves his goal by tempering justice with mercy, combining knowledge with wisdom, and assuming the element of doubt with the presented concrete facts.

ADMINISTRATION

ince its inception as a four year school in 1948, the growth of Wilkes College has been rapid but graceful. That the college has found within itself the capacity to expand both its physical plant and student body while maintaining its constantly high academic standards is a tribute to the foresight and careful planning of the administration.

Even more important to the student is the fact that his friendly relationship with members of the administration staff has not been altered. The doors of Chase Hall are always open to the student who feels the need to discuss the difficulties of progress. The efforts of the administration to serve people, however, go beyond the student body, into the community. Without the inspiration and hard work of the administration staff, it would be impossible for the college to participate so actively and with such success in the intellectual life of the Valley.

This year we have seen the skillful management of the college during a period of rapid growth. We feel confident that the judgment of our administrators is sound and that under their able guidance Wilkes College will prosper and play an ever increasing role in the community.

THE HUMANITIES

The heart of a liberal education is the humanities. Here students feel the pulse beats of the past. We are transported to another time, another place; we learn to appreciate the genius and psyche of all mankind. "To live with the humanities is indeed experience of the essential kind, since they take us beyond the local and accidental, at the same moment that lets us know how uniquely valuable place and time can be."

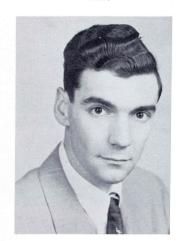

At Wilkes the humanities division encompasses those disciplines which embrace all of man's creative thought; English, foreign languages, art, mathematics, music, philosophy and religion.

In each of the fields of study, the primary purpose is to help the student to utilize the storehouse of knowledge found in the works of the great thinkers of the past and present.

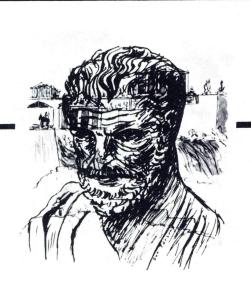

The aim of the college in presenting the humanities is not merely to acquaint the student with the genius of the past, but to make the humanities a useful art. All education is useful, and none more so than the kind that makes men free to possess their nature. These studies become discussion rooms and laboratories in the art of thinking, expressing, analyzing, and understanding man's place in this world. The humanities serve to interpret all of the complexities of living.

THE SCIENCES

ith man's first attempt to determine the why and the what of the natural world, science was born. Those ancient scientists of Egypt, Greece, and Rome established the present pattern for scientific research; observation, hypothesis, and examination.

This axiom has not been changed or altered here at Wilkes. The departments, however, not only rely on what has been proven in the past, but a combination of the past with the present. Basic laws have been disproven, because students of science found an element of doubt in that area. Here too, the sciences have found it necessary to open its doors to other sciences such as Psychology. At Wilkes the science department now includes chemistry, biology, physics, engineering, and psychology. The chief function of the department is to acquaint the novitiates with the laboratories, the drafting rooms, and to expound the basic tools uncovered by those great men of the past and the present, who have succeeded in wresting from nature her secrets.

Abstractions and theories are not science—they are part of the scientific method. And to study science is to obligate one's self to all men. To add to man's knowledge is only part of the obligation. The other side of this coin is to add, improve, and succor the world with all her needs.

an wonders at the restless seas, the majestic mountains, the enormousness of time and space, but of all wonders, man is the most wonderful. The field most centered around the individual is that of the Social Sciences. Ever since the very creation of man, his complexities and capabilities have shaped the world to suit his needs and wants.

The departments within the Social Science division range from Nursing Education where the vocation is care and physical aid, to Retailing Merchandising where the student learns the operation and procedures of management, sales, and the fine art of competition. Included within this vast field are economics, elementary and secondary education, history, sociology, business administration, secretarial, and accounting.

Students majoring in any of these subjects are not restricted to only classroom instruction. Much is learned from the extracurricular activities. The respective departments have constructed a balanced, complete curriculum which enables each student to acquire both the liberal background and the special training needed for each individual's goal. Both the studies and activities in this field have enabled its students to take their place in the world.

EVENING SCHOOL

The value of any college may be determined by the service the college performs for that community. The Evening Division of Wilkes has been, since the day of its inauguration, one of the school's outstanding contributions to the community. For those unable to attend the college during the day because of lack of time or because of their hours of employment, the Evening Division has performed an efficient and useful function.

Many of the 550 students of the evening school are working toward a degree. Without the facilities provided by Wilkes many of these students would be unable to complete their education. Now they can still maintain their jobs and earn the coveted degrees which they seek.

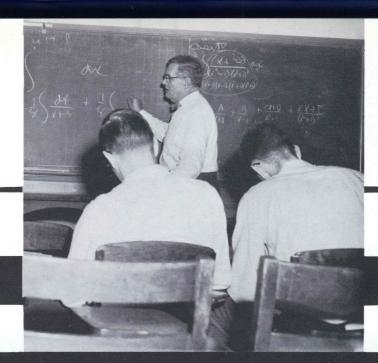

Because most of the students are working towards a degree, most of the courses offered in the evening school closely parallel those of the day school. With those who seek to broaden their knowledge or skill, the evening school has found another community need to be filled by the college. Those not seeking degrees may enjoy the advantages of many practical courses offered in the evening school.

Under the direction of Mr. Stanley Wasileski, the program of the Evening Division, is a practical demonstration of the close relationship between the college and the community.

or most Wilkes students Hollenback Hall is the first and last stop in their college career. The first stop is at the Guidance Center, located in Hollenback, where all incoming students must take aptitude tests. The last stop is at the Placement office, also in Hollenback, where seniors seek jobs.

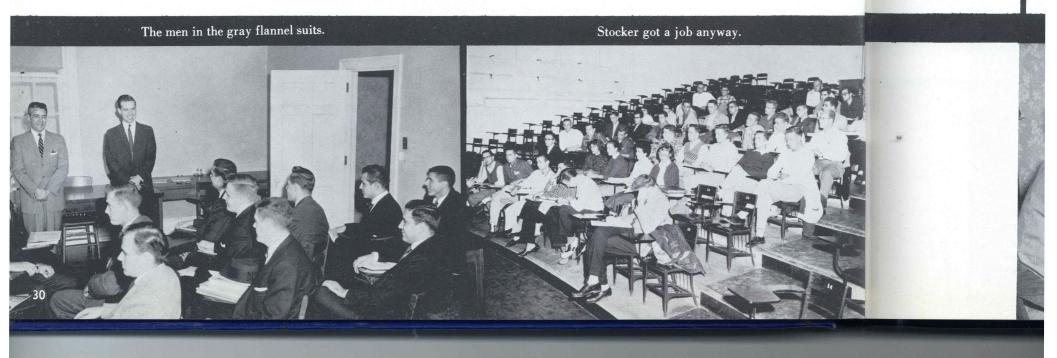

The Guidance Center is of help not only to freshmen in finding their aptitude and abilities but also to upperclassmen who may take batteries of tests to help them choose major fields or careers. The testing facilities of the Guidance Center are used not only by the college but also by many community institutions such as banks, hospitals, and those industries which require testing of personnel. The Guidance center also aids the State with its rehabilitation program for handicapped persons.

The Placement Office conducts a far reaching program to help graduates who seek employment and to students who desire part-time positions. Each year representatives of many industries, business firms, and school systems visit the campus to interview senior students.

taffed with many competent members, the Wilkes College Library continues to play an integral part in the education of all Wilkes students.

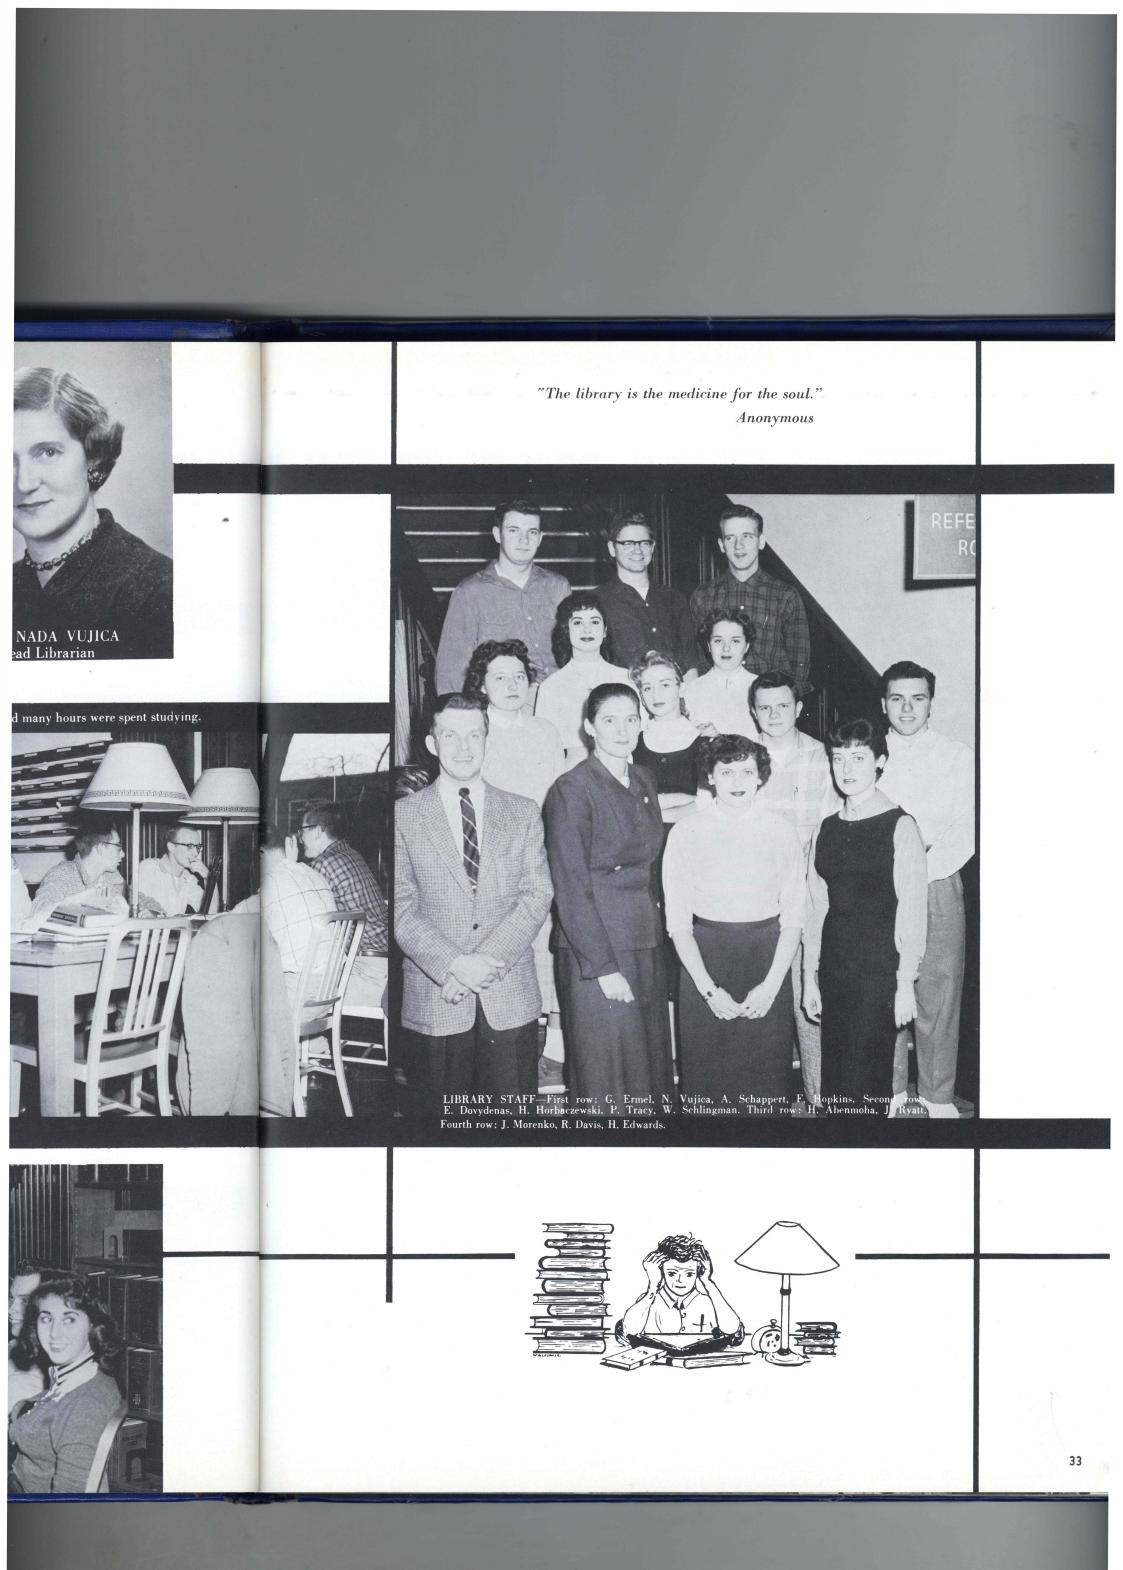

Due to the infinite number of books published each year, Mrs. Nada Vujica, head librarian, is confronted with the task of selecting and supplying the library with those books that would best supplement the students at Wilkes. She is assisted by Mr. George Ermel, Circulation and Reference Librarian, Mrs. G. Schappert, Cataloguing and Reference Librarian, and Miss Frances Hopkins, Secretary. With the aid of student assistants, the library maintains a seventy hour week throughout the year to insure the students of continual service.

he bookstore, the gathering place for knowledge second only to the classroom, is where we have the pleasure of socializing while obtaining books that will lead us to greater heights. Students wander in and out for activity passes and tickets to various affairs. Miss Millie Gittens, the manager of this little domain, issues words of advice with every text and notebook purchased.

Along with the bookstore a new co-ed lounge has been established in Harding Hall. Throughout the year, students have found this lounge a haven from the hustle and bustle of the campus activities. Here events of the day are discussed and notes compared over a cup of hot coffee.

MAINTENANCE

The well kept lawns, the neatly trimmed hedges, the efficiently heated buildings, prove once again that the maintenance crew is constantly on the job. These men, headed by Mr. William Jervis play an important and integral part of the campus.

With a staff of eight full time employees, and aided by student assistants, the crew sees to it that the many buildings, spaced over three city blocks, plus the grounds around them add to the beauty of the college and the community. The praise of passers-by confirm the fact that the maintenance crew is continually performing its job in a more than creditable manner.

GRADUATION '56

he ninth annual commencement of Wilkes College was held on Monday evening, June 4, 1956 in the college gymnasium. The graduates assembling on the lawn behind Chase and Kirby Halls marched en masse to the gym led by Dr. Eugene S. Farley, and Admiral Harold R. Stark, United States Navy (retired), who was the principal speaker, addressed the graduates on Wyoming Valley; Past, Present, and Future.

Highest honors of the 1956 class were received by Patricia Ruthe Stout graduating summa cum laude, while Marianna Claire Kraynack, Bernice Ann Thomas, Jesse Alice Roderick, and Michael Joseph Barone took second place honors graduating magna cum laude. Those graduating cum laude were Geraldine Kolotelo, Gail Joan Laines, Leah Jean Newburger, Carolyn Anne Selecky, Mary Elizabeth Zavatsky, Victoria Justine Zavatsky, John Robert Born, Ralph Sterling Harrison, William David James III, and Robert Vincent Lynch, Jr.

Six graduates who received awards were: Helen Mae Krachenfels, Outstanding Graduate of the Year; James Francis Riodan, Jr., Dobson Medal in Accounting; Award of the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants, Monroe Henry Firestone; Medal in Engineering, Donald Sheldon Burns, and Sheldon Harold Issac.

ass confusion and chaos best describe the incoming freshman. The transitional stage from high school to college is exceedingly difficult even for those adequately prepared. However difficult the adjustment, the year is enriched by the very fact of college life, by the lasting friendships made, and by the accomplishments achieved.

It is within this span of time that the foundation of their aims are formulated. The determinants of success are sought. Abilities in various fields are recognized. What am I doing? Where am I heading? What am I achieving? The freshman asks himself these questions over and over again. And only he can answer them.

The price of success comes high. It is not achieved by a mere dream. The combination of perseverence, responsibility, and character all enter into the making of the finished product. As the individual learns, he grows in stature, knowledge, and potential.

Despite the obstacles placed in the students' path, the successful individual realizes that no hurdle is too high, no obstacle too great, if the dream is worthy of becoming a reality.

The line was comprised of ends Neil Dadurka and Joe Reese, tackles Jerry Loewen and Mike Dydo, guards Moe Masonis and Bill Farish and center Bob Yakovonus. Ron Rescigno, Al Manarski, Sam Puma and Art Tambur composed the fleet-footed backfield.

This starting aggregation met Hofstra in their first game of the season with the Flying Dutchmen emerging the victor 40-0. The Colonels traveled next to Lebanon Valley to participate in the Balogna Bowl only to emerge on the short end of a 34-6 score. Halfback Dick Wozniak was presented with an outstanding player award for his fine performance.

Led by Rescigno and Manarski, the Colonels won their first game of the season downing Ithaca 12-0. Ursinus then up-ended the Wilkesmen by a 20-6 score in the annual "Homecoming Game." This was followed by defeats at the hands of Susquehanna 31-7 and Lycoming 26-6.

The PMC-Colonel clash in which the former emerged the victorious by a 25-13 count was highlighted by long TD runs by Ron Resigno and Jim Walsh for the local chargers. In the last two road encounters, with Bridgeport and Moravian, the Wilkesmen closed out the season with a one win and seven loss record.

ead mentor John Reese faced a major rebuilding job as the 1956 season got underway. Ten seniors were lost by the graduation route, including such performers as Parker Petrilak, Carl Van Dyke, Tri-State honorable mention Younsu Koo, and Fred Boote.

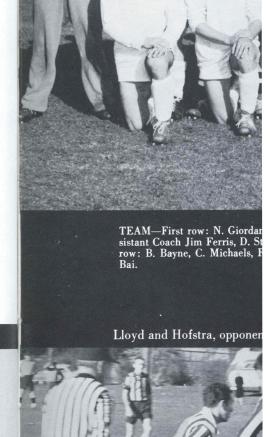

As a result of these losses, Coach Reese fielded a young and inexperienced team. However, their lack of experience was offset by their willingness to learn. Only two seniors, Captain Ahmed Kazimi and Jim Stocker, were included in the line-up on opening day.

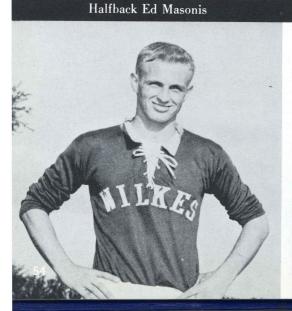

The booters got off to a slow start, losing to such opponents as Rider, Muhlenberg, Gettysburg, and Temple. Intermingled between the defeats were ties to Bucknell and Lafayette.

Wins were then registered at the expense of Elizabethtown and Hofstra, the latter a 2-0 shutout. Excellent line play and brilliant defensive work by Tony Bianco and first-year goalie, Bob Sokol kept the Colonel goal unscathed. Carl Havira, Nick Giordano and Ed Masonis contributed with fine line play as the Colonels racked up their first shut-out of the season.

Although the Wilkesmen ended up with their first losing season in four years with a 2-2-6 record, Coach Reese is highly optimistic about the chances for next year. The return of such stalwarts as Seth Ansah, Tim Jenkins, Bill Lloyd, J. Morgan, and Dave Polley along with Sokol, Bianco, Havira, and Giordano could very well result in the Colonels starting out on another skein of victories.

he Wilkes College basketball team under Coach Eddie Davis compiled one of the finest records ever during the 1956-57 season, with a 12 win and 8 loss record. The record was all the more impressive because the entire cage team was composed of undergraduates. Three of the starting five members, George Gacha, Fran Mikalones, and Bob Turley were freshmen. The other two men, Ed Birnbaum and George Morgan and alternate starters Bob Sokol and Elmer Snyder were juniors.

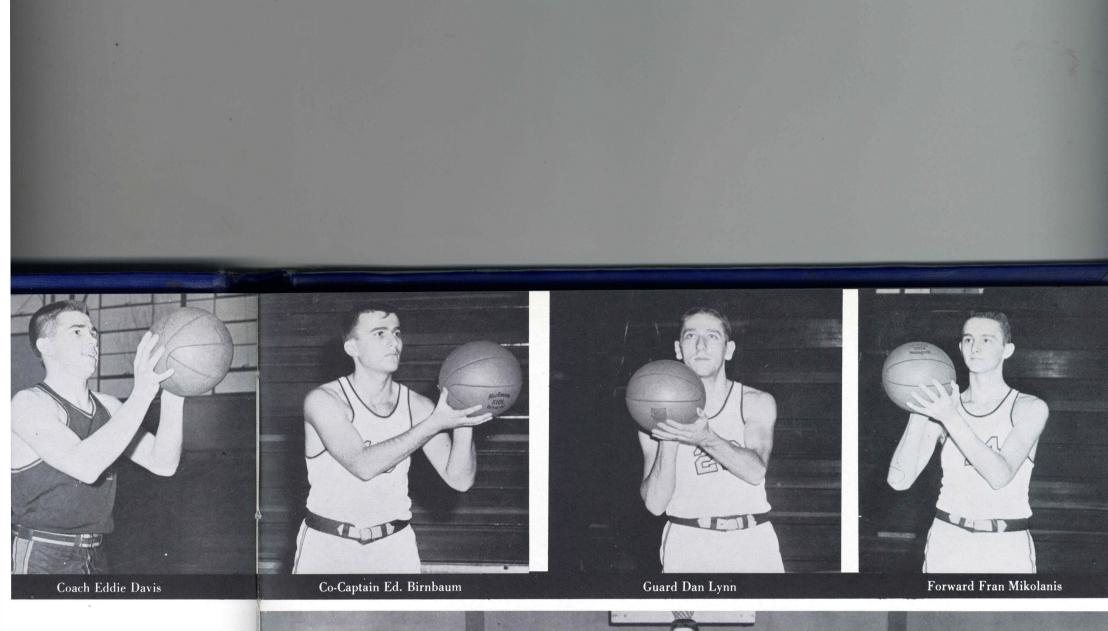

The big story of the basketball season was the brilliant performance of Colonel center, George Morgan. Ending up the season with a 25.6 point average per game, the 6-4 pivot man broke the individual scoring record, previously held by Len Batroney, with a total of 512 points.

Losses to Rider and Elizabethtown were then followed by a close win over Moravian, 83-92. The next three games saw the Colonels go on a three game winning streak, defeating Rutgers of Newark, Hofstra, and Ithaca. The Blue and Gold next met a temporary roadblock in losing to Lycoming and Juniata. A 35-point spree by Morgan led the Colonels to a 90-78 win over Scranton. However, Lebanon Valley outscored the Wilkesmen by a 79-74 score in the next game. Four straight wins were then registered against Bridgeport, Susquehanna, Lycoming and Dickinson. A heart-breaking 80-79 loss to Susquehanna ended the Colonels' victory skein at four wins. The most productive night of the year was then registered against Harpur College, a 109-60 score. The Colonels ended up the season by defeating East Stroudsburg 86-80.

WRESTLING

Climaxing an unbeaten season by winning the Middle Atlantic Championship Tournament, the Wilkes College wrestling team, under Coach John Reese, wrote a brilliant chapter into the record books in 1957.

Defeating such stalwarts as Hofstra, Muhlenberg, CCNY, and Lafayette, the Blue and Gold grapplers rolled to nine consecutive wins before being tied by a powerful Millersville team, 13-13. This gives the Wilkesmen a record of 17 consecutive wins over the past two seasons.

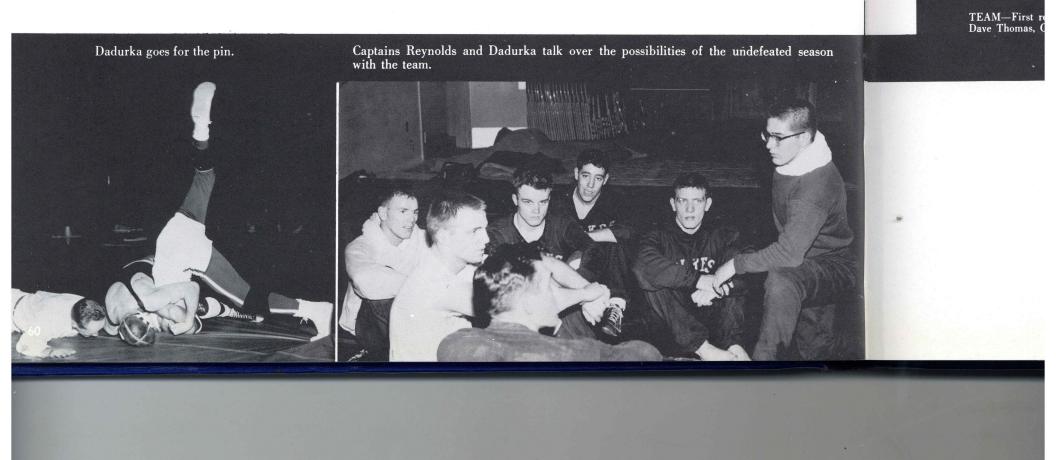

The Colonel grapplers, "Skeet" Williams, 123

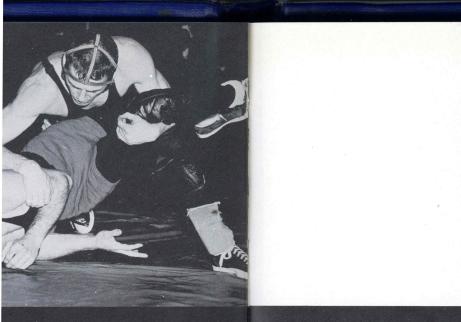

pounder, and Jim Ward, 130, were undefeated throughout the season. Dave Thomas and "Tiger" Don Reynolds, 157 and 137 pounds respectively, suffered only one loss during the year. Walt Glogowski, 177, had a 9-2 record. Terry Smith, 147 was 8-2 for the year, and Neil Dadurka, unlimited, had a 7-3 record.

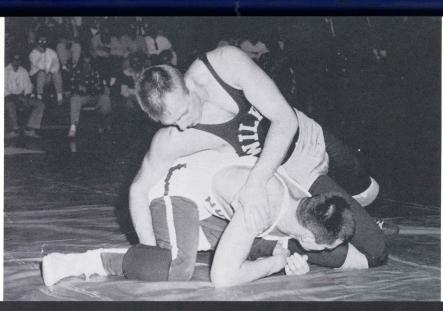

Ward established a new Wilkes record for points scored during a single season by scoring 41 to eclipse Bob Masonis' old mark of 39.

Newcomers, Bob Morris, John Macri, and Joe Morgan, performed well under the test of varsity competition and should be of great service in the ensuing years.

The Wilkes wrestling team will go down in the college history as the finest that ever represented the college and one of the finest in the country.

WRESTLING TOURNAMENT

he Twenty-Fifth Annual Open Wrestling Tournament was held at the Wilkes Gymnasium during the Christmas Vacation. Competition was open to all colleges, independent or unattached, and association wrestlers with amateur standing. The team championship was won for the second consecutive year by the Pitt Panthers. Finishing second was Lock Haven State Teachers College followed by Lehigh and Michigan.

The Tournament, dubbed by sport writers "the Rose Bowl of Wrestling" attracted entrants from various points across the country.

Wrestlers from forty-five teams were represented. Among some of those returning were Michigan State, Indiana, Cornell, Penn State, Pitt, Lehigh, and Navy.

Winning honors for the tournament's most outstanding wrestler was Jim Ellis, 167 pound grappler from Indiana. Larry Fornicola, Bellefonte YMCA, winner of the award the previous year, tied for the highest point honors with Bill Oberly, (unattached), and Bill Billet of York YMCA. The Tournament, which attracted over 300 grapplers and over a thousand spectators, is one of the largest of its kind in the country. Under the guidance of co-chairman, Dean Ralston and John Chwalek, this event has earned Wilkes-Barre the title of "Wrestling Capital of the East."

aving guided the soccer and wrestling teams through successful seasons, Coach John Reese returned to his diamond duties.

Three strong arm righthanders, John Milliman, Mel McNew and "Moe" Batterson, together with portsider Ed "Lefty" Birnbaum comprised the "Big Four" pitching staff. The outfield was composed of Co-Captain, Jim Ferris, freshman, Al Balcomb and Al Manarski. The infield consisted of third baseman Bob Sokol, shortstop Ron Rescigno, second baseman Joe Parsnik, first baseman Mike Dydo and John Harvey behind the plate.

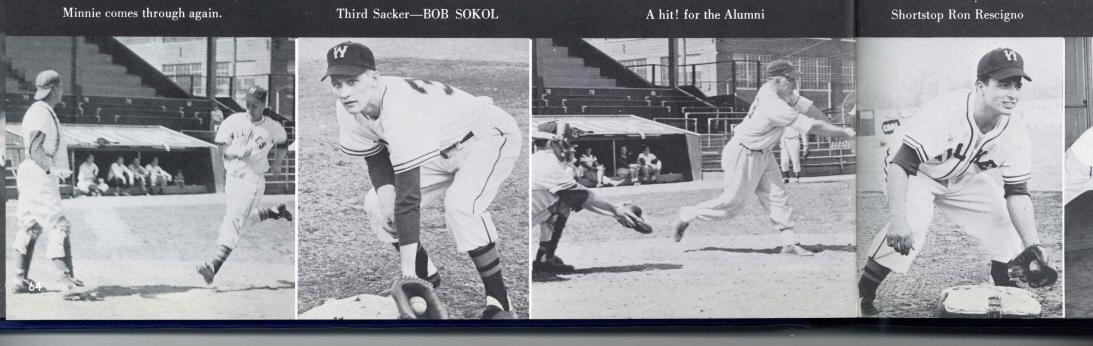

The opener, Rider, saw Milliman defeat the home team 3-1, striking out 16 and allowing four hits. Weak hitting on the part of the Colonels resulted in the loss of their next three games. However, Reese's "nine" found its batting eye and captured the next two outings defeating Muhlenberg 5-4 and Lycoming 23-3. Following the two wins were two successive losses administered by Bloomsburg and Ithaca.

The Colonels then went on a six-game winning streak. First to fall victim to the rampaging Wilkesmen was East Stroudsburg STC by a 7-1 score. Clutch pitching by McNew resulted in a 2-1 victory over Lebanon Valley. Victories were then recorded over Susquehanna, Cortland and Bloomsburg. The Colonels split the remaining two games overpowering a Scranton team 14-13, and losing to Ithaca 10-7.

egun late in the Spring of 1956 on the intercollegiate level for the first time, the Wilkes College golf team, coached by Jack Curtis and captained by Felix Serafin, played four matches and competed in the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Golf Championships at Mt. Union in May.

The team, which worked out feverishly after a late start, dropped all four matches, three of them exceptionally close, and saw several of its members well up in individual standings at the Mid-Atlantics.

With several new faces added to strengthen the team, an official six-game schedule was listed, including a three-way tilt with Scranton and Hofstra. Others on the schedule were Lycoming, Moravian and Harpur, with the Mid-Atlantic Meet climaxing the season.

INTRAMURALS

Intramural sports has probably been one of the fastest growing extracurricular activities on the college campus. Last year's addition of bowling and this year's addition of the Women's Athletic Club are evidence of the growing interest in intramural sports.

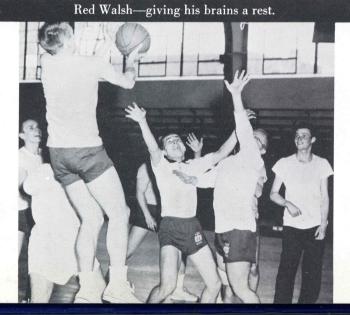

These new-founded pastimes supplement the old standards of football, basketball, and softball, providing a well-rounded athletic program for those who do not participate in inter-collegiate sports.

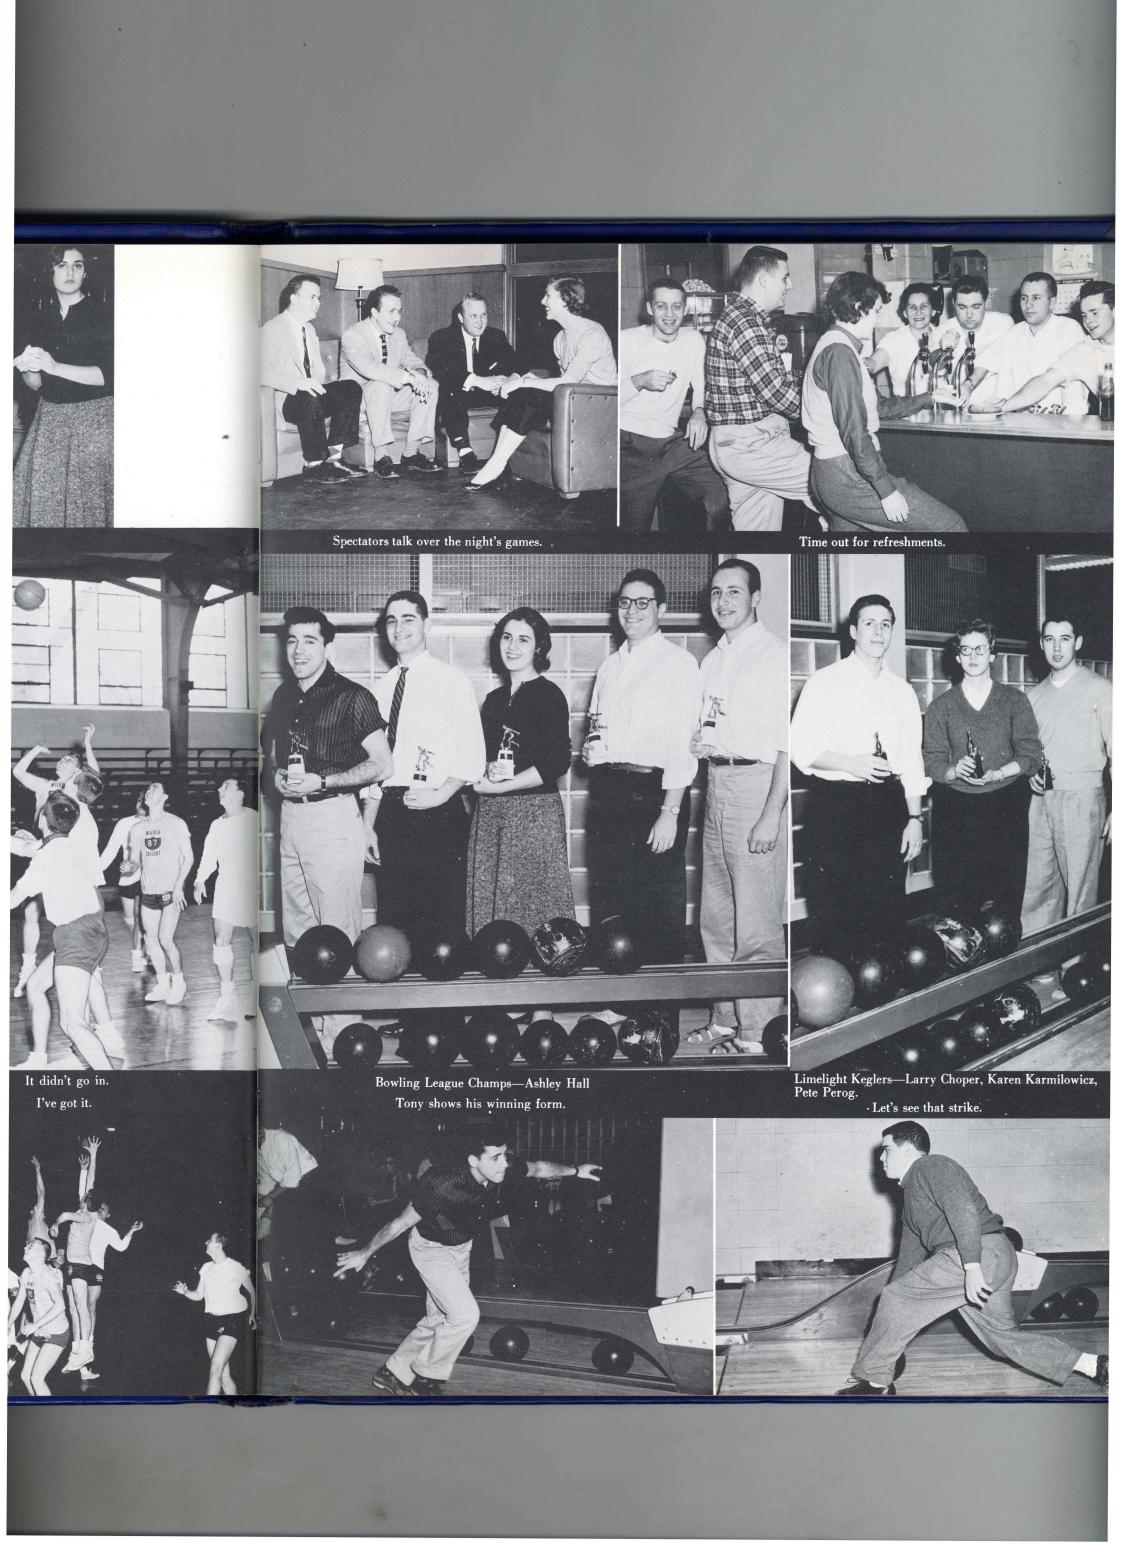

The intramural program adds to the background of the participants in that it teaches teamwork and leadership.

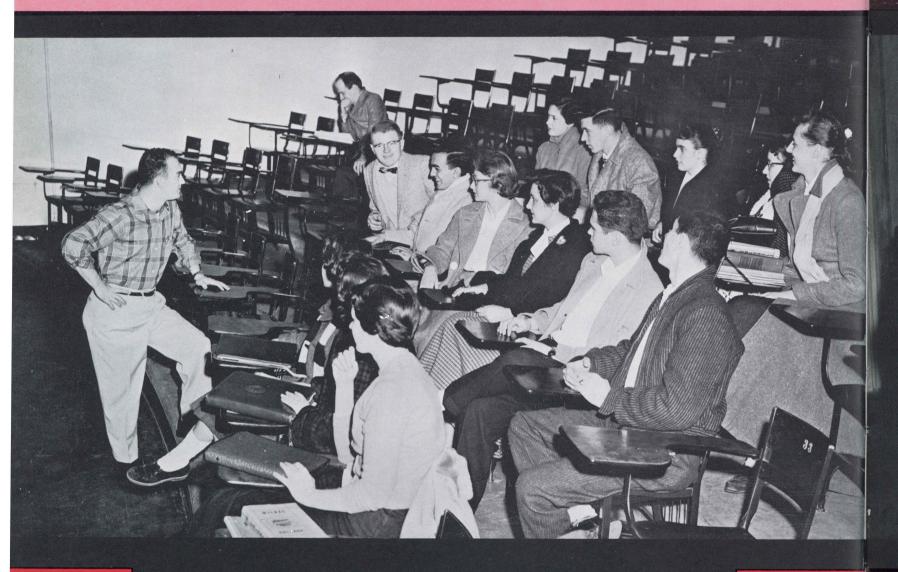

It didn't go in. I've got it.

Integration completed, the sophomore is a familiar face on campus. He no longer resembles the confused, immature freshman of a year ago. Many changes have been made, decisions have been reverted and the feeling of inadequacy has been replaced by confidence in himself.

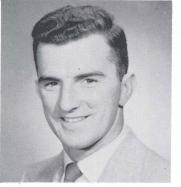

For the first time, the sophomore sees his dreams slowly moving toward reality. Each day finds another hurdle crossed—another obstacle removed. Each minor achievement becomes another step through the labyrinth of life.

He has answered the question presented to him in his freshman year, "Where am I going?" His education as a whole, individually, intellectually, physically, and socially are the determinants for the remaining question; "How should I go?"

The individual finds that life is progress. Each minute nudges the preceding minute into the vastness of the past; day replaces day. One more year has gone from his life. But what he has lost in time, he has gained in those things that can not be lost—knowledge—experience—memories. The sophomore approaches the newness of tomorrow with confidence having been prepared by the problems of today.

THETA DELTA RHO

once again Theta Delta Rho Sorority of Wilkes presented its varied program of activities on campus which gives the women of the college an opportunity to plan and direct social events, and to assist in a larger program of social training that reaches and includes every student.

Open to all coeds, T.D.R. has found fullest its expression as a service organization of the college. Through its numerous teas and punch parties, high school students are introduced to campus life, student-faculty friendships are formed, and the entire student body has the opportunity to become better acquainted. In addition to its traditional program, this year the women added a party for the "old folks" at Christmastime, and they distributed gifts to the children in the local hospitals; each truly found the spirit of the season. Highlighting all of its many social activities was the annual Sweetheart Dance on Valentine's Day.

The women of the sorority enjoyed a very successful year with all the proceeds from their moneymaking affairs being put into a scholarship fund. This year the recipient of the scholarship was Margaret Jones, a freshman girl. Theta Delta Rho, under the guidance of the Dean of Women, Mrs. Doane, was led by Patsy Reese, President; Peggy Stevens, Vice President; Patricia Bedeski, Secretary; Naoma Kaufer, Treasurer, and Virginia Brehm, Social Chairman.

LETTERMEN

nder the leadership of Neil Dadurka the Lettermen's Club achieved another banner year on the Wilkes Campus.

The Wilkes Lettermen's Club consists of athletes who represent the college in five Inter-collegiate Sports but yet combined in strength to render service to the college and community.

The Lettermen's activity calendar began early in the school year with the annual Homecoming Raffle, under the chairmanship of Vice President David Thomas. The Lettermen also held a Booster Day for the Soccer and Football teams, but the climax of the first semester was the highly successful Annual Christmas Formal with Minny Minarski as general chairman.

The Second Semester's program of activities consisted of Washington's Day Dance headed by Bob Sokol and Ronald Resigno, which was followed by the April Showers Ball with Bill Farish as general chairman. To round out the remaining activities, the club sponsored Shoe Shine Day and the initiation of new members.

The Lettermen's Club, in accordance with their continued policy of service to the school, have this year set a precedent in the establishment of an annual scholarship fund.

RETAILING GROUP

Retailing students of Wilkes recently formed a group to be a "Stepping" stone to their careers in Retailing. Fully realizing the opportunities and challenges present in our economic world, the group plans to maintain current familiarity with important developments in Retailing. The club's advisor is Mr. Eric Stein.

HISTORY CLUB

One of the first projects of the History club this year was the presentation of the film "Spokesman for Tomorrow," in observance of the celebration of the Woodrow Wilson Centennial. Since its inception, the History Club has contributed greatly to the historical culture of Wyoming Valley by accumulating knowledge concerning our past and present institutions.

I. R. C.

his year's I.R.C. introduced to the Wilkes Campus many new entertaining and educational ideas. Among its educational projects were a political debate by local congressional aspirants, a political poll of the entire student body, and an election forum to analyze the results of the presidential returns. The social atmosphere of the college was enhanced by the presentation of a jazz concert.

A meeting

s the individual reaches his third year at Wilkes, he finds his horizons extended and his capabilities increased. The difficult task of answering the question "How to achieve my goal" is epitomized in one word—Truth. By constantly seeking truth and maintaining the spirit of inquiry and sound judgment, the junior defends his right to seek new knowledge on a high moral and intellectual level.

Every portion of Wilkes pervades the junior: academic scenes, social highlights, extracurricular activities, and the ordinary and special fragments of the school. Through these various functions, the individual is transferred more and more each day into a different world: the world of challenge, of better understanding, of intellect.

It has been said that progress results from a combination of hope and difficulty. With this realization, the individual attempts to solve these problems that arise with the conviction that by intelligent and constructive action great ends can be attained.

Ease and comfort are not the elements that make for accomplishment. It is the challenge that comes from a job to be done, from a goal to be reached, from the world that awaits the individual.

AMNICOLA

Yet the 1957 Amnicola is not meant to be exclusively the Seniors' yearbook. It is for the classes of '58, '59, and '60 as well.

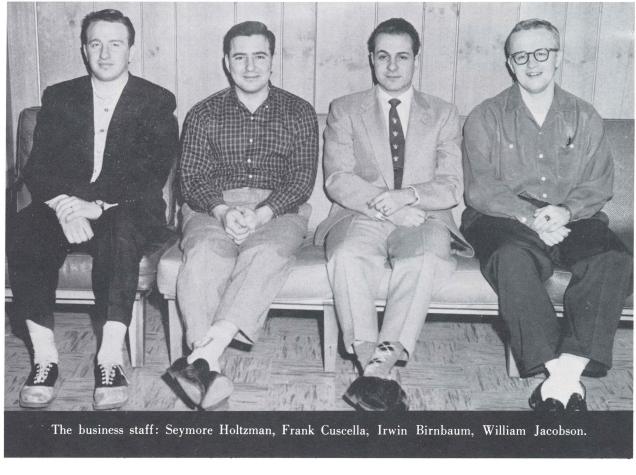

We have made a sincere effort to portray the real spirit of Wilkes within these pages. It is our desire that in years to come, the Amnicola will be a source of enjoyment and fond memories to each and every one of you.

CAMPUS PERSONALITIES

The reasons for attending college are many and varied. A college serves as a means of developing personality as well as an institution of higher learning. Throughout their stay at Wilkes, a number of students stood out conspicuously as social and academic leaders. We of the Amnicola staff feel that these students deserve special pictorial recognition as a small reward for their efforts and achievements in making college life more pleasant for us all.

These fourteen seniors selected for this section of the yearbook have made valuable contributions to the campus life of the college. Their efforts in various fields have not only enriched their own personal lives but the college and community as well.

he Beacon, student newspaper at Wilkes, has served as the official news organ of the campus since 1936. It has shed light on the future plans of students and faculty and has proved to be a reliable guide to college opinion.

Editor for the year, Tom Meyers, guided the paper through the many controversies in which it took part, and helped to give something constructive to the college, with one thing in mind—to uphold certain journalistic ideals, while allowing freedom of speech by student participation in the ever important column, Letter to the Editor. The success of the paper was evident. At Wilkes nearly everybody reads the Beacon.

HOMECOMING

he weekend of October 12, marked an outstanding event for both Wilkes students and alumni. On that Friday, the grads returned to Wilkes—and began a whirl of Homecoming activities. Student organizations and dormitories competed for top honors in preparing decorations for their college buildings. The themes of Welcome Alumni and Beat Ursinus were featured. A committee of alumni judged these artistic abilities and selected Weckesser Hall as the winner.

The coronation of the Homecoming Queen, Marilyn Carl, took place at the big bonfire pep rally held at Baldwin field. Debby Deisher and Carol Goeringer were selected to attend the Queen as the Homecoming Princesses.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This was a tremendous year for Student Council of Wilkes College. The Student Council, the central governing body at Wilkes acts as a coordinator between the administration and the students.

The problem of the budget has always been a source of controversy throughout the years on campus. However, through debate and discussion, the Council members successfully handled the situation by appropriating student activity funds in accordance with the size and the functions of the individual organizations. Don Reynolds, President of Student Council and the representatives elected from each class have done their utmost to give Wilkes an efficient student government.

In addition to the governmental role of the Council, they also sponsored various social events. The Thanskgiving All-College Dance which encompasses not only Wilkes but students and guests from colleges throughout the state proved to be one of the most successful events of the year.

Between semesters, the Student Council sponsored its annual Winter Carnival at Pocono Mountin Inn. The Carnival provided a source of welcome relaxation after gruesome finals.

The grand finale of all social events was the Cinderella Ball. The highlight of the dance was the announcement of Cinderella chosen from a group of ten lovely coeds.

WINTER CARNIVAL

The Winter Carnival, sponsored annually by the Wilkes Student Council, was held this year at Pocono Mountain Inn.

There was plenty of excitement, both indoor and outdoor activities. Though there was no snow, many took pleasure in skating and general frolicking. Meanwhile indoors, card games, ping pong, and piano playing occupied the fast-passing day. Hearts, the sensational game of 1957, was the king of the card tables.

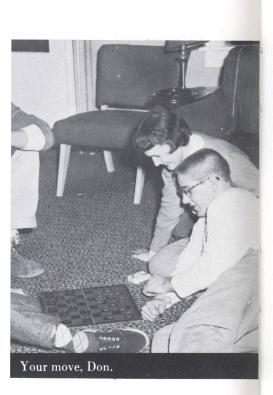

In the evening Bob Moran and his Ivy Leaguers provided the music for dancing to end a day of pleasant relaxation at P.M.I. in the sky.

MANUSCRIPT

he issue of the Manuscript published during the past year gave recognition to the best of the literary contribution of the students at Wilkes. Since its inception, the magazine has offered future writers the opportunity to submit material to an all-student staff who judge the material impartially on its literary merits.

The literary excellence of the Manuscript stands as evidence of the creative ability of Wilkes students and the editing ability of the staff.

Fred Krohle headed the Manuscript as Editor in Chief, and Professor Robert Tener was advisor to the group.

ach Tuesday morning, the students at Wilkes College gather at the gymnasium for the weekly Assembly meeting. The Student Assembly Committee, composed of members from each class, plan the varied programs ranging from recitals to International problems. Much emphasis is also placed on active student participation such as the melodrama presented by Cue 'N' Curtain.

One of the programs which highlighted the Assembly Season was the "Roving Mike" in which students had an opportunity to air their views and voice their opinions on school policies and current campus problems. # DORM DOINGS

The Inter-Dormitory Council, a recently organized group, has been set up to act as a spokesman for all students residing on the College campus. Representatives from each dormitory try to aid and solve their mutual problems by discussion and compromise with the administration and the residents themselves. Through these meetings, a better understanding has been created between the dormitories and the administration.

Taking on the responsibilities of college activities, the I.D.C. now directs the annual Christmas Dorm Party and the Spring outing. These affairs are open to everyone participating in campus life.

The world awaits the senior! He holds the keys that will open the door to success. The key of knowledge opens the door part way, the key of wisdom, understanding, hope, determination, and truth can then fling it open the rest of the way.

The future of the world is dependent on individual dreams. The dreams that have been in his heart since he has been a freshman. Whether he can solve the pressing problems that threaten his peace of mind, his peace of heart, and his peace in the world, depends on what he has learned at Wilkes. Is the individual willing to accept the challenges that face him every day with fervor and an indomitable spirit?

If the individual is willing, and to the best of his ability makes use of the tools that he has acquired within the last four years, there is no doubt that he will find success. Although there will be many failures awaiting him, to remember that "pain makes man think, thinking makes man wise, wisdom makes life endurable," these failures will be overcome and success will be assured.

JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Wilkes College Chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was founded just one year ago by a group of junior and senior men who wanted to take an active interest in community affairs.

The organization's purpose is to provide a training ground for college men to take part in community developments, and to encourage and promote leadership among the group.

Since its inception, the organization has taken an active part in such community projects as the Jaycees' orphans' shopping tour, the Wilkes-Barre Parade of Progress, and participation in the Jaycees state convention.

WHY YOUNG MEN and WOMEN SHOULD CONSIDER RETAILING BEFORE CHOOSING A CAREER

Every year at this time, young men and women get serious about this question: what next?

Yes, after four years of school, after texts and theories, bull-sessions and books: what next?

Where to find the job which will be good enough for a life-time?

Out of all the phases of American life, which is the right one for me? Where can I find this blend of ingredients: freedom to express thoughts and ideas; a chance to learn and grow; an opportunity to work with people in a vital, ever-changing basic industry?

LOOK TO RETAILING . . . LOOK TO DEPARTMENT STORES!

Giants of modern distribution, they serve their communities diligently, tirelessly, efficiently. Proud products of the American System, they believe that profits are created through service and that community service is the result of the activities of many people, working together, thinking together, building together.

POMEROY'S is such a department store.

Our training program could be the first step to a great career for you.

If you would like to work with people who believe in their future, in the future of Wyoming Valley and in the future of their country . . . if you are willing to learn . . . if you have an open mind and are willing to think for yourself . . . if you recognize the need of a good day's work for a good day's pay . . .

then we think you would like to talk to us

at POMEROY'S

THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

an wonders at the restless seas, the majestic mountains, the enormousness of time and space, but of all wonders, man is the most wonderful. The field most centered around the individual is that of the Social Sciences. Ever since the very creation of man, his complexities and capabilities have shaped the world to suit his needs and wants.

The departments within the Social Science division range from Nursing Education where the vocation is care and physical aid, to Retailing Merchandising where the student learns the operation and procedures of management, sales, and the fine art of competition. Included within this vast field are economics, elementary and secondary education, history, sociology, business administration, secretarial, and accounting.

Students majoring in any of these subjects are not restricted to only classroom instruction. Much is learned from the extracurricular activities. The respective departments have constructed a balanced, complete curriculum which enables each student to acquire both the liberal background and the special training needed for each individual's goal. Both the studies and activities in this field have enabled its students to take their place in the world.

EVENING SCHOOL

The value of any college may be determined by the service the college performs for that community. The Evening Division of Wilkes has been, since the day of its inauguration, one of the school's outstanding contributions to the community. For those unable to attend the college during the day because of lack of time or because of their hours of employment, the Evening Division has performed an efficient and useful function.

Many of the 550 students of the evening school are working toward a degree. Without the facilities provided by Wilkes many of these students would be unable to complete their education. Now they can still maintain their jobs and earn the coveted degrees which they seek.

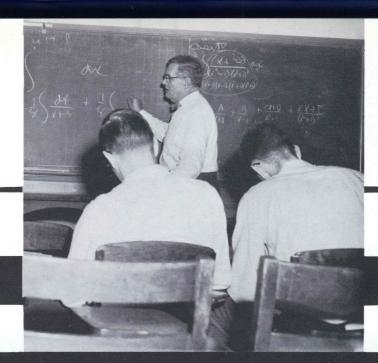

Because most of the students are working towards a degree, most of the courses offered in the evening school closely parallel those of the day school. With those who seek to broaden their knowledge or skill, the evening school has found another community need to be filled by the college. Those not seeking degrees may enjoy the advantages of many practical courses offered in the evening school.

Under the direction of Mr. Stanley Wasileski, the program of the Evening Division, is a practical demonstration of the close relationship between the college and the community.

or most Wilkes students Hollenback Hall is the first and last stop in their college career. The first stop is at the Guidance Center, located in Hollenback, where all incoming students must take aptitude tests. The last stop is at the Placement office, also in Hollenback, where seniors seek jobs.

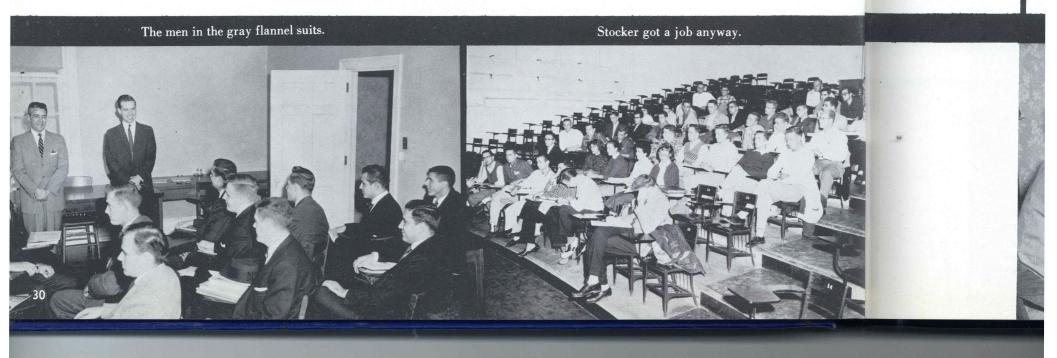

The Guidance Center is of help not only to freshmen in finding their aptitude and abilities but also to upperclassmen who may take batteries of tests to help them choose major fields or careers. The testing facilities of the Guidance Center are used not only by the college but also by many community institutions such as banks, hospitals, and those industries which require testing of personnel. The Guidance center also aids the State with its rehabilitation program for handicapped persons.

The Placement Office conducts a far reaching program to help graduates who seek employment and to students who desire part-time positions. Each year representatives of many industries, business firms, and school systems visit the campus to interview senior students.

Seniors who wish to do advanced study also find much aid and counsel available from the office of the Placement Director, Mr. John Chwalek.

taffed with many competent members, the Wilkes College Library continues to play an integral part in the education of all Wilkes students.

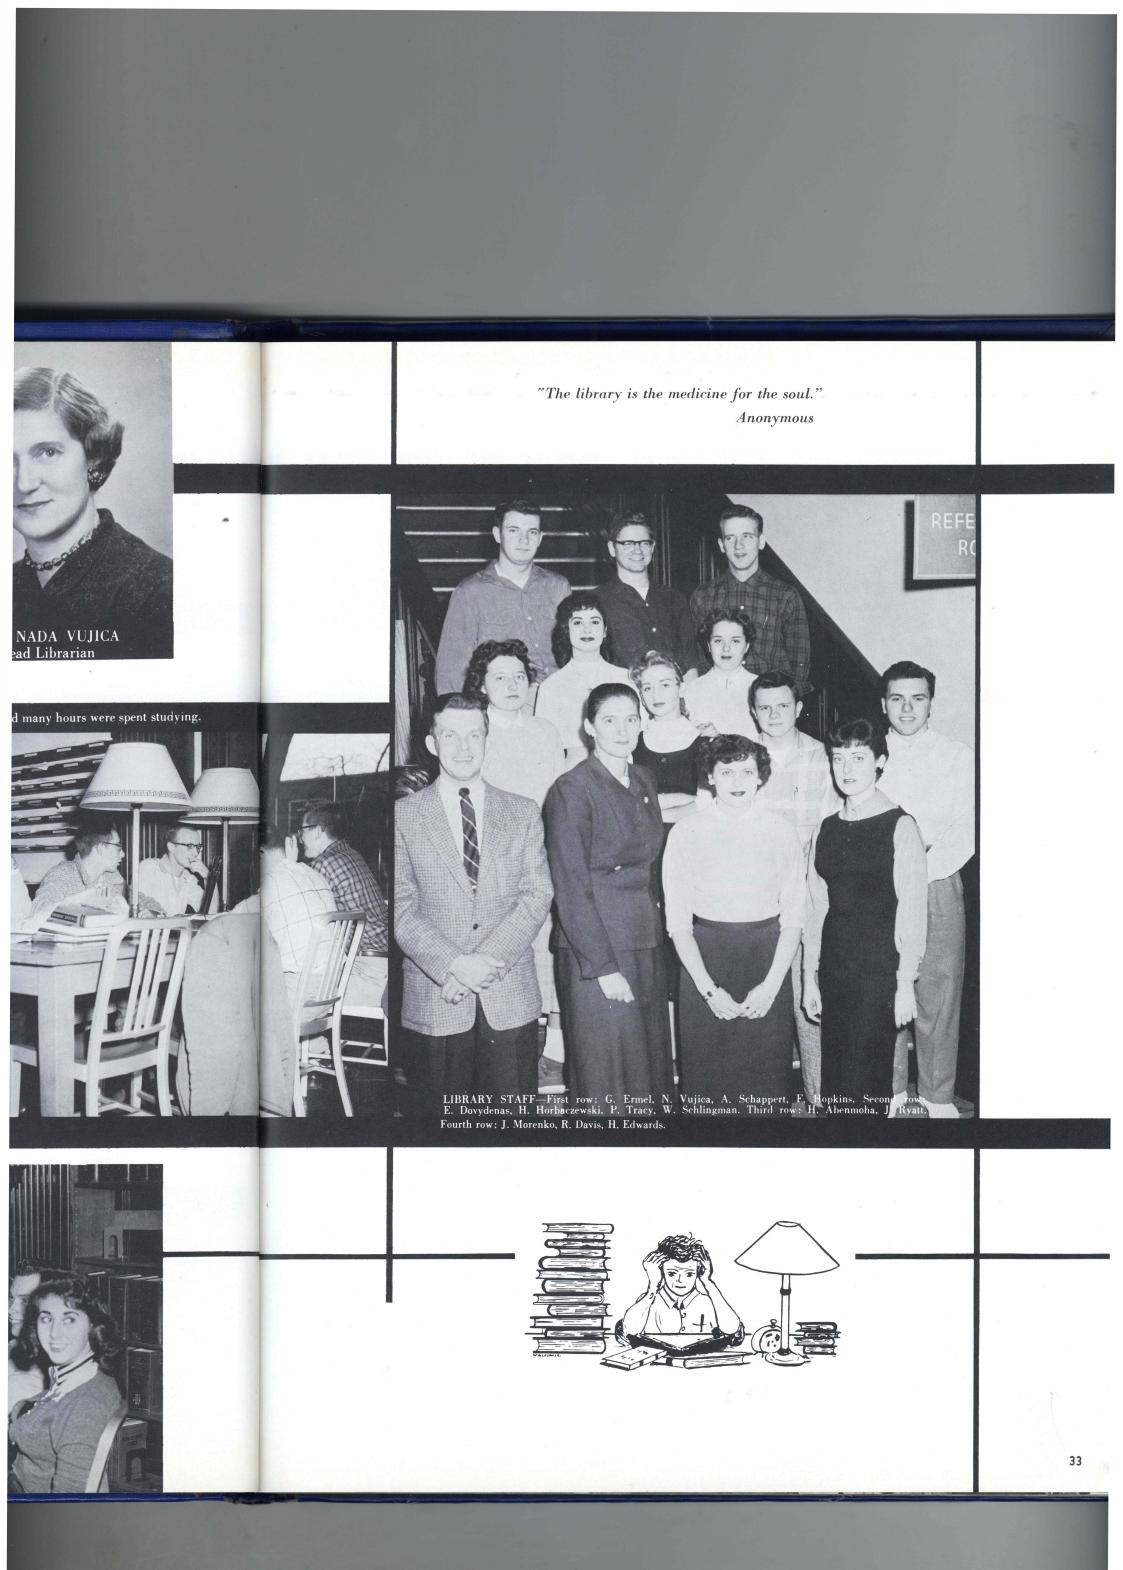

Due to the infinite number of books published each year, Mrs. Nada Vujica, head librarian, is confronted with the task of selecting and supplying the library with those books that would best supplement the students at Wilkes. She is assisted by Mr. George Ermel, Circulation and Reference Librarian, Mrs. G. Schappert, Cataloguing and Reference Librarian, and Miss Frances Hopkins, Secretary. With the aid of student assistants, the library maintains a seventy hour week throughout the year to insure the students of continual service.

he bookstore, the gathering place for knowledge second only to the classroom, is where we have the pleasure of socializing while obtaining books that will lead us to greater heights. Students wander in and out for activity passes and tickets to various affairs. Miss Millie Gittens, the manager of this little domain, issues words of advice with every text and notebook purchased.

Along with the bookstore a new co-ed lounge has been established in Harding Hall. Throughout the year, students have found this lounge a haven from the hustle and bustle of the campus activities. Here events of the day are discussed and notes compared over a cup of hot coffee.

MAINTENANCE

he well kept lawns, the neatly trimmed hedges, the efficiently heated buildings, prove once again that the maintenance crew is constantly on the job. These men, headed by Mr. William Jervis play an important and integral part of the campus.

With a staff of eight full time employees, and aided by student assistants, the crew sees to it that the many buildings, spaced over three city blocks, plus the grounds around them add to the beauty of the college and the community. The praise of passers-by confirm the fact that the maintenance crew is continually performing its job in a more than creditable manner.

FRESHMEN

ass confusion and chaos best describe the incoming freshman. The transitional stage from high school to college is exceedingly difficult even for those adequately prepared. However difficult the adjustment, the year is enriched by the very fact of college life, by the lasting friendships made, and by the accomplishments achieved.

It is within this span of time that the foundation of their aims are formulated. The determinants of success are sought. Abilities in various fields are recognized. What am I doing? Where am I heading? What am I achieving? The freshman asks himself these questions over and over again. And only he can answer them.

The price of success comes high. It is not achieved by a mere dream. The combination of perseverence, responsibility, and character all enter into the making of the finished product. As the individual learns, he grows in stature, knowledge, and potential.

Despite the obstacles placed in the students' path, the successful individual realizes that no hurdle is too high, no obstacle too great, if the dream is worthy of becoming a reality.

welve returning lettermen greeted Coach Russ Picton as the 1956 football season got underway. Among those returning were Bill Farish and Ron Rescigno co-captains elect for the year.

The line was comprised of ends Neil Dadurka and Joe Reese, tackles Jerry Loewen and Mike Dydo, guards Moe Masonis and Bill Farish and center Bob Yakovonus. Ron Rescigno, Al Manarski, Sam Puma and Art Tambur composed the fleet-footed backfield.

This starting aggregation met Hofstra in their first game of the season with the Flying Dutchmen emerging the victor 40-0. The Colonels traveled next to Lebanon Valley to participate in the Balogna Bowl only to emerge on the short end of a 34-6 score. Halfback Dick Wozniak was presented with an outstanding player award for his fine performance.

Led by Rescigno and Manarski, the Colonels won their first game of the season downing Ithaca 12-0. Ursinus then up-ended the Wilkesmen by a 20-6 score in the annual "Homecoming Game." This was followed by defeats at the hands of Susquehanna 31-7 and Lycoming 26-6.

The PMC-Colonel clash in which the former emerged the victorious by a 25-13 count was highlighted by long TD runs by Ron Resigno and Jim Walsh for the local chargers. In the last two road encounters, with Bridgeport and Moravian, the Wilkesmen closed out the season with a one win and seven loss record.

SOCCER

ead mentor John Reese faced a major rebuilding job as the 1956 season got underway. Ten seniors were lost by the graduation route, including such performers as Parker Petrilak, Carl Van Dyke, Tri-State honorable mention Younsu Koo, and Fred Boote.

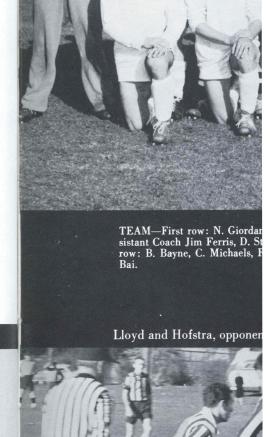

As a result of these losses, Coach Reese fielded a young and inexperienced team. However, their lack of experience was offset by their willingness to learn. Only two seniors, Captain Ahmed Kazimi and Jim Stocker, were included in the line-up on opening day.

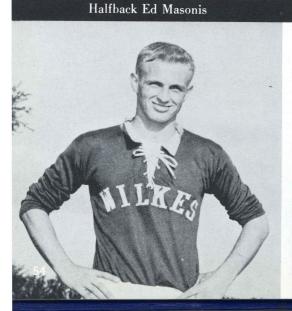

The booters got off to a slow start, losing to such opponents as Rider, Muhlenberg, Gettysburg, and Temple. Intermingled between the defeats were ties to Bucknell and Lafayette.

Wins were then registered at the expense of Elizabethtown and Hofstra, the latter a 2-0 shutout. Excellent line play and brilliant defensive work by Tony Bianco and first-year goalie, Bob Sokol kept the Colonel goal unscathed. Carl Havira, Nick Giordano and Ed Masonis contributed with fine line play as the Colonels racked up their first shut-out of the season.

Although the Wilkesmen ended up with their first losing season in four years with a 2-2-6 record, Coach Reese is highly optimistic about the chances for next year. The return of such stalwarts as Seth Ansah, Tim Jenkins, Bill Lloyd, J. Morgan, and Dave Polley along with Sokol, Bianco, Havira, and Giordano could very well result in the Colonels starting out on another skein of victories.

BASKETBALL

he Wilkes College basketball team under Coach Eddie Davis compiled one of the finest records ever during the 1956-57 season, with a 12 win and 8 loss record. The record was all the more impressive because the entire cage team was composed of undergraduates. Three of the starting five members, George Gacha, Fran Mikalones, and Bob Turley were freshmen. The other two men, Ed Birnbaum and George Morgan and alternate starters Bob Sokol and Elmer Snyder were juniors.

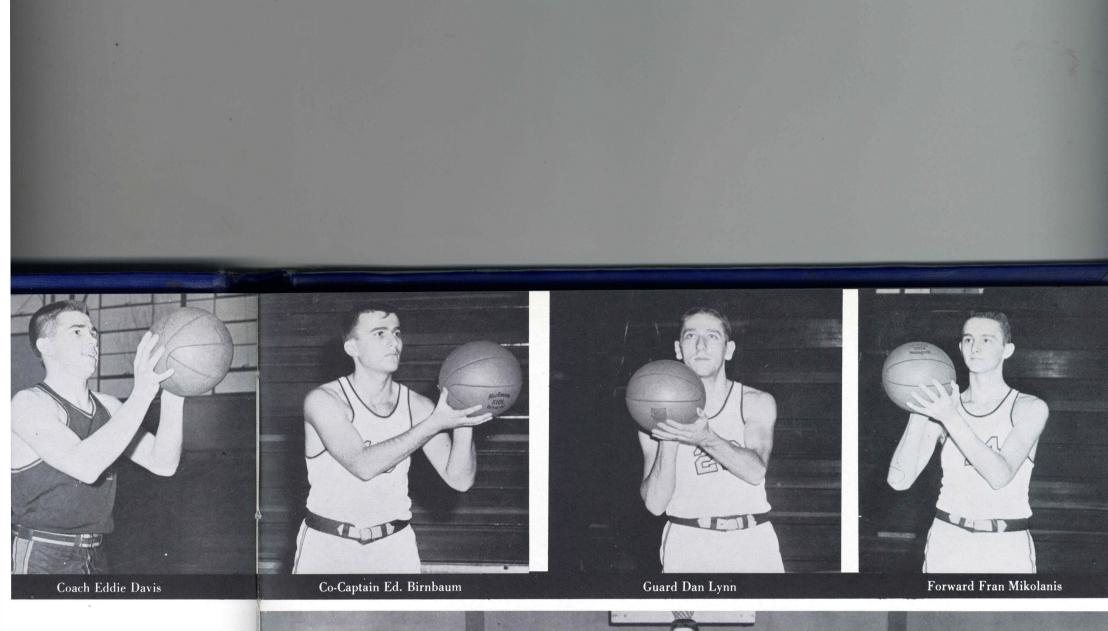

The big story of the basketball season was the brilliant performance of Colonel center, George Morgan. Ending up the season with a 25.6 point average per game, the 6-4 pivot man broke the individual scoring record, previously held by Len Batroney, with a total of 512 points.

Losses to Rider and Elizabethtown were then followed by a close win over Moravian, 83-92. The next three games saw the Colonels go on a three game winning streak, defeating Rutgers of Newark, Hofstra, and Ithaca. The Blue and Gold next met a temporary roadblock in losing to Lycoming and Juniata. A 35-point spree by Morgan led the Colonels to a 90-78 win over Scranton. However, Lebanon Valley outscored the Wilkesmen by a 79-74 score in the next game. Four straight wins were then registered against Bridgeport, Susquehanna, Lycoming and Dickinson. A heart-breaking 80-79 loss to Susquehanna ended the Colonels' victory skein at four wins. The most productive night of the year was then registered against Harpur College, a 109-60 score. The Colonels ended up the season by defeating East Stroudsburg 86-80.

WRESTLING

Climaxing an unbeaten season by winning the Middle Atlantic Championship Tournament, the Wilkes College wrestling team, under Coach John Reese, wrote a brilliant chapter into the record books in 1957.

Defeating such stalwarts as Hofstra, Muhlenberg, CCNY, and Lafayette, the Blue and Gold grapplers rolled to nine consecutive wins before being tied by a powerful Millersville team, 13-13. This gives the Wilkesmen a record of 17 consecutive wins over the past two seasons.

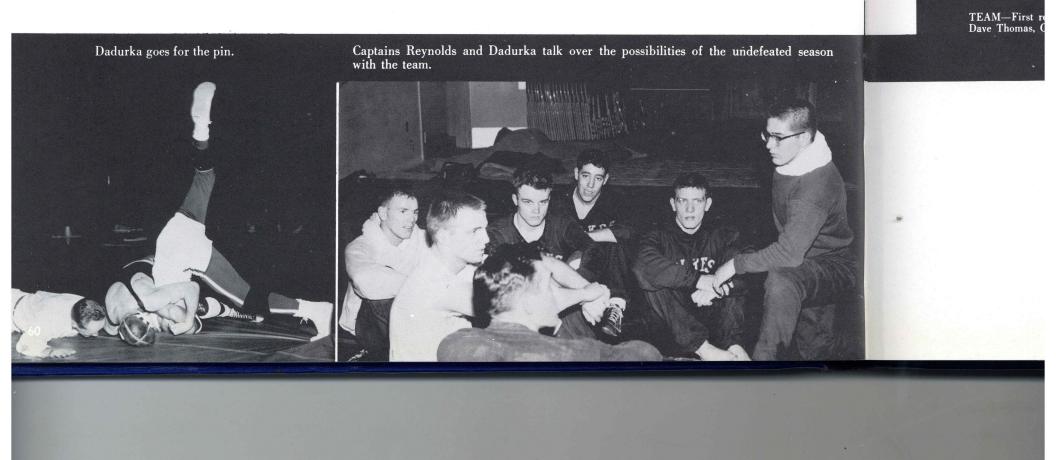

The Colonel grapplers, "Skeet" Williams, 123

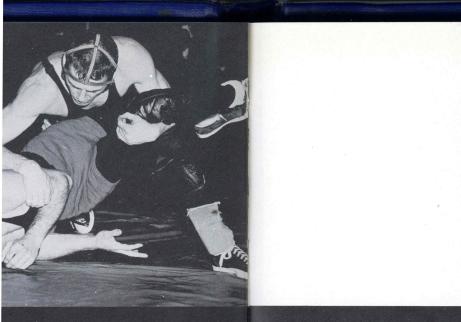

pounder, and Jim Ward, 130, were undefeated throughout the season. Dave Thomas and "Tiger" Don Reynolds, 157 and 137 pounds respectively, suffered only one loss during the year. Walt Glogowski, 177, had a 9-2 record. Terry Smith, 147 was 8-2 for the year, and Neil Dadurka, unlimited, had a 7-3 record.

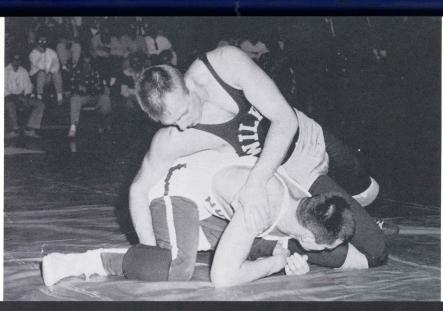

Ward established a new Wilkes record for points scored during a single season by scoring 41 to eclipse Bob Masonis' old mark of 39.

Newcomers, Bob Morris, John Macri, and Joe Morgan, performed well under the test of varsity competition and should be of great service in the ensuing years.

The Wilkes wrestling team will go down in the college history as the finest that ever represented the college and one of the finest in the country.

WRESTLING TOURNAMENT

he Twenty-Fifth Annual Open Wrestling Tournament was held at the Wilkes Gymnasium during the Christmas Vacation. Competition was open to all colleges, independent or unattached, and association wrestlers with amateur standing. The team championship was won for the second consecutive year by the Pitt Panthers. Finishing second was Lock Haven State Teachers College followed by Lehigh and Michigan.

The Tournament, dubbed by sport writers "the Rose Bowl of Wrestling" attracted entrants from various points across the country.

Wrestlers from forty-five teams were represented. Among some of those returning were Michigan State, Indiana, Cornell, Penn State, Pitt, Lehigh, and Navy.

Winning honors for the tournament's most outstanding wrestler was Jim Ellis, 167 pound grappler from Indiana. Larry Fornicola, Bellefonte YMCA, winner of the award the previous year, tied for the highest point honors with Bill Oberly, (unattached), and Bill Billet of York YMCA. The Tournament, which attracted over 300 grapplers and over a thousand spectators, is one of the largest of its kind in the country. Under the guidance of co-chairman, Dean Ralston and John Chwalek, this event has earned Wilkes-Barre the title of "Wrestling Capital of the East."

aving guided the soccer and wrestling teams through successful seasons, Coach John Reese returned to his diamond duties.

Three strong arm righthanders, John Milliman, Mel McNew and "Moe" Batterson, together with portsider Ed "Lefty" Birnbaum comprised the "Big Four" pitching staff. The outfield was composed of Co-Captain, Jim Ferris, freshman, Al Balcomb and Al Manarski. The infield consisted of third baseman Bob Sokol, shortstop Ron Rescigno, second baseman Joe Parsnik, first baseman Mike Dydo and John Harvey behind the plate.

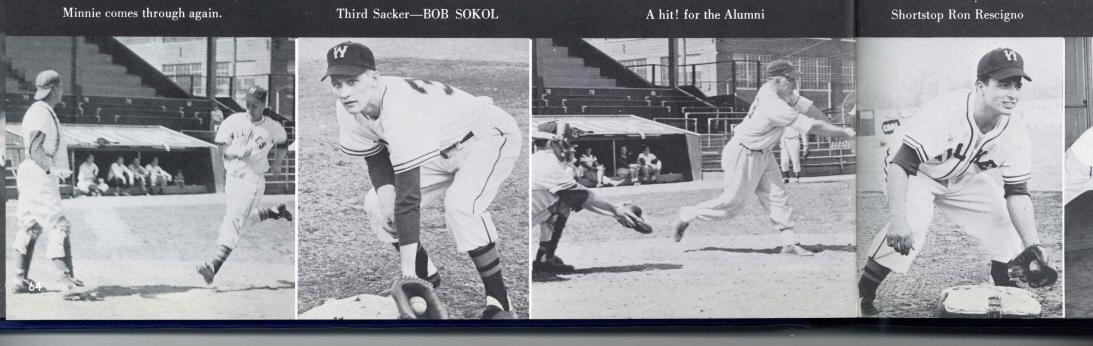

The opener, Rider, saw Milliman defeat the home team 3-1, striking out 16 and allowing four hits. Weak hitting on the part of the Colonels resulted in the loss of their next three games. However, Reese's "nine" found its batting eye and captured the next two outings defeating Muhlenberg 5-4 and Lycoming 23-3. Following the two wins were two successive losses administered by Bloomsburg and Ithaca.

The Colonels then went on a six-game winning streak. First to fall victim to the rampaging Wilkesmen was East Stroudsburg STC by a 7-1 score. Clutch pitching by McNew resulted in a 2-1 victory over Lebanon Valley. Victories were then recorded over Susquehanna, Cortland and Bloomsburg. The Colonels split the remaining two games overpowering a Scranton team 14-13, and losing to Ithaca 10-7.

egun late in the Spring of 1956 on the intercollegiate level for the first time, the Wilkes College golf team, coached by Jack Curtis and captained by Felix Serafin, played four matches and competed in the Middle Atlantic Collegiate Golf Championships at Mt. Union in May.

The team, which worked out feverishly after a late start, dropped all four matches, three of them exceptionally close, and saw several of its members well up in individual standings at the Mid-Atlantics.

With several new faces added to strengthen the team, an official six-game schedule was listed, including a three-way tilt with Scranton and Hofstra. Others on the schedule were Lycoming, Moravian and Harpur, with the Mid-Atlantic Meet climaxing the season.

INTRAMURALS

Intramural sports has probably been one of the fastest growing extracurricular activities on the college campus. Last year's addition of bowling and this year's addition of the Women's Athletic Club are evidence of the growing interest in intramural sports.

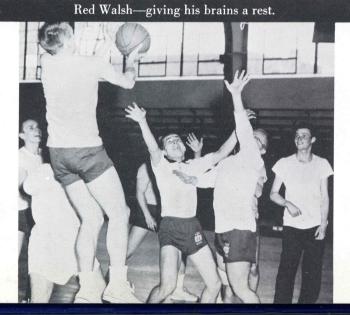

These new-founded pastimes supplement the old standards of football, basketball, and softball, providing a well-rounded athletic program for those who do not participate in inter-collegiate sports.

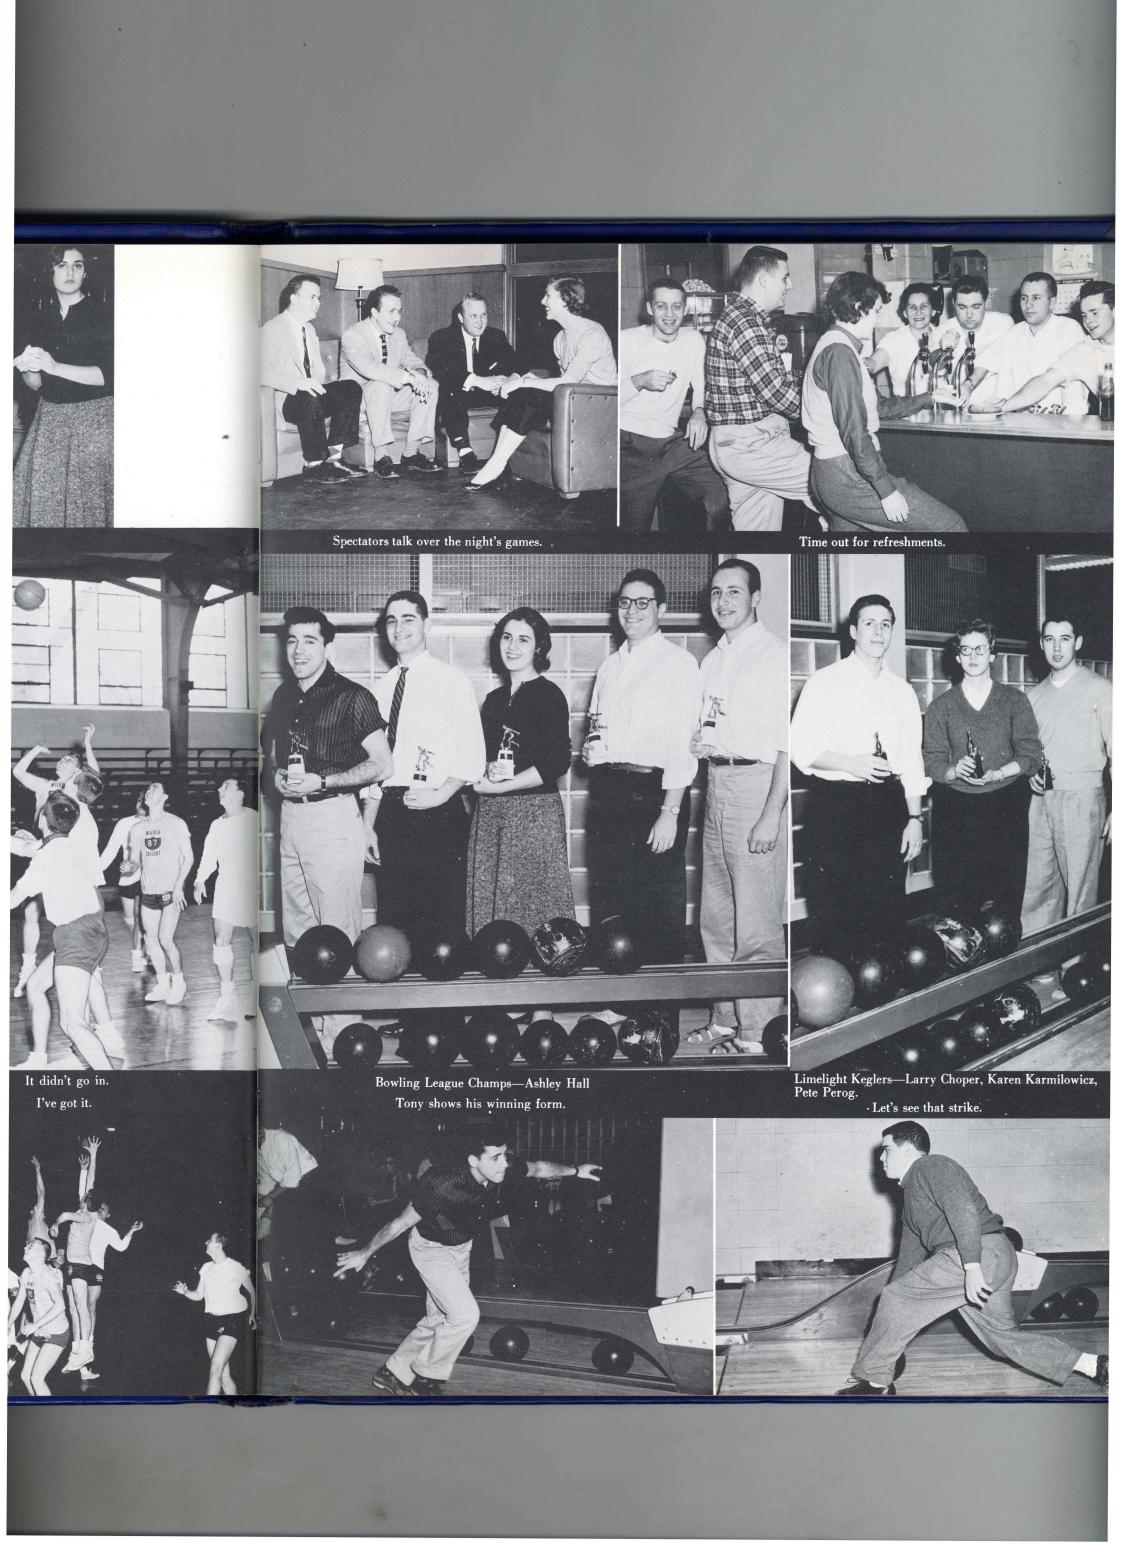

The intramural program adds to the background of the participants in that it teaches teamwork and leadership.

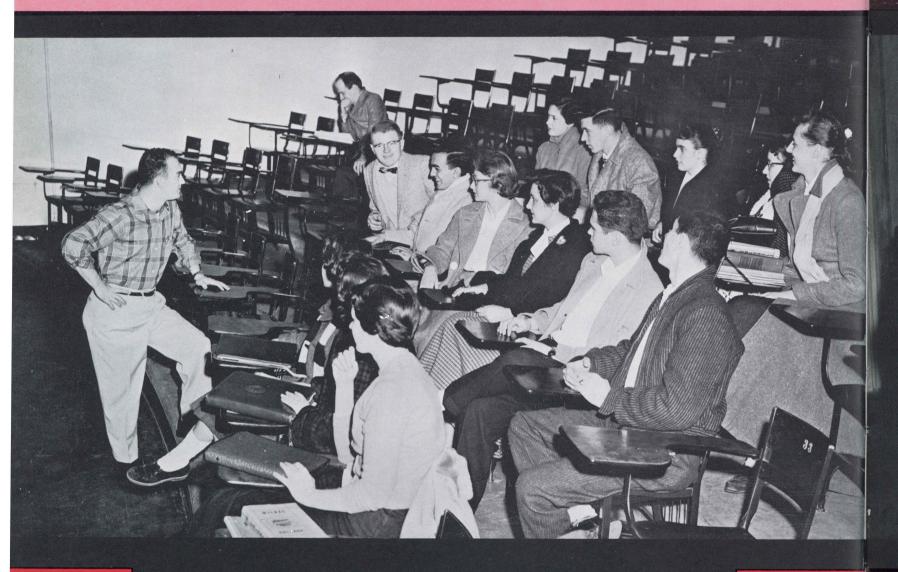

It didn't go in. I've got it.

Integration completed, the sophomore is a familiar face on campus. He no longer resembles the confused, immature freshman of a year ago. Many changes have been made, decisions have been reverted and the feeling of inadequacy has been replaced by confidence in himself.

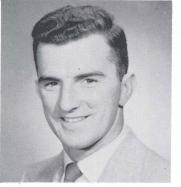

For the first time, the sophomore sees his dreams slowly moving toward reality. Each day finds another hurdle crossed—another obstacle removed. Each minor achievement becomes another step through the labyrinth of life.

He has answered the question presented to him

in his freshman year, "Where am I going?" His education as a whole, individually, intellectually, physically, and socially are the determinants for the remaining question; "How should I go?"

The individual finds that life is progress. Each minute nudges the preceding minute into the vastness of the past; day replaces day. One more year has gone from his life. But what he has lost in time, he has gained in those things that can not be lost—knowledge—experience—memories. The sophomore approaches the newness of tomorrow with confidence having been prepared by the problems of today.

THETA DELTA RHO

once again Theta Delta Rho Sorority of Wilkes presented its varied program of activities on campus which gives the women of the college an opportunity to plan and direct social events, and to assist in a larger program of social training that reaches and includes every student.

Open to all coeds, T.D.R. has found fullest its expression as a service organization of the college. Through its numerous teas and punch parties, high school students are introduced to campus life, student-faculty friendships are formed, and the entire student body has the opportunity to become better acquainted. In addition to its traditional program, this year the women added a party for the "old folks" at Christmastime, and they distributed gifts to the children in the local hospitals; each truly found the spirit of the season. Highlighting all of its many social activities was the annual Sweetheart Dance on Valentine's Day.

The women of the sorority enjoyed a very successful year with all the proceeds from their moneymaking affairs being put into a scholarship fund. This year the recipient of the scholarship was Margaret Jones, a freshman girl. Theta Delta Rho, under the guidance of the Dean of Women, Mrs. Doane, was led by Patsy Reese, President; Peggy Stevens, Vice President; Patricia Bedeski, Secretary; Naoma Kaufer, Treasurer, and Virginia Brehm, Social Chairman.

LETTERMEN

nder the leadership of Neil Dadurka the Lettermen's Club achieved another banner year on the Wilkes Campus.

The Wilkes Lettermen's Club consists of athletes who represent the college in five Inter-collegiate Sports but yet combined in strength to render service to the college and community.

The Lettermen's activity calendar began early in the school year with the annual Homecoming Raffle, under the chairmanship of Vice President David Thomas. The Lettermen also held a Booster Day for the Soccer and Football teams, but the climax of the first semester was the highly successful Annual Christmas Formal with Minny Minarski as general chairman.

The Second Semester's program of activities consisted of Washington's Day Dance headed by Bob Sokol and Ronald Resigno, which was followed by the April Showers Ball with Bill Farish as general chairman. To round out the remaining activities, the club sponsored Shoe Shine Day and the initiation of new members.

The Lettermen's Club, in accordance with their continued policy of service to the school, have this year set a precedent in the establishment of an annual scholarship fund.

The band strikes up, the majorettes twirl their batons, and the cheerleaders lead the spectators in a Wilkes College cheer, as our Colonels take to the field of battle.

The Homecoming game was the scene of two new innovations, new uniforms, and a mascot. The cheerleaders sported new collegiate outfits complete with Bermuda skirts and knee socks and the Wilkes "Colonel" came to life.

The Wilkes College Band led by Robert Moran adds a great deal of color during pre-game and half time ceremonies. They also present concerts during the year throughout the valley.

EDUCATION CLUB

The members of the Education Club who major in many different fields hold club meetings throughout the year where topics of varied educational interests are discussed by speakers, by club members, and through the medium of films.

One of the main purposes of the Education club is to encourage young people to enter the Teaching profession, and to help future teachers learn more about their profession.

Each year delegates are sent from Wilkes to the State Convention of F.T.A. members. Through the F.T.A. Chapter the club keeps in contact with the local high school F.T.A. Clubs.

In order to acquaint students with industry, the Club sponsors field trips. Numerous educational movies were shown during the year. Perhaps the most educational and rewarding undertaking of the past year was the institution of a lecture series in which Wilkes graduates and prominent residents of Wyoming Valley were asked to participate. Subjects such as radioactive isotypes, and the chemistry of the kidney were discussed.

s the individual reaches his third year at Wilkes, he finds his horizons extended and his capabilities increased. The difficult task of answering the question "How to achieve my goal" is epitomized in one word—Truth. By constantly seeking truth and maintaining the spirit of inquiry and sound judgment, the junior defends his right to seek new knowledge on a high moral and intellectual level.

Every portion of Wilkes pervades the junior: academic scenes, social highlights, extracurricular activities, and the ordinary and special fragments of the school. Through these various functions, the individual is transferred more and more each day into a different world: the world of challenge, of better understanding, of intellect.

It has been said that progress results from a combination of hope and difficulty. With this realization, the individual attempts to solve these problems that arise with the conviction that by intelligent and constructive action great ends can be attained.

Ease and comfort are not the elements that make for accomplishment. It is the challenge that comes from a job to be done, from a goal to be reached, from the world that awaits the individual.

AMNICOLA

7t is the Seniors—the graduating class of 1957—to whom this Amnicola truly belongs. To them, it is more than a momento of their last year at college. It reflects the culmination of four hard years of work and study.

Yet the 1957 Amnicola is not meant to be exclusively the Seniors' yearbook. It is for the classes of '58, '59, and '60 as well.

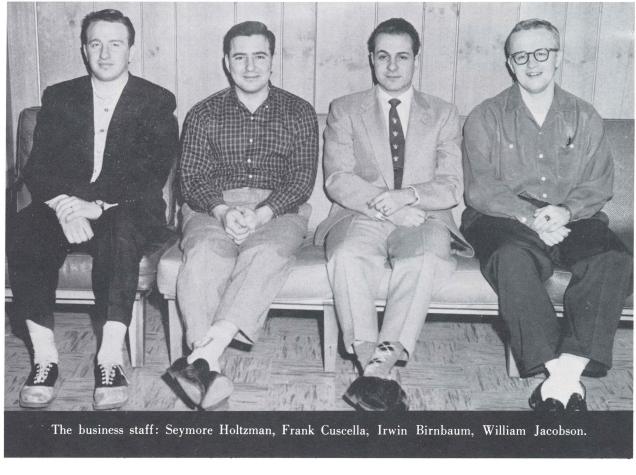

We have made a sincere effort to portray the real spirit of Wilkes within these pages. It is our desire that in years to come, the Amnicola will be a source of enjoyment and fond memories to each and every one of you.

CAMPUS PERSONALITIES

The reasons for attending college are many and varied. A college serves as a means of developing personality as well as an institution of higher learning. Throughout their stay at Wilkes, a number of students stood out conspicuously as social and academic leaders. We of the Amnicola staff feel that these students deserve special pictorial recognition as a small reward for their efforts and achievements in making college life more pleasant for us all.

These fourteen seniors selected for this section of the yearbook have made valuable contributions to the campus life of the college. Their efforts in various fields have not only enriched their own personal lives but the college and community as well.

BEACON

he Beacon, student newspaper at Wilkes, has served as the official news organ of the campus since 1936. It has shed light on the future plans of students and faculty and has proved to be a reliable guide to college opinion.

Editor for the year, Tom Meyers, guided the paper through the many controversies in which it took part, and helped to give something constructive to the college, with one thing in mind—to uphold certain journalistic ideals, while allowing freedom of speech by student participation in the ever important column, Letter to the Editor. The success of the paper was evident. At Wilkes nearly everybody reads the Beacon.

HOMECOMING

he weekend of October 12, marked an outstanding event for both Wilkes students and alumni. On that Friday, the grads returned to Wilkes—and began a whirl of Homecoming activities. Student organizations and dormitories competed for top honors in preparing decorations for their college buildings. The themes of Welcome Alumni and Beat Ursinus were featured. A committee of alumni judged these artistic abilities and selected Weckesser Hall as the winner.

The coronation of the Homecoming Queen, Marilyn Carl, took place at the big bonfire pep rally held at Baldwin field. Debby Deisher and Carol Goeringer were selected to attend the Queen as the Homecoming Princesses.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This was a tremendous year for Student Council of Wilkes College. The Student Council, the central governing body at Wilkes acts as a coordinator between the administration and the students.

The problem of the budget has always been a source of controversy throughout the years on campus. However, through debate and discussion, the Council members successfully handled the situation by appropriating student activity funds in accordance with the size and the functions of the individual organizations. Don Reynolds, President of Student Council and the representatives elected from each class have done their utmost to give Wilkes an efficient student government.

In addition to the governmental role of the Council, they also sponsored various social events. The Thanskgiving All-College Dance which encompasses not only Wilkes but students and guests from colleges throughout the state proved to be one of the most successful events of the year.

Between semesters, the Student Council sponsored its annual Winter Carnival at Pocono Mountin Inn. The Carnival provided a source of welcome relaxation after gruesome finals.

The grand finale of all social events was the Cinderella Ball. The highlight of the dance was the announcement of Cinderella chosen from a group of ten lovely coeds.

WINTER CARNIVAL

The Winter Carnival, sponsored annually by the Wilkes Student Council, was held this year at Pocono Mountain Inn.

There was plenty of excitement, both indoor and outdoor activities. Though there was no snow, many took pleasure in skating and general frolicking. Meanwhile indoors, card games, ping pong, and piano playing occupied the fast-passing day. Hearts, the sensational game of 1957, was the king of the card tables.

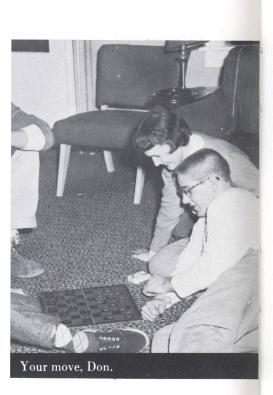

In the evening Bob Moran and his Ivy Leaguers provided the music for dancing to end a day of pleasant relaxation at P.M.I. in the sky.

MANUSCRIPT

he issue of the Manuscript published during the past year gave recognition to the best of the literary contribution of the students at Wilkes. Since its inception, the magazine has offered future writers the opportunity to submit material to an all-student staff who judge the material impartially on its literary merits.

The literary excellence of the Manuscript stands as evidence of the creative ability of Wilkes students and the editing ability of the staff.

Fred Krohle headed the Manuscript as Editor in Chief, and Professor Robert Tener was advisor to the group.

ASSEMBLIES

ach Tuesday morning, the students at Wilkes College gather at the gymnasium for the weekly Assembly meeting. The Student Assembly Committee, composed of members from each class, plan the varied programs ranging from recitals to International problems. Much emphasis is also placed on active student participation such as the melodrama presented by Cue 'N' Curtain.

One of the programs which highlighted the Assembly Season was the "Roving Mike" in which students had an opportunity to air their views and voice their opinions on school policies and current campus problems. Lena Misson heads the student committee and Mrs. Doane, Dean of Women, is faculty advisor.

DORM DOINGS

The Inter-Dormitory Council, a recently organized group, has been set up to act as a spokesman for all students residing on the College campus. Representatives from each dormitory try to aid and solve their mutual problems by discussion and compromise with the administration and the residents themselves. Through these meetings, a better understanding has been created between the dormitories and the administration.

Taking on the responsibilities of college activities, the I.D.C. now directs the annual Christmas Dorm Party and the Spring outing. These affairs are open to everyone participating in campus life.

SENIORS

JOHN COATES Treasurer B.S. in C.F.

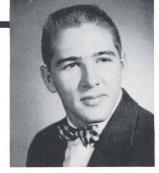

The world awaits the senior! He holds the keys that will open the door to success. The key of knowledge opens the door part way, the key of wisdom, understanding, hope, determination, and truth can then fling it open the rest of the way.

The future of the world is dependent on individual dreams. The dreams that have been in his heart since he has been a freshman. Whether he can solve the pressing problems that threaten his peace of mind, his peace of heart, and his peace in the world, depends on what he has learned at Wilkes. Is the individual willing to accept the challenges that face him every day with fervor and an indomitable spirit?

If the individual is willing, and to the best of his ability makes use of the tools that he has acquired within the last four years, there is no doubt that he will find success. Although there will be many failures awaiting him, to remember that "pain makes man think, thinking makes man wise, wisdom makes life endurable," these failures will be overcome and success will be assured.

JUNIOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Wilkes College Chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was founded just one year ago by a group of junior and senior men who wanted to take an active interest in community affairs.

The organization's purpose is to provide a training ground for college men to take part in community developments, and to encourage and promote leadership among the group.

Since its inception, the organization has taken an active part in such community projects as the Jaycees' orphans' shopping tour, the Wilkes-Barre Parade of Progress, and participation in the Jaycees state convention.

Seated: Nasser Bonheur, John Scandale, Dan Falkowitz, Eugene Roth, Frank Cuscela, Larry Amdur, Dan Straub, and John Coates. Standing: Jesse Choper, Larry Cohen, Seymour Holtzman, Leonard Mulcahy, Cliff Brothers, Ed Kotula, Bill Jacobson, Bob Chase, Bill Tre-

WHY YOUNG MEN and WOMEN SHOULD CONSIDER RETAILING BEFORE CHOOSING A CAREER

Every year at this time, young men and women get serious about this question: what next?

Yes, after four years of school, after texts and theories, bull-sessions and books: what next?

Where to find the job which will be good enough for a life-time?

Out of all the phases of American life, which is the right one for me? Where can I find this blend of ingredients: freedom to express thoughts and ideas; a chance to learn and grow; an opportunity to work with people in a vital, ever-changing basic industry?

LOOK TO RETAILING . . . LOOK TO DEPARTMENT STORES!

Giants of modern distribution, they serve their communities diligently, tirelessly, efficiently. Proud products of the American System, they believe that profits are created through service and that community service is the result of the activities of many people, working together, thinking together, building together.

POMEROY'S is such a department store.

Our training program could be the first step to a great career for you.

If you would like to work with people who believe in their future, in the future of Wyoming Valley and in the future of their country . . . if you are willing to learn . . . if you have an open mind and are willing to think for yourself . . . if you recognize the need of a good day's work for a good day's pay . . .

then we think you would like to talk to us

at POMEROY'S

*Pomeroy's, a Wyoming Valley Institution since 1860 is a Member of the World's Greatest Department Store Family. Among Pomeroy's affiliates are such fine stores as Jordan Marsh (Boston), Bon Marche (Seattle), Gertz (Jamaica, Long Island), Stern's (New York City), Joske's of Texas (San Antonio and Huston), Donaldson's (Minneapolis) and over 70 other stores from coast to coast.
